MANUFACTURER of Sash, Blinds, Door and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

GEORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 13

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General, Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

R. PATTERSON & Co.

DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.

☞Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

LIVERY STABLES,

WHITE & EASTLAND, Hunter street Peterboro', C. W.

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, fasurer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.

Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 20

BANK OF TORONTO,

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposit

A. SMITH, Agent. 20

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee. 20

LAWSON'S HOTEL,

CORNER of George and Brock streets. P. Huffman, proprietor, Peterborough, C. W Fare one dollar per day. 30

THOMAS W. POOLE, M. D.

PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, Accoucheur, and coroner. Water St., opposite the Market Square, Peterboro', C. W. 38

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Mr. GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c.

Office over the Hardware Store of Messrs George Stetbem & Co., George Street, Peterboro.

Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

THOS. G. CHOATE,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Commissioner for taking affidavits, &c., &c. Warsaw, C. W. 39

JOHN McMILLAN,

TAILOR,

SHOP on Simcoe Street, next door to R. Patterson & Co's Boot and Shoe Store, Peterborough. 44

MRS. HUGH WILSON,

Milliner,

STILL continues business one door East of the Free Church. 45

MR. SIDNEY SMITH

HAS RESUMED HIS PRACTICE AS

BARRISTER, ATTORNEY, &c., &c., &c.

Office over the Post Office,

PETERBOROUGH, C. W.

April 27, 1863. 18

JOHN O'DONNELL

DENTIST.

OFFICE—Ormond & Gilmour's Block, George st.

PETERBOROUGH.

References—Dr. Leggo Dentist, Brockville. Dr. McCrea, Keene. T White, Jr. Esq., Editor of the Review; H. T. Strickland, Esq., merchant, Peterboro', and over one hundred others.

☞Teeth extracted for those not able to pay, daily from 9 to 10 a. m., free of charge. 26

W. PHILP,

TEACHER OF MUSIC,

Residence, near the Union School.

BEG respectfully to announce to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, that, he is prepared to give Lessons on the Piano and Violin, &c., either in his own house or at the residence of the Pupils.

For Terms apply personally, or at Messrs. Cox & Davidson's Book Store, Simcoe Street, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.

Music for Balls and Evening Parties by Philp's Quadrille Band, on reasonable terms.

Peterboro', Oct. 28th, 1863. 44

NORTH AMERICAN HOTEL,

LAKEFIELD, C. W.

THE subscriber having leased the above Hotel, lately occupied by Mr. W Blakely, begs to state that he has had it completely refitted and refurnished, and being now entirely complete in all its appartments, is now open for the reception of the travelling public.

The house is commodious, and neither pains nor expense will be spared to make it one of the best in any village in the Province.

The Bar will always be supplied with the choicest Liquors and Cigars.

Good Stabling.

THOMAS HEWITT.

Lakefield, Oct. 10, 1864. 42

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN!

COUNTY AUCTIONEER!!

THE Subscriber is now prepared to attend to all kinds of sales, with promptness and dispatch as Auctioneer. Addres

CORNELIUS WILSON,

Norwood, P. O.,

Asphodel.

Norwood, Sept. 5th, 1864. 36

TO LUMBERMEN.

JUST RECEICED,

200 Barrels Ohio Mess Pork,

TO BE SOLD

CHEAP FOR CASH.

Apply to

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, Jan. 11, 1865. 2

BARLEY, OATS, & PEASE,

WANTED.

THE undersigned as usual pays the highest CASH PRICE, for any quantity of the above mentioned Grain, at his Warehouse in Ashburnham.

D. SUTHERLAND.

January 11, 1865. 2

NOTICE.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his customers that he is now prepared to GRIND GRISTS in a superior manner. He respectfully invites all who wish to patronize him to favor him with a call. All flour, made from good Wheat, warranted.

LEWIS BORLAND.

Deseo, March 1st, 1864. 9

Wm. N. KENNEDY

HAS

GOOD & CHEAP ROOM PAPER

ON HAND.

REMOVAL.

E. POOLE'S

Furniture Ware Rooms

HAVE BEEN REMOVED

TO RYAN'S BLOCK,

Opposite the Market.

WHERE he will keep on hand the most extensive, best selected, cheapest and latest styles of Furniture, which he will sell Cheap for Cash.

UNDERTAKING,

In all its branches attended to with punctuality. COFFINS kept constantly on hand.

Peterborough, Nov. 30th, 1864. 48

STOVES

AND

TIN-WARE.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS.

A. STEWART

Is now prepared to supply all kinds of

COOKING, BOX, AND PARLOR STOVES,

At Greatly Reduced Prices.

He keeps constantly on hand the following first class Stoves:—

ST. LAWRENCE, square and extended tops.
CANADA, do. do.
QUEEN CITY, do. do.
IRON DUKE, do. do.
PROTECTIONIST.
MAPLE LEAF, &c., &c.

PARLOR STOVES

Too numerous to mention.

☞Let all cash buyers call and examine his stock and prices, as he is determined to be undersold by none.

A. STEWART.

N.B.—Eave Troughs, Cistern Pumps, Beer Pumps, Bell-hanging, Lumbermen's Furnishings, and Jobbing of every description.

A. S.

Peterborough, Nov. 16, 1864. 46

New Grocery!

THE subscriber begs to inform the inhabitants of LAKEFIELD and vicinity, that he has recently opened

A GENERAL GROCERY STORE

IN LAKEFIELD,

In the premises formerly occupied by Mr. Jas. Stewart, where will be found a

Good assortment of Groceries,

WHICH WILL BE SOLD

CHEAP FOR CASH,

Or Farm Produce.

ROBT. GRAHAM.

Lakefield, Dec. 6th, 1864. 40

REMOVAL.

J. O'DONNELL, D. S.,

HAS REMOVED his Dental Office to the beautiful Corner Rooms

Over Ormond & Gilmour's Drug Store,

☞Entrance on Hunter Street—same as Mr. Ewing's Photographic Rooms.

Particular attention paid to Facial Neuralgia, diseases of the Antrum, Necrosis and Caries of the Jaw, and all diseases in connection with the anatomy of the mouth.

☞Teeth Extracted without Pain.

Peterborough, Dec. 14th, 1864. 50

MR. ORDE has removed his office to Chambers' Building, opposite the Commercial Bank.

Money, in sums varying from $200 to $2000, to a large aggregate amount, ready to be advanced on the security of "Improved Farms" and no other, with reference whereunto, to obviate unnecessary correspondence and postal charges, the personal application of intending mortgagors will only be entertained.

Mr. Orde has likewise entered into business arrangements with John G. T. Bodwell, Esq., general Land and Parliamentary Agent, of Quebec (or wherever the Seat of Government may happen to be), a gentleman of eighteen years' experience, and large practice in transactions relating to Patent and other claims in the Crown Lands Department.

Peterborough, Dec. 8, 1864.

REMOVAL.

MRS. TODGHAM,

STRAW MILLINER,

BEGS to inform her Friends and Customers that she has removed from George Street, her late place of business, to Hunter Street, in the house West of the old Union School-house, where all orders will be executed in the best style, and on the same reasonable terms as heretofore.

Felt Hats Cleaned and Altered.

Peterboro, December 1, 1864. 48

ROOM PAPER DEPOT.

WM. N. KENNEDY,

HAS REMOVED to the store immediately West of the Stewart House, on Hunter street.

His stock of Room Papers, Borders, Decorations, Window Blinds, Fire Screens, &c., has been largely increased and will be sold cheap.

Painting in all its branches carried on as usual.

Peterboro', Oct. 16, 1864. 42

Hopkins & Donnelly

WOULD respectfully call the attention of the public generally to their excellent Stock of Goods, comprising everything found in a first-class Saddlery and Harness Warehouse, and surpassed by none in the Province.

As they have adopted the Ready Pay system, everything will be sold at

GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

In Peterborough, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe street; in Lakefield, next door to Mr. Sheran's store.

P. S.—Over-due notes and accounts must positively be settled at once, otherwise they will be put in suit for collection.

H. & D.

Peterboro, Feb. 1, 1865. 5

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

OF CANADA.

From Niagara Falls to Detroit,

AND BRANCHES FROM HAMILTON TO TORONTO.

Passenger Train Time Table.

OCTOBER, 1864.

TORONTO LINE.

HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

STATIONS GOING EAST.	Mixed.	Express.
	A. M.	P. M.
HAMILTON.....depart	7.45	3.45
Burlington Junction
Waterdown	8 30
Wellington Square	8.15	4.10
Bronte	07	4.27
Oakville		4.35
Port Credit
Mimico
TORONTO, Union Station, arrive	10 20	5.20

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

STATIONS GOING WEST.	Express.	Mixed
	P. M.	P. M.
TORONTO, Union Station, depart.	12.50	5.30
Mimico		6.00
Port Credit	1.3	6.20
Oakville	1.4	6.41
Bronte	1.07	6.57
Wellington Square	2.13	7.16
Waterdown		7.30
Burlington Junction
HAMILTON	3.30	8.00

Hamilton, 1864. 47

MONTREAL

OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.

TICKETS

FOR

Londonderry, Glasgow or Liverpool.

or from any of these ports to any point in Canada, may be procured from the Agent in Peterborough,

GEORGE A. COX,

at the MONTREAL TELEGRAPH OFFICE

He is also agent for the

BRITISH AND AMERICAN

Express Comp'y

OFFICE, HOPKINS' BLOCK.

Simcoe Street, Peterboro', October 26th, 1863. 44-tf

Norwood and Peterboro'

STAGE.

ACCOMMODATION LINE.

LEAVES NORWOOD

On Tuesday's and Friday's,

AT 7 A. M. RETURNING

LEAVES PETERBORO' THE SAME DAYS,

AT 2.30 P. M.

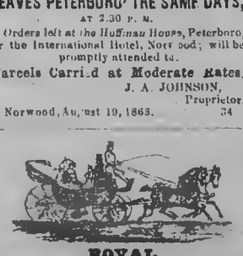
Orders left at the Huffman House, Peterboro, or the International Hotel, Norwood; will be promptly attended to.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates.

J. A. JOHNSON,

Proprietor.

Norwood, August 19, 1863. 34



ROYAL

MAIL STAGE

BETWEEN

KEENE & PETERBORO'.

A DAILY STAGE

Leaves the Victoria House, Keene.. 9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' ..... 12 noon.
Leave Peterboro' ..... 3 p. m.
Arrive at Keene ..... 5.30 p. m.

April 17th, 1863. 17tf.

PORT HOPE & PETERBOROUGH

RAILWAY.

ON and after the 18th of June, the Peterboro Trains will run as follows:—

MAIL.

Leave Port Hope at ..... 9.55 a.m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at ..... 12.15 p.m.
Leave Peterboro at ..... 3.30 p.m
Arrive at Port Hope ..... 5.55 p.m

S. R. KIMBALL, Superintendent. F. FERGUSON, Secretary.

Peterboro June, 1864. 26

Original Poetry.

WAITING FOR THE SPRING.

As breezes stir the morning,
A silence reigns the air;
Steel-blue the heavens above,
Moveless the trees and bare,
Yet unto me the stillness
This Burthen seems to bring—
"Patience! the earth is waiting,
Waiting for the Spring."

Strong ash, and sturdy chesnut,
Rough oak and poplar high,
Stretch out their naples branches
Against the wintry sky.
Even the guilty aspen
Hath ceased her quivering,
As though she too were waiting,
Waiting for the Spring.

I strain mine ears to listen,
If haply where I stand,
But one stray note of music
May sound in all the land.
"Why art thou mute, O blackbird?
O trush, why dost not sing?"
Ah! surely they are waiting,
Waiting for the Spring.

O heart! thy days are darksome;
O heart! thy nights are drear;
But soon shall beams of sunshine
Proclaim the turning year.
Soon shall the trees be leafy,
Soon every bird shall sing;
Like them, be silent, waiting,
Waiting for the Spring.

Literature.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Long ago I had decided just how and when I should fall in love; and had plainly seen, in my mind's eye, the lady who alone could fill my heart. She should be tall, brilliant, and stately, with glorious black eyes and hair. Her mind should be stored with knowledge, and heart should be filled with—well, with me, of course. As to time, I had resolved not to even look for my paragon until I was twenty-seven.

On my twenty-second birthday I left the paternal roof and proceeded to New York to earn a fortune for the future Mrs. Smith and myself. And in less than a month fell desperately, irretrievably in love with a sweet young blonde, tiny and fragile, who hated the very sig t of a book, and looked with sublime indifference upon my unhappy self.

Oh! how I loved her!

She was a second floor boarder in the house which I had selected as a temporary abiding-place—no orphan, under the protection of a maiden aunt. There were four other lady boarders in the house, but Julia Darley, my Julia was the flower of them all.

Mrs. Green, the keeper of the boarding-house, was the mother of a maiden who, compared with my unattainable Julia, was as rock is to crystal, as darkness is to light; and yet this maiden even while my heart throbbed for another dared lift her eyes admiringly to mine! Call it not conceit—the thing was plain.

Imagine my feelings then, when one day sauntering into the parlor, and finding Miss Green there alone, I was accosted with:

'Mr. Smith, I feel I ought to communicate my intentions to you—unless, indeed, through the gossip of the house you know them already.'

Shuddering at the innovations of modern novelists, and intending to abash her into silence, I replied:

'I am acquainted with them, Miss Green, and I must say, once for all, that both circumstances and inclination prevent me from being willing in any way to—to—"

'Oh, as for that,' interrupted Miss Green, loftily, 'I shall not press the matter; though [with a sigh] I am very sorry to lose you, and mamma I know will be keenly disappointed. My upstairs rival is too powerful, I find.'

'Miss Green!' I gasped, 'pray explain yourself—I do not comprehend—your rival?'

'Yes, my rival,' responded Miss Green, without a blush; 'for you have refused it advance the offer I was about to make you, I must certainly infer that you have promised yourself to Miss Darley.'

Bewildered, and yet determined not to appear behind the age, I managed to say with a ghastly smile:

'I am sorry, my dear lady, that you feel compelled to draw ahuch an inference, but how do you know that Miss Darley wants me?

'Oh! that is no secret,' returned Miss Green, with rather a toss of the head. 'She has had her eye on you ever since you came to the house, and only yesterday told Mrs. Scott on the first floor that she only wished she could secure you.'

'Miss Darley said this?' I exclaimed, horror-stricken, yet not utterly wretched.

'Certainly, she did; it's her way,—but you're not bound, of course, to follow her fortunes unless you choose; or if you do not like her'

'Like her?' I echoed, passionately; 'I—'

I was going to say, 'I love her! I idolize her!' when the landlady came in the room, just in time to save my dignity from utter wreck.

Seizing the opportunity and my hat at the same time, I bowed hastily to both ladies and left the apartment.

In the solitude of my own room I sat down to meditate on the remarkable interview through which I had just passed. For Miss Green and her unwomanly offer I simply entertained feelings of contempt. But what meant those insinuations concerning my Julia? Dear, dear girl!—Can it be that she loves me in secret? But those horrible words, 'Meant to secure me if she could!' No, no—I will never believe she said them. At most she may, in the innocence of her heart, have confided her feelings to a false friend. 'I will never believe it. And yet Miss Green called her her 'rival.' Women can detect each other's feelings more quickly than we men can. Oh, what if Julia love me, after all!

All that night, sleeping and waking, my heart kept echoing these words. The next day's work could not drive them away. What if she love me! How the thought lit up the dull back-office, and gilded the very edges of the 'blotter!' How I scribbled 'Love' and 'Julia' on bits of waste paper, and then wrote 'Cash' and 'Scrimpkins' over the words so that no body could read them!

'Well, when I returned to my room that afternoon I concluded to relieve myself then and forever. To say that I spoiled a quire of 'creamlaid' is to make a moderate estimate; finally I produced a missive which I flatter myself would have done credit to any young man of twenty-two under similar circumstances. It was an epistle to Julia, telling her of my deep, my abiding love, of my prospects in life, of my resolve to win fortune and renown for her sake. In short, I told her all my hopes and fears; begged her, in case she could at all reciprocate my emotions, not to divulge to mortal soul what had passed between us; and concluded by asking her to pen me a line in reply.

Carefully folding my letter, and directing the envelope in my best hand to "Miss Julia Darley," I watched an opportunity, slipped it under her door, and flew up stairs four steps at a time.

Unluckily for me, I ran into a nervous boarder, named Hopkins, at the first landing place. As I appeared flushed and confused, he at once regarded me with suspicion.

'Hallo Smith! what on earth is the matter with you?'

'Matter?' I panted pushing furiously passed him—' nothing.

He caught me by the arms.

'Smith,' said he 'you are ill!'

Fearing that Julia would hear the commotion, and driven to desperation, I hissed in his ear,

'Yes, small-pox—let me go!'

He needed no second hint, but hurried down stairs, muttering something about sending help as he went.

Seating myself at the open window (for it was summer,) I was soon lost in conjectures concerning the reception of my note. By this time Julia had certainly read it; nay, in all probability she was already bending her blushing face over the asked for reply—Why; there was Julia herself on the opposite side-walk! She halted—crossed the street—rang the bell—the door opened and closed. Now she was surely on the stair! I rushed to the hall and leaned over the banister. She entered the room. Now she would read the letter! Now I should learn my fate.

Before my head was raised from the interesting survey I heard a shrill voice, from the hall above, exclaim,

'Oh mercy! There he is! Don't stand there in the hall, Mr. Smith! Go to your room for Heaven's sake!'

This was pleasant, to say the least.—However, I obeyed orders, and resumed my seat at the window.

Presently the very air seemed thrilled by a rustling in the hall. Turning, I saw something white thrust nervously under my door. It was a folded piece of paper.

With a beating heart I picked it from the carpet and read:

'Mr. Smith,—I implore you to leave this house at once, if you are able to walk. Never mind paying your bill. I can wait. Your room shall not be entered until you return to it. The new family come to-morrow. As there are nine children, I do not wonder at your refusing my offer of taking a dollar per week less than formerly from all the old boarders who would remain with us. Yours in deep sympathy,

M. GREEN.'

Just then another slight rustling occurred in the hall, and in an instant the tiniest letter in the world twitched itself under the door. It contained these words, traced in a fair feminine hand:

'MY DEAR MR. SMITH,—Thy sweet words have filled me with surprise, and awakened emotions which I believed were dead within me. You are young, but there is promise of a fine character there. Brief as have been our interviews, I have detected your powers of mind, and they are worthy of my heart's purest and best love. If you really feel that you can be happy with me, I can offer you the 'ray of hope' to which you allude so beautifully. Yours [in all probability.]

JULIA.'

The first perusal made me half wild with bliss; the second excited a sense of mystery, and the third convinced me that joy at my proposal had driven the poor girl deranged. That allusion to my youth—what could it mean? 'Promise of character,' too—what! in me!—in me, who felt myself to be already a careworn, thoughtful man, older in experience and wisdom than Methuselah himself? What could it mean, but that the writer was demented?

She loved me, though—that was evident. Meanwhile how could I see my enchantress; how enjoy an interview with her away from that horrid, over-dressed aunt who was always at her elbow? Ah! a thought struck me: I will see her at once—I would test her love!—Without calculating the consequences I hastily wrote the following lines:—

'DEAR MISS JULIA.—I am confined to my room. The landlady will tell you what is the matter. If you love me, hasten to my side. I am alone in a large city—alone and friendless.

Yours forever, 'JAMES.'

Fearing another encounter in the hall I crumpled up my note, and attaching it to the end of a roll of thread I cautiously let it down from my window trusting that no observing eyes would mark me from the street.

It was seen, however, from the window below—a hand was stretched forth, the thread hastily broken, and the note drawn in.

Soon I heard a light step ascending the stair—then down again—then it returned—it passed along the hall—it halted at my door! the knob turned, and Julia's maiden aunt came rushing into the room:

'James,' she said, 'I have come to you—' and fell fainting at my feet.

'Hallo!' thought I as I dashed a tumbleful of water in her face; 'what does all this mean?'

Her eyes opened; 'James,' she murmured, stretching forth her hand, 'I have no fear of it. Living or dying I am thine!'

'The deuce you are!' I muttered, aside once. Then aloud, while bowing at a respectful distance, 'Really madam, there is some mistake here. Leave me, I pray you.'

'Heavens!' cried the maiden aunt—'He does not know me. It has gone to his brain already!'

'But I do know you,' I insisted; and I repeat you are laboring under some fatal error, Miss Darley.'

'Miss Darley!—oh no, call me Julia. Do not drive me away—let me soothe that poor, distract—'

'Julia!' I interrupted, forcing her away from me 'is your name Julia, too, Madam?'

The sharp eyes of the maiden aunt lost their tender expression in an instant. 'Is my name Julia too-oo. What do you mean Sir?'

'Why, I mean,' I replied recalling, 'I mean—in short—that—in other words—I didn't know your name was Julia.'

'And your letters?' she gasped getting ready, I felt sure, to faint again.

'They were addressed to your niece, of course, my dear Madam.'

'Of course!' screeched the aunt, now too angry to think of swooning. 'And you dared address yourself to that child—that school-girl?'

'But really, Madam, I—'

'Silence, Sir. Don't Madam me. Oh that I should have raised the horrors of contagion of such a wretch!' And clapping her hand to her mouth, she started pell-mell for the door.

In vain I asked her pardon, and shouted that I had not the small-pox. She was down stairs before the words were spoken. Her door closed with a bang. 'Now for the denouncement,' thought I; 'the whole house must have heard this racket.' I listened; all was still as death. I did not know that my landlady and her daughter were locked in their garret-room, not daring to descend until they were certain I had left the house. The sound of what they believed to be my raving had alarmed them only the more.

Leaving a hasty note on my table containing an unconditional surrender of my apartments, and, as nearly as I could estimate, the amount due for board, I packed my valise and peeped into the hall. The way was clear; not a human being was to be seen. In another moment the street-door of that mansion closed behind me forever.

At the corner who should I meet but Julia—the Julia, looking lovelier than ever. Scarce conscious of what I was doing, I halted before her and exclaimed.

'Why, Miss Darley, how came you here? I thought you were in your own room.'

'So I was a few moments ago,' she returned, with a frank smile. 'I have only been around the corner to see the doctor.'

'The doctor!' I echoed, with some anxiety. 'You surely are not ill, Miss Darley?'

'Oh no; but the fact is, I am anxious concerning aunty. It is, perhaps, wrong to tell you, and yet—'

Of course I protested that she was doing exactly the right thing; that I would be only too happy, etc., etc., etc. Meanwhile we found ourselves walking slowly up the avenue.

'It is very strange,' she continued, as we moved on together. 'Aunt has never shown symptoms of any thing of this kind before, though, perhaps, I notice it more now that I am about to leave her. Did you not know it?' observing my startled look. 'I am going next week to live with another relative in Twenty-third Street. Aunt has been so absorbed of late in her plan of hiring a house and taking boarders that it may have been too much excitement for her. She acts very, very strangely. I really fear that she is becoming deranged.'

'Indeed!'

'Yes. When I returned home this morning after my drawing lesson I found her in the most singular state of mind imaginable. She is nearly forty, you know, yet she declared that she felt herself to be too young to keep a boarding house, and must give up the idea entirely. Then she asked me how many bridesmaids I liked at a wedding, and hinted something about the iron bands of secrecy, and that there was no time, no age with love, and ever so many other strange things. Next she wrote a letter; and when I offered to post it for her she declared she would not trust it even to an angel's hands, and flew out of the room with it, begging me, for Heaven's sake, to stay where I was. After she came in again she seated herself by the window and sighed, then looked up at the sky and smiled—oh, so strangely!'

'Dear me!' I ejaculated, feeling that I must say something.

'Yes, but that isn't half. In a few moments a piece of a boy's kite, or something of that kind, fluttered down by the window, and would you believe? she actually snatched it from the string, looked at it an instant, pressed it to her lips, and then ran up to the landlady's room. Soon she came down again, looking just as pale as—as anything. Then she clasped her hands and exclaimed, 'I have decided!' [wasn't that queer?] and kissed me, and ran out of the room, begging me on no account to move until her return.'

'Dear me!' I exclaimed again, for want of something better to say.

'Well, do you know, in a little while she came back, oh, in such a rage! So mad, too, because I had been amused after her; and when I implored her to tell me what was the matter she shook her head fiercely at me, and said 'All the scoundrels were not dead yet.' Oh, I'm sure she's crazy,' added the poor girl in a distressed tone.

'Undoubtly,' said I, solemnly.

'The doctor can't go to her for two hours yet. What shall I do, Mr. Smith? Oh, it's dreadful!'

Thus appealed to, I decided to make a clean breast of the whole affair. Forgetting my bashfulness, forgetting the heavy value hanging from my left hand, I told her all, my love, my sufferings, my day's adventures, my present hope.

It was better these—there in the crowded avenue—for her veil hid her blushes and our faltering tones did not disturb the passers-by. Once she laughed—once she sighed 'Poor aunty!' and at last, when we were nearly up to Fulforth Street, she said in reply to a delicate hint.

'Oh yes, I suppose Aunt Emily will be most happy to have you call. It is No. 40.'

'I shall be very grateful to Aunt Emily,' I persisted; 'but her voice—will she be glad to see me?'

Oh how beautiful a blush is through a black dotted veil, and how plainly one can see when a little hand trembles, even when it is steadied by a parcel!

'Certainly, Mr. Smith. I am always happy to see my friends.'

It was non-committal to be sure; but I am naturally sanguine, and a young lady isn't apt to say 'fe-i-e-n-d-s' as though she could scarcely speak, unless she means more than she is willing to express—at least I found it to be so in Julia's case.

So you see, reader I could not fall in love at twenty-seven, as I had intended, or with that tall, stately, dark-haired girl because I met Julia in the mean time.—Her eyes seem to grow bluer and her hair more golden every day; still I am satisfied, and very, very glad that things happened as they did.

Aunt Julia and I are pretty good friends now. She, too, is married. It was a short courtship; but the Doctor makes her a capital husband, in spite of Miss Green's malicious remarks that 'a widower with four children wasn't much of a bargain.'

The London Jews and the Irish.

In all competition of business with Christians, where mere natural shrewdness is concerned, the Jews rarely show any superiority. It is singular, and occasionally almost ludicrous, to notice the competition in their little business matters between the poor Irish and the poor Jews. Formerly the Jews had all the sale of fruit in the streets in their own hands; now they seem completely to have lost it. A quarter of a century since, all the itinerant dealers in oranges were Jews, now there is hardly one to be found, the trade having passed into the hands of the poor Irish. And the transfer has certainly been effected by the superior business qualifications of the Irish. The Jews were not only masters of the position, but they traded on data which would at first sight have appeared certain of success.

One of the beautiful principles in the exercise of the Jewish benevolence is to assist their poor to help themselves, and with that intent the rich purchase for them fruit, lucifer matches, and other articles of street commerce, which they either give for nothing, or allow their poor to have at such a low price as would enable them to sell with the entire or ample profit; and yet the Irish seem to have driven them completely from the field. We were rather amused a day or two since, when mentioning the subject to a poor Jew. "And this is not the worst of it, sir," he said; "they are now encroaching on our old clothes trade, and somehow they appear to succeed far better than we do." The remark was made in a tone both of annoyance and despair, as if the poor Jews were being driven back to the very heart of their commercial stronghold.—Good Words.

John, the Grave Digger.

Mr. Gray had not long been a minister of the parish till he noticed the odd practice of the grave digger; and one day when he came upon John smoothing and trimming the lonely bed of a little child which had been buried a few days before, he asked why he was so particular in dressing and keeping the graves of infants. John paused for a moment at his work, and looking up, not at the minister, but at the sky, said, 'Of such is the kingdom of heaven.'

'And on this account you tend and adorn them with such care,' remarked the minister, who was greatly struck with the reply

'Surely sir,' answered John, 'I canna make over braw and fine the bedcovering o' a little innocent sleeper that is waitin' there till it is God's time to waken it and cover it with a white robe, and waft it away to glory. Where sic grandeur is awantin' if yonder, its fit it should be decked out here. I think the Saviour will like to see white clover spread about it; dae ye no think sae tae sir?'

'But why not thus cover larger graves?' asked the minister, hardly able to suppress his emotions. 'The dust of all his saints is precious in the Saviour's sight.'

'Very true, sir,' responded John, with great solemnity, 'but I canna be sure wha are his saints and wha are no. I hope there are many o' them lyng in the kirkyard; but it would be presumption in me to mark them out. There are some that I'm gey sure about, an I keep their grave as nately sodded as I can, and I plant a bit floure here and there as a sign of my hope; but dana gie them the white shirt,' refering to the white clover. 'It's clean different though wi' the bairns.'—The Gem.

To get rid of bed-bugs, wash the bedstead with salt and water, filling the cracks where they frequent with salt, and you may look in vain for them. Salt seems inimical to bed-bugs, and they will not trail through it. It is preferable to all "nostrums," and the buyer requires no certificate as to its genuineness.

Common cut nails or screws, are easily driven into hard wood, if rubbed with a little soap either hard or soft.

To avoid family quarrels, let the quarrelsome person have it all to himself; reply never a word.

Never condemn your neighbor unheard; there are always two ways of telling a story.

Windows may be kept free from ice by painting the glass with alcohol with a brush or sponge.

Those that wish to effect Insurance should call on the undersigned, who devotes the whole of his time to Insurance, and represents some of the best English and Canadian Offices.

J. R. WALTON.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Beautiful—Robert Graham.
Mackerel—J. M. Bacon.
Card Pictures—R. D. Ewing.
If you want to know—Dr. E. B. Foote.
Information Free—J. B. Ogden.
Gold Eyes made new—E. B. Foote, M. D.
Strayed—James Bethel.
Insolvent Act of 1864—J. Campbell.
A Talented Offer—J. W. Jones.
Insolvent Act of 1864—T. Brown.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, MARCH 2, 1865.

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

The debate on Confederation continues to be the engrossing subject of the House, but because of the weakness of the opposition the debate is not assuming the magnitude we would have anticipated, considering the important transformation that it is sure to bring about. It is sure to pass in the Legislature by an overwhelming majority. The great speeches are all made both for and against; no new features have been brought to light other than was revealed during the discussion in the conference. The measure is popular in both sections of the Province, and receives the support of Politicians of every shade. The Montreal Witness is the only paper of any importance that opposes it. We are sure, however, that the Editor of the Witness is sincere in his opposition, for we can not believe that the Editor of that paper, so long and so generally acknowledged as an upright and consistent advocate of the rights of the people, and justice to all, would take the course he does only upon the honest conviction that he is battling for right, and against injustice or dangerous Legislation. There is no doubt but the measure will pass, and the Home Government sanction it according to the representations of the Provinces as set forth in the articles of the Quebec Conference. Mr. Wood's Annexation Bill claims the next degree of our attention. It is sure to be defeated, and we trust our prediction will be verified. It is dangerous to place the whole monopoly of our railway system into the hands of any company, and more especially into the hands of the Grand Trunk Company. The Road is not over well managed at present, then what would it be, if there were no opposition lines to stimulate and keep them in a straight course. The Bill has obtained two readings, yet members are not pledged to support it in the third reading. A little of Grand Trunk management may be seen in the lists of casualties that have taken place this season, commencing early in the season and continuing up to the present date. From what we have already seen—what might we expect if the whole travelling facilities of the country were under its control.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Quebec, Feb. 27th, 1865.

After the third reading of some private Bills, the Debate was again resumed by Mr. Dunkin. He opposed it because he believed it tended to disunion from the Empire. He also opposed it because it resembled neither the constitution of Great Britain nor of the United States. The mingling of elective and crown appointing in one scheme, he believed, was to obtain the support of as many as possible so as to carry it through at any cost. He also thought the Judicial system would be a fruitful source of trouble, as the Judges must serve two masters. The Federal Government appointed, the Local, assigned functions. Mr. Dunkin's speech is considered the ablest against Confederation, yet it gained no new supporters. Three hours per day are about to be added for debate till the subject is discussed.

AMERICAN NEWS.

It is remarkable how easily the Federals are gaining possession of the important places of the South. Charleston, the hot bed of the Rebellion, is again in the hands of the Union soldiers. Wilmington is also evacuated, or if not is likely to be. Sherman is reaping bloodless victories. Those places that the combined powers of land and sea forces could not take, are now being given up without a struggle. These things indicate either weakness on the part of Secessia or a change of tactics that we do not fully comprehend. Beauregard is said to be retreating before Sherman, and is moving towards Charlotte. Forces are reported as being concentrating towards Sherman's line of march with the view of opposing his onward movements, and, if possible, defeating him; but it may be questioned if the victorious forces of Sherman may not be able to detect anything Lee can spare from Richmond. Lee, himself, his conjectured, will try what he can do against Sherman. These are principally conjectures, for the Southern people are quite reticent on all military movements, being under orders to that effect.

General Grant reports great activity along the lines at Petersburg, as if some important movement or attack were about to be made; by some it is predicted as a precursion to the evacuation of Richmond itself in order to pour down upon Sherman, before Grant could attack or even follow, and if Sherman can be detected return and try Grant again. However these things may be, there appears to be both indication of action and a necessity for it on the part of the South, for if they cannot make up by celerity of action and energy what they lack in numbers, the end of the Rebellion may soon be near. The great ship canal for the purpose of enabling the U. S. to carry war vessels to the border lakes appears a settled affair, notwithstanding the fact of the State of New York does not entirely desire it, especially as a Federal or national work, for in turn there is a giving up of State rights, and advantages which even the North does not wish to be wholly deprived of. On this subject the Scottish American says:—"It is only by revolution laws like withdrawal of political rights once conferred are withdrawn; it is only by counter-revolution that such rights after being withdrawn are ever restored. We are most likely to witness—even were this revolution wound up to-morrow—a sound within the next half century. What remains then?

* * * * * *

Why so far as our light goes all that remains is that New York will quietly see the prime portion of her system of internal navigation alienated forever from state to Federal uses without the smallest respect for the sovereign pretensions of intervening Commonwealths.

Accident on the Grand Trunk Rail Road.

MR. N. C. GOWAN FATALLY INJURED.

On Thursday evening last, the Train was thrown down an embankment near Peterborough, a few miles west of Berlin. The embankment was about fifty feet high. The cause supposed to be too great speed going around a curve. Two passenger and one baggage cars were dashed down the embankment and made several turns in their descent. Several persons have been injured slightly. Mr. N. C. Gowan, who was returning from the Grand Lodge, is fatally injured. His spine is damaged and that part of the body from the third rib downward paralyzed. Death is momentarily expected. A number of others are much hurt, but none of them it is thought dangerously.

ROBBERY OF THE PASSENGERS.

Several of the passengers had more or less of their valuables taken in the confusion. One lady lost both money and valuable papers. Suspicious looking characters were known to have got on the train at Sarnia.

THE FORCE OF APPETITE.

A gentleman who was drinking his whiskey at the time, heard some one call out, "we are going to destruction, and before he had time to have a good drink the train went over. He was unhurt however. Investigation of the matter will no doubt be instituted.

BOOK NOTICES.

"Godey" for March is now before us. The present number contains a splendid steel engraving, "The Shadow on the Wall" reduced from the original plate; a splendid colored fashion plate, containing spring fashions; Riding lesson on original design; The Gypsy Pincushion and the Hand Penwiper; A plate containing four figures of Ladies Spring Riding Habits; The "Ebro" a design from Brodie; A Spring Suit; La Faille Paletot; and the new Style of Open Dress, both great novelties; imitation of Point Lace Collar; Aprons; Tassel Pincushions; Gentlemens flanel waistcoat; A ladies Key-Keeper; D'Orleye; designs for bead pincushions; Embroidery and braiding pattern; All the new style of Bonnets, Ladies Head-dresses, and Capes; Ornamental hair work; and many other contents too numerous to mention.

Moonlight Dance; Music composed expressly for the book; and a design for a French American Villa, with ground plans.

Some idea may be formed of the popularity of this work when we say that in the year 1864 1,512,000 copies of the Ladies Book were distributed.

A work entitled "The Union of British North America," by the Hon. Joseph Cauchon, M. P. P., has lately made its appearance. In the pamphlet, confederation is treated of in its different bearings, but chiefly from a French Canadian point of view. The writing is vigorous and convincing, facts and figures being given to prove the wisdom of the course, and the necessity for it. The arguments are arranged under five propositions which may be briefly stated thus:—

1st.—By accepting, in alliance with Hon. G. Brown, confederation, Ministers were actuated by a sense of duty or by a sole desire to remain in power.

2nd.—Could the existing union have been maintained under the present system?

3rd.—If not—had the right moment arrived to amend our Constitution?

4th.—Admitting if possible to maintain the existing union, should we persist in doing so, or seek a greater destiny in a different order of things?

5th.—If the moment has arrived to amend our constitution, is Confederation the best possible manner of doing so under the circumstances? These are clearly and vigorously discussed, from a Lower Canada stand point. At another time we will give a resume of the work.

Progress of the Temperance Law.

DUMMER.—Dunkin's Bill has been carried in the Township of Dummer, by a majority of 34.

CHAMAINE AND PERCY.—The Township of Chamaine gives a majority of 138 for Dunkin's Bill. The Township of Percy follows with a majority of 109.

NEWCASTLE.—Dunkin's Bill has been defeated in Newcastle; 38 voted for the bill; 78 against it; majority against it 40.

The County of Halton has decided for Dunkin's Prohibitory Law for the whole County. 1150 voted "yes," 940 voted "nay." Majority 210. Halton is the first County that has carried this Act.

PICKERING, Feb. 14.—Last week, from Tuesday morning to Friday evening, witnessed the most noted polling contest that has ever taken place in this township, between the friends of Rum on the one hand, and those of Dunkin's Bill on the other. On Tuesday the poll closed with a majority of 17 in favour of Rum. On Wednesday, it was 2 for the Bill; on Thursday, 6. On Friday, half-an-hour before the close of the poll, both parties had polled their last vote, and the friends of the bill lost heart; but about three minutes before the close of the poll, when we had all given up the bill for lost, Mr. Mitchel, of Chairmont, drove along in his cutter, who, on learning the state of matters, sprang out, and by the aid of willing friends reached the poll, gave his vote in favour of the bill, giving it the victory by a majority of one.

Bible Society Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Bible Society will be held in the Wesleyan Methodist Church, on Tuesday evening next, the 7th inst., at 7 o'clock, P. M. Interesting addresses will, no doubt, be delivered on the occasion.

CONCERT.—Remember Mr. Philp's Concert to-night, in the Victoria Hall.

Mr. Speaker Wallbridge continues indisposed. Mr. J. J. Smith still presides.

Mr Kent, Deputy Provincial Registrar, died suddenly on the 28th ult., of apoplexy.

PEACE MOVEMENTS.—The Times says:—We are assured from New York that President Davis has the game in his own hands, and can secure the independence of the South either with Northern assent or despite of it, according to his pleasure. The clue of this startling mystery is found in the statement formerly credited in America, that the Mexican Emperor has conveyed in trust to Napoleon the Northern portion of Mexico, to be held and administered by a French Viceroy, in liquidation of French claims on Mexico.

This session must entail recognition of the South by France, England and Europe.

THE ABOLITION OF SLAVERY.—The Kentucky legislature on Friday rejected the constitutional amendment. The vote in the Senate was taken on the 22nd, standing 12 in favour and 21 against; in the House on Friday standing 21 in favour and 62 against. Minority reports on the subject were presented in both Houses, favouring ratification on the condition of compensation; but the majority rejected, flatly rejected the amendment, were finally adopted. Two states (Delaware and Kentucky) have now rejected the amendment, and seventeen have adopted it.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

The seventh session of the Present Parliament was opened by commission on the 7th instant, by the Lord Chancellor.

The speech expresses hopes of the continuance of peace in Europe on the basis of the last treaty for that purpose. It also maintains the position of neutrality heretofore assumed in regard to the American war—alludes to some passing events in the East and other parts of her dominions. That part of the address which relates to the Confederation of the North American Colonies—expresses satisfaction at the result of the Conference, and promises a Bill to carry out whatever the Provincial Parliaments may approve. The Earl of Charlmont moved the address—considered the troubles of the United States small in importance compared with the change that is being effected in British North America. He considered nothing so important or tending to so large results had occurred since the declaration of American independence.

Lord Houghton seconded the motion, and referred to the subject of Confederation with delight, that the old maxims of Colonial policy were broken down, and hailed it as a happy omen of good that such a revolution should receive the willing sanction of the Imperial Government. He believed that the future of the world rested in great Empires rather than isolated Municipalities.

Earl Derby deplored the continuance of the American civil war—regretted that the United States should not accept the neutrality with that good will to which it was fairly entitled, as was evidenced by the desire shown to dissolve treaties, and place an armed fleet on the Lakes, which would, more than likely, bring about a state of hostility between the United States and Great Britain.

He (Earl Derby,) feared that the abandoning of the Reciprocity treaty would lead to grave difficulties between the two countries by opening up the old contentions about the Fisheries, and about the maintenance of superiority on the inland waters. Earl Derby also viewed with satisfaction the important steps of Confederation of the Canadian Provinces, feeling proud that the Cabinet in their deliberations showed such earnest feelings of loyalty, and deliberate preference for Monarchial institution, and especially of their strong desire to maintain connection with England.

Earl Russell saw reason why the people of the United States might feel irritated in their present position, but wondered that they could not see that the Government of Great Britain had done all the Law of nations demanded, as also all their own Municipal institutions would permit, exonerating the British Government from any breach of neutrality, or any design thereof. Earl Russell also palliated the action of the North by referring to the causes of irritation, viz: the raids and attempts at piracy of the Southern refugees, who took advantage of the unprotected state of the Lakes to attack and annoy them, and therefore he (Earl Russell) considered that they were bound to make every allowance for the irritation consequent on an excited state of mind when they would see their commerce attacked by sea, and that by vessels in some way fitted in British territory; and then, again, when they would find themselves robbed and plundered from Canada.

No part of the Noble Earl's speech seemed so forcible as that which referred to the present war as being about to put an end to slavery, and remove that blot from the character of so great and so civilized a nation as the United States.

It is satisfactory to note the vast change that has come over the mind of the British people in regard to their dependencies. Heretofore any such act as is now being brought about in British North America would have been considered dangerous to imperial connexion, and as tending to separation. Now it is considered a means of adding strength to the Empire, ensuring safety to the colonies, and of drawing the bonds of connexion closer and stronger. Such liberal policy towards the colonies must tend to unite more strongly and warmly than restriction and jealousy, as the colonists must see that the Imperial Government desires Colonial happiness and prosperity more than national greatness, or gain.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

MY LORDS AND GENTLEMEN,—

We are commanded to assure you that her Majesty's unfeigned satisfaction in recurring again to the advice and assistance of her Parliament.

The negotiations in which the Emperor of Austria and the King of Prussia were engaged with the King of Denmark were brought to a conclusion by a treaty of peace; and the communications which her Majesty receives from foreign powers lead her to entertain a well founded hope that no renewed disturbance of the peace of Europe is to be apprehended.

The civil war in North America still unhappily continues. Her Majesty remains steadfastly neutral between the contending parties, and would rejoice at a friendly reconciliation between them

A Japanese Daimio in rebellion against his sovereign infringed the rights accorded by treaty to Great Britain, and to certain other Powers; and the Japanese Government having failed to compel him to desist from his lawless proceeding, the diplomatic agents and the naval commanders of Great Britain, France, the Netherlands, and the United States of North America, undertook a combined operation for the purpose of asserting the rights which their respective governments have obtained by treaty. That operation has been attended with complete success; and the result has afforded security for foreign commerce and additional strength to the government of Japan, with which the relations of her Majesty are friendly. Papers on this subject will be laid before you.

Her Majesty regrets that the conflict with some of the native tribes in New Zealand has not yet been brought to a close, but the successful efforts of her Majesty's regular forces supported by those raised in the colony, have led to the submission of some of the insurgents and those who are still in arms have been informed of the equitable conditions on which their submission would be accepted.

Her Majesty has had great satisfaction in giving her sanction to the meeting of a conference of delegates from her several North American Provinces, who, on invitation from her Majesty's Governor General, assembled at Quebec. Those delegates adopted resolutions having for their object a closer union of those Provinces under a central government. If those resolutions shall be approved by the Provincial Legislatures, a Bill will be laid before you for carrying this important measure into effect.

Her Majesty rejoices at the general tranquility of her Indian dominion, but her Majesty regrets that long continued outrages on the persons and property of subjects of her Majesty, and for which no redress could be had, have rendered it necessary to employ a force to obtain satisfaction for the past and security for the future.

Her Majesty deeply laments the calamity which has recently occasioned great loss of life and property at Calcutta and other parts of India. Prompt assistance was rendered by officers of the Government, and generous contributions have been made in several parts of India to relieve the sufferings which have thus been occasioned.

GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS,—

Her Majesty has directed the estimates for the ensuing year to be laid before you. They have been prepared with every attention to economy, and with due regard to the efficiency of the public service.

MY LORDS AND GENTLEMEN,—

Her Majesty commands us to inform you that the general condition of the country is satisfactory and the revenue realises its estimated amount. The distress which prevailed in some of the manufacturing districts has greatly abated; and the Act passed for the encouragement of public works in those districts has been attended with useful results.

Ireland during the last year has had its share in the advantages of a good harvest, and trade and manufactures are gradually extending in that part of the Kingdom.

Various measures of public usefulness will be submitted for your consideration.

Bills will be laid before you for the consolidation of all the Courts of law and equity, with their attendant offices, in a convenient site—a measure which her Majesty trusts, will promote economy and despatch in the administration of justice.

The important work for the revision of the Statutes have already carried to a considerable extent by recent Acts of Parliament, will be completed by a Bill that will be laid before you. Her Majesty hopes that this work may be a step towards the formation of a digest of the law.

Bills will also be submitted for your consideration for the appointment of the laws relating to patents for invention, and for conferring on the county courts an equitable jurisdiction in cases of small amount.

Your assistance will also be invited to give effects to certain recommendations made to the House of Commons, after enquiry directed by that House into the operation of the laws regulating the relief of the poor.

A Bill will be laid before you founded on the report of the Commissioners for inquiring into the Public Schools; and her Majesty has directed that a commission shall be issued to inquire into endowed and other schools in England, which have not been included in the recent inquiries relating to popular education.

Her Majesty commits with confidence the great interests of the country to your wisdom and care; and she fervently prays that the blessing of Almighty God may attend your councils, and may guide your deliberations to the attainment of the object of her constant solitude, the welfare and happiness of her people.

On the conclusion of the reading of the speech the Speaker and the members of the House of Commons retired, and the Peers adjourned during pleasure.

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Feb. 23.

Hon. Mr Holton moved, that an Address be voted to His Excellency, for a statement of all the debts, liabilities and assets which are to be assigned to Upper and Lower Canada respectively, under the proposed Confederation of the British North American Provinces; which was negatived on the following division:

YEAS:—Messieurs Bissette, Bourassa, Cameron (North Ontario), Caron, Chambers, Coupal, Currier, Dorion (Drummond and Arthabaska), Dorion (Hochelaga), Ferguson (South Simcoe), Holton, Houde, Joly, Labrèche-Viger, Laframbroise, Lajoie, Macdonald (Cornwall), Macdonald (Glengarry), Macdonald (Toronto West), Parker, Perrault, Pomfret, Ross (Prince Edward), Rymal, Scatcherd, Smith (East Durham), Sylvain, Tascherean, Thibaudeau, Tremblay, Wallbridge (North Hastings), Wright (Ottawa County), and Wright (East York)—33.

NAYS:—Messieurs Alleyn, Archambeault, Ault, Beaubien, Bell, Bellerose, Blanchet, Bowman, Bown, Brown, Burwell, Carling, Attorney General Cartier, Cartwright, Cauchon, Chapais, Cockburn Cornellier, Cowan, De Boucherville, Dufresne (Montcalm), Dunsford, Ferguson (Frontenac), Galt, Gaucher, Gaudet, Gibbs, Haultain, Higginson Howland, Irvine, Jackson, Jones (South Leeds), Langevin, Attorney General Macdonald, Mackenzie (Lambton), Mackenzie (North Oxford), McDougall, McGee, McGiverein, McKellar, Morris, Morrison, Munro, Pope, Poulin, Rankin, Raymond, Rose, Ross (Champlain), Scoble, Shanly, Smith (Toronto East), Stirton, Street, Thompson, Walsh, Wells, White, Wilson, and Wood—61.

On motion of Mr. Street, the Clerk was directed to procure an Alphabetical Return of all the shareholders, as on the 1st day of January last, with the number of shares and amount of stock then held by each, and his or her place of residence, distinguishing how much of the said Stock, if any, remains unpaid.

Mr. Parker moved, that a Select Committee be appointed, composed of Hon. Messrs. Solicitors General Cockburn and Langevin, and Messrs. Shanly, Smith (Toronto East), Dickson, Mackenzie (Lambton), Dunkin and the mover, to require into and report generally on the condition and prospects of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, and particularly as to the state of the various Railways owned or worked by the said Company; and the extent and efficiency of the Rolling Stock employed thereon, and as to the comparative rates of R. Road freight charged on merchandize passing through Canada from and to foreign places, and the charges made on the same class of goods when carried from and to Canadian stations; with power to send for persons, papers and records.

And a Debate arising, and it being 6 o'clock P. M., the Speaker declared the Debate adjourned.

The House resumed the adjourned Debate upon Honorable Mr. Attorney General Macdonald's motion, of Friday, the 3rd instant. That an humble Address be presented to Her Majesty, praying that She may be graciously pleased to cause a measure to be submitted to the Imperial Parliament, for the purpose of uniting the Colonies of Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, in one Government, with provisions based on certain Resolutions, which were adopted at a Conference of Delegates from the said Colonies, held at the City of Quebec, on the 10th October, 1864.

NOTICES OF MOTIONS.

QUEBEC, Feby. 24th 1865.

Mr. Jones (North Leeds)—On Monday next—Address to His Excellency the Governor General praying that he will be pleased to take such steps as may be necessary to secure the appointment of Consular Agents at such places throughout the Province as may be necessary for the public convenience, and as may relieve the commercial community from the obstacles that now obstruct the intercourse with the United States.

Mr. Dickson—On Monday next—Address to his Excellency the Governor General for copies of all correspondence between the Government and the Honorable Chief Justice Bowen, in relation to the Court of Division at Quebec.

Hon. Mr. Laframboise—On Monday next—Bill to ammend chapter 109 of the Consolidated Statutes for Lower Canada.

Col. Haultain—On Monday next—Enquiry of Ministry whether it is the intention of the Government to extend the system of Free Grants of the public lands?

Mr. Wallbridge (North Hastings)—On Monday next—To rescind the Order of this Honorable House referring Bill No. 170 to the private Bill Committee, and to refer it to a Committee of the Whole House on that day.

Honorable Mr. Attorney General Macdonald—On Tuesday next—That the Resolution in the hands of Mr. Speaker, respecting the Union of the Colonies of Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island into one Government, be discussed from day to day, immediately after Routine Proceedings, from three o'clock in the afternoon, and as the first Order of the Day, until such Resolution and the Address to be founded upon it, are disposed of.

BUREAU OF AGRICULTURE,

QUEBEC, 24th February, 1865.

William Ferguson, Esquire, M. P. P., Dr. Richmond and the Honorable David Christie and A. S. A. Burnham, have been elected members of the Board of Agriculture of Upper Canada, in conformity to the provisions of chapter 25 of the Consolidated Statutes of Canada.

SAD AFFAIR.—On Friday last the dead body of a young woman named Shearer, was found in the woods near Grafton station. She was about 23 years of age, and was in comparatively good health on the previous day. She was a very dissipated character and very much addicted to intoxication. Death was supposed to have resulted from exposure to cold while in a state of intoxication. There were scarcely any clothes on her person. This forms a very appropriate argument for Dunkin's bill, and will not make the Haldimand folks sorry that they have passed a law to close their taverns, as far as the sale of liquor is concerned. The law comes in force to-morrow. We might add that on Friday evening a Coroner's inquest was held on this unfortunate woman, before C. R. Ewing Esqr, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the facts.—Cobourg Sun.

EXECUTION OF CAPTAIN BEALL.

Captain Beall was executed on Governor's Island, last Friday, in the presence of numerous spectators. On being asked if he had anything to say why the sentence should not be put into execution, he said:—"All I have to say is, that the execution of this sentence is murder; absolute murder: I die in the defence and service of my Country." Being again asked if he wished to say anything further, said:—"No: I beg you to make haste." He died instantaneously, there was a slight convulsion of the legs, and motion ceased.

(From the N. Y. Daily News.)

CAPTAIN JOHN YATES BEALL, who yesterday suffered the extreme penalty of the law at Governor's Island, was born in Jefferson county, Virginia, in that once beautiful and fruitful valley of the Shenandoah, now, alas! by war's ravages made a barren waste, and, at the time of his death, was about thirty years of age. He was most tenderly and carefully reared, and was educated at the Charlotteville University.

His family was one of the richest in the Old Dominion, it having been worth at one time, it is stated, a million and a half of dollars. When the war broke out he was living about five and a half miles from Harper's Ferry, at a place called Flowing Springs. He then applied for a commission in the Confederate service and was given a captaincy in the Second Infantry regiment of his native State. For a long time his regiment belonged to the corps of Stonewall Jackson, and Captain Beall participated in all of the principal battles that have taken place in Virginia.

For many years he had been a communicant of the Episcopal Church, and was a number of times selected a delegate to the Virginia Convention of laymen belonging to that denomination. He was a man of rare culture and extensive information. His physical appearance was exceedingly pleasing. Although only five feet seven inches in height, he possessed a commanding presence and bore the impress of a high order of intellect upon his face. He was rather stoutly built, and wore a slight mustache and a goatee.

He was a charming conversationist, and his manner towards others was always such that polished urbanity which is the prime index of the character of the true gentleman. For his mother he always entertained the highest sense of filial regard and during his last interview with her he was assured that he had her undying love and her prayers for his welfare both in this and in the other world.

From the Herald.

ANTECEDENTS OF CAPTAIN BEALL.—Captain James Yates Beall is reported to have been born in Jefferson county, Va, some thirty-two years ago. He is said to have been well educated, having studied a full course at the Charlottesville University, in his native State. Before the rebellion, it is asserted that he was possessor of a fortune valued at over a million of dollars, and he was also represented to be the heir apparent to the estate of Lord Egeby, a British nobleman.

Qualification of Municipal Voters.

AN IMPORTANT JUDGMENT.

(Hamilton Correspondent of the Globe.)

About two or three weeks ago His Honour Judge Logie, County Judge of the county of Wentworth, delivered judgment in a contested election case affecting the return of one of the Councillors for the township of Saltfleet. Having heard the matter alluded to as of some public importance, I have obtained a correct statement of the same for the benefit of your readers.

It appears that at the last election for Ward No. 4, Saltfleet, William R. Waterbury was elected Councillor by the casting vote of the Returning Officer. Henry Lutz, the defeated candidate, applied to have the election set aside, and to be declared entitled to the office of Councillor, on the ground of the reception of illegal votes, bribery, the rejection of the votes of several duly qualified electors who tendered their votes for Lutz, and because Lutz had, as he alleged, a majority of good votes.

In affidavits filed by the defendant, Waterbury he denied the allegations contained in the statement of Lutz, the relator, and objected to a number of votes given for the relator, Lutz, as being bad.

After hearing a number of witnesses on both sides who were examined viva voce, and the arguments of council.

His Honour Judge Logie decided—

1st. That the allegation in the relator's statement, "that he hath an interest in the election as a candidate," need not be proved by the relator unless denied in the defendant's answer. It not denied it must be held to be admitted—Reg. ex. rel. Shaw vs. McKenzie, 2 ch. Rep. 41. Reg. ex. rel. Harvey vs. Scott, 2 ch. Rep. 88 100. If denied, the fact must be proved by other evidence than that of the relator himself. Reg. ex. rel. Carroll vs. Beckwith, 1 Pr. Rep. 283. In this case, as the interest of the relator is not denied, the objection raised on the hearing that the interest was not proved was over ruled.

2nd. That the evidence of bribery was not sufficient, but that if proved the candidate guilty of having bribed the electors was not thereby disqualified from holding office, but that the votes obtained by bribery should be struck off.

3rd. That a young man living at home with his parents is not entitled to vote as a householder, though he worked the farm and supplied the house—the householder contemplated by the statute being, as defined by Mr. Justice Burns in Reg. ex. rel. Charles v. Lewis, 2 Co. Rep. 173, "a person at the head of a family, actually keeping house, in the ordinary sense of these words."

4th. That in the case of a person occupying a room in the house of another person, and supplying his own family, which room opens into a passage leading to a front door by which he has access to the street; the family owning the house having access to the street by a back door opening into a kitchen, but who occasionally use the front door and have a right to use it: the person occupying the room is not entitled to vote as a householder, not being the occupant of a separate portion of a house having a distinct communication with a public road or street by an outer door, as provided by sect. 164 of the Assessment Act.

5th. That a change of residence by a householder does not disqualify him from voting if he continues to be a householder, and resident within the municipality for one month next before the election.

6th. That in case of the omission to designate the character in which the party is assessed, whether as a freeholder or a householder, the omission may be supplied and the vote recorded. But in case of a person being wrongfully assessed as a householder instead of a freeholder, or vice versa, the roll cannot be amended, and the vote returned by the returning officer. He has no power to amend the roll, and if the judge has power to amend it and a limit the vote on a scrutiny (which is very doubtful) he ought not to exercise the power, as by doing so he would in effect deprive the opposing candidate, and the electors generally, of the right to cause the returning officer to administer.

THE PASSPORT SYSTEM.—Last week a man named Boyce left Kingston for the States with two lads named Joyner and Davy, (who were before the Police Court on Monday), only one being provided with a passport. On meeting the guard near Cape Vincent, instead of their passport being demanded, they were provided by the guard, who had a whole pile of them, with two bogus passports, a wink from Boyce or an understanding that they were subs, having settled the matter. When the guard found that they would not enlist he got the passports back, intending to use them at another time. This shows that the system is a regular farce and more apt to do injury than good. As any pass trustworthy men should be placed on guard.—British Whig.

Dr E B. Foote, 1130 Broadway, New York.—read his advertisement in another column of this paper.

Valuable Statistics.

In view of the proposed Confederation of the Provinces, the following particulars will be read with interest:—

NEWFOUNDLAND.—Population at the last Census, taken in 1857, 122,638; amount of Customs Revenue in 1863, £91,727; Excise, £1,251; total £92,378 sterling, or $3 86 per head. The gross Revenue was £103,443 sterling. The value of their Imports, £1,077,377; Exports, £1,244,855 sterling. The cost of collecting their Revenue, £6,634; amount expended in educational and literary purposes, £13, 203. New vessels built in the Colony, 43; 1, 834 tons; Vessels registered in the Colony, 1,429 29,731 tons; 6 steamers are registered in the Colony, two of them employed as passenger and mail boats, two as tug boats, and two in the seal fishery.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.—Population at last Census, 80,857; Import Duty, £18,870 12s 2d sterling; Excise, £234 4s 8d. total, £50,704 17s 8d sterling, or $1 81 per head. Their gross revenue was £41,126 sterling. Owing to the large quantity of new shipping built on the Island, the import duties on the outfits of these vessels increases the rate of duties per head. In ports in 1864, £293,681 sterling; Exports, £309,471 sterling. Value of new shipping built in 1864, £134,935. New vessels built 100, measuring 18,608 tons register. Shipping registered in the Colony on the 31st December last, 350 vessels, measuring 34,123 tons register.

NOVA SCOTIA.—Population at last census, 330, 857; Customs and Excise Revenue in 1863 $934,999, or about $3 60 per head; Imports, $10,201 891; Exports, $4 516,488; new vessels built in 1863, 107, measuring 44,043 tons register, total vessels registered at all the ports in Nova Scotia on the 30th September last, 3,538, measuring 309,554 tons.

CANADA—Population at last Census, 2,304,755; Customs Revenue, in 1863 $3,189,173; Excise, $715,421 total $3 804,594, or about $3 35 per head. Imports for 1863, $45 964,491; Exports, $41, 831 532; new vessels built in Canada in 863, 158; 67,309 tons register; value $3, 900,000; the most of tonnage was built at Quebec.

NEW BRUNSWICK—Population at last Census, 252,047; Customs Import Revenue, $768,353, or about $3 per head. The heavy importation of ship materials last year, along with the increased demand for our dry goods, &c., by persons visiting this Province from the States, will partially account for this large rate of Customs taxation per head, as compared with the other colonies.

The population of each of the colonies has increased to some extent since the last Census was taken, at which time the population of all the North American Colonies was 3,293,154 souls the Customs and Excise Revenue of all these colonies in 1863, was £1,097, 177 sterling, against £1,465,111 sterling, in 1864, or about $2 47 per head.

The quantity of new shipping built in all North American Colonies in 1863, was 645 vessels measuring 219 783 tons register, of which New Brunswick built upwards of 38 per cent. In 1862 we built upwards of 36 per cent of the total quantity built in the Colonies.

The quantity of new shipping built in British North America last year (valuing it at £8 sterling per register ton) would be equal in value to £1,758,104 sterling.

Surrender of Charleston.

The following is, on the whole, the best of several highly-colored non-official narratives respecting events subsequent to the surrender:—

"Early in the morning on the 18th, two terrific explosions in Charleston were observed from our fleet. Fire, smoke and burning fragments filled the air for a great distance; and the shock was severely felt by all our vessels. Soon afterwards, and before daylight, fires were set in other places, and extended throughout the upper part of the city. It has since been ascertained that many thousand bales of cotton were burned in consequence of the explosions of the warehouse and other public buildings that were fired. It appears that those who remained to the last were not well organized and a majority of them were thieves, whose object in laying waste was plunder. It is reported by the inhabitants of the city that these men were guilty of many disgraceful acts. They had little difficulty in effecting their escape with their booty. Several hundred deserters were concealed in the houses in Charleston, and when our troops entered they surrendered, declaring that they were tired of the rebellion, and would no longer fight for it. They were received as prisoners. Crowds of negroes met our troops, and made many demonstrations of joy. There were men, women, and children. They wanted food. Many of them said they would be glad to work. Some proposed to take arms against their masters. The population of Charleston consisted entirely of the poorer classes, as the rich had for several days been removing. The persons who remained had nothing to eat, and no means of obtaining anything. Their situation is described as worse than that of the inhabitants of Savannah. The lower part of the city within reach of our guns was in effect a ruin, and was almost uninhabited. Comparatively few persons dared to remain there. Some of the houses were knocked down; bricks and timbers were lying everywhere, and the streets in particular were strewn with the fragments, in many places entirely obstructing travel. Shells were lying among the ruins. The appearance of the city—the lower part uninhabitable and the upper part in flames—is described as dreary and desolate in the extreme."

THE LATEST ALARM IN KINGSTON.—The rumors did not come and carry away Kingston, on Monday night, as was expected. The Royal Artillery, the Royal Canadian Rifles, the 14th Regiment of Volunteer Militia and a strong Police Force—are not these enough to protect any place? Guards were posted at the Penetentiary, at the common goal, and at other places on Monday night, and are to be continued until further orders. This would not have been done without cause or warrant. There must be something to dread, and yet what is it? It is scarcely possible to believe that any attempt of lawless men can be entertained against Kingston, so well prepared as the city is against assault. We have no desire to turn precaution into ridicule, and yet the whole seems to us incomprehensible and slightly ridiculous. Where are the raiders? Where can they come from? They can't come from the moon—still that is the most likely place. The United States authorities are as anxious to prevent raids into Canada, as the Canadian authorities to hinder those into the United States, and really and truly the whole thing is incomprehensible! Our opinion is, that there is more danger of raids from the numerous bounty jumpers, roughs and idle strangers stopping the winter in Kingston without apparent means of livelihood, than from anything or anybody coming from the other side. Let some of those fellows get the present benefit of Alien Act.—Kingston Whig.

SHOCKING SUICIDE.—St. Mary's, Feb. 22.—A Shocking affair occurred about noon on Monday, at the residence of Mr. Samuel Sparling, Blanchard. A servant in the family, named Elizabeth Robinson, about 18 years of age, cut her throat with a razor. Mrs Sparling had been absent for a couple of hours, and on her return found a letter on the table, which led her to suppose that the girl had done something. She proceeded to the girl's bed-room, and found her on her knees, with her throat cut and a razor lying near her. Dr. Wilson was immediately called and rendered all the assistance possible, but she died in an hour or two, did not bleed much, and did not injure the jugular vein or wind-pipe, but went into convulsions and died in one of the fits. We have not heard the cause of the rash act. The unfortunate girl was buried to-day.—Advertiser.

DEATH FROM TOBACCO.—Wm. Thomson, aged 17 years, of Pleasant Point, Mariposa, died on Sunday last, the 19th inst., from the poisonous effects of tobacco. It appears that the young man had such an inordinate love for chewing tobacco, that he could not refrain from making use of the weed, even during school hours, and on Thursday last, in order to avoid detection by the teacher, actually swallowed the "quids," juice and all. The poisonous effects of the tobacco were soon manifested by violent vomiting and deathly sickness. Medical aid was speedily procured, but it proved in vain, as sufficient of the poison had become absorbed to prove fatal. He lingered in great distress until Sunday, when death put an end to his sufferings. We hope this sad affair will prove a warning to boys, not to touch, taste, or handle the unclean weed.—Observer.

During the last month the losses to Insurance companies in Canada are estimated at over $300,000—two thirds computed to be from incendiarism.

Many Thousand Persons Drowned in India.

Later advices reveal the full extent of the disaster inflicted by the terrible cyclone in India. A Calcutta letter to the London Times, just received, says:

I see that the news of 12,000 persons having been lost in the cyclone was received with incredibility in England. The estimate was wide of the truth, but only because it vastly understated the calamity. As any one who knows this country will readily receive, there is no possibility of ascertaining precisely the loss of life, because hundreds might be swept away and leave no trace behind. For we are not without data for arriving at a conclusion, and to base new hopes calculated that there cannot be fewer than 60,000 persons drowned or otherwise killed by that fearful storm. In the Island of Sangor alone, before the cyclone, there were 8,200 persons. There are now about 1,200 —nowhere any left it to go elsewhere. 7,000 were carried clean away by the storm wave. All up the river the population has been swept off, if not in the same proportion, yet in very large numbers.

As we all anticipated disease is raging everywhere—cholera, fever and small-pox. The epidemic fever which I have mentioned in previous letters this year is depopulating whole districts. A magistrate told me the other day that he had been riding through a village in which there was hardly a grown up person left. They had died without hope of assistance, without medicine, without food —for the crops are rotting on the ground in many parts, where the ea't water rushe t in. The Bengalese are in a deplorable plight, and the reminders increase the general misery by turning

OLD EYES MADE NEW.

A PAMPHLET directing how to speedily restore sight and give up spectacles, without aid of doctor or medicine—Sent by mail, free, on receipt of 10 cents Address,

R. B. FOOTE, M.D.,
9-6m 1130 Broadway New York.

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING relating to the human species, male and female; the causes and treatment of disease; the marriage customs of the world; and a thousand things never published before, read the revised enlarged edition of "Medical Common sense," a curious book for curious people, and a good book for everyone, 400 pages 100 Illustrations. Price $1.50. Contents table sent free to any address. Books may be had at the Book stores, or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price

Address, Dr. R. B. FOOTE, M. D.,
9-6m 1130 Broadway New York

A GOOD THING—TRY IT

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
Is a medicine for the immediate and permanent removal of all pains from the system.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Rheumatism, Pleurisy, and Pains in the back and side.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
relieves Pains in the head and Sick headache.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Bilious Cholic & Cramps in the stomach.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Dysentry, and Bowel Complaint.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Sudden Colds and sore Throat.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Neuralgia, Tic douloureux, & Toothache.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Burns, Scalds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, &c
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
is also an excellent thing for Strains, Sprains Wounds and Bruises. It takes away all pain the moment it is applied.

No family should be without a Bottle of
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
PRICE 25 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

NO THOP'S LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas,

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, and A. W. Kempt; by C. Britton Lindsay, and all medicine dealers.

New Advertisements.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

THE CREDITORS of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Messrs. Fairbairn and Dumble, on Water Street, in the Town of Peterborough, at one o'clock in the afternoon of Thursday, the twenty-third day of March, 1865, for the purpose of receiving statements of his affairs, and naming an Assignee, to whom he may make an assignment under the above Act.

TEMPLETON BROWN.
Peterborough, March 1st, 1865. 9-3in

STRAYED

FROM the premises of the subscriber, last summer,

Three yearling Steers and a Heifer,

One of the steers has a head red and white spots, the other three are mostly red with a few white spots.

Any person giving information where they are, will be rewarded.

JAMES BECKET.
1st Con. Otonabee, Feb. 1, 1865. 9-1in*

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JOHN WILLIAMSON an Insolvent.

PURSUANT to the provisions of the above Act, I do hereby call a meeting of the creditors of the above Insolvent to be held at the Law Office of Sidney Smith, at Peterborough, on the thirteenth day of March next, at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, for the purpose of appointing a new assignee.

JAMES CAMPBELL.

Dated at Peterborough this 17th day of February, 1865. 9

MASONIC.

THE REGULAR Communication of Peterborough Lodge No. 158, will be held

ON FRIDAY EVENING NEXT,

At half-past seven o'clock, in the Lodge Room, Market Block.

A full attendance is particularly requested.

By Order of the Worshipful Master.

J. M. BURNS,
Secretary.

Peterborough, March 1st, 1865.

CARD PICTURES

Two for a Dollar!

FRAMING CHEAP.

Likenesses of deceased persons enlarged from Ambrotypes and colored in oil.

Ambrotypes from 50 Cents,

AT THE

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery,

HUNTER STREET.

R. D. EWING.
Peterboro, March 1, 1865. 9

REMOVAL.

THE subscriber begs to inform the inhabitants of LAKEFIELD and vicinity, that he has removed his

Grocery Store
IN LAKEFIELD,

To Hanchard's Block, where will be found a

Good assortment of Groceries,

WHICH WILL BE SOLD

CHEAP FOR CASH,

Or Farm Produce.

ROBT. GRAHAM.

Lakefield, March 1st, 1865. 43-9

A LIBERAL OFFER.

A Complete set of Text and Blank Books for the entire Commercial Course, (Cash price, Seven Dollars), will be presented to each Student purchasing a Scholarship in

THE LONDON
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE during
The First Day of April Next.

Price of Scholarship for Gents $30 in advance.
Price of Scholarship for Ladies $20 in advance.

Students entering within said time, will be allowed the advantages of our Club Rates, the same as others.

THIS IS THE
OLDEST COMMERCIAL COLLEGE
IN THE PROVINCE!!

And our facilities for imparting practical knowledge, by means of actual transactions are unsurpassed. In addition to the regular Commercial Branches, everything is taught without extra charge, which is requisite for obtaining a First Class Certificate for teaching common school. Drawing and Painting and Telegraphing also taught.

Good board can be obtained in private families for Two Dollars per week.

For circular containing full particulars address post paid,

J. W. JONES,
Principal London Commercial College,
LONDON, C. W.,

CHIEFTAIN FOR SALE.

The Widow of the late Robert Moore, of Smith, offers for sale the well-known spotted Arabian entire horse "Chieftain." He will be sold on reasonable terms, and time given to pay. Apply to Mrs. Moore, Smith.

February 18, 1865. 7-tf.

BY-LAW No.

A BY-LAW to raise by way of loan the sum of six thousand dollars for the purpose therein mentioned.

WHEREAS the Municipal Council of the County of Peterborough have resolved to expend the sum of $6000 in constructing, making and repairing the roads and bridges within the said County.

And whereas to carry into effect the said resolved object it will be necessary for the said Municipal Council to raise by way of loan the sum of $6,000 in the manner hereinafter mentioned.

And whereas it will require the sum of $960 to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the said debt or loan and interest, as also hereinafter mentioned.

And whereas the amount of the whole rateable property of the said Municipality, irrespective of any future increase of the same, and also irrespective of any income to be derived from the temporary investment of the sinking fund hereinafter mentioned, or any part thereof, according to the last revised assessment roll of the said Municipality, being for the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, was $2,196,683.

And whereas for paying the interest and creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the said sum of $6,000 and interest, as hereinafter mentioned, it will require an equal annual special rate of thirty-one ninetieths of a mill in the dollar, in addition to all rates to be levied in each year.

Be it therefore enacted by the Municipal Council of the County of Peterborough:

1. That it shall be lawful for the Warden of the said County to raise by way of loan, from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same, upon the credit of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $6000, and to cause the same to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said County of Peterborough, for the purposes and with the objects above recited.

2. That it shall be lawful for the said Warden to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums of money as may be required not less than $100 each; and that the said debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Municipal Council, and be signed by the said Warden and counter-signed by the Treasurer of said County.

3. That said debentures shall be made payable in 10 years at the furthest from the day hereinafter mentioned for this By-law to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer of the said Municipality, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

4. That the said debentures shall bear interest at and after the rate of six per centum per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly, on the first day of April and the first day of October in each year, at the Office of the Treasurer of the said Municipality.

5. That for the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest at the rate aforesaid to become due thereon, an equal special rate of thirty-one ninetieths of a mill in the dollar shall, in addition to all other rates, be raised, levied and collected in each year upon all the rateable property in the said Municipality during the continuance of the said debentures or any of them.

6. This By-law shall take effect and come into operation upon the day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.

The above is a true copy of a proposed By-law to be taken into consideration by the Municipality of the County of Peterborough, at its Council Chamber in the Court House, in the said County, on Thursday, the 22nd day of June, 1865, at the hour of 12 of the clock, noon, at which time and place the members of the Council are hereby required to attend for the purpose aforesaid.

(Signed) WALTER SHERIDAN,
Clerk.

Peterborough, February 17th, 1865. 8-18in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864

THE Creditors of the undersigned are requested to meet at the Law Office of Walter Babridge, in the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, on Thursday, the second day of March next at twelve o'clock noon, for the purpose of receiving statements of his affairs, and of naming an assignee to whom he may make an assignment under the above Act.

The domicile of the undersigned being, on this 4th day of February, A. D. 1865, at the Village of Norwood, in the Township of Asphodel, in the said County of Peterborough.

6 JOHN FINLAY, Jr.

MACHINE SHOP
TO BE SOLD OR LET.

The subscriber offers for Sale or to Let,

THE MACHINE SHOP

ON AYLMER STREET; WITH

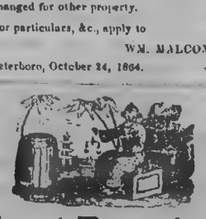
Steam Engine Machines and Tools,

To be sold seperately or together, for Cash, or exchanged for other property.

For particulars, &c., apply to

WM. MALCOM.

Peterboro, October 24, 1864. 43



Great Bargains.

BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.
BUY LAMPS at WILLIAMS'.
BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.
BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.
BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.
BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.
BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.
BUY LAMPS at WILLIAMS'.
BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.
BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.
BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.
BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.

Cash paid for Grain

by A. WILLIAMS.

Peterboro', Jan. 11, 1865. 2

MELODEON
AND
COTTAGE ORGAN EMPORIUM,
PETERBORO, C.W.

Estey's Perfect Melodeon
AND
COTTAGE ORGAN.
ESTABLISHED 1864.
FORMERLY ESTEY & GREEN.

The only Manufactory in this County of the Perfect Melodeon and Cottage Organ with Patent Base Damper, Pedal, Harmonic Attachment, and Patent Manual Sub-Base.

These inimitable instruments have won their way to public confidence purely on their merits, and not by force of extensive advertising and purchased recommendations. With our increased facilities for manufacture, we are still unable to meet the extraordinary demand made upon us; but we hope soon to be able to fill all orders promptly.

Some of the points of superiority claimed for our instruments, are these:—

1st.—Smooth, steady and pipe-like quality of tone.

2nd.—Great delicacy of touch and promptness of action; producing, when desired, a low, sweet, lute-like tone, unequalled by any other instrument of the class.

3rd.—The Patent Base Damper, which enables the performer to swell the treble without increasing the volume of the base; or, by drawing the Stop, to swell the notes by the action of the foot.

4th.—The Patent Harmonic Attachment. An ingenious octave coupler, which doubles the power of the instrument without increasing its size or the number of reeds.

5th.—The Patent Manual Sub-Base, which are played with the ordinary keys and controlled by a stop. This new and valuable invention requires no extra room and serves as a substitute for the Pedal Base, and can be used by an ordinary performer.

6th.—The Knee-Stop, in the Cottage Organ, which swells or diminishes the tone by a slight movement of the left knee, without interfering with the action of the feet,—having this advantage over the Automatic Swell that the volume of tone may be readily increased without extraordinary effort, and diminished without waiting for the change in the actions of the bellows.

Our recently constructed Cottage Organ, without the attachments, is unsurpassed by any Reed Organ or Harmonium of the size: but, with the Harmonic Attachment and Manual sub-base, it is pronounced by competent judges to be far superior to any other instrument of the class in the world. Its power, sweetness, and variety of tone, simplicity of construction and ease of management, recommend it to every one as being all that is claimed for it, both for the parlor and the church.

The Harmonic Organ, for Churches and Public Halls, has a fine, powerful Pedal Base, with independent reeds; and, with the Harmonic Attachment, is believed to be the most powerful Reed Organ made, being nearly equal to a pipe organ of three times its cost.

All our Instruments are made in the most thorough manner, and warranted in every respect

JOS. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Peterborough, Jan. 1865. 4

Rev. A. C. Rose, of Troy, N.Y. says:—These give the value of five Melodeons in one. The ease of touch and promptness of action are unrivalled. It can be played with all the sweetness of the lute or Æolian harp, and changed in an instant to its full power, nearly equal to a twelve stop organ.

All orders addressed to the undersigned will receive prompt attention.

JOSEPH R. WALTON, Peterboro.

Jan 7th, 1865.

TESTIMONIALS.

JAMES BROWN, Esq., M. D.

Peterboro, October 20th, 1864.

I am happy to inform you that after the most persevering and testing trial for some weeks of the Cottage and Parlor Organ, we like it better every day. It is remarkable for variety of tone and power, and several of the best judges here say it is unequalled by any instrument of the kind (with double reed) they have ever heard. You can so control and command all its parts, as to pass easily and rapidly from the softest tones of the Harp, Lute or Piano, to the rich full swell of a large Organ. It is easily played by child or adult, and is already a very great favorite with us. Its compact structure, ingenious combination of power with the new and beautiful Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-base are greatly admired and are highly creditable to the maker, Estey, of Vermont. I think it is peculiarly adapted for Church Music.

EDW. F. CHOWLE, A. M. &c.

Sheridan Villa Seminary, Peterboro, Dec. 1864.

We are delighted with the Cottage Organ with Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-bass. We prefer it to any instrument of the kind we have ever seen; its tone, sweet and harmonious in the parlor, possesses sufficient power for a church.

REV. J. C. SLATER.

Wesleyan Parsonage, Millbrook, Jan. 1865.

I have much pleasure in testifying my entire satisfaction of the Cabinet Organ, purchased from you, as an instrument possessing superior qualities in sweetness, variety and strength, to anything of the kind I have ever seen. Two experienced musicians who have examined it, concur with me in recommending it as a perfect instrument adapted to Church or Parlor.

GEO. A. NORRIS, M. D., Recording Steward of the Wesleyan Church, Omemee.

Omemee, July, 1864.

In reply to your inquiries as to the Harmonic Organ, purchased from you for our church, we have to express our highest satisfaction: in purity and sweetness of tone as well as volume of sound, it is all that can be reasonably expected.

Peterborough, Dec. 20th, 1864.

MR J. R. WALTON.—Having examined and played upon the Parlor Organs sold by you, and Manufactured by Mr. Estey, I have great pleasure in pronouncing them a first class instrument. The Harmonic attachment and manual Sub-base being a very great improvement and well worthy the patronage of the Musical public. Yours truly,

A. T. HEATHFIELD,
Organist of St. John's Church,
Peterborough.

LIST OF LETTERS

REMAINING in the Peterborough Post Office 1st February, 1865. Persons calling will please ask for advertised letters.

Brodie, Bella	Logan, Miss Margaret
Brown, Samuel	Leitch, Robt
Batreau, Richard	Leach, Mrs. Peter
Bletcher, J.	Lang, John
Blanchard, John	Lang, John P
Cooney, Mrs Benjamin	Little, James
Clark, Wm. A	Moffatt, Andrew
Carr, John	Millburn, Elizabeth
Courtney, John	Middleton, James
Conigan, William	McMartin, Michael
Crowley, Miss Ann	McIntosh, James
Connars, Patrick	McAlpin, Elizabeth
Davie, R. H.	McCannan, Daniel,
Fitchell, Edward	Perkins, Richard
Fitzgerald, John	Raymond, Minnie
Ford, John	Reid, J. S.
Fitzpatrick, James	Rowe, I. G.
Gain, Miss Mary	Smith, David
Hobbins Patrick	Scanlin, Patrick
Healy Michael	Schooley, J.
Hinks, Robert	Walsh, Miss B. L.
Jamieson, Paul	Weir, John G.

S. J. CARVEN,
Postmaster.

Peterborough, Feb. 1st, 1865. 5

CARTRIDGE PISTOLS.

SMITH & WESSON'S patent Single and Seven Shooters. Cartridges.

GEORGE STETHEM & CO.

Peterboro, Feb. 1, 1865. 5

GREAT
CLEARING OUT
SALE
AT THE
Montreal House!

Whole Stock
SELLING OFF!
AT
GREAT
REDUCTIONS.

☞ Call early and secure a bargain.

☞ See small bills.

GOLD PENS
FOR THE MILLION!

PENS TO SUIT THE HAND, AND PRICES TO SUIT THE POCKET.

THE BEST

Gold Pens in the World!

ON receipt of the following sums, we will send, by mail, or as directed, a Gold Pen or Pens, selecting the same according to the description, namely:

GOLD PENS, IN SILVER PLATED EXTENSION CASES, WITH PENCILS.

For $1 No. 2 pen; for $1 25 No. 3 pen; for $1 50 No. 4 pen; for $2 No. 5 pen; for $2 25 No. 6 pen.

These pens are stamped THE IMPERIAL PEN, and are well finished and fine writing Gold Pens, with good iridium points, although they are unwarranted, and cannot be exchanged

Warranted Gold Pens.

Our name (AMERICAN GOLD PEN Co., N. Y.) is stamped on all our 1st quality Pens, and the points are warranted for six months, except against accident. Our second quality Pens, are stamp'd THE NATIONAL PEN, with the initials of our firm (A. G. P. Co.,) and are carefully made, having the same points as our first quality Pens, the only great difference being in the quality of the Gold.

GOLD PENS, 1st AND 2nd QUALITY IN SOLID SILVER EXTENSION CASES, WITH PENCILS.

For $2 00 a No. 1 pen 1st quality, or a No. 2 pen 2nd quality.
For $2 25 a No. 2 pen 1st quality, or a No. 3 pen 2nd quality.
For $2 75 a No. 3 pen 1st quality, or a No. 4 pen 2nd quality.
For $3 50 a No. 4 pen 1st quality, or a No. 5 pen 2nd quality.
For $4 50 a No. 5 pen 1st quality, or a No. 6 pen 2nd quality.
For $5 50 a No. 6 pen 1st quality.

THE SAME GOLD PENS, IN SOLID SILVER OR GOLD-PLATED EBONY DESK HOLDERS and MOROCCO CASES.

For $2 25 a No. 3 pen 1st quality, or a No. 4 pen 2nd quality.
For $2 50 a No. 4 pen 1st quality, or a No. 5 pen 2nd quality.
For $2 90 a No. 5 pen 1st quality, or a No. 6 pen 2nd quality.
For $4 00 a No. 6 pen 1st quality
For $5 50 a No. 7 pen. For $6 75 a No. 8 pen. For $12 00 a No. 12 pen; all first quality.

Our pens rank throughout the country as equal if not superior to any gold pens manufactured. Not only for their writing qualities but durability and elegant finish. The greatest care is used in their manufacture, and none are sold with the slightest imperfection which skill can detect.

Parties in ordering must specify the name, number and quality in all instances and whether stiff or limber, coarse or fine.

TO CLUBS.

A discount of 12 per cent will be allowed on sums of $15, if sent to one address, at one time; 15 per cent. on $25; 20 per cent. on $40.

All remittances by mail, Registered, are at our risk. To all who enclose 20 cents extra for registering, we guarantee the safe delivery of the goods.

Circulars of all our new styles, with engravings of exact sizes, and prices, sent upon receipt of stamp if desired. Pens repointed for 50 cents by mail.

Stationers and Jewelers are requested to correspond with us as we can offer them GREAT INDUCEMENTS.

Address,
AMERICAN GOLD PEN CO.,
4-53in. F

Good News! Good News!!

E. MORRIS,
THE FAR-FAMED
HERB DOCTOR,
FROM LONDON, ENGLAND,

IS now in Peterboro' performing his most Astonishing Cures, as usual.

The mercurial Quacks may prate and gabble,
With Latin names for every nostrum;
But Morris' Herbs excels pedd rubbish,
He explains their virtues from his nostrum.

He is well known o'er Canada,
In every City, Town, and Village;
He'll effect a cure for half the pay
Charged by those Quacks who live by pillage.

To those afflicted with RHEUMATISM try Dr. Morris' justly celebrated

Electric Invigorating Fluid,

for dispelling Rheumatic and other pains that may afflict the human system, internal or external.

He doth use such Balms as have no strife,
With nature or the laws of life;
With mercury his name he'll never stain,
Nor poison men for sake of gain.

Our Father whom all goodness fills,
Provides the means to give all ills;
The simple herbs beneath our feet,
Well used, relieve our pains complete.

The Invigorating Fluid acts upon the system like electricity, giving relief instantly, in almost every case. PRICE PER BOTTLE, according to size, from 25 cents to One Dollar.

If you are afflicted with Rheumatic pains, Cramps, Colics, and such painful broud, Caused by exposure to cold and rains, Try Morris' Invigorating Fluid.

For COUGHS, COLDS, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, use Dr. Morris'

Cough Drops,

They will be found a never-failing remedy for the above complaints.

If you should take a severe cold,
Returning from the walls and hops,
Go where the medicine is sold,
Enquire for Morris' Cough Drops.

To those afflicted with Liver and Billious complaints, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sick and Nervous Head-ache, Costiveness, Weak and Disordered Stomach, &c., &c., try

DR. MORRIS' WORLD-RENOWNED

DANDELION PILLS

For Renovating the Blood, Correcting and Strengthening the Liver and Bowels, the Dandelion Pills have no equal.

If you feel nervous, with spirits low,
Disord red system, and other ills,
Take a friend's advice and straight you'll go,
For Morris' Dandelion Pills.

WORMS! WORMS! WORMS!

If you would expel those monsters from your dear children, try a box of Dr. Morris'

WORM DESTROYER.

If you have a son or daughter dear,
And the monstrous worms annoy her,
There's relief at hand, dry off that tear,
Get Morris' Worm destroyer

Dr. Morris can furnish reliable testimonials from some of the most respectable inhabitants of Peterboro' and other Towns and Cities of Canada West. For Testimonials see his Pamphlets. The above medicines can be obtained at PROFF. MORRIS' BOTANIC LABORATORY, Simcoe Street, nearly opposite Phelans Hotel, Peterborough.

Dr. Morris invariably treats with success diseases of a secret nature.

CONSULTATION FREE, at his Laboratory, from 9 a. m., to 1 p. m.

Peterboro', Jan. 17, 1865. 3-3m

Notice of Removal.

JOHN McCLELLAND,

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

BEGS to inform his friends and customers that he has removed to the premises lately occupied by Mr. T. BROWN, where he hopes by strict attention and good workmanship to merit their support.

Intending purchasers will do well to call and inspect his choice stock of Clocks, Gold and Silver Watches, fine Gold and Silver Chains, Brooches, Bracelets, Rings, Pins, Stands, Thimbles, Cutlery, Spectacles to suit all sights.

Also, a choice assortment of Ladies' Reticles, Portmonnees, &c.

All kinds of Watches and Jewelry skilfully repaired.

Peterboro', January 4, 1865 1-6in

Counties of Peterboro' & Victoria

DIRECTORY
FOR 1865-6.

THIS WORK, for which a thorough canvas is now being made, will shortly be published. It will contain a separate Alphabetical Directory of every Town and Village of both Counties, together with an Appendix in which will be found much useful and reliable information of a County and Provincial character.

In order to ensure a large sale for this work and thus make it an excellent medium for Advertising—it will be issued at the low price of $1.50, at which figure it cannot fail of having a very large circulation.

☞ Any information relative to the rates of advertising, &c., can be obtained at the office of this paper.

O. L. FULLER,
Publisher

December 14th, 1864. 50

Clearing Sale
OF
WINTER GOODS

IN order to sell off the remainder of his winter goods before arrival of Spring stock, the subscriber will commence to SELL OFF, for a short time at

GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

Ladies Dress Goods, Cloaks, Millinery goods, Hoop Skirts, Gala Plaids, Plain Wool Shawls at Cost, Blankets, Flannels, Cloths, Wincays, Ladies Scarfs, Staff Goods, Gloves, Hosiery, &c.

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, January 24, 1864 4-3in

Cash for Grain.

THE HIGHEST prices will be given for good clean

WHEAT, PEASE AND BARLEY,

At the Peterborough Railway Station.

W. CLUXTON.

Otonabee, Jan. 1865, 4-3in

SAWS.

ENGLISH Gate, Muley, Batting, Sawing Machine, and Cross-cut Saws, with Spear & Jackson's Files and other Furnishings

GEORGE STETHEM & CO.

Peterboro February 1, 1865. 5

TO LET,

THAT COMFORTABLE COTTAGE on Queen Street, opposite St John's Church, at present occupied by Mr. Nathaniel Shaw. Possession given next June.

NEW Grocery, Provision, and Liquor Store.
HENTHORN'S BLOCK,
GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO'.

THE SUBSCRIBERS beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterborough and surrounding country, that they have commenced business (in the Shop lately occupied by Mr. Thos. Menzies,) as Grocers, Provision, and Liquor merchants, where they have now, and will constantly keep on hand, A COMPLETE AND EXTENSIVE STOCK OF Family Groceries, Provisions, WINES AND LIQUORS,

☞ And everything usually found in a FIRST-CLASS SHOP; and which they will sell

FOR READY PAY ONLY!

AT AS LOW PRICES AS ANY HOUSE IN THE TRADE IN CANADA WEST.

ATKINS & CO.

Peterborough, November 30th, 1864. 46

GREAT SACRIFICE!
CHEAP SALE OF DRY GOODS.
LESLIE & FAIRWEATHER,
HUNTER STREET, offer for Sale, at COST PRICE,
THEIR ENTIRE STOCK
—OF—

MANTLES: BLACK CLOTH, SEALSKIN, AND WHITNEY MANTLES, from $1.50 to $7.00.

SHAWLS: Plain Wool, and Shepherd Plaid Shawls; Dagmas, and Illusion Shawls; also, a few very superior Paisley filled and Broche Shawls.

SILKS: English and French Black Glaces, French Gros Royal; Fancy Checked and Striped Silks, and very rich figured Silk worth $35 the dress, to be sold for $27.25.

A Large and Varied Stock of General Dry Goods at a Reduction of 15 Per Cent from usual Prices.

French Merinos and Colourgs, Lustres and Alpacas, And a great variety of Dress Goods; Cloakings and Skirtings; Prints, White Cottons and Factories, Striped Shirtings and Denims;

White and Colored Flannels, Blankets, Railway Wrappers, And Horse Covers; Tweeds, Coatings and Over-coatings; And a good assortment of Hosiery, &c., &c., &c.

Now is the time for Bargains.

A CALL IS RESPECTFULLY SOLICITED.

Peterborough, December 7th, 1864.

STRICKLAND & ROGERS,

Beg to announce the completion of their

FALL STOCK OF DRY GOODS

Which has been selected with great care, and will be found complete in every department.

They would direct particular attention to their great variety of

DRESS GOODS AND TRIMMINGS,

Everything new in the Fancy line. A full assortment of

ENGLISH, SCOTCH AND AMERICAN TWEEDS
IN THE
TAILORING DEPARTMENT.

Their Stock of Goods will be found cheap for the season in the

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

SHOW ROOMS NOW OPEN FOR INSPECTION.

P. S.—Orders executed in the above Departments in the best styles with promptitude.

Peterborough, October, 1864. 40

WATERPROOF PASTE.

THIS is the only article in the Market that will render Boots impervious to Snow Water. It is also a GREAT PRESERVATIVE to the LEATHER. ☞ No person who desires dry feet should be without it.

Manufactured and Sold, Wholesale and Retail, by

S. WHITE,
Boot and Shoe Maker,
George Street, Peterborough.

Nov. 16th, 1864. 46

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

THE creditors of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Sidney Smith, in the town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, on Monday the thirteenth day of February, at twelve o'clock, noon, for the purpose of receiving statements of his affairs, and of naming an assignee to whom he may make an assignment under the above Act.

J. GRAHAM.

Peterborough, February 1st, 1865. 5

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of John Williamson, of the town of Peterborough.

THE creditors of the insolvent are notified that he has made an assignment of his estate and effects under the above Act, to me, the undersigned assignee, and they are required to furnish me, within two months from this date, with their claims specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none stating the fact, the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

JAMES CAMPBELL.

Peterborough, 17th January. 5

One Hundred Dollars
REWARD.

WHEREAS, on the night of the seventh day of December last, the property of Robert Morrison, Esquire, of the Township of Dummer, was wantonly and maliciously damaged and destroyed by some person or persons unknown, the above reward is hereby offered by the Corporation of the County of Peterboro, for such information as shall lead to the conviction of the guilty parties.

By order,

R. D. ROGERS,
Warden.

Peterborough, Jan. 30, 1865.

$50 REWARD.

To Farmers and others.

D. CADOTTE

IS now prepared to sell to Farmers and others at Prices that defy competition, viz:

Best Hyson and Gunpowder Teas at 40c, 60c, and 80c per lb.
Common Hyson and Gunpowder, 40c and 50c, Nine lbs. of Muscavado Sugar for $1.
Good Tobacco for 25c,
22 lbs. of best Rice for $1,
22 lbs of best Barley for $1.
Best Coffee from 20c to 25c per lb.
Best Baking Soda at 9c per lb.
Good Corn Meal in bags and by the lb.
Oatmeal and Buck Wheat also on hand,
Good Whisky from 45c to 60c per gallon.
Good Wines, Brandies Gins, &c., at low prices
Good Pork and Bacon always on hand.

N. B.—The Highest Cash Prices given for Butter, Eggs, Potatoes, Oats, Cheese, &c., &c.,

10,000 Quart & Pint Bottles Wanted.

D. CADOTTE,
Next to Caisse's Hotel.

Peterboro', June 28, 1864. 25

NEW ARRIVALS

A LARGE ASSORTMENT

Of Fresh Groceries.

JUST RECEIVED AT

NORRIS'

Which will be sold

FOR CASH,

CHEAPER than at any other HOUSE in Town

Also, a Large Assortment of

CROCKERY AND GLASSWARE,

sold Cheaper than the Cheapest.

☞ Shop opposite A. Stewart's Stove Depot, and first Grocery South of the Huffman House (Davidson's Block.)

Peterboro' Jan. 11th, 1865. 2

FOR SALE,
FLOUR IN BARRELS,
ALLANDALE MILLS,
Also,—OATMEAL IN BARRELS.

SEWING MACHINE DEPOT.

OVER S. WHITE'S SHOE STORE

AND DIRECTLY

Opposite W. Cluxton's Store

GEORGE STREET,

PETERBOROUGH

THE very great demand existing here for Sewing Machines has induced the undersigned to open an office in Peterboro' for the sale of Sewing Machines. He will at all times keep on hand a variety of the most Improved Machines

BY DIFFERENT MAKERS,

Which he will supply at the very lowest rates, and will give his personal attention to instruct parties who may purchase from him in their use, and also keep the machines in good running order for one year.

The most popular Sewing Machines now before the public, and which he will keep on sale, are

Wanzer's Singer's
SEWING MACHINES,
FOR MANUFACTURER'S USE,

Sold usually at $65, now offered for $60.

WANZER'S COMBINATION,

For Family use and light Tailoring.

Worth $45, now offered at $40.

Wanzer's Wheeler and Wilson's,

For Dressmakers and other fine work.

worth $48, now offered at $40.

C. W. WILLIAMS & Co's

UNEQUALLED DOUBLE THREAD

FAMILY SEWING MACHINES,

Equal to the Grover & Baker's $60 Machines, offered now at $30.

Patterson's Sewing Machines,

Manufactured at and known as the Belleville Sewing Machine, and a favorite with many persons, now sold for $30.

WAXED THREAD MACHINES,

for Harness or Shoemaker's work at reduced prices.

The advantages offered by the establishment of a Sewing Machine depot, are a great choice of makers, and that all Machines will be guaranteed to be kept in order for one year.

VERY LOW PRICES.

These Machines are all made in Canada, and in the event of any part becoming broken, it can be replaced at once.

No Family should be without a Sewing Machine.

Call and see the Machines and the Certificates of parties using them.

THOS. BLETCHER.

Entrance by Hall Door between S. White's and I. Robinson & Co's.

Peterboro', March 1st, 1864. 9

CERTIFICATES:

Peterbrough, Feb. 27th, 1864

The undersigned have had in use for some time Sewing Machines from the Manufactory of Messrs. WANZER & Co., of Hamilton, purchased from Mr. THOMAS BLETCHER, and we have much pleasure in testifying to the satisfaction we have experienced in their use. We believe the Sewing Machines sold by Mr. Bletcher are among the best in the market.

W. Cluxton,	William Sherwood,
Walter Sheridan,	G. W. Robinson,
Geo. Burnham,	J. Browne,
Wm. Coulter,	T. Brown,
J. W. Gilmour,	Saml White,
I. Robinson & Co.	Thomas Leopard,
Wm. Mercer & Bro.	L. Caisse,
C. Bradfield,	Thos. Eastland,
Lemay & Tarcot,	R. Stinson & Son,
Ivan O'Beirne,	Robert Hamilton,
Lewis Glover,	David L. Law,
J. Edwards,	Peter Simons,
Robt. Romaine,	John McMillan,
R. Robertson,	Thos. Rountree,

Omemee, Dec. 17th, 1863.

MR. BLETCHER,

Sir,—The Combination Sewing Machine I bought of you one year ago, gives me good satisfaction. I have no hesitation in recommending it to the public, as one of the best Sewing Machines now in use.

Yours, &c.,

WILLIAM MILLAR.

Hastings, Nov. 4th, 1863.

THOMAS BLETCHER, Esq., Agent for Wanzer's Sewing Machines.

Dear Sir,—We have much pleasure in stating we have used two of your Singer's Machines in our Woolen Mills, for the last twelve months, and have every reason to be satisfied with them

We remain, yours respectfully,

THOS. W. NEILD & Co.

These Certificates are all from persons residing in the immediate vicinity; they are not like those shown by American vendors, which may or may not be genuine.

Call at the office over S. White's Boot and Shoe Store, and examine the Machines for yourselves.

THOS. BLETCHER,
Agent.

Peterboro' Feb. 17th 1864. 9

THE CANADIAN
LAND and EMIGRATION COM'Y
OF LONDON, ENGLAND.

Capital, - - £250,000 Sterling

OFFER FOR SALE OR LEASE THEIR Lands in the

Township of Dysart,

County of Peterborough, now being rapidly settled. For further information apply to

C. J. BLONFIELD, ESQ.,
Secretary of the Company,
Toronto Bank Buildings, Toronto.

Or to C. R. STEWART, ESQ.,
P. O. Station,
Resident Agent, and the only authorized agent of the Co'pany.

Dec. 21st, 1864. 51-6in

PRIMARY SCHOOL.
MISS. E. RUTHERFORD

WILL COMMENCE A PRIMARY SCHOOL,

In the School Room Adjoining the Wesleyan Church,

On MONDAY the 30th instant.

Poetry.

A WINTER PICTURE.

What vision for a poet's eye!
Stern winter's pallid mimicry clad
And glistening in the morning sun!

While slumber stole on silky step
Through silent hamlet of tired men,
A princely palace he hastily wrought,
Nor hammer nor the sound of axe
Heard while the magic work went on!

O, who would think a heart so cold
Could love so much old mother earth,
And cradle her in this robe of gems!
The wind had murmured her complaints
For autumn's desolations and;

The trees with supplicating hands,
With knuckles knotted and with fingers
Their branches bare and bony, reach
To Heaven, and in dirge-like wail.
They mourn their fair-haired children gone.
The field's multitude of beauty reft
Are bared to every nipping blast—
In pity winter heard, and now
In ermine pure the naked hills
He wrapped against the chilling winds,
Oak's fingers old he decks with rings,
His wrists with armlets of pearl,
The elm low-bending sways its strings
Of beaded gems, that sparkle in the sun—
Within yon beech a rainbow broke
Has lodged its shivers in the boughs
That laughing hold them to the light,
Proud of their splendid host!
Yon towering pine in royal state,
Stands like a monument of stars!
The fields around are fenced with gems,
The stone walls piles of large, round pearls.
So God with diamonds decks the earth
And heaps up jewels in a night,
Till Cleopatra-like the sun
In golden goblet drinks them up!
—Exchange paper.

Varieties.

A COURAGEOUS DARKEY.

Jake was a little negro who belonged to Dr. Talliafero, and was said to have in his little frame a heart as big as Gen. Jackson's to say nothing of Napoleon Bonaparte or Zach Taylor. He didn't fear anyone, and as for coolness—he was as cool as tip-top of the North Pole.

One day Dr. Talliafero, upon the occasion of the commencement of a medical college, of which he held the chair of anatomy, gave a dinner. Among the guests was a ventriloquist. Late in the evening after the bottle had done its work, the conversation turned upon courage and the doctor boasted considerably of the courage of his favorite man Jake. He offered to bet end the ventriloquist accepted, at the same time naming the test he wanted imposed. Jake was sent for and came.

'Jake,' said the doctor, 'I've bet a large sum of money on your head, and you must win it. Do you think you can?'

'Berry well, master,' replied Jake, 'jest tell dis nigga what he's to do, and he'll do it sure.'

I want you to go to the dissecting room. You will find two dead bodies there. Cut off the head of one with a large knife which you will find there, and bring it to me. You must not take a light, however, and do not get frightened.'

'Det's all, is it?' replied Jake, 'Oh berry well, I'll do dat shure for sartin; and as for being frightened, nobody ain't gwine to frighten me.'

Jake accordingly set off, and reaching the dissecting room, grouped about until he found the knife and the bodies. He had just applied the former to the neck of one of the latter, when from the body he was about to decapitate a hollow and sepulchral voice exclaimed:

'Let my head alone!'

'Yes,'sah,' replied Jake coolly. 'I aint 'tendin, and todder head ill do jest as well for me.'

He accordingly put the knife to the neck of the other corpse, when another voice,—equally unearthly in its tone,—shrieked out:

'Let my head alone!'

Jake was puzzled at first, but answered presently:

'Look yah, Master Toliver said I must bring one ob de heads, an' you aint going to fool me, no how, and Jake hacked away until he separated the head from the body.

Thereupon half a dozen voices screamed out:

'Bring it back! bring it back!'

Jake had reached the door, but on hearing this, turned round and said:

'Now, see yah! Jest you keep quiet you fool, an' don't wake up de women folk Master's only gwine to look at de bumps.'

'Bring my head back at once,' cried the voice.

'Tend to you right away, sah,' replied Jake as he marched away with the head, and the next minute he deposited it before the doctor.

'So, you have got it, I see!' said his master.

'Yes, sah,' replied the unmoved Jake, but please be done looking at him soon, kase de geman told me to fotch him back right away.'

Josh Billings says there is nothin' in this life that will open the pores ov a man so much as low fall in luv; it makes him feel as fluent as a tin whissel; as limber as a boy's watch chane and as pertite as a dancing' master; his harte is as full ov sunshine as a hayfield. There ain't any more gile in him than there is in a stick of mortasses candy.

"Quit spitting that nasty tobacco on the floor, or I'll wallop you." "La, mother, why don't you speak properly? You should say: "Cease ejaculating that offensive saliva of the Virginian weed upon the proincnade, or I will administaer to you a severe castigation."

O! my dear how came you so wet? inquired an affectionate mother of her son. Why, ma, one of the boys said I daresent jump into the creek, and I'tell you what I ain't to be dared!

Jenny, what is the mean temperature of the summer weethers in Ireland? asked a Yankee of an Irish girl, recently. Mane, sir? there's nothin mane about Ireland—bad luck to yees, for a dirty spalpeen!

Where is the boy, Sambot Wid de rake, massa. Well where is the rake? Wid de hoe. But where are the both? Why, bof together. By golly massa, you 'pears to be bery 'ticular dis mornin'.

The following in a true copy of a sign on an academy out West: Freeman & Hugg, school teachers.—Freeman teaches the boys and Hugg the girls.

"What are you looking after, my daughter?" said an old gentleman at a Christmas party. "Looking after a-beh-in-law for you, father," was the witty reply.

Warning to speculators—Look out for broken ahead.

Pigeons are hatched in 18 days; chickens, 21; turkeys, 26; ducks and geese, 30.

The trotting horse, Flora Temple, is to be sold for $15,000,

HATS! CAPS! AND FURS!

JUST RECEIVED,

A large and well-selected stock of

Silk, Tweed & Felt Hats,

ALSO,—

WHITNEY, CLOTH, and IMITATION LAMB CAPS,

OF MY OWN MANUFACTURE, IN

THE LATEST STYLES,

suitable

For the Coming Season.

THE FURS

Are all carefully MADE UP BY HAND, and consist of

Ladies Gentlemen & Children's FURS,

SLEIGH-ROBES,

IN GREAT VARIETY,

Of Bear, Wolfe, Racoon and Buffalo. All of which will be sold at the lowest possible rates.

BATTING OF GOOD QUALITY FOR SALE.

The highest Cash price paid for Raw Furs.

WM. LECH.

Peterborough, Aug. 27, 1864. 34

BLETCHER'S CANADIAN CLOTHES WRINGER

COMBINES more Strength of Frame, Capacity for Pressure, and Power of Action, than any other in the market. We manufacture five sizes intended for and adapted to Families, Hotels, Laundries, &c.

Bletcher's Canadian Clothes Wringer

Saves Time, Labor, Clothes and Money.

It will wear for years without repair!

No Servant can break it!

A Child ten years old can operate it!

No caution or skill required in its use!

It will wring anything from a Thread to the Heaviest Quilt.

It saves its Cost in Clothing Every six or nine Months.

The water can be pressed from large and small articles easier, quicker and more thoroughly than by the ordinary old fashioned back-breaking, wrist-straining and clothes-destroying process.

It is easily and firmly secured to the Tub or Washing Machine and will fit Tubs of any shape or size. Every Wringer is Warranted in every particular, either with or without star gearing; and in the event of any part becoming broken or mislaid, we can replace it at once. We sell them at prices that defy competition, as the following will testify:

No. 1, nine inch roll,	$4 50
2, nine and a half inch roll,	4 75
3, ten inch roll,	5 00
4, twelve inch roll,	5 75
5, fourteen inch roll,	6 50

We keep all the sizes above on hand at all times at our Sewing Machine Office, over Mr. S. White's shoe store,

George Street, Peterborough.

Entrance by the Hall Door beetween Mr. Samuel White's and I. Robinson & Co's.

THOMAS BLETCHER.

Peterboro,' May 11, 1864. 19

REMOVAL.

Tobias Fitzgerald,

HAS REMOVED his Carriage and Waggon Establishment to those COMMODIOUS PREMISES on the

CORNER OF BROCK AND WATER ST'S,

OPPOSITE THE COURT HOUSE PARK,

Where he will continue to MANUFACTURE

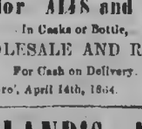
CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, WAGONS, SLEIGHS, CUTTERS, &c.,

Which he will warrant to be made from the best Timber; and any person ordering from him are invited to call and examine the work before it is painted.

Jobbing & Horse Shoeing

Will be punctually attended to.

Peterborough, August, 1864. 33



St. GEORGE'S SALOON

GEORGE MITCHELL,

Sole Agent in Peterborough for

CREIGHTON'S

Superior ALES and PORTER,

In Casks or Bottle,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

For Cash on Delivery.

Peterboro', April 14th, 1864. 15

COPLAND'S ALE!

A LARGE QUANTITY OF COPLAND'S

Celebrated Sparkling Pale Ale,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND BY

LEWIS GLOVER, Sole Agent.

Peterboro, Oct. 29th, 1863. 44

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE IN THE TOWN OF PETERBORO.

THE subscriber offers for sale his HOUSE and LOT, being part of Lot No. 11, south of McDonald street. There are good sheds and other outhouses attached. Terms made known by applying to JOHN HEWITT, Peterborough.

Or to THOMAS HEWITT, Lakefield.

Lakefield, Oct. 18, 1864. 40

STEAMSHIP TICKETS

STOLEN.

WHEREAS, on the night of Tuesday, 30th August, the Express Office at Peterboro' was broken into, and some Tickets of the Montreal Ocean Steamship Company stolen therefrom; the public are hereby cautioned against purchasing Tickets of the above Company numbered 218 to 240 inclusive, as they have been cancelled.

GEO. POX, Agent.

Peterborough, Sept. 1st, 1864 3-tf

GROVESTEEN & CO. PIANO FORTE MANUFACTURERS, 499 BROADWAY, New York.

THE attention of the public and the trade is invited to our New Scale

7 OCTAVE Rosewood Piano Fortes,

with the

VOLUME AND PURITY OF TONE,

ARE UNRIVALLED

By any Sixteen offered in this market. They contain all the modern improvements,

French Grand Action,

Harp Pedal,

Iron Frame Over-Strung Brass,

&c., &c.,

And each instrument at being made under the personal supervision of Mr. J. H. Grovesteen, who has had a practical experience of over 30 years in their manufacture, is fully warranted in every particular.

The "Grovesteen Piano Forte" received the highest award of merit over all others at the Celebrated World's Fair.

Where were exhibited instruments from the best makers of London, Paris, Germany, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and New York; and, also, at the American Institute for five successive years, the

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

from both of which can be seen at our warerooms.

☞ By the introduction of improvements we make a still more perfect Piano Forte, and by manufacturing largely, with a strictly cash system, are enabled to offer these instruments at

A PRICE WHICH WILL

Preclude Competition!

PRICES:

No. 1, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood plain case, $375.

No. 2, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood heavy moulding, $300.

No. 3, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood Louis XIV. style, $325. Terms: Net Cash, in current funds.

Descriptive circulars sent free.

Sept. 13th, 1864. 7-1 yr

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PHOTOGRAPHIC MATERIALS!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,

501 BROADWAY, N. Y.

IN addition to our main business of Photographic Materials, we are Headquarters for the following, viz.:

STEREOSCOPES, AND STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS,

Of these we have an immense assortment, including War Scenes, American and Foreign Cities and Landscapes, Groups, Statuary, &c., &c. Also, Revolving Stereoscopes, for public or private exhibition. Our Catalogue will be sent to any address on receipt of stamp.

PHOTOGRAPHIC ALBUMS!

We were the first to introduce these into the United States, and we manufacture immense quantities in great variety, ranging in price from 25 cents to $50 each. Our Albums have the reputation of being superior in beauty and durability to any others. They will be sent by mail, free, on receipt of price. Fine Albums made to order.

CARD PHOTOGRAPHS.

Our Catalogue now embraces over Five Thousand different subjects (to which additions are continually being made,) of Portraits of eminent Americans, &c., viz.: about

100 Major-Generals,	550 Statesmen,
200 Brig.-Generals,	130 Divines,
275 Colonels,	125 Authors,
100 Lieut-Colonels,	40 Artists,
250 Other Officers,	125 Stage,
75 Navy Officers,	50 Prom. Women,

150 Prominent Foreign Portraits,
3,000 Copies of works of Art,

Including reproductions of the most celebrated Engravings, Paintings, Statues, &c. Catalogues sent on receipt of stamp. An order for One Dozen Pictures from our Catalogue will be filled on receipt of $1.80, and sent by mail, free.

Photographers and others ordering goods C. O. D. will please remit twenty-five per cent of the amount with their order.

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,
Manufacturers of Photographic Materials,
501 Broadway, New York.

The prices and quality of our Goods cannot fail to satisfy. 4d

L. LYONS' PURE OHIO

CATAWBA BRANDY,

AND

SPARKLING CATAWBA WINES.

Equal in Quality and Cheaper in Price than the Brandies and Wines of the Old World.

FOR SUMMER COMPLAINT, CHOLERA INFANTUM BOWEL COMPLAINT, CRAMP, COLIC, AND DIARRHŒA.

A Cure is guaranteed or the money will be refunded.

In support of the above statements, are presented the Certificates of Dr. Jas. R. Chilton, Chemist, New York; Dr. Hiram Cox, Chemical Inspector, Ohio; Dr. James R. Nichols, Chemist, Boston; Dr. N. K. Jones, Chemical Inspector. Circleville, Ohio; Prof. C. T. Jackson, Chemist, Boston; Dr. Chas. Upham Shepard, Charleston, S. C.; and J. V. Z. Blaney, and G. A. Mariner, Consulting Chemists, Chicago, all of whom have analyzed the Catawba Brandy, and commend it in the highest terms, for medical use.

Analysis of the Massachusetts State Assayer, Jan. 25, 1858.

When evaporated through clean linen it left no oil or offensive matter. In every respect it is a pure spirituous liquor. The oil which gives to this Brandy its flavour and aroma, is fusil, or grain oil. Its order partakes of both the fruit and oil of grapes. With acids, it produces ethers of a high fragrance. The substitution of this Brandy for Cognac Brandy will do away with the manufacture of factitious spirits, sold under this name both at home and abroad. Respectfully,

A. A. HAYES, M. D., Assayer to State Mass., 16 Boyleston St.

By the same, in 1864.

I have analysed "L. LYONS' PURE CATAWBA BRANDY," with reference to its composition and character, being the same as that produced in past years. A sample taken from ten casks afforded the same result with regard to purity; a slightly increased amount of the principle on which its flavor depends was determined by comparison with former samples.

The indications of analysis show that this Brandy is produced by the same process as most of the imported Brandy. Respectfully,

A. A. HAQES, M. D., State Assayer,
Boston July 20, 1864. 16 Boyleston St

Manufactured only by H. H. Jacob & Co.

(To whom all orders should be addressed.)

Depot 91 Liberty St., New York.

December 1, 1864. 3 mos.

PAINTING & GRAINING

DONE BY

W. H. KENNEDY,

HUNTER STREET.

J. R. Walton's Column.

J. R. WALTON,

Insurance, House & Land Agent.

ALL business intrusted to him will be punctually attended to.

OFFICE OVER G. W. ROBINSON'S STORE, GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

SCOTTISH Provincial Assurance Co.

ESTABLISHED, 1825.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

CAPITAL, One Million Sterling.

INVESTED IN CANADA, over $450,000.

Sums Ass'd under Current Life Policies	£2,200,000 Stg
Accumulated Fund	403,430 "
Annual Income	207,920 "
Amo't proposed for Assurance, 1862, under 1063 applications	457,235 "

CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE,—Place D'Armes, Montreal.

A. DAVIDSON PARKER, Secretary for Canada.

ATTENTION is directed to the rate of premiums adopted by this Company, which will compare favorably with that of any other institution in Canada. Investments of Company's funds to the large amount of nearly five hundred thousand dollars have been completed in Canada; and as all business transactions are finally disposed of in the Province, the Scottish Provincial offers all the facilities presented by a purely local Company, while it possesses the additional advantage of a large capital, and an influential and responsible body of shareholders in Great Britain.

Policies effected on or before 31st January next will receive a full year's bonus over those effected thereafter.

PETERBOROUGH:

J. R. WALTON, AGENT.

November 25, 1863. 48

PROVINCIAL INSURANCE COMPANY, OF CANADA.

Head Office,—Toronto Street, Toronto.

FIRE! MARINE!

DIRECTORS:

Hon. J. Hillyard Cameron, M. P. P., President.
Lewis Moffatt, Esq., Vice-President.
Hon. George Crawford, M. L. C.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq.
Geo. Duggan, jr., Esq.,
John Cameron, Esq.,
A. M. Smith, Esq., M. P. P.,
Chris. Robinson, Esq.,
W. J. McDonell, Esq.,
C. J. Campbell, Esq.,
Manager & Secretary,—James S. Crocker, Esq.,
Assistant Secretary,—Donough O'Brien, Esq.,
Solicitors,—Messrs. Duggan & Burns,
Bankers,—Commercial Bank of Canada.

JOSEPH R. WALTON, Agent for Peterborough.

November, 1863. 49

ESPECIAL NOTICE TO FARMERS!

INSURE YOUR CROPS IN THE CANADA WEST FARMER'S Mutual and Stock Insurance Co.

OF HAMILTON.

It can be done for a mere trifle

BY APPLYING TO

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent,
Peterborough.

August 10, 1864. 32

21 BUILDING LOTS FOR SALE.

KNOWN as Park Lot No. 7, adjoining the property of Wm. Clinton, Esq., near the Little Lake. Terms to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to

J. R. WALTON, Agent.

Peterboro', Dec. 1, 1863. 49

FOR SALE CHEAP, AND ON LIBERAL TERMS!

LOT No. 9, 5th con. Township of Douro, 107 Acres of good Land, 70 acres cleared with a good Frame Dwelling, just new, and good office buildings, with three wells of water on the premises. Situate about six miles from Peterborough. For further particulars apply to

JOS. R. WALTON, Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, May 9th, 1864. 19

For Sale.

COMBINED Reaping and Mowing Machine; no worse than new—Patterson's make, of Belleville. Also, A good second hand Lumber Waggon.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON, Insurance Agent.

Peterboro', June 28th, 1864. 26

CANADA WEST FARMERS Mutual Stock Insurance Co.,

HAMILTON.

J. R. WALTON, Agent.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

P. H. L. & B. RAILWAY.

Peterborough Station.

NOTICE.

THE CHARGES for Storage on Goods will be strictly enforced on and after this date

W. J. FOWLER, Agent.

Peterborough, Sept. 14, 1864. 37

Agricultural.

FLAX COMPANIES.

The successful operation of a company formed in Toronto for crushing flax seed, to procure linseed oil and cake, is an event that justifies congratulation. It is the first step, we believe, that has been taken by an incorporated company in Upper Canada to produce any manufactured article from the flax plant. As an advance, therefore, on any previous enterprise in the line, we trust it may be the harbinger of further progress. The Company was incorporated, we believe, under the Joint Stock Companies' Act, cap. 63, Consolidated Statutes, but a statute passed last session, provides better facilities for incorporation, and affords greater protection both to the public and shareholders.

It is hoped that advantage will be taken of the Act to form local companies for the culture of flax, erecting scutching mills, and purchasing crops from the grower at remunerating prices—the subsequent conversion of the crop being managed by the company. But this system to be carried out on an extensive scale, might require a larger amount of ready capital than can be generally contributed in Canada, more especially in the towns and villages; for instance, to supply farmers with sufficient seed to sow one thousand acres, and to purchase the produce at maturity for conversion into fibre, a cash capital of $24,000 would be required, and this not including the requisite outlay for buildings, conveniences for carrying on the business and machinery. The profits of the company would be the difference paid for the straw, with its cost of conversion, and the price at which in its prepared condition, it is sold to the spinners. By prudent management a company of this kind, at present prices, ought to realize thirty per cent on the capital invested.

But we beg to suggest another mode of carrying out the flax culture by incorporated companies, which shall be essentially farmers' companies in which the farmers will be the principal stockholders, and by which they will derive larger profits than by merely selling their straw at the flax mill: and this without the necessity of any cash contribution, except a small sum required to be paid in by the provisions of the Act requiring ten per cent. on the capital stock. Let us suppose that a company is formed composed of farmers and others, in some given place, with a capital which may vary from $1,000 to $10,000 and upwards, the shares of which are fixed at $50 each. Now, by the method we propose, a subscriber or stockholder of five shares instead of paying in money, will pay in kind, that is with the raw material; the deposit on the five shares will be $5, but the remaining $45 will be paid by a certain quantity of flax straw. Suppose by mutual agreement all shareholders should supply the mill at the price of $10 per ton, it would therefore require the holder of five shares to deliver at the mill premises of the company 4½ tons, which will be equivalent to the payment of $45. One and a half to two acres would easily furnish the quantity. The profit of the shareholder would be the dividend payable out of the net sales of the seed and scutched flax, less the costs of management and conversions.

Now, an acre of land is capable of producing 500 lbs. of dressed flax, worth 15 cents per lb., equal to $75; add the value of 10 bushels of seed, at $1.25 is $87.50 per acre. From this must be deducted the cost of management and the expenses of the conversion of straw into fibre, which, estimating as high as 20 per cent, would leave a profit of $70 per acre. Therefore the two acres which enabled him to pay his stock, will give a return of $140. The ten per cent. deposit will necessarily have to be expended in seed, buildings, and machinery, in which he will retain an interest so long as he remains a shareholder.

This resembles a mode of husbandry known on the European continent as the Metayer system, and which, we believe, has been advantageously adopted in the cultivation of the sugar cane, which like the flax plant, has to undergo a process of conversion in order to render it a marketable commodity. The importance of the flax culture ought not to be overlooked. England is now paying seven and a half millions sterling to foreign countries for the raw material, and would pay as much or more if it could be obtained. If some such plan as we have suggested, in inaugurating companies, is adopted, the culture will become general, year by year, and Canada will soon take a share in this vast trade, which is now principally enjoyed by the people of Russia.—Cor. C. Farmer.

Scotch Economy in Manure.

A recent traveler in Scotland mentions that among the poor in many villages, each family has in the back yard a compost hole, about four feet square and as many deep, where ashes, soapsuds, cleanings of pig-sty and garden are put. The children go out in the morning and evening to gather horse and cattle droppings along the public roads for a mile each way, and carry them home in baskets and small wheel-barrows. The same may be seen all over Europe, and the accumulations of manure secured by this industry of poor children is sufficient to fertilize a great many acres of vegetable gardens surrounding the smaller cities and villages. A horse probably drops as much dung in the street as he does in the stable, in proportion to the time he is in each respectively. If we assume that in any town there are on an average 60 horses in the street 12 hours in each day, then they daily leave upon the street as much manure as one horse would make in a month.

Australian Receipt for Scab in Sheep.

Get a large pot or boiler, put into it three pounds of good tobacco, twenty gallons of water, and boil six or eight hours, or put ten gallons, and, when boiled, ten more on the same tobacco, and boil six hours; have a tub large enough to hold a sheep easily, and when ready to dip, having the water at a heat of at least 100 degs. (this is important) put in twenty-four ounces of sulpher to the twenty gallons; then let the sheep be put in, and kept in two or three minutes, the dippers to use their hands, rubbing the wash well in; the whole sheep must be wet: eyes, ears, feet, mouth and nose. The above is for twenty sheep; when ten are done put in twenty-four ounces more sulpher, having the water the right heat; as much sulpher as possible to remain in the wool. Dip on a fine day, as soon after shearing as may be, and keep in a house or shed the first night, packed as close as possible; you may then put them on a scab run and they will not get it. This is a cure better than bluestone or arsenic.

CUCUMBER CATSUP is an excellent sauce and very readily made. Select large cucumbers just before they turn yellow, peel and grate them; let the juice drain out through a colander or sieve, then rub the pul through a sieve to remove the seed. Half fill bottles with the pulp and then fill up with moderately strong vinegar. Keep it corked tightly. Add salt and pepper when used at the table.

For Sale, To Let, &c.

FOR SALE.

CHEAP FOR CASH.

Or, ON LONG APPROVED CREDIT.

ONE very fast grey Mare, 9 years old. One brown Mare, 6 years old. One splendid Brood Mare; all gentle, and fit for any work. One Lumber Waggon, one Sleigh, and one set of Double Harness.

A good yoke of Oxen or Steers will be taken in exchange.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON, Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, Oct. 12, 1864. 41

FOR SALE, OR, TO LET.

THE subscriber wishes either to Sell or to Let those premises at present occupied by Mr. John Ritchie as a tavern,

In the Village of Bobcaygeon.

The Hotel is in a good state of repair, with good stables and other outbuildings.

For terms, &c., apply to

ROBERT HUNTER.

Bobcaygeon, Sept. 16, 1864. 37

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE

IN THE

TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE property of the late WM. LANNIN, on Charlotte Street, opposite the Railway Station is offered for sale on reasonable terms; the lot has been divided into five parts, three of which are situated on Bidwell Street, and has a frontage of 65 feet by 114 deep; the other two are situated on Charlotte Street and have a frontage of 57 feet by 80 feet in depth which makes them desirable for building purposes.

The whole will be sold in one lot or to suit purchasers.

For terms and particulars apply to

D. HOPKINS or THOS. LANNIN.

Peterboro', August 24, 1864. 34

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE OR TO LET.

BEING composed of the east halves of Lots Nos. 22 and 23, in the first concession of the Township of Otonabee. There are about 150 acres cleared, and a good Frame Dwelling House, two frame Barns, a first-rate Driving House, Sheds and Stables, a good Well and Orchard on the premises.

Title indisputable, and immediate possession will be given. TERMS MODERATE.

For further particulars apply to G. F. Orde, or to the proprietor,

WM. WEIR, Norham, Percy, C. W.

5

Farm for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale Lot No. 19, in the 12th Concession of Otonabee. There are 120 acres of good land in the farm, with a little over 100 acres cleared. There are good buildings, and two wells of water on the farm: it is about four miles from the Town of Peterborough.

TERMS.—One-half down, the remainder in 3 annual instalments.

JOSHUA DAWSON,

Otonabee Jan. 30th, 1864. 5

FARM FOR SALE.

LOT No. 27, in the 16th Concession of Smith containing 200 acres: there are 140 acres cleared, and on the premises there are a hewed Log House, Log Barn, good Well, and Orchard. The Farm is situated on the main road to Buckhorn, 17 miles form the Town of Peterborough, there is a School House on one corner of it.

For Particulars apply to

ANDREW McKEE, 14th Con. of Smith.

January 12th 1864. 2

LANDS FOR SALE.

TWENTY THOUSAND ACRES of LAND, both wild and improved, and at all prices, for sale in various parts of Canada, principally in the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria and Ontario,) cheap, and on easy terms.

For lists and particulars apply to the proprietor

T. D. LEDYARD, Barrister, &c.
South-west corner King and Yonge Streets,
8 TORONTO.

For Sale or to Let,

FOR A TERM OF YEARS,

TWO DWELLING HOUSES

In the Village of Lakefield, with 2 Lots, each one-third of an acre.

For particulars, apply to the undersigned at Peterborough,

J. GRIFFIN, General Builder, Pump-maker, &c., &c.

Peterboro', March 7th, 1864. 10

HOUSE AND FURNITURE.

A COMFORTABLE HOUSE to Let The Furniture in it can be had at very reasonable terms. Inquire at the office of Messrs. Fairbairn & Dumble, Barristers.

Peterborough, Nov. 9th, 1864. 45

DEPARTMENT OF CROWN LANDS,

Quebec, 23rd December, 1864.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the lands in the Township of Wollaston, in the County of Hastings, U. C., will be open for sale on and after the 20th of January next, on the usual condition of actual settlement thereon, and subject to current timber licenses, at 70 cents an acre cash, or one dollar, if paid by instalments; upon application to M. P. Hayes, Esq., Crown Land Agent, at Madoc, in the Township of Madoc.

A. CAMPBELL, Commissioner.

1-Gin

A HINT TO THE

WORTHY CITIZENS OF CANADA.

BE WARNED IN TIME.

ALL parties purchasing my Pills and Ointment for their several complaints are respectfully warned against purchasing either Pills or Ointment purporting to be my preparations, that have a United States Stamp around the Boxes and Pots. There is no Treaty between the people of the States and the House Government, therefore an United States Stamp does not protect my preparations. There are no stamps upon my Canadian style of Pills or Ointment, coming from the United States. I rely only for protection on the water mark in book of directions around each Box or Pot. Before you purchase them, see that there are no U. S. Stamps upon the Box of Pills or Ointment. Purchase none that have United States stamps on.

HOLLOWAY, Maiden Lane.

46

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on

TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1865,

In the Union School House, at Ten a. m.

"Candidates are not eligible to be admitted to examination until they shall have furnished the Examiners with satisfactory evidence of their strictly temperate habits and good moral character."

☞ Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.

By order,

J. EDWARDS, Secretary.

Peterborough, Dec. 6th, 1864. 51tf

A CARD.

DR. POOLE, after ten years successful practice, in the Eastern Section of this County, respectfully tenders his services to the people of Peterboro' and vicinity.

As a regular Graduate and Licentiate of Medicine, Surgery, &c., as commonly practised, and also a Provincial HOMŒOPATHIC Licentiate, he will bring a thorough knowledge and practical experience of both systems to bear on the treatment of Disease.

Office and residence, Water St.—opposite the Market Square.

Peterboro', C. W.

September 20th 1864. 30

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON FIRE AND LIFE Insurance Company.

CAPIT L.....£2,000,000 STG.

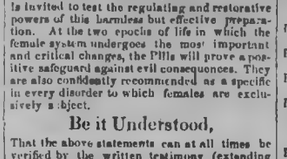
BRITISH AMERICA ASSURANCE COMP'Y

CAPITAL, $500,000.

WESTERN INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, $2,000,000.

Peterborough, Jan. 1st, 1863. 1



ARE YOU IN AGONY?

A WELL SPRING OF HOPE FOR ALL!

CAN BE FOUND IN

Holloway's Pills.

Be of Good Cheer! The Sinking may be Saved!

BY THE USE OF

Holloway's Ointment.

THE history of these great Remedies is the most wonderful medical revelation that the world has ever known. It establishes the all important fact that WHEREVER, and in WHATEVER STAGE internal diseases exists, the disinfecting, searching and healing properties of the Pills are fully equal to its subjection and cure, and that, with the Ointment, they are

The Great Ambassadors of Health to all Mankind.

This is not a history written by one man, or even derived from the experiences of one nation. It consists of a compilation of testimonials from the sick of every country—an unimpeachable record, the like of which has never been adduced in favor of any discovery or invention since time began.

These Mighty Healers, World Known and World Tried are a Boon to the Sick

The want of a sterling medicinal to meet the ills and necessities of the suffering portion of humanity, and one entirely free from mineral and other deleterious particles, was severely felt till this all powerful medicine was ushered into the world; HOLLOWAY'S INVALUABLE PILLS have become the HOUSEHOLD REMEDY of all nations. Their attribute is to PREVENT as well as to CURE: they attack the RADIX OR ROOT of the complaint, and thus, by removing the hidden cause of disease, re-invigorate and restore the drooping energies of the system, assisting nature in her task of VITAL AND FUNCTIONARY REFORMATION.

Disorders of the Stomach

Are the sources of the deadliest maladies. Their effect is to vitiate all the fluids of the body, and to send a poisoned stream through all the channels of circulation. Now, what is the operation of the Pills? They cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver, bring the relaxed or irritated stomach into a natural condition, and, acting through the secretive organs UPON THE BLOOD ITSELF, change the state of the system from sickness to health, by exercising a simultaneous and wholesome effect upon all its parts and functions.

Woman in all her Difficulties

Is invited to test the regulating and restorative powers of this harmless but effective preparation. At the two epochs of life in which the female system undergoes the most important and critical changes, the Pills will prove a positive safeguard against evil consequences. They are also confidently recommended as a specific in every disorder to which females are exclusively subject.

Be it Understood,

That the above statements can at all times be verified by the written testimony (extending through a quarter of a century) of tens of thousands of unimpeachable witnesses.

Bilious Maladies, &c., &c.

In whatever form disease attacks the liver, it is repelled and exterminated by this searching, painless, and irresistable curative. Bilious remittents, bilious purging, and all the ordinary disorders of the organ, indicated by pain in the right side and between the shoulders, yellowness of the whites of the eyes, weakness and debility, &c., are relieved and rectified by the remedy, with a celerity which astonishes the sufferers and their friends. Let the sick whom the faculty have abandoned, resort with confidence to this powerful anti-bilious agent, and a restoration to health and activity will be the unerring result.

Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Weakness, &c. &c.

The terrible bodily and mental pangs which characterise Dyspepsia are at once mitigated by the Pills. Diarrhœa, constipation, headache, physical prostration, nervous tremors, hot flushes, spasms, affections of the kidneys, hemorrhoids or piles, and, in fact, all internal complaints, from whatever cause arising, give way before the salutary influence of this extraordinary remedy. As a specific for dyspepsia, and the disorders connected with it, or growing out of it, the Pills are always to be relied on when every other medicine and mode of treatment has utterly failed.

Holloway's Pills are the best Remedy known for the following diseases:

Asthma,	Headaches,
Bowel Complaints,	Indigestion,
Coughs,	Influenza,
Colds,	Inflamation,
Chest Diseases,	Inward Weakness,
Choulvenss,	Liver Complaints,
Dyspepsia,	Lowness of Spirits,
Diarrhœa,	Piles,
Dropsy,	Stone and Gravel,
Debility,	Secondary Symptoms,
Fever and Ague,	Venral Affections,
Female Complaints,	Worms of all kinds.

CAUTION.

If the readers of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug store in his place, let him write to me, enclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' make.

None are genuine unless the words "Holloway New York and London," are discernible as a Water Mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same knowing them to be spurious.

Sold at the manufactory of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and the civilized world, in boxes, at 25 cents, 62 cents, and $1 40 each.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes. 33

GO TO

WM. N. KENNEDY'S

FOR YOUR

WINDOW BLINDS.

PETERBORO EXAMINER.

S. S. PECK, Esq., has kindly consented to act as Agent for the Examiner, in the neighborhood of Gull River.

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

Peterboro, January, 1865.

REEVES' AMBROSIA FOR THE Growth, Beauty and Preservation OF THE HAIR.

REEVES' AMBROSIA is prepared from valuable Roots and Herbs, each and all of which have enjoyed a reputation among eminent physicians, for their medical properties. These Roots, &c., are carefully selected and chemically compounded by such a method as to extract and combine their true medical virtues to the most effectual manner.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains Burdock Root.—Thoroughly eradicates Dirt, Humor and Dandruff.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains Witch Hazel.—Allays all pains in the head; cures sore and diseased Scalps, Salt Rheum, Itchings, &c. &c. Removes Dull Headache.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains Bay Berries.—Gives vigour and healthy action to the Roots of the hair.—Is very cooling to the Head.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains Spotted Wood.—Prevents the hair from turning prematurely grey.—Restores grey hair.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains Rosemary Flowers.—Nourishes the roots of the hair and gives impulse to its growth—is a delightful ingredient.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains

L——r Leaves.	M——s H——r.
E——n M——k.	T——m R——d.

The secret discovery which brings the hair to grow beautiful, thick and long.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Is a genuine and reliable preparation. Buy it, try it, and be convinced

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY GRAHAM & STRATTON.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE

Vol. X. PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, MARCH 9, 1865. No. 10

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL, AND FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

AS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

BY

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing.

☞ Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,

SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,

COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,

BARRISTER-AT-LAW, George Street, Peterborough. 18

C. A. WELLER,

CLERK of the Peace. Office George Street, Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,

COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office George street. 20

DENNISTOUN & SON,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, &c., Hunter street, Peterboro'.

ROBERT DENNISTOUN. | JAMES F. DENNISTOUN.

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, Agent.

JOSEPH R. WALTON.

GENERAL Fire and Life Insurance Agent, George Street, Peterboro'. 18

MILLAR & BERTRAM,

HARDWARE Merchants, George Street, Peterborough. 18

JAMES STEVENSON,

DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ORMOND & GILMOUR,

DRUGGISTS, Chemists and Seedsmen, dealers in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 18

A. W. KEMPT,

DRUGGIST, Dealer in Genuine Drugs and Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Paints, Oils, Colours, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c.—Medical Hall, George street, Peterboro. 30

ROBERT WALTON,

SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,

DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,

BOOKSELLER, Stationer &c., Henthorn's Brick Block, north of Ormond & Gilmour's George Street, Peterborough. 20

J. GRIFFIN & Co.,

PUMP AND FANNING MILL MAKERS, Wood Turners, &c., &c.

Corner of Simcoe and Aylmer Streets, Peterborough, C. W. 10-1y

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.

OFFICE AND STORE, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.

Nov. 27, 1861. 48

J. B. BISBEE,

DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 10

WM. N. KENNEDY,

PAINTER, PaperHanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 15

Mr. TOOLE,

MANUFACTURER of Sash, Blinds, Door and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martin's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

GEORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 15

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General, Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

R. PATTERSON & Co.

DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.

☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

LIVERY STABLES,

WHITE & EASTLAND, Hunter street Peterboro', C. W.

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, Issurer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.

Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 36

BANK OF TORONTO,

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposit.

A. SMITH, Agent. 20

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee. 20

LAWSON'S HOTEL,

CORNER of George and Brock streets. P Huffman, proprietor, Peterborough, C. W Fare one dollar per day. 10

THOMAS W. POOLE, M. D.

PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, Accoucheur, and coroner. Water St., opposite the Market Square, Peterboro', C. W. 38

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Mr. GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c.

Office over the Hardware Store of Messrs George Stetham & Co., George Street, Peterboro.

Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

THOS. G. CHOATE,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Commissioner for taking affidavits, &c., &c.

Warsaw, C. W. 39

JOHN McMILLAN,

TAILOR,

SHOP on Simcoe Street, next door to R. Patterson & Co's Boot and Shoe Store, Peterborough. 44

MRS. HUGH WILSON,

Milliner,

STILL continues business one door East of the Free Church. 45

MR. SIDNEY SMITH

HAS RESUMED HIS PRACTICE AS

BARRISTER, ATTORNEY,

&c., &c., &c.

Office over the Post Office,

PETERBOROUGH, C. W.

April 27, 1863. 18

JOHN O'DONNELL

DENTIST.

Office—Ormond & Gilmour's Block, George st PETERBOROUGH.

References—Dr. Leggo Dentist, Brockville. Dr. McCrea, Keene. T White, Jr. Esq., Editor of the Review; H. T. Strickland, Esq., merchant, Peterboro', and over one hundred others.

☞ Teeth extracted for those not able to pay, daily from 9 to 10 a. m., free of charge. 26

W. PHILP,

TEACHER OF MUSIC,

Residence, near the Union School.

BEG respectfully to announce to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, that, he is prepared to give Lessons on the Piano and Violin, &c., either in his own house or at the residence of the Pupils.

For Terms apply personally, or at Messrs. Cox & Davidson's Book Store, Simcoe Street, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.

Music for Ball and Evening Parties by Philp's Quadrille Band, on reasonable terms.

Peterboro', Oct 28th, 1863. 44

NORTH AMERICAN HOTEL,

LAKEFIELD, C. W.

THE subscriber having leased the above Hotel, lately occupied by Mr. W Blakely, begs to state that he has had it completely refitted and refurnished, and being now entirely complete in all its appartments, is now open for the reception of the travelling public.

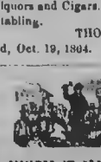
The house is commodious, and neither pains nor expense will be spared to make it one of the best in any village in the Province.

The Bar will always be supplied with the choicest Liquors and Cigars.

Good Stabling.

THOMAS HEWITT.

Lakefield, Oct. 19, 1864. 42



TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN!

COUNTY AUCTIONEER!!

THE Subscriber is now prepared to attend to all kinds of sales, with promptness and dispatch as Auctioneer. Addres

CORNELIUS WILSON,
Norwood, P. O.,
Asphodel.

Norwood, Sept. 5th, 1864. 36

TO LUMBERMEN.

JUST RECEICED,

200 Barrels Ohio Mess Pork,

TO BE SOLD

CHEAP FOR CASH.

Apply to

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, Jan. 11, 1865. 2

BARLEY, OATS, & PEASE,

WANTED.

THE undersigned as usual pays the highest CASH PRICE, for any quantity of the above mentioned Grain, at his Warehouse in Ashburnham.

D. SUTHERLAND.

January 11, 1865. 2

NOTICE.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his customers that he is now prepared to GRIND GRISTS in a superior manner. He respectfully invites all who wish to patronise him to favor him with a call. All flour, made from good Wheat, warranted.

LEWIS BORLAND.

Douro, March 1st, 1864. 9

Wm. N. KENNEDY

HAS

GOOD & CHEAP ROOM PAPER

ON HAND.

REMOVAL.

E. POOLE'S

Furniture Ware Rooms

HAVE BEEN REMOVED

TO RYAN'S BLOCK,

Opposite the Market.

WHERE he will keep on hand the most extensive, best selected, cheapest and latest styles of Furniture, which he will sell Cheap for Cash.

UNDERTAKING,

In all its branches attended to with punctuality. COFFINS kept constantly on hand

Peterborough, Nov. 30th, 1864. 48

STOVES

AND

TIN-WARE.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS.

A. STEWART

Is now prepared to supply all kinds of

COOKING, BOX, AND PARLOR STOVES,

At Greatly Reduced Prices.

He keeps constantly on hand the following first class Stoves:—

St. LAWRENCE, square and extended tops.
CANADA, do. do.
QUEEN CITY, do. do.
IRON DUKE, do. do.
PROTECTIONIST.
MAPLE LEAF, &c., &c.

PARLOR STOVES

Too numerous to mention.

☞ Let all cash buyers call and examine his stock and prices, as he is determined to be undersold by none.

A. STEWART.

N. B.—Eave Troughs, Cistern Pumps, Beer Pumps, Bell-hanging, Lumbermen's Furnishings, and Jobbing of every description.

A. S.

Peterborough, Nov. 16, 1864. 46

REMOVAL.

J. O'DONNELL, D. S.,

HAS REMOVED his Dental Office to the beautiful Corner Rooms

Over Ormond & Gilmour's Drug Store,

☞ Entrance on Hunter Street—same as Mr. Ewing's Photographic Rooms.

Particular attention paid to Facial Neuralgia, diseases of the Antrum, Necrosis and Caries of the Jaw, and all diseases in connection with the anatomy of the mouth.

☞ Teeth Extracted without Pain.

Peterborough, Dec. 14th, 1864. 50

MR. ORDE has removed his office to Chambers' Building, opposite the Commercial Bank.

Money, in sums varying from $200 to $2000, to a large aggregate amount, ready to be advanced on the security of "Improved Farms" and no other, with reference whereunto, to obviate unnecessary correspondence and postal charges, the personal application of intending mortgagors will only be entertained.

Mr. Orde has likewise entered into business arrangements with John O. T. Cochrane, Esq., general Land and Parliamentary Agent, of Quebec (or wherever the Seat of Government may happen to be), a gentleman of eighteen years' experience, and large practice in transactions relating to Patent and other claims in the Crown Lands Department.

Peterborough, Dec. 8, 1864.

REMOVAL.

MRS. TODGHAM,

STRAW MILLINER,

BEGS to inform her Friends and Customers that she has removed from George Street, her late place of business, to Hunter Street, in the house West of the old Union School-house, where all orders will be executed in the best style, and on the same reasonable terms as heretofore.

Felt Hats Cleaned and Altered.

Peterboro, December 1, 1864. 48.

ROOM PAPER DEPOT.

WM. N. KENNEDY,

HAS REMOVED to the store immediately West of the Stewart House, on Hunter street.

His stock of Room Papers, Borders, Decorations, Window Blinds, Fire Screens, &c., has been largely increased and will be sold cheap.

Painting in all its branches carried on as usual.

Peterboro', Oct. 16, 1864. 42

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on

TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1865,

In the Union School House, at Ten a. m.

"Candidates are not eligible to be admitted to examination until they shall have furnished the Examiners with satisfactory evidence of their strictly temperate habits and good moral character."

☞ Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.

By order,

J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.

Peterborough, Dec. 6th, 1864. 51tf

Hopkins & Donnelly

WOULD respectfully call the attention of the public generally to their excellent Stock of Goods, comprising everything found in a first-class Saddlery and Harness Warehouse, and surpassed by none in the Province.

As they have adopted the Ready Pay system, everything will be sold at

GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

In Peterborough, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe street; in Lakefield, next door to Mr. Sberan's store.

P. S.—Over-due notes and accounts must positively be settled at once, otherwise they will be put in suit for collection.

H. & D.

Peterboro, Feb. 1, 1865. 5

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

OF CANADA.

From Niagara Falls to Detroit,

AND BRANCHES FROM HAMILTON TO TORONTO.

Passenger Train Time Table.

OCTOBER, 1864.

TORONTO LINE.

HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

STATIONS GOING EAST.	Mixed.	Express.
	A. M.	P. M.
HAMILTON.....depart	7.45	2.45
Burlington Junction.....	"	.....
Waterdown.....	8.00	.....
Wellington Square.....	8.18	4.16
Bronte.....	8.37	4.37
Oakville.....	"	4.58
Port Credit.....	"	.....
Mimico.....	"	.....
TORONTO, Union Station, arrive	10.20	5.30

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

STATIONS GOING WEST.	Express.	Mixed
	P. M.	P. M.
TORONTO, Union Station, depart.	12.30	5.30
Mimico.....	"	6.00
Port Credit.....	1.3	6.20
Oakville.....	1.4	6.44
Bronte.....	1.37	6.57
Wellington Square.....	2.13	7.16
Waterdown.....	"	7.39
Burlington Junction.....	"	.....
HAMILTON.....	2.30	8.05

Hamilton, 1864. 47

MONTREAL

OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.

TICKETS

FOR

Londonderry, Glasgow or Liverpool

or from any of these ports to any point in Canada, may be procured from the Agent in Peterborough,

GEORGE A. COX,

at the MONTREAL TELEGRAPH OFFICE.

He is also agent for the

BRITISH AND AMERICAN

Express Comp'y

OFFICE, HOPKINS' BLOCK.

Simcoe Street, Peterboro',
October 26th, 1863. 44-tf

Norwood and Peterboro'

STAGE.

ACCOMMODATION LINE.

LEAVES NORWOOD

On Tuesday's and Friday's.

AT 7 A. M. RETURNING

LEAVES PETERBORO' THE SAME DAYS,

AT 2.30 P. M.

Orders left at the Huffman House, Peterboro, or the International Hotel, Norwood will be promptly attended to.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates.

J. A. JOHNSON,
Proprietor.

Norwood, August 19, 1863. 34

ROYAL

MAIL STAGE

BETWEEN

KEENE & PETERBORO'.

A DAILY STAGE

Leaves the Victoria House, Keene.. 9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' .....12 noon.
Leave Peterboro'... ..... 2 p. m.
Arrive at Keene..... 5.30 p. m.
April 17th, 1863. 17tf.

PORT HOPE & PETERBOROUGH

RAILWAY.

ON and after the 28th of June, the Peterboro Trains will run as follows:—

MAIL.

Leave Port Hope at ..... 9.25 a.m.
Arrives at Peterboro' at.....12.15 p.m.
Leave Peterboro' at..... .....3.30 p.m
Arrive at Port Hope.....6.55 p.m

S. R. KIMBALL, Superintendent. F. FERGUSON, Secretary.

Peterboro June, 1864. 25

Poetry.

FADED LEAVES.

The hillsides bright with maples yet,
But down the level land
The beech leaves rustle in the wind,
And dry and brown as sand.

The clouds in bars of rusty red
Along the hill-tops glow
And in the still, sharp air, the frost
Is like a dream of snow.

The berries of the brier rose
Have lost their rounded pride;
The bitter-sweet chrysanthemus
Are dropping heavy-eyed.

The cricket grows more friendly now,
The dormouse sly and wise,
Hiding away in the disgrace
Of nature, from men's eyes.

The pigeons in black wavering lines
Are winging towards the sun.
And all the wide and withered fields
Proclaim the summer done.

His store of nuts and acorns now
The squirrel hastes to gain,
And sets his house in order for
The winter's dreary reign.

Literature.

DIALOGUE.

THE DEMONS OF THE CUP.

CHARACTERS—CHAS. RUSHINTON; LITTLE TOTY; A Fairy; POVERTY; CRIME; MOTHER AND CHILDREN; SERVANT.

A Room with a Table and Chairs.

(Enter RUSHINGTON, slightly intoxicated.)

RUSHINGTON.—This would be a cold world if a fellow colds't get something to drink to warm him up. (Rings a bell.) Whisky is the best thing in the world to develop the latent caloric in the human system.

(Enter SERVANT.)

SERVANT.—Did you ring, sir?

R.—Yes, I did ring. Bring me a glass of whisky. Of course I rang. Didn't you know what I wanted without coming to see?

S. (aside.)—I might have known. He don't want much else of late.

R.—Bring me a glass of whisky, Tom.

S.—Yes, sir, (exit.)

R.—Whisky is a great institution It is the life and soul of the Southern Confederacy, and the doctors say it's good for consumption. I say so, too. It's good for my consumption, at any rate, and I intend to consume it. Ha, ha! that's a joke—g-o a-k, as my particular friend Artemus Ward would say.

(Enter SERVANT, with a glass.)

S.—Here it is, sir.

R.—You're a good fellow, Tom, and when I die I'll leave you all my old boots, —(Drinks the whisky.)

S. (aside.) He won't have much else to leave, if he goes on in this way much longer.

R. Bring me a glass of whisky, Tom.

S. Another?

R. Tom, you are saucy; bring me a glass of whisky, I say.

S. Yes, sir. (Exit.)

R. Tom is impudent—have to discharge him. Another? Why not? Whisky is a fundamental principle. That's so! What's a body if there isn't any spirit in it? Another? I can afford to drink as much as I please. I'm rich. I am going to marry the handsomest lady in the city, and I'm going to be a happy man to the last day of my life, if whisky and Edith Graham will make me so.

(Enter SERVANT.)

S. The whisky, sir.

R. That's right, Tom. (Takes the glass) You didn't put too much water in it, did you?

S. No, sir, I did not.

R. That's good whisky: age improves liquor, and I will let it rest a few moments. (Seats himself, nods and falls asleep.)

(Enter LITTLE TOTTY.)

TOTTY.—Whew! This man needs my attention. (Takes up the glass and smells its contents.) Phew! the nasty stuff! A respectable pig wouldn't drink it, but I suppose this one will. (Raps the sleeper on the head with her wand.)

R. (starting up.) Who was that?—(Rises, and retreats in astonishment at the sight of TOTTY.) Who are you?

T. Toty.

R. Toty?

T. Teetotal—Toty for short.

R. And pray what do you want with me?

T. I came on business.

R. Did you? Won't you take a little drop of whisky, just to liven you up?

T. No! It is what the demons feed fools and dupes upon.

R. Complimentary! That's a great mistake, Toty, I drink it.

T. You are a fool and a dupe.

R. Thank you!

T. Charles Rattington, what is in that glass?

R. Whisky—good whisky, too.

T. What else?

R. Nothing else that I know of.—(Looks into the glass.)

T. There is. You are blind, Charles Rushington.

R. No, I think not.

T. You shall see what else is in it.—Waves her wand and POVERTY enters.)

R. Who are you?

POVERTY. My name is Poverty.

R. I should judge that you were well named by the looks of you. How came you here?

P. I live in the bottom of yonder glass.

R. Do you, indeed? I think you live in a very small house for one of your size.

P. It is large enough to hold me and all of my family.

R. I never happened to see you there.

P. You are still blind. Thousands of others have found me there and you will at no distant day.

R. That's a pleasant prospect.

P. Adieu till then. We shall soon be fast friends. (Exit.)

T. There are others at the bottom of the cup. You shall see them.

R. O, don't trouble yourself, I've seen enough.

T. You must see. [Waves her wand and crime enters.]

R. Who are you?

CRIME. My name is Crime, and I have a home at the bottom of your glass; but by and by you will know me and we will be like brothers. And you shall do my bidding, for I am one of the demons of the cup. Those who use the cup obey its lord.

R. You can leave.

C. I will leave you, but ere long you will find me; for where the cup is, there I am. [Exit.]

T. There is more at the bottom of the glass—

R. Now, don't trouble yourself any further. Really, I have seen enough.

T. You must see more. [Waves her wand and MOTHER and CHILDREN enter.

R. (filled with horror.) Merciful Heaven! Who do I see? Is it possible? That squalid wretch is Edith Graham!

T. It is a vision of the future. The reality lies at the bottom of the glass. It is she now Edith Graham. (Pointing.) She is your wife and those are children.

R. Theses miserable, half-starved wretches?

T. They are the wife and children of the drunkard, Charles Rushington. Hear them

CHILD. O, mother, I am so cold, and so hungry!

MOTHER. (weeping.) I know you are but I can give you neither food nor shelter.

C. Where is father?

M. Alas, poor children, your father loves nothing in the world but liquor. He is a drunkard. Once he was rich, and we lived in a fine house, and had soft carpets and downy beds; but your father was a drunkard and lost everything. Must we perish with cold and hunger?

R. Mercy! Mercy! Take them away!

T. (waving her wand at which they leave.) They are gone for the present, but they are at the bottom of the glass. You will find them before many years have passed away if you use the cup.—(Waves her wand over him; he seats himself and falls asleep.) My work is done here, and I go to open the eyes of other blind and wayward men. (Exit.)

R. (opening his eyes and rising with convulsive movements.) A dream! Yet it was just as clear to me as a reality. The demons of the cup! I saw them and Edith too. What a dreadful change!—(Rings the Bell.) Could Edith ever come to that! I have heard of just such cases. I know what to do.

Enter SERVANT.

Tom carry that whisky off.

S. Isn't it fixed right, sir?

R. There is a legion of demons in the bottom of it! Tom, bring me a temperance pledge. I'll never drink another drop of whisky, or any other liquor, as long as I live!

LAGAR BEER.

We consider the Lagar beer mania as typical of a great want for something legitimate, by which may be quieted that excitement consequence upon the diseased condition of our motive faculties and passions, which in our country are cultivated until they acquire an intensity as unnatural as they are quickly matured.

The same cause operates to produce this demand in those who habitually indulge in this beverage, as may be seen at work on school-girls, who, at certain periods, become addicted to the chewing of indiarubber, chalk or coals, and other unnatural substances. It may be further traced in the extensive use of tobacco, and the rapid increase in the consumption of other more powerful narcotics. Lager beer drinking is another phase of the disease, and produced by similar causes.

Chemistry has long since exploded the ideas with which the victims of this mania have flattered and consoled themselves concerning the strengthening effects; and allowing its stomachic and tonic properties we have yet to discover the philosophy which advocates the habitual use of stomachic or tonic mixtures.

There can be but little doubt that by retarding the decomposition of the tissue in the human organism, Lager-beer causes an unnatural deposit of fat all over the system in persons of sedentry habits; for we find that they suffer more from the injurious effects than those who, by active exercise accelerate its conversion into its elements carbonic acid and water.

In women who take little exercise, Lager beer acts as swill does on cows; it accelerates the secretion of milk, and furnishes it with no caseine or other nitrogenized substances, by which alone the infant can be nutrished. The child, will consequently, have a watery and soft appearance, and be destitute of healthy color; it will be liable to effusion of water on the brain, and die readily from croup or scarlet fever. In such cases we have frequently observed the child improve by being weaned, even if fed upon the ordinary heterogeneous compound called milk. We believe that the taste of Lagar-beer is naturally disagreeable, and that it is destructive to beauty. Women preserve unimpaired their natural tastes for a longer period than men; in fact they seldom become so vitiated in their tastes as men. I have observed that they seldom drink beer.

We have, in the saloons in this city, watched the awakening from the lethargic stupidity into which the crowd of habitual imbibers of Lager beer have been struck. Their greasy faces shine with additional lustre and a perfect rush takes place to be first ready for the waiter. They appear to have a keen appreciation of the difference proportion of the extra quantity of carbonic acid present in such beer.

A great change takes place in the eye when Lager-beer is habitually drank. It has invariably a turgid and sleepy look, while its muscles are so much relaxed as to make it, as it were, changing in a defenceless state.

The effect of Lager-beer on the voice is very marked; and the rapid decay in the voice of the tenor singers of the German glee-clubs, who lose not only the quality of tone, but the high range produces in such societies always a great want of tenors; it has become a by-word among them to call a harsh brawling voice, a beer-barrel voice. The fact is well known to opera-singers, who instinctively avoid it.

The Effects of Fire Alarm.

A correspondent who has suffered some in the fire line, is responsible for the following information:—

Somebody has aptly observed that three moves are as bad as a fire.' I, however go a little further, and empathatically assert that one move, if other people make it for you in something worse than three fires. I was sitting in my parlor the other evening with the daily papers open on the table before me, and endeavouring to find out how Pennsylvania had gone, when up along the street came the hurried tramp of many feet, and my door was burst open with a rush while a score of throats yelled out the startling news:

'I say, mister, your chimney's on fire!'

'Well,' exclaimed I a little testily, at thus being disturbed in my pursuit of knowledge under difficulties, 'for goodness sake, let it burn! it won't do any harm.'

By this time there were a hundred persons in, and on the top of the house. The racket was awful, while to crown all, my cook came running up from the kitchen, screaming terribly and ready to go off in a galloping fit of hysterics on the shortest notice. At length some one in the crowd —I think he must have been excited—called out to them:—

'Save the furniture, boys! and the way that furniture was saved, was astonishing; that I am bewildered about it. Sofas, tables, chairs, pictures, and everything else in the room disappeared through the windows and doors with a marvelous clarity. I became distracted—mad—frantic. Tried to stop the efforts of the neighborly crowd, but got saved myself. Six kindly disposed persons grabbed me, and I followed the centre table out of the east window, over the top of a fence into the street where a policeman threatened me with arrest if I didn't keep quiet.

At last after the house had been emptied of everything moveable it was discovered that the fire had been extinguished half an hour before, and the crowd dispersed, congratulating themselves on having done their duty by a neighbor.

I hired three men and proceeded to set things to rights again. After this had been accomplished, and I was sitting down on my ruined sofa, mentally calculating the cost of my pleasant little entertainment, a fussy gentleman came rushing into the room, and drawing a note book and pencil from his pocket, informed me that he was a newspaper reporter, and commenced asking me questions with the most refreshing impudence. I had scarcely got rid of him when in bolted a second, who was followed by a third, who just preceeded a fourth; and so they kept it up for an hour. I had stood it very well, considering—which means to say, that the last newspaper man got some short answers—and I had just mixed myself a stiff glass of brandy, and a little water, to take to bed with me, when the door flew open, and a man's head popped in with the everlasting query:—

'Had a fire here to-day?'

Human nature could stand it no longer, I seized a broken chair, and started it towards his head, and sent half of the centre table in pursuit of the chair, and was about to despatch the brandy bottle as a reinforcement, when prudence made me pause. I did so.

'Aha, my fine fellow,' I chuckled, as I heard the gate shut, 'you came here after a fire, did you? Well I guess you found it—in the rear.

Shocking Scene in an Irish Churchyard.

A Clonmel paper gives an account of the funeral of a peasant boy. It appears that a short time since, the Rev. Mr. Topin, the Protestant curate of the place called Castletown, in the county Tipperary, interred a young lad, one of the parishioners, in the old churchyard of Pallasgreen. The deceased who had suffered from long illness, was a Protestant, and died in that faith, but the local paper states that his father is a convert from Romanism; the mother is and always has been a Roman Catholic. A fearful scene of violence occurred at the graveyard. Infuriated men endeavoured to prevent the boy being buried as a Protestant. The funeral was disturbed by the yells and furious struggling of those who wished to prevent the service. A strong force of the constabulary, under an energetic officer (himself a Roman Catholic), enabled the clergyman to go through the service, and the father to inter the body of his child. A similar scene occurred at the previous funeral (some months, earlier) of the eldest son of this man. Then, also, nothing but the energy of the constabulary secured the burial, and saved the clergyman from probably fatal injuries. Within the last few days, says the same paper, another case has occurred. An old pensioner named John Ryan died on the 19th inst. He was a sincere convert from Romanism. His relatives a very large faction in the neighborhood, used every effort to prevent his dying a Protestant and afterwards his being buried as one. The funeral procession was followed through the village by an infuriated rabble. A strong constabulary party here also protected the mourners, the corpse and the clergyman.

John, has the doctor arrived? Yes, sir. Then go immediately for the undertaker.

PHILOSOPHICAL FACTS.

Sound travels at the rate of 1,153 feet per second in the air, 4,900 in the water, 11,000 in cast iron, 12,000 in brass, 18,000 in glass, and from 5,337 to 17,000 in wood.

Mercury freezes at 39 degrees Fahrenheit, and becomes a solid mass, malleable under the hammer.

The greatest height at which visible clouds ever exist does not exceed 90 miles.

Air is about 816 times lighter than what water is.

The pressure of the atmosphere upon every square foot of earth amounts to 2,868 lbs. An ordinary sized man, supposing his surface to be fifteen square feet, sustains the enormous pressure of 40,140 lbs.

Heat rarifies air to such an extent it may be made to occupy 5,500 times the space it did before.

The volumes of the expansion of water when freezing, is sufficient to cleave a globe of copper of such thickness as to require a force of 28,000 pounds to produce the same effect.

During the conversion of ice into water, 140 degrees of heat are consumed.

Water when converted into steam, increases in bulk, 1,800 times.

One hundred pounds of water in the Dead sea contains 25 pounds of salt.

Assuming the temperature of the interior of the earth increases uniformly as we descend at the rate of one degree in 46 feet, at the depth of 50 miles it will amount to 80,000 degrees Fahrenheit—a degree of heat sufficiently to fuse all known substances.

The explosive force of closely confined gun powder in six tons and a half to the square inch.

Hailstones sometimes fall with a velocity of 112 feet in a second, and rain at 34 feet in a second.

The greatest artificial cold ever produced is 91 degrees of Fahrenheit.

Electricity moves with greater velocity than light, which traverses 200,000 miles of space in a second of time.

Thunder can be heard at the distance of 30 miles.

Lighting can be seen by reflection at the distance of 200 miles.

ROBERT HALL.—Of all her sons there is none in modern times of whom peaceful trinity may be so justly proud as Robert Hall. His noble intellect—the vigour, depth and clearness of his argumentive powers—the thrilling earnestness of his pessessions, and the burning terse of his invective, place him in the foremost rank of modern preachers; while his singular transparency of character, his undeviating sincerity, his noble indifference to money, his freedom from all petty jealousy and paltry rivalry—his appreciation of whatever was just, noble and true—his abhorrence of whatever was mean and sinister, place him in the foremost rank of the None-conformist Divines of Great Britain and Ireland.—Worsley's Memories of eminent men.

A HERD OF LAWYERS.—The Neapolitans are very fond of law. Addison tells us a pleasant story on this. One of the Popes made an application to the Viceroy of Naples, for a supply of 30,000 head of swine. The Viceroy answered, that for the swine, they could not be spared; but if six Holiness had any occasion for 30,000 lawyers, they were much at his service. The administration of Law in Naples seems to have been contrived for the expressum of litigants.—Leaves from the Tree of Litigation.

A man has a right to expect a return for his trouble in providing for the wants of his family; and it is a great proof of forbearance on the part of men in general that they submit to so much discomfort at home as they do, the results of laziness, ignorance and false pride on the part of the wives and daughters. Nothing to eat could be as often and as truthfully placed over the comparatively rich man's dining room door, as over the poor man's cellar, all for want, not of the raw material, but of cooks.

THE DOOM OF THE LOST.—The gay story of time shall depart, and sprightful liberty shall bound for ever in the chain of obdurate necessity, the green earth with all her blooming beauty and bowers of peace, shall depart; and the ever welcome voice of friendship, and the tender whisperings of of full hearted affections, shall depart for the sad dismal of weeping, and wailing and gnashing of teeth. All—all shall pass away.—Irving.

A chemist was called up at two o'clock the other morning by the ringing of the night bell. Opening the door he found a damsel, who told him she was going to a picnic that morning, and was out of rouge. The impudent druggist turned off with some remark that he hadn't enough stock to cover a cheek like hers.

Dr. Hawks on one occasion had an argument with one of his vestrymen in reference to the increase of his salary.—"If you do not believe the Lord will feed the young ravens," said the vestryman. "Oh yes I do," the doctor replied, "but nothing is said about the young Hawks."

Crafty spirited Legislators are ever cruel, and only gain a victory by seizing an advantage.—Life among the lowly.

Justice pursues the enemy of God with leaden wings, but it will lay hold on him sooner or later, with iron hands.

Setting a man trap, is the title given to the picture of a pretty young lady arranging her curls at a mirror.

Puny minds are always fond of show; gaudy trumpery in personal decoration affords ample proof of mental imbecility.

FLAKE PUDDING.—Contributed to the American Agriculturist by Ivy Adams, Clinton Co., O.: Take 3 eggs and 3 cups of milk, stir in flour until it makes a thin batter, put a small quantity in the pan to allow it to [illegible]

Those that wish to effect Insurance should call on the undersigned, who devotes the whole of his time to Insurance, and represents some of the best English and Canadian Offices.

J. R. WALTON.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Abstract Statement—Town of Peterboro'.
Abstract Statement—Galway & Catsedilla.
Grand Orange Soiree.
$500 Reward—C. Perry.
List of Letters—J. S Carver.
Dunkins Bill—H. Calcutt.
A Rare Chance.
Tenders—Thos. Johnston.
Notice—J. Whyte & W. Hamilton.
Notice—John Whyte.
A Card—J. Whyte & W. Hamilton.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, MARCH 9, 1865.

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

The business of the House moves slowly. The Confederation scheme occupying nearly the whole time, the afternoon as well as the evening being now devoted to the discussion of it. It is not impossible that a vote may be taken this week, and the Session very soon come to a close. The speeches of importance have all been delivered now. We publish, today, the speech of our worthy member, Col. Haultain. It compares favorably with any of the speeches, and is a standing proof of the ability of our member, as well the almost certainty of his yet occupying an important position in the political affairs of the Province.

A little fracas took place in the House since our last, which will not have the effect of raising the good name of some of its members. It is exceedingly disgraceful to have it recorded among the minutes that one Member struck another. We hope the Gallic and Celtic fire will burn slowly — not flame too freely till members return to quieter places where scenes so disgraceful may (if so they must) take place without casting a stigma on the whole Province. No Canadian can wish to see the exhibitions of the American Congress acted in a Canadian Parliament. Law makers should not be Law breakers, nor do we think that the dignity of M. P. P. should shield the guilty parties from suffering the penalties of violated Law. On Saturday the news reached us of the defeat of the supporters of Confederation in New Brunswick. The first twelve elections have given a return of anti-Confederates. Among the defeated are two of the Delegates to the Quebec Conference. Since that we have received the intelligence that Mr. Tilley, the Premier, and Mr. Waters, a colleague, have also been defeated. New Brunswick thus rejects, very plainly, the Confederation. The friends of the scheme will not have a working majority. The action of New Brunswick will have a serious effect upon the Provinces. Prince Edward's Island has been hostile to the Union from the very first. Should these elections influence the elections of Nova Scotia there would be an end to the whole matter. We may almost fear for the proposed Union, not from any action of the Canadian people, but because of the action of the other Provinces. Perhaps, however, our fears are premature; nor should we despond so soon. There exists a strong necessity for a Union, and sooner or later it will be completed. The advice of the Imperial advisers, however, may change the aspect of affairs very soon, even in recreant New Brunswick, and the present fears be disappointed. We cannot refrain from expressing our regret that there should be any cause for alarm, as we believed and still do so, that with the realization of Confederation the interests of Canada are closely connected. The old bickerings of Upper and Lower Canada are not to be desired again. Nor can it be expected that Upper Canada will continue to submit to the domination of the past and the consequent misrule for any lengthened future period. And if the Provinces are not able to bring about a Union without Britain's interference, necessity may arise for interference, and this interference may bring about a Confederation with more stability and less cause for fault-finding afterward. A cry has been raised against the scheme because it has not been submitted to the people, but we are confident it is more for the purpose of throwing obstacles in the way of present legislation than from any sincere desire to consult the people. The party that have maintained the cry have never been noted for the defence of the rights of the people, in fact never exhibited any regard for the people only when it suited their purpose, and now professing to be friends of the Union, at the same time use every available argument against it.—Support the government pretentiously and yet continually cry down the great measure of the day. The present Government need not fear, the great body of the people are with them, and ere long the scheme will of necessity be forced upon its present opponents.

SEPARATE SCHOOL AGITATION.

We hoped, when the Bill known as Scott's Bill, was passed, that the vexed subject of Denominational education was settled, and that agitation thereon was at an end. The country felt that too much had been granted to the Roman Catholic minority, yet they would willingly allow it, so as to settle the matter; so as to put an end to the clamor on the subject. The Catholic agitators themselves acknowledged, at the time, that the Bill would be accepted as a finality, an end to the demands of the Clergy, for we are sure but for the Clergy the people would not trouble themselves concerning the matter.

No more solemn assurances could be given than were given that the Catholic Hierarchy were at last satisfied, and consequently would cease to agitate the public mind for the future. We however were not of the opinion that the concessions, privileges, advantages or rights or whatever other name the demands for the time being might be designated by, would satisfy the insatiable lust, priest craft, for their cry has ever been give! give! and an expectation that they would be now or at any time satisfied is sure to meet disappointment.

The agitation already inaugurated at Kingston fully justifies our former fears, and present ideas on the subject. Scott's Bill does not satisfy the Priesthood, and immediately the howl of the demagogue is heard. Encouraged by former concessions, they become more exacting and claim or use for more sacred privileges for their people, and we predict that should everyone of the present demands be granted, before four years they would be yearning for more and more, until the whole control of our entire educational system would be in their hands, and then they would sigh for more, as Alexander did sigh that there were no other worlds to be obtained or claims that could be made.

We have the grieved that the principle of change in our educational system should have been entertained at the Quebec conference at all. We further felt that settling the matter for the Province in the present constitution of Parliament, would settle on us for a long time to come the offence of a Lower Canada Roman Catholic superiority of votes, which will assuredly have the effect of carrying our country with at least a sectional or local denominational education which is by no means to be desired. We would prefer to leave education in the control of the Local governments, and thus allow the majority of each section to maintain such a system as would be congenial to the spirit of its people. The Minority of Lower Canada say that this would deem them to attendance at Roman Catholic Schools, where they would be forced to hear and have daily forced upon them superstitions and traditions which would not have a beneficial effect on the minds and disposition of their off-spring, and which no protestant could tolerate. We confess there is some force in the representations of the Lower Canada Minority, and there are strong grounds for their fears, and certainly great risk of danger in allowing the youth to be instructed in errors that they feel are not countenanced by the Word of Truth. If however the majority in Lower Canada will do as the majority of Upper Canada does—forbear to teach any ism in the general routine of the School, but set apart an hour or a half hour daily or as often as they might choose, for Religious instruction, during which period the minority should be dismissed, then we are persuaded the protestants of Lower Canada would cordially accept a common system of Schools though completely controlled by Roman Catholics in everything else.

This is what is done in Upper Canada generally; nor have we ever heard a word of complaint unless where the Priest directly or indirectly interferes.

We trust that the present demands of the Priesthood will be rejected, and that no further concessions will be granted to them in this matter.

The unjust demands of the resolutions passed lately at Kingston, are so plain that he that runneth may perceive them.

They claim for the Roman Catholic, entire exemption from taxation for any protestant School, and the right to pay their taxes to a Separate School, no matter how isolated such Catholic may be from other Catholics. Now in a municipality where there are only two or three Roman Catholic families in the whole Township, perhaps two or three such Townships might easily be found contiguous, a Separate School would be out of the question in such instances. If that the Roman Catholic property holder should not be taxed, should the Roman Catholic be admitted to the Protestant School? If admitted, it would be a manifest injustice to the Protestant supporters to receive him at the same rate as their own pupils. Therefore the Roman Catholic child must, in such cases, go without even the elements of an education or impose himself on the Protestant community and receive an education at their expense. Is that the way it is with the Protestant minority in Lower Canada? Again, should such isolated Roman Catholic pay his tax to a School twenty, perhaps more, miles from him and from which he derives no benefit whatever, is that another of the privileges the minority of Lower Canada enjoy? If so, the sooner they are delivered from such injustice the better. Every one should be forced to support the School that has been erected for his immediate benefit, and of which he may avail himself if he chooses.

The 4th resolution requires only to be read to convince one of the superlatively extravagant demands of the minority of Upper Canada, and to prove conclusively that the Hierarchy are at work again in the present agitation.

AMERICAN NEWS.

Gen. Sheridan is again in activity; he is reported to have defeated Early, and to have captured Charlotteville, also to have captured the entire force of Early, consisting of 1,800 men.

Deserters are said to be leaving Lee, very freely, at the rate of 140 per day.

The Times asserts that Generals Sheridan and Sherman will form a junction and operate in the vicinity of Lynchburg.

General Hancock assumed command at Winchester. The Southern press, on the contrary, asserts that Sherman may soon suffer reverses.

Augusta is reported captured.

General Grant has refused hundred day men. He intends a summer campaign.

Columbia was burned by the Federals, it would appear, although Richmond papers say that it was burned by the Southern people themselves.

The Richmond Despatch of the 3rd says that a telegraph from Fayetteville on the 1st, reports that at that time no Yankees had advanced in that direction from Washington. We have nothing from Sherman. He is presumed to be still in the mud of South Carolina.

The Herald's Winchester correspondence of the 3rd says of Sheridan's expedition up the valley a few days ago, three Winchester families by the names of Sherard, Lee and Bunell, were sent without our lines on the charge of disloyalty. It is alleged they conspired together to get up a social ball to which Gen. Sheridan was to be an invited guest, and that during its progress a detachment of Mosby's guerillas was to seize the General, take him captive, and convey him to Richmond, a la Kelly and Crook. The plan was frustrated, and the ladies who concoted it are now in full communion with those for whom they have exhibited such a warm sympathy.

President Lincoln's inaugural address is very short indeed. It expresses disappointment in the dimensions to which the Civil War has extended, and considered it in the light of a chastisement from God. The President evidently breathes somewhat of Christian sentiments, admitting that the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether. The following concluding paragraph speaks determination:—With malice towards none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds and care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphans; to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations.

Bible Society—Annual Meeting.

The Annual Meeting of this Society was held in the Wesleyan Methodist Church, on Tuesday evening. The President, A. Dickenson, Esq., presided. We noticed the different protestant denominations, with one exception, were represented on the platform, Rev. Mr. Lewis was also among the speakers.—Rev. Mr. Black, Wesleyan, opened the meeting with a very appropriate and impressive prayer, after the singing of a Hymn.

The President then, in a very neat speech, set forth the objects of the Society, which had now been in existence some years, and beautifully referred to the interesting fact of the Presentation of a copy of the Scriptures to the Princess Alice, and again to Prince Albert on certain important occasions.

The Secretary, T. M. Fairtairn, Esq., then read the Annual Report, which for fullness, conciseness and comprehensibility, we are sure, could scarcely be equalled, we certainly have not heard its equal before doing this, he read a letter from the Rev. T. M. Allen, Rector of Cavan, expressing regret that his pre-engagements prevented him being present which otherwise he would most cheerfully have been.

The Rev. Mr. O'Meara moved the adoption of the Report, seconded by the Rev. Mr. McNamara. Both the Rev. Gentlemen were exceedingly felicitous and clear in their remarks, seldom have we heard them more so.

All the speakers were listened to with great attention, and fully sustained the interest throughout the whole meeting.

The Choir also added much to the attractions of the evening.

From the Report of the Treasurer, the balance on hand after disbursements was $276. The collection amounted to about $22. The meeting was dismissed by singing the Doxology: Rev. Mr. Gilmour pronouncing the benediction.

We may add that the audience was not behind those of former years, our citizens evidently are friendly to the cause of the Bible Society.

The Bible Society is now a fixed institution of the Town, and certainly no other Society deserves the support and co-operation of the people as well.

All the other Societies have each its particular mission as well as a more general one, each desires to build up its peculiar little dogmas and peculiarities, as well as to save men's souls. The Bible Society has for its object, Salvation too, but in setting forth that act as God's own way without any admixture of man's invention, it deserves, nay, demands Protestant support without distinction of parties. We however noticed one thing in connection with this branch which we forbear to name, which will militate against the Society here until removed, we prefer to allow wiser heads than ours to point out the evil and the remedy.

OFFICERS FOR 1865:

R. Dennistoun, Esq., President.
Col. Haultain,
A. H. Campbell, Esq.
John Walton, "
Walter Sheridan, "
James Hall, "
J. W. Gilmour, " } Vice Presidents.
W. Hall, Esq., Treasurer and Depositary.
T. M. Fairtairn, Esq., Secretary.
Messrs. Mich'l Sanderson, T. Hutchinson, W. Coulter, R. Kingan, W. Johnston, Wm. Wand, J. Edwards, J. M. Burns, R. Romaine and J. R. Walsen, and Drs. Crowle, Brown and Burnham, Committee.

ORANGE SOIREE.

The members of the County Orange Lodge of the County of Peterborough, propose, as will be seen by advertisement, giving a Soiree on the 17th inst., in aid of the support of the Protestant Orphan's Home, Toronto. The institution to the aid of which the funds realised are to be appropriated, is a good one and deserves the largest measure of support. The Bill of fare offered by the Committee of management is a good one. The speakers announced to address those assembled are first-class men, and besides those mentioned, a number of other talented and eloquent speakers are expected to be present; invitations having been extended to all Ministers of the Gospell connected with the Protestant Churches in Town. The Hon. Sidney Smith; F. H. Burton, Esq., the Rev. Mr. Allen of Millbrook D'Arcy E. Boulton, Esq., and others are also expected to be present, and address those assembled. Prof. Chalaupka's celebrated Brass Band has been engaged, and will discourse sweet music at intervals during the day.

The very best and most complete arrangements have been made to furnish those who may attend with Tea, Coffee and eatables of the best; in short, we are satisfied nothing has been or will be left undone, by the Committee, to ensure the most perfect success of the Soiree.

We are requested by the County Lodge to invite every brother to bring his sister, wife or sweetheart. The committee are, many of them, bachelors, and they desire to see as many fair faces and pairs of bright eyes as the Town Hall will hold—they, therefore, hope, as every effort will be made to make the day a pleasant one, that all the Ladies who can come will do so, and thus lend the aid of their fair countenances to the good cause which all good men and women love—"the support of the orphan child." The refreshments will be served at one o'clock in the afternoon, immediately after which, the speakers present will deliver the addresses. As the object of the Soiree is a purely charitable one, it is hoped it will receive that measure of support it deserves.

We beg to call the attention of our readers to the card of Messrs. Whyte & Hamilton. While ceasing to carry on the business as formerly, they will still continue to conduct it separately, and from the well known business habits of those Gentlemen, and the continuance of both in the same buildings, the public may rely on having all their wants, in the Messrs. Whyte & Hamilton's line, as promptly attended to as heretofore.

Several articles are crowded out this week; among other things the minutes of the Town Council proceedings, also the minutes of the Monaghan Council, they will appear in our next issue.

We are requested to intimate that, on account of Mr. Heathfield's continued illness, there will be no practice in the Methodist Church this week, for the Sacred Concert.

795 American ships are reported to have been transferred to the British registry since the commencement of the war.

Blockade running is still carried on extensively between Galveston and the West Indies.

The Steamship "Moravian," brings intelligence of the death of Cardinal Wiseman.

FIRE.

On Friday night, or rather Saturday morning about half past four o'clock, the Cooper shop of Mr. Britton, north of the First Presbyterian Church was discovered to be on fire. At the same time, a store house in which he kept ready made barrels, was found to be on fire also. The two buildings were about 100 to 150 feet apart, Mr. Britton's dwelling house being situated between them. The firemen were on the ground in good time, but could do nothing to save the building occupied as a shop. The one occupied as a store house was saved with considerable damage done to it. The shop and its entire contents were consumed. The barrels that were in the store house were saved with the exception of 30 to 40 barrels which were damaged by the fire. The dwelling received very little damage although evidently in great danger from its proximity to the shop. Mr. Britton's loss is over $600. There was however an insurance of $400. The loss is greater than the amount destroyed all his tools were lost it will take some time to replace all again. The whole must have been the work of an incendiary There is something remarkable about these fires to think that both buildings should be on fire at the same time. Evidently there must have been more than one engaged in the dark deed.

A writing received some time ago by Mr. Martin affords strong evidence of the existence of evilly disposed persons in our midst. We hope for the sake of our good name as citizens and as a check to any further deeds of the sort, that the guilty parties will be found out and punished.

We may further add that we learn that Mr. Martin is under the necessity to keep a watch upon his Mill for some time past. The council should render Mr. Britton aid in endeavouring to ferret out the culprits.

Since writing the above, we are pleased to find that action has been taken by the Council, and that $500 reward have been offered by that body for the apprehension and conviction of the culprits.

The Lady's Friend.

Another beautiful steel engraving opens the March number of this favorite periodical, just received. The engraving has no title other than the two simple lines—

"Oh, I see them sinking, sinking slowly,
Those olden dreams so pure and holy."

The design and execution of this engraving are exquisite. The steel Fashion Plate of this month is a double one, and, as usual, admirably engraved. We need hardly allude to the usual number of wood-engravings, devoted to the illustration of the fashions, &c. is "Those laughing Eyes," a ballad. Among the literary contents we note "Aunt Hester's Story." "A Death Scene," "Tracing resemblances," "A Story of a Household," "My Angel in disguse," "Bitten," (a sad story relative to the famous "Mad Stone," of which story the leading facts are declared by the author, a physician's wife, to be true,) "Four Birthdays," "Alone, Yet Not Alone," "Passion Flowers," "The Mansion at Lessington," Novelties, Editorials, &c., &c.

Price $2.50; 2 copies $4.00; 9 copies $16.00; 21 copies $35.00. Specimen numbers will be sent to those desirous of making up clubs for 15 cts. Wheeler & Wilson's celebrated Sewing Machines are furnished as Premiums. Address Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut street, Philadelphia.

Now is the time to send on Subscriptions for 1865.

ASHBURNHAM.

The Municipal Council of the Village of Ashburnham met on the 6th inst.

Present:—R. D. Rogers, Esq., Reeve, H. Bennett, H. T. Strickland and Wm. McGregor.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Several accounts were passed and ordered to be paid.—R. White, printing, $5.84. J. Stratton's account for Stationery, $3.98, and bal. due Mr. Campbell on side walk on Stewart Street, $9.39.

A By law was passed authorizing the Collector to collect from every person found owning, keeping or harbouring a dog or bitch over six months old, the sum of one dollar for every such dog or bitch, said Bylaw to apply to the owning, keeping or harbouring of such dog, during any period in the year.

Another By-law was passed for the purpose of inflicting a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five, upon every person keeping a Bar Room as for a Tavern, or exhibiting bottles, glasses or other drinking utensils or a sign board, as for a house of public entertainment within the limits of the village, to be levied and collected as by Law provided for the collection of fines inflicted by Corporations, unless said parties have License for so-doing.

Motions were passed to grant Henry Morgan and Richard McConnell Tavern Licenses upon complying with the By-laws of the Municipality and the Statutes of Upper Canada.

The Council adjourned till the first Monday in April next, at ½ o'clock, p. m.

(For the Examiner.)

Smith, Harvey, North Douro and North Monaghan British Agricultural Society.

The Directors of this Society met in Lakefield on Saturday the 4th inst,

Members present: Michael Sanderson, President Isaac Garbutt, Vice President. Directors: James Mann, Gerald Fitzgerald, Wm. Gill and Samuel McKibbon.

On Motion of Gerald Fitzgerald, seconded by Samuel McKibbon, it was resolved that the Society procure 100 bushels of Clover Seed, and that 30 bushels be deposited in Lakefield with G. W. Robinson, the remainder in Peterboro' with Messrs. McKellar & Cameron. On motion of Samuel McKibbon seconded by Wm. Gill, the President, Vice President, and James Mann were appointed to purchase the above named quantity of clover seed.

On motion of Gerald Fitzgerald, seconded by Samuel McKibbon, it was resolved that no member be permitted to receive more than two bushels of the above clover seed.

On motion of Isaac Garbutt, seconded by Samuel McKibbon, it was resolved, that, at the next annual show, no person be allowed to compete for prizes unless a member of the Society, and his subscription—$1—paid on or before the first day of May, and that if wishing to join after that date the sum of $2 be paid.

On motion of Wm. Gill, seconded by Gerald Fitzgerald, it was resolved that the Society's next Annual Show be held in the village of Lakefield.

The following gentlemen were constituted a committee for the purpose of making arrangements for competition, according to the rules and regulations, viz:—The Rev. V. Clementi, B. A., Isaac Garbutt, Gerald Fitzgerald, Wm. Gill and Samuel McKibbon.—Com.

To the Editor of the Peterborough Examiner.

BUTTERFLIES.

SIR,—A few days since I observed some papers containing the announcement that a large butterfly had visited our cold country, and exhibited itself to the gaze of a few. None Peterborons has received a visit from two large ones. In Messrs. Whyte and Hamilton's flourishing shop on the 2nd inst, two large insects were seen flying about and enjoying the out and in-door air freely, using a broken pane for a passage to and fro. They are quite a novelty at this season of the year.

I am Sir,
Yours truly,
J.

Peterboro, March 3rd 1865.

Death of Mr. N. C. Gowan.

It is our melancholy duty to record the death of Mr. Nassau C. Gowan, which occurred at Berlin yesterday morning, from the injuries received by him at the railway accident near Petersburg last week. Deceased was the eldest son of Mr. Ogle R. Gowan of this city. Early in life he exhibited a preference for the Christian Ministry, and became a minister in the Methodist New Connexion Church. A taste for politics, however led him to abandon the ministry for secular life, and for some years he has been well known as an active politician, a leading member of the Orange body, and an earnest advocate of the temperance cause. He was two or three times a candidate for Parliament but never a successful one. He took an active part in the contest against the old Cartier-Macdonald Government, thereby separating himself from the great majority of his Conservative friends, with whom he was naturally associated. He was at one time Grand Secretary of the Orange body, and frequently lectured upon the subject of Orangeism in different parts of the country. He was prominently connected with some of the temperance associations, holding some of the highest offices in their gift, and lectured on behalf of temperance principals in many parts of the country with success. He was well known throughout Upper Canada, and had many warm friends, especially in the county of Grey, where he had made himself thoroughly acquainted with the people. During the few days that intervened between his receiving the fatal injuries and his death, he was visited at Berlin by many of his friends including prominent members of the different organizations with which he was connected. His melancholy demise will be mourned by large numbers of people who knew and esteemed him.—Globe

FUNERAL OF MR. GOWAN.

The funeral of this lamented gentleman took place yesterday afternoon, from his father's residence, Nassau-street. In numbers it was one of the largest that has ever taken place in this city, there being about 1,400 persons in the procession, while the streets through which it passed were lined with thousands of persons. At two o'clock the various Orange and Temperance Lodges began to arrive on Spadina Avenue, and at ten minutes to three o'clock the funeral cortege, headed by the band of the "Queen's Own" Rifles, and under the marshalship of Captain James Smith, of that battalion, moved on their way. The Orange body, to the number of about 700, all the lodges of the city being represented, came next followed by the members of the British American Order of Good Templars, in number about 200. The Rev. Dr. Fuller, of St. George's Church, and Dr. Buchanan, uncle and medical attendant of the deceased, came next, preceding the hearse, the coffin being shrouded with the banner of deceased's lodge No. 1,040, and also surmounted by his star cap and robe, he being a "Royal Scarlet Companion." The pall was supported by His Worship the Mayor, Past Prov. Grand Master; Bro. G. L. Allen, Past Supreme Grand; Bro. Andrew Fleming, Supreme Grand Secretary; Mr. George Boomer, Police Magistrate; Mr. Wm. Marks, of the British American Order of Good Templars, and Rev. Mr. Savage, of Berlin. Following the hearse were the relatives and chief mourners. Loyal Orange Lodge 1,040, of which deceased was master, and the Lodge of Good Templars of which he was a member, while the rear was brought up by a large number of public and private vehicles. The route was along Spadina Avenue, down Queen-street to Parliament-street, and thence to St. James's Cemetry. On arriving at the vault the service of the Church of England was read by the Rev. Dr. Fuller, while that of the Loyal Orange Association and British American Order of Good Templars was read by the Rev. Mr. Savage, of Berlin.

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

Quebec March 3.

Hon. Mr. Dorion presented seven petitions against Confederation.

The following Bills were introduced:—

By Hon. Mr. Cameron—Respecting the Toronto Church Society.

By Hon. Mr. Alleyn—To amend the Act incorporating the Quebec High School.

By Hon. Mr Cameron—To amend the law respecting attorneys in Upper Canada.

By Mr. McIntire—Relative to the limits of the counties of Lannark and Renfew.

By Mr. J. S. Smith—To amend the Act passed last session providing for the acceptance of certain incorporated companies as arties for public officers.

By Mr. Powell—To amend the Act relating to the Canada Central Railway.

By Hon. Mr. Rose—To incorporate the Presbyterian Colledge at Montreal.

By Mr. Morrison—To amend the Act incorporating the North-west Navigation and Railway Company.

By Mr. De Niverville—To incorporate the Union St. Joseph of Three Rivers.

By Mr. Archambault—To amend the law relating to notaries.

The Confederation debate was then resumed.

After recess,

Mr. Perault continued his remarks, adducing a variety of evidence to establish that in the earlier portion of the history of Canada under British rule, the efforts of the English had been constantly directed to the destruction of the autonomy of the French race, and arguing that French Canadians would be unwise to place themselves at the mercy of the British, which he contended would be the effect of the present scheme.

He continued this line of argument till he closed a five hours speech at half past ten.

There were cries of "adjourn" from the Opposition.

Mr. Cartier—No, no; call in the members.

Mr. A. A. Dorion said he had moved the adjournment last night, to have the floor to-day to reply to Mr. Cauchon. That gentleman not being in his place, he desired to defer his remarks to another occasion.

Col. Haultain said that so much had been heard on this question that it was almost worn out; nevertheless he would say a few words on the subject, though he did it with diffidence. He felt, however that in advocating Confederation he acted in good company, as the leading men of Canada, the British Provinces and England were agreed as to the wisdom of the scheme, and the desirableness of its adoption. He believed that great principles were at stake in the question now before us—questions likely to affect the future of this country materially, and also to some extent, the political aspect of the world. We were either to consolidate the principles that were obtained in the British Constitution, or, failing in our present object, we would see a decadence in those principles on this continent, and an advance of those principles that obtain in the neighboring republic. It was a trite saying that unity was strength, and this principle was a sound one. The arguments must be strong that would convince him that we would be wrong in proceeding in the direction of unity and consolidation. He believed that, if there were no difficulties as regards Upper Canada, and that if we were perfectly satisfied with our political position, the Union would be desirable on the broad ground of the advantages of a unity of the British Provinces. In addition to securing the advantages of such a unity, we had great difficulties to remove, and it was gratifying to know that while attempting to carry out a principle, good in itself, we were taking steps calculated to remove the difficulties under which we had laboured. The present scheme came to us with strong recommendations from the fact that it had met with universal approval in the mother country. Looking at all our interests, commercial, political, and those respecting defence let us go forward in this Union of the Provinces. The great difficulty which had perplexed and vexed Upper Canada was one ever-abiding cause of injustice in the minds of the people of that Province, who had believed that they were denied that fair-play and justice at the hands of Lower Canada, to which they were entitled. He was therefore surprised to hear the opinion hon. gentlemen had expressed here as to the sense of Upper Canada, and as to the measure for the freeing of disatisfaction that prevailed there. On the creation of the Macdonald-Sicotte administration, great dissatisfaction was felt in Upper Canada at the shelving of rep. by pop. Yet, although he regretted such a step at the time, he thought it was necessary to take that course. It was then his idea and the opinion of the people of Upper Canada, it was only a provisional Government that was only to be tolerated for a short time. He regretted that the hon member for Kenora was not now present. His very able speech the other night only showed the utterly unreasonable character of the scheme now before the House. That gentleman had made light of this matter of the constitutional difficulties of Upper Canada, and was even disposed to discredit their existence. He said that the granting of a few extra members to Upper Canada would have settled the matter. But, if so, why had not he and the other liberal members from lower Canada worked with us of the Upper Province to obtain representation by population before the present scheme was rendered necessary. It was too late to say this now. The liberal members of Lower Canada, if this was their opinion, had sadly betrayed the interests of Upper Canada, in not granting those additional members, to which Upper Province was justly entitled, and especially as this concession would have removed the difficulties. If the liberals of Lower Canada had done so, we would not, in all probability, be now in our present position, although he did not regret it. He rejoiced to think that we were now in a way to unite, for in that union he believed the interests of Britain and the world embraced. With regard to the feeling in the mother-country, the member for Brome seemed to take pleasure in citing passages of speeches and periodicals published in England tending to create the belief that there existed in the Mother-country a strong feeling in favour of abandoning the colonies and leaving them a prey to the United States; and hon. gentlemen in Opposition seemed delighted with such a prospect. (Hear, hear.) He (Col. Haultain) knew that nothing would tend so much to depress the people of Canada as the opinion that the mother-country desired to cast us adrift. If such an impression went abroad it would be here considered that annexation to the United States was our only alternative; and therefore he felt it to be of the greatest importance that there should so be no doubt in this country as to the feeling of the people at home. The hon. gentleman proceeded to contend that the majority of the people of of England were not in favour of abandoning the colonies. True, the Manchester school advocated such a step. They looked at the commercial aspect of the question, and complained that while we, in Canada, taxed their manufactures on importation here and denied them the benefit of free trade, we threw upon them the burden of our defence. We should consider this matter, and the propriety of adopting measures for our efficient defence. We ought also if we valued the connection with the mother-country, to endeavor to assimilate our commercial system as much as possible with that of Great Britain. As regards the feelings in England regarding the present connection, he believed, from the speeches of Lords Derby and Houghton, in the House of Lords in favor of colonial connexion and from the cheers with which their remarks were greeted, that in that high quarter the continuance of the colonial connexion was regarded with approbation. The hon. gentleman went on to comment upon reference to the colonies in the Queen's Speech, as showing the existence of a desire to retain the existing connexion. His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, in presenting the colors to the 100th Regiment (Canadian), said—"We celebrate an occasion which proclaims and strengthens the unity of the various parts of the empire." He also said that the ceremony had a peculiar significance. While in Canada, also, His Royal Highness said in reply to an Address—"Most heartily do I respond to your desire that the ties which bind together Her Majesty and the colonial people may be strong and enduring." Consequently, he maintained that the expressed opinions of the two great political parties in England, and the well-known wishes of Her Majesty and the Prince of Wales, on this project, shewed an almost universal desire on the part of the people of the mother-country for the continuance of the connexion of the colonies. It remained, he believed, with ourselves alone whether this connexion should be perpetuated (Hear, hear.) In reference to the defence question, he thought that, as we grew in wealth and influence, we should certainly relieve the mother-country of the burden of defence. Another reason why we should desire union, was the present hostile position of the United States as manifested during the last few months, as had been shown by the Congress appropriating a million dollars to put their frontier in a state of defence, and the notice of the abrogation of be Reciprocity Treaty, and in the appropriation for the construction of a canal arc nd Niagra River for military purposes; and in giving notice of an intention to increase their naval force on the Lakes. The people of the United States were well aware that all these hostile acts had for their object to drive us into the arms of their country: and knew what it must end in unless we took steps to counteract these measures in our own defence Unless we found an outlet to the ocean, and then some other means of conveying our produce and our manufactures to the foreign markets we must fall into the arms of the United States. That was why we wished there should be no delay in the union of the North American Provinces. Unless we were to continue dependent on the United States, we must have other channels than theirs opened up to our trade. Now with regard to the Intercolonial Railway—whether we had a union or not, he believed it was a necessity of our position. He did not look upon it as a commercial or in any sense a military undertaking. As a social and great political need, it seemed absolutely necessary. If we are ever to have a union, if not now at least years hence—we ought to have the Intercolonial Railway. It was necessary we should feel ourselves to be one people and that Canada and people of the other Provinces should be united, if we were in a position to offer efficient resistance to the common enemy in the whole or any part of the country at a time. He thought that one of the strongest arguments for Confederation was the additional facilities which it would afford for general defence. There were a few important points in the country which, if fortified, we could hold without any fear of the forces that might be brought against us. True we had an exposed frontier, but the United States were, in that respect worse off than ourselves having more towns and villages along their long line of frontier. He heard a great deal from hon. members about their willingness to "shed the last drop" of their blood in the defence of their country; but singularly enough they appeared to be unwilling to spend their money for that purpose. It would be better to take prudent precautions, and spend the money required for the efficient protection of the country, than to risk hundreds of thousands of precious lives in a war that might through our own negligence, be brought upon us. It would be well to make early preparations for defence, and not leave it to the last moment, which would be as sensible a thing as for a man to postpone learning to swim till he was in the act of drowning. (Hear, hear.) Col. Jervois, who was sent here from England to report upon the defence of this Province, had stated that unless the defensive works recommended at certain points were constructed, it would be worse than useless to continue any British force in Canada. (Hear, hear.) In every point of view, it was economy—economy in treasure as well as in useful life, now when the country was at peace to put it in a proper position for defence. Another work we should undertake was the construction of the Ottawa Canal, and the improvement of the Rideau, which would be worth fifty thousand men to this Province. Our canals were in a sad state—the St. Lawrence canals being, in a military point of view, useless. He was glad that notice of the termination of treaty limiting the United States to a very small naval force on the Lakes was given, for for we would now get gunboats from England to protect our Lakes. (Hear, hear.) But before this, had we taken out, we would have found ourselves destitute of any force in those waters, and would consequently have been at the mercy of the United States, and we would not have been able to forward gunboats to these Lakes through these canals, owing to their limited capacity and the frontier routes would have been obstructed. [Hear, hear.] There was one part of the scheme, however—not only one—in regard to which he felt any serious apprehension and that concerned the rights of the Protestant minority of Lower Canada. (Hear, hear.) If there had not been any direct hostile opposition to Protestants in this section, on the part of their Roman Catholic fellow-subjects, it was felt that the former had suffered from an underhand obstructiveness, in regard to the educational rights and system of the latter. He felt that on this head, the Protestants of Lower Canada were entitled to fear from Confederation. He did not think that the intense Catholicism of this Province could be exercised at this epoch—nor if they for instance Protestants, and why?—because they were ignorant of the principles of the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

Hon. Mr. Alleyn—What are they?

Col. Haultain—They are not tolerant. (Hear, hear, and cheers.)

Mr. Ferrault—Hear, hear.—What about the Presbyterians?

Hon Mr Alleyn—You have said that the principles of the Roman Catholic hierarchy are not tolerant. Is it with regard to civil or religious liberty; which do you mean?

Col. Haultain said that very succinctly his objection. He believed that civil and religious liberty were so bound up that they could not be separated.

Hon Mr Alleyn—Do you believe that the Roman Catholics are not tolerant on both those points?

Col. Haultain—Yes, as regards the laity. But with regard to the Roman Catholic hierarchy, they were a body receiving their instructions and inspiration from Rome and were consequently likely to be directed thereby. He would refer, on this point, to the late Encyclical Letter from Rome, as an answer to the question put to him. He saw, by that document, issued with all the authority that surrounded a message from the Pope to the Roman Catholic Church, that one of the "errors" condemned was—"That emigrants to Catholic countries should have freedom of worship." There was no one more anxious to avoid religious discussion or dissension than he; but as we were discussing a scheme of the greatest importance, involving the interests of the various sections and of the minorities therein, it behoved every man to speak honestly and frankly on the subject. (Hear, hear.) The Protestant minority feared justice would not be done them; they knew the power of that hierarchy and that everything was submitted to and directed by that hierarchy which received its inspiration from Rome; and we knew the character of that hierarchy, and under what obligations they felt themselves when ordered by anything from the head of the Roman Catholic Church, clothed with all the authority and respect attaching to it. Suppose that it were possible for any Protestant dignitary to speak in a similar authoritative manner, and that he declared we were not to give Roman Catholics the same freedom of worship which we and they now enjoy, would they not regard that command with great apprehension. He asked his hon. friends the Catholic members to think honestly on the position in which the Protestants of Lower Canada were placed in this matter, and to consider what must be their feelings when they were called upon to put themselves into the power of that Roman Catholic hierarchy?

Hon. Mr. Cartier.—The Protestant minority have lived in harmony, not only with the Catholics but with the Catholic clergy of Lower Canada. I may say, on behalf of the majority of the Protestants of lower Canada, that they are convinced that there is no illiberality on the part of the Catholic clergy of Lower Canada, no more than in the great majority of the Roman Catholics of that section themselves. The majority of the Protestants have no such fears as the hon. gentleman entertained. (Hear, hear.)

Col. Haultain said that it must be perfectly evident that what emanated from the hon. gentleman would have very little weight in comparison with what came from the head of the Roman Catholic Church. He did not accuse his French Canadian fellow-subjects of anything like intolerance, but what he said was that there was ground for apprehension on the part of the Protestants of Lower Canada in respect to the position in which they would be placed with regard to the Roman Catholic hierarchy, when the latter were inspired from the head of the Roman Catholic Church, as they had been in this case. He (Col. H.) stated this as a warning merely.

Hon. J. S. Macdonald—The Hon. Attorney General East speaks for the Protestants as well as the Catholics. I should like to know what I am to do? (laughter.)

Hon Mr. Vetfee—The hon. gentleman is like the blank leaf between the Old and New Testaments He belongs to neither. (Laughther.)

Hon. Mr. Cartier—And he is flattened between the two. (Renewed laughter.)

Hon. J. S. Macdonald—An hon friend behind me says that is a blank shot. (Hear, hear.)

Hon. Mr. Cartier—I have always said that all denominations should enjoy religious rights, and therefore I have always possessed the confidence of Protestants and others. (Cheers.)

Hon Mr. Alleyn—We had better have this discussion postponed until Sunday. (Hear, hear.)

Hon. J. S. Macdonald—Let us have the Doxology. (Laughter.)

Col. Haultain continued saying that the Encyclical Letter had shaken the confidence of the Protestants in Roman Catholic toleration and if we were to live in future on good terms it was better we should speak frankly and understand each other before entering into this compact. It was well we should be on our guard to see that no system should be adopted or course pursued that would tend to create difficulty in the future. The hon. member for Quebec West had alluded to this matter in a jeering tone. Did he agree with the Encyclical letter?

Hon Mr Alleyn—I am in favor of liberty of conscience. (Hear, hear.)

Col Haultain—Have you read the letter?

Hon. Mr. Alleyn—I have not read the whole of the latter.

Col

Grand Orange Lodge of Central Ontario.

We copy the following from the Kingston Daily News:—

"The Right Worshipful Grand Lodge assembled in annual session at the Town Hall, Perth, County of Lanark, on Tuesday the 21st instant, as soon.

"The following officers have been elected to serve the ensuing year:

John Flanigan, Kingston, Grand Master.
Robt. B. Smith, Kingston, Deputy G. Master.
Robert Crampton, Carleton Place, Associate D. G. Master.
C. Fletcher, Brockville, Grand Treasurer.
Wm. Shannon, Kingston, Grand Secretary.
John G. Moore, Belleville, Deputy G. Secretary.
Revd. Wm. Burns, Packenham; Grand Chaplain.
David Marshall, Port Hope, Grand Lecturer.
James Percival, Brockville, Grand Director of Ceremonies.

A vote of thanks was given to Brother M. Rowell, Past Grand Master, (now with his company of Volunteers on the frontier,) for his past services as Grand Master.

The next annual session of the Grand Lodge will be holden at Ottawa.

ORANGE FESTIVITIES AT PERTH.—The first evening of the session a sacred music concert was given by the Church of England ladies, the proceeds of which were devoted to the funds of the church. On the second evening there was a grand Orange Soiree. The capacity and strength of the new and beautiful Town Hall was put to a severe test, the great room being filled in every part. There were nearly one thousand persons present. The Chair was occupied by John Flanigan, Esq. G.M. There were also on the platform the Revds. Wm. Bain, and James Scott Mullen, of the Church of Scotland, the Revds. J. B. Duncan, and —— Aitkin, of the Canada Presbyterian Church, and the revds. Wm. Burns, Abraham Dawson, Amos E. Russ, and Edward S. Shorey, Wesleyan Methodists. There were also several other clergymen scattered through the Hall. The officers and members of the Grand Lodge appeared in their regalia. The Invocation was sung by the assemblage, led by Mrs. Seeley and Miss Buell, and another young lady the elite of the musical world of Perth. Refreshments were then passed around and disposed of, after which the thanksgiving was sung. Prayer was offered by the Rev. J. S. Mullen. Carefully prepared and eloquent speeches were then delivered by the Revds. Wm. Burns, J. S. Mullen, and Abraham Dawson, also by Mr. David Marshall. Several pieces were sung by Mrs. Seeley, accompanied on the piano by Miss Buell. The seige of Derry Quadrille were given as voluntaries, and their performance elicited great applause. The grand Secretary sang his favourite song, "The Maiden City," by Charlotte Elizabeth.

Mr. Wm. Shannon proposed a vote of thanks to Mrs. Seeley and the young ladies by whom she was assisted on the occasion, for her kindness in coming forward to conduct the vocal and instrumental part of the entertainment. The resolution was seconded by the Revd. Amos E. Russ, and was carried by acclamation. The Grand Master in conveying the resolution to the ladies, stated that this was one of the very largest, most orderly and most respectable assemblies he had ever lelighted. The refreshments were excellent—the music superior—the speeches forcible and appropriate—the whole affair a very great success.

Orangeism is largely on the increase, the demon of discord has been banished from the ranks; and should foreign or domestic foe presume to violate the present peace which happily exists, there will be but a short, though it may be a severe struggle, and "200,000 Orangemen will tell the reason why."

SAVE YOUR LUNGS.—We often feel schocked at the terrible manner of some people's coughing in church, in the lecture room, street, home and abroad—when by a 25 cent box of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers they can save their lungs, cure their coughs, colds, sore throat, &c. Sold by all Druggists.

Death.

In Peterborough, at the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. George Taylor, Elizabeth Scott, aged 24 years.

In Lindsay, C. W., at the residence of her son, J. W. Dunsford, Esq., M. P. P., Mary, Widow of the late Rev. J. H. Dunsford, aged 77 years.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Peterborough, March 8 1865.

Flour ₱ brl	$4	50	@	$5	00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	87	@	0	90
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0	75	@	0	80
Potatoes	0	30	@	0	35
Barley ₱ bush	0	50	@	0	55
Peas "	0	70	@	0	75
Oats "	0	47	@	0	50
Hay ₱ ton new	12	00	@	13	00
Hides ₱ cwt	3	00	@	3	25
Sheepskins	0	70	@	0	80
Wool ₱ lb	0	25	@	0	25
Beef ₱ cwt	4	00	@	4	50
Eggs, per dozen	0	14	@	0	12
Butter, ₱	0	15	@	0	16
Cordwood	1	25	@	1	75
Fowl, per pair	0	25	@	0	40

OLD EYES MADE NEW.

A PAMPHLET directing how to speedily restore sight and give up spectacles, without aid of doctor or medicine—Sent by mail, free, on receipt of 10 cents Address,
E. B. FOOTE, M. D.,
9-6m 1130 Broadway New York.

BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY IN CANADA.

The following testimony from a well known and highly respected Merchant of Prescott, as corroborative of the general approval given to Dr. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY:

Prescott, C. W., Dec. 8th, 1859.
Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co., Boston.
Gentlemen:—

Being solicited by your Travelling Agent, for an expression of opinion of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, I with pleasure assert that it is, in my belief, the best remedy before the public for coughs and pulmonary complaints.

Having tested the article with myself and family, in case of severe coughs and colds, for years, with uniform and unexceptionable success, I unhesitatingly recommend it with full confidence in its merits.

Yours truly,
ALFRED HOOKER.

None genuine unless signed, I. Butts, on the wrapper. Prepared by Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston, and for sale by all dealers in medicines.
Peterboro, February 24, 1865. 7-4in

A GOOD THING—TRY IT

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
Is a medicine for the immediate and permanent removal of all pains from the system.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
Cures Rheumatism, Pleurisy, and Pains in the back and side.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
Relieves Pains in the head and Sick headache.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
Cures Bilious Cholic & Cramps in the stomach.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
Cures Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Dysentry, and Bowel Complaint.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Sudden Colds and sore Throat.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
Cures Neuralgia, Tic douloureux, & Toothache.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
Cures Burns, Scalds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, &c
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
Is also an excellent thing for Strains, Sprains Bowels and Bruises. It takes away all pain the moment it is applied.
No family should be without a Bottle of
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
Price 25 Cents Per Bottle.
NORTHROP & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas,
Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, and A. W. Kemp: by C. Britton Lindsay, and all medicine dealers.

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING relating to the human species, male and female; their causes and treatment of diseases; the marriage customs of the world; and a thousand things never published before, read the revised enlarged edition of "Medical Common sense," a curious book for curious people, and a good book for every one, 600 pages 100 Illustrations Price $1.50. Contents table sent free to any address. Books may be had at the Book stores, or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price
Address, Dr. E. B. FOOTE, M. D.,
9-6m 1130 Broadway New York

INFORMATION FREE!

TO NERVOUS SUFFERERS.

A GENTLEMEN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay, and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it, (free of charge,) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's bad experience, and possess a safe and valuable remedy, can do so by addressing him at once at his place of business. The Recipe and full information—of vital importance—will be cheerfully sent by return mail.
Address JOHN B. OGDEN,
No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.
P. S.—Nervous sufferers of both sexes will find this information invaluable. 1-3ms

New Advertisements.

GRAND
ORANGE SOIREE
IN AID OF
The Support of the Orange Wing of the Protestant Orphans' Home, Toronto,
Under the direction of the County Orange Lodge of the County of Peterboro,
Will be held in the Town Hall,
PETERBOROUGH,
On Friday, 17th March,
AT ONE O'CLOCK.

Addresses will be delivered by J. FLANIGAN, Esq., Grand Master of Central Canada; the Rev. Dr. BETT, Grand Chaplain of the Supreme Grand Lodge of British North America; the Rev. Dr. SHORTT, of Port Hope, Deputy Grand Chaplain; and several other eloquent Ministers of the Gospel and Public Speakers.

PROFESSOR CHALAUPKA'S
CELEBRATED BRASS BAND
Will be present and will play while refreshments are being partaken of and between the addresses.

COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT:

W. Bro. D. G. Hatton, County Master,
" J. Graham, District M., Peterboro,
" J. Armstrong, " Otonabee,
" J. Collins, " Norwood,
Brother D. McDonald, W. M. 457
" A. Graham, " 180
" F. Weir, " 49
" R. Weir, " 484
" R. Chowen, " 122
" Thos. Scene, " 1072
" D. McIntyre, " 494
" Chase, " 1175
" W. H. Stephenson " 34
" Edward Foster,
" William McCullough,
" William Deacon,
" John Smith,
" William Brownscomb.

Tickets of Admission 25 Cents,
To be obtained from all Members of the Committee, and at the principal places of business in Peterborough.
J. SMITH, Co. Sec. & Sec. of Com.
D. G. HATTON, Co. Master.
GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.
Peterboro, March 8, 1865. 10

$500 REWARD!

WHEREAS, on the night of the 3rd inst. some evil-disposed person or persons did maliciously set fire to the Workshop of John Britton, the above reward of Five Hundred Dollars will be paid by the Town Council to any one who will give such information as will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the said person or persons.
C. PERRY, Mayor,
March 7, 1865. Town of Peterborough.

DUNKIN'S BILL.

HENRY CALCUTT

RETURNS THANKS to his numerous Beer Customers for their liberal patronage, and is now prepared to supply them with

TEMPERANCE ALE,

To be called "DUNKIN ALE," put up in Barrels and Bottles.
Peterboro', March 1st, 1865. 10-tf

A RARE CHANCE.

FOR SALE, OR TO LET for the Season, an Entire Horse rising four years old with great bone and action. Apply at this Office.
March 8th, 1865. 10-tf

NOTICE.

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Partnership heretofore existing, under the name of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., in the Town of Peterborough, was dissolved by mutual consent, on the Twenty-third day of February last.

All debts due to the firm are to be paid to John Whyte, who will settle the claims due by the late firm.

JOHN WHYTE,
WILLIAM HAMILTON.

Dated the 7th of March, 1865. 10

NOTICE.

ALL those indebted to the late firm of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., by Note or Book Account, will please call and settle the same forthwith, as all debts not paid before the 30th of April next, will be placed in suit for collection.
JOHN WHYTE.
Peterborough, March 7, 1865. 10

A CARD.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

THE Subscribers in returning thanks to their numerous friends in and around Peterborough for the liberal patronage they have received for the past 8 years, beg to say that although they have dissolved partnership the business will still be carried on by them in all its branches, as heretofore, in the same premises. Mr. Whyte carrying on the Agricultural department, and Mr. Hamilton the Machine department.

WILLIAM HAMILTON.
JOHN WHYTE.
Peterborough, March 7, 1865. 10

ABSTRACT OF RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES OF THE TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH

For the year ending 31st December, 1864.

RECEIPTS.		EXPENDITURE.
To balance in hand of Treasurer, Dec. 31st, 1863	$3201 56	By Assessments	$944 06
" Assessments	8411 21	" Markets	39 75
" Markets	320 15	" Police Court	91 30
" Police Court	320 05	" Schools	2193 00
" Schools	364 00	" Commissioners	2000 00
" Licenses	2142 50	" Municipal Loan Fund	2000 00
" Railroad	5856 00	" Streets and Bridges	2003 53
" Miscellaneous	106 00	" Salaries	1843 00
" [Consolidated] Lock-up, from Commissioners	1000 00	" Law Expenses	235 25
		" Charities	372 00
		" Fire Department	150 00
		" Miscellaneous	3790 77
		Balance in hands of Treasurer	680 04
	$21883 77		$21883 77

WM. EASTLAND,
E. PEARSE, } Auditors.

Peterborough, March, 1865.

Abstract Statement.

Municipality of GALWAY AND CAVENDISH in Account with WILLIAM LEESON, Treasurer.

DR.		CR.
To balance on hand last audit, Dec'r 31st, 1863	$35 24	By paid Municipal Officer's Salaries and Expenses of Council	$163 00
" Taxes received	344 00	" Legislative and County School Grant	101 00
" Clergy Reserves	53 00	" Administration of Justice	41 00
" Legislative School Grant	51 00	" County Tax, on account	80 12
" Licenses	50 00	" Roads	20 00
" Non-resident Tax	50 12	" Printing and Stationery	18 22
" Land Improvement Fund	4 00	" N. R. School Tax	33 33
		" Sundries	46 44
		Balance in hands of Treasurer	26 93
	$487 04		$487 04

We, the undersigned, beg leave to report that we have examined the above accounts and find them correct.

JAMES GAVIGAN,
DENIS CONNELLY, } Auditors.

Galway, January 26, 1865.

GREAT SACRIFICE!
CHEAP SALE OF DRY GOODS.

LESLIE & FAIRWEATHER,
HUNTER STREET, offer for Sale, at COST PRICE,
THEIR ENTIRE STOCK
—OF—

MANTLES: BLACK CLOTH, SEALSKIN, AND WHITNEY MANTLES, from $1.50 to $3.00.

SHAWLS: Plain Wool, and Shepherd Plaid Shawls; Dagmar and Himalay Shawls; also, a few very superior Paisley filled and Broche Shawls.

SILKS: English and French Black Glaces, French Gros Royal; Fancy Checked and Striped Silks, and very rich figured Silk worth $3.5 the dress, to be sold for $27.25.

A Large and Varied Stock of General Dry Goods at a Reduction of 15 Per Cent from usual Prices.

French Merinos and Colourgs,
Lustres and Alpacas,
And a great variety of Dress Goods;
Cloakings and Skirtings;
Prints, White Cottons and Factories,
Striped Shirtings and Denims;
White and Colored Flannels,
Blankets, Railway Wrappers,
And Horse Covers; Tweeds,
Coatings and Over-coatings;
And a good assortment of Hosiery,
&c., &c., &c.

Now is the time for Bargains.

A CALL IS RESPECTFULLY SOLICITED.
Peterborough, December 7th, 1864.

STRICKLAND & ROGERS,

Beg to announce the completion of their
FALL STOCK of DRY GOODS

Which has been selected with great care, and will be found complete in every department.

They would direct particular attention to their great variety of
DRESS GOODS AND TRIMMINGS,

Everything new in the Fancy line. A full assortment of
ENGLISH, SCOTCH AND AMERICAN TWEEDS
IN THE
TAILORING DEPARTMENT.

Their Stock of Goods will be found cheap for the season in the
MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

SHOW ROOMS NOW OPEN FOR INSPECTION.

P. S.—Orders executed in the above Departments in the best styles with promptitude.
Peterborough, October, 1864. 40

LIST OF LETTERS

REMAINING in the Peterborough Post Office 1st March, 1865. Persons calling will please ask for advertised letters.

Adams, Samuel	Harrison, Richard
Armstrong, Alexander	Hayes, John
Adams, David	Hustoh, Archibald
Archer, John	Jones Robert
Beavis, William	Johnstone, Annie
Bell, Matthew	Johnstone, Archy
Black, Thomas	Kiley, Edmond
Bateson, William	Kent, Hugh
Buchanan, Thomas	Lizalpe, George
Campbell, J. Monaghan	Lutzate, Honora
Coutts, James	Martin, Robert
Clute, Benjamin	Meldoon, Bernard
Cox, aron	McNeil, Julia
Carroll, Thomas	McRea, Mary Ann
Conolly, James	McLean, William
Crowly, John	Powers, Patrick
Dean Hugh	Rooney, Patrick
Duggan, Patrick	Richardson, John
Douglass, William	Robson, Ralph
Driscoll, James	Ratherford, Walter
Donoghue, Edmond	Robertson, Mrs. S. H.
Erwin, Mary Ann	Robertson, Mrs. C.
Easton, William	Rose, George
Fry, George	Reynolds, Mrs. Nancy
Flemming, William	Raymond Charles
Foster, Mrs. Catherine	Stewart Margaret
Goodfellow, Agnes	Seems, Samuel
Hickey, Joseph	Travis, Nathan
Howard, John D.	Valentine, William
Hopkins, William Jas.	Weatherhead, Mrs.
Harris, Mrs. Sarah 6

S. J. CARVER,
Postmaster.
Peterborough, March 1st, 1865. 10

TENDERS.

TENDERS will be received by the Trustees of School Section No. 14, in the Township of Otonabee, up to the 27th inst. for the building of a FRAME SCHOOL HOUSE. The plans and specifications may be seen at the residence of Thomas Johnston, Lot No. 24, in the 8th Con. of said Township. The Trustees do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any tender.
By order of the Trustees.
THOS. JOHNSTON,
Sec'y and Treas'r.
School Section No. 14,
Otonabee, March 7th, 1865. 10-2in*

CARTRIDGE PISTOLS.

SMITH & WESSON'S patent Single and Seven Shooters. Cartridges,
GEORGE STETHEM & CO.
Peterboro, Feb. 1, 1865. 5

REMOVAL.

THE subscriber begs to inform the inhabitants of LAKEFIELD and vicinity, that he has removed his
Grocery Store
IN LAKEFIELD,
To Henthorn's Block, where will be found a
Good assortment of Groceries,
WHICH WILL BE SOLD
CHEAP FOR CASH,
Or Farm Produce.
ROBT. GRAHAM.
Lakefield, March 1st, 1865. 49-9

A LIBERAL OFFER.

A Complete set of Text and Blank Books for the entire Commercial Course, (Cash price, Seven Dollars) will be presented to each Student purchasing a Scholarship in
THE LONDON
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE
BEFORE
The First Day of April Next.

Price of Scholarship for Gents $30 in advance
Price of Scholarships for Ladies $20 in advance.

Students entering within said time, will be allowed the advantages of our Club Rates, the same as others.

THIS IS THE
OLDEST COMMERCIAL COLLEGE!
IN THE PROVINCE!!

And our facilities for imparting practical knowledge, by means of actual transactions are unsurpassed. In addition to the regular Commercial Branches, everything is taught without extra charge, which is requisite for obtaining a First Class Certificate for teaching common school. Drawing and Painting and Telegraphing also taught.

Good board can be obtained in private families for Two Dollars per week.

For circular containing full particulars address post paid,
J. W. JONES,
Principal London

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JOHN WILLIAMSON an Insolvent.

PURSUANT to the provisions of the above Act, I do hereby call a meeting of the creditors of the above Insolvent to be held at the Law Office of Sidney Smith, at Peterborough, on the thirteenth day of March next, at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, for the purpose of appointing a new assignee.

JAMES CAMPBELL.
Dated at Peterborough this 17th day of February, 1865. 9

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

THE CREDITORS of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Messrs. Fairbairn and Dunstle, on Water Street, in the Town of Peterborough, at one o'clock in the afternoon of Thursday, the twenty-third day of March, 1865, for the purpose of receiving statements of his affairs, and naming an Assignee, to whom he may make an assignment under the above Act.

TEMPLETON BROWN.
Peterborough, March 1st, 1865. 9-3in

STRAYED

FROM the premises of the subscriber, last summer,
Three yearling Steers and a Heifer,
One of the steers has brand red and white spots, the other three are mostly red with a few white spots.
Any person giving information where they are, will be rewarded.
JAMES BECKET.
1st Con. Otonabee, Feb. 1, 1865. 9-11in*

MELODEON
AND
COTTAGE ORGAN EMPORIUM,
PETERBORO, C.W.

Estey's Perfect Melodeon
AND
COTTAGE ORGAN.
ESTABLISHED 1864.
FORMERLY ESTEY & GREEN.

The only Manufactory in this Country of the Perfect Melodeon and Cottage Organ with Patent Bass Damper, Patent Harmonic Attachment, and Patent Manual Sub-Bass.

These inimitable Instruments have won their way to public confidence purely on their merits, and not by force of extensive advertising and purchased recommendation. With our increased facilities for manufacture, we are still unable to meet the extraordinary demand made upon us; but we hope soon to be able to fill all orders promptly.

Some of the points of superiority claimed for our Instruments, are these:—

1st.—Smooth, steady and pipe-like quality of tone.

2nd.—Great delicacy of touch and promptness of action; producing, when desired, a slow, sweet, lute-like tone, unequalled by any other instrument of the class.

3d.—The Patent Bass Damper, which enables the performer to swell the treble without increasing the volume of the bass; or, by drawing the Stop, to swell the notes by the action of the foot.

4th.—The Patent Harmonic Attachment. An ingenious octave coupler, which doubles the power of the instrument without increasing its size or the number of reeds.

5th.—The Patent Manual Sub-Base, which are played with the ordinary keys and controlled by a stop. This new and valuable invention requires no extra room and serves as a substitute for the Pedal Base, and can be used by an ordinary performer.

6th.—The Knee-Stop, in the Cottage Organ, which swells or diminishes the tone by a slight movement of the left knee, without interfering with the action of the feet,—having this advantage over the Automatic Swell that the volume of tone may be readily increased without extraordinary effort, and diminished without waiting for the change in the actions of the bellows.

Our recently constructed Cottage Organ, without the attachments, is unsurpassed by any Reed Organ or Harmonium of the place; but, with the Harmonic Attachment and Manual sub-base, it is pronounced by competent judges to be far superior to any other instrument of the class in the world. Its power, sweetness, and variety of tone, simplicity of construction and ease of management, recommend it to every one as being all that is claimed for it, both for the parlor and the church.

The Harmonic Organ, for Churches and Public Halls, has a fine, powerful Pedal Base, with independent reeds: and, with the Harmonic Attachment, is believed to be the most powerful Reed Organ made, being nearly equal to a pipe organ of three times its cost.

All our Instruments are made in the most thorough manner, and warranted in every respect

JOS. R. WALTON,
Agent.
Peterborough, Jan. 1865. 4

Rev. A. C. Rose, of Troy, N.Y. says:—These give the value of five Melodeons in one. The ease of touch and promptness of action are unrivalled. It can be played with all the sweetness of the lute or Æolian harp, and changed in an instant to its full power, nearly equal to a twelve stop organ.

All orders addressed to the undersigned will receive prompt attention.
JOSEPH R. WALTON, Peterboro.
Jan 7th, 1865.

TESTIMONIALS.

JAMES BROWN, Esq., M. D.
Peterboro, October 20th, 1864.

I am happy to inform you that after the most persevering and testing trial for some weeks of the Cottage and Parlor Organ, we like it better every day. It is remarkable for variety of tone and power, and several of the best judges here say it is unequalled by any instrument of the kind (with double reed) they have ever heard. You can so control and command all its parts, as to pass easily and rapidly from the softest tones of the Harp, Lute or Piano, to the rich full swell of a large Organ. It is easily played by child or adult, and is already a very great favorite with us. Its compact structure, ingenious combination of power with the new and beautiful Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-base are greatly admired and are highly creditable to the maker, Estey, of Vermont. I think it is peculiarly adapted for Church Music.

EDW. F. CROWLE, A. M. &c.
Sheridan Villa Seminary, Peterboro, Dec. 1864.

We are delighted with the Cottage Organ with Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-base. We prefer it to any instrument of the kind we have ever seen; its tone, sweet and harmonious in the parlor, possessed sufficient power for a church.

REV. J. C. SLATER.
Wesleyan Parsonage, Millbrook, Jan. 1865.

I have much pleasure in testifying my entire satisfaction of the Cabinet Organ, purchased from you, as an instrument possessing superior qualities in sweetness, variety and strength, to anything of the kind I have ever seen. Two experienced musicians who have examined it, concur with me in recommending it as a perfect instrument adapted to Church or Parlor.

GEO. A. NORRIS, M. D., Recording Steward of the Wesleyan Church, Omemee.
Omemee, July, 1864.

In reply to your inquiries as to the Harmonic Organ, purchased from you for our church, we have to express our highest satisfaction: in purity and sweetness of tone as well as fulness of sound, it is all that can be reasonably expected.

Peterborough, Dec. 20th, 1864.

MR J. R. WALTON.—Having examined and played upon the Parlor Organs sold by you, and Mr. Whitehead by Mr. Estey, I have great pleasure in pronouncing them a first class instrument. The Harmonic attachment and manual Sub-base being a very great improvement and well worthy the patronage of the Musical public. Yours truly,
A. T. HEATHFIELD.

BY-LAW No.

A By-Law to raise the sum of six thousand dollars for the purpose therein mentioned.

WHEREAS the Municipal Council of the County of Peterborough have resolved to expend the sum of $6000 in constructing, making and repairing the roads and bridges within the said County:

And whereas to carry into effect the said recited object it will be necessary for the said Municipal Council to raise by way of loan the sum of $6000 in the manner hereinafter mentioned.

And whereas it will require the sum of $360 to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the said debt or loan and interest, as also hereinafter mentioned:

And whereas the Amount of the whole rateable property of the said Municipality, irrespective of any future increase of the same, and also irrespective of any income to be derived from the temporary investment of the sinking fund hereinafter mentioned, as may part thereof, according to the last revised assessment roll of the said Municipality, being for the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, was $2,788,688:

And whereas for paying the interest and creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the said sum of $6000 and interest, as hereinafter mentioned, it will require an equal annual special rate of thirty-one fifteenths of a mill in the dollar, in addition to all rates to be levied in each year.

Be it therefore enacted by the Municipal Council of the County of Peterborough:

1. That it shall be lawful for the Warden of the said County to raise by way of loan, from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same, upon the credit of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $6000, and to cause the same to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said County of Peterborough, for the purposes and at the rate above recited.

2. That it shall be lawful for the said Warden to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums of money as may be required not less than $100 each; and that the said debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Municipal Council, and be signed by the said Warden and counter-signed by the Treasurer of said County.

3. That said debentures shall be made payable in 10 years at the furthest from the day hereinafter mentioned for this By-law to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer of the said Municipality, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

4. That the said debentures shall bear interest at and after the rate of six per centum, per annum, from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly, on the first day of April and the first day of October in each year, at the Office of the Treasurer of the said Municipality.

5. That for the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest at the rate aforesaid to become due thereon, an equal special rate of thirty-one fifteenths of a mill in the dollar shall, in addition to all other rates, be raised, levied and collected in each year upon all the ratable property in the said Municipality during the continuance of the said debentures or any of them.

6. This By-law shall take effect and come into operation upon the day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.

The above is a true copy of a proposed By-law to be taken into consideration by the Municipality of the County of Peterborough, at its Council Chamber in the Court House, in the said County, on Thursday, the 22nd day of June, 1865, at the hour of 12 of the clock, noon, at which time and place the members of the Council are hereby required to attend for the purpose aforesaid.

(Signed) WALTER SHERIDAN,
Clerk.
Peterborough, February 17th, 1865. 8-10in

GOLD PENS
FOR THE MILLION!

PENS TO SUIT THE HAND, AND PRICES TO SUIT THE POCKET.

THE BEST
Gold Pens in the World!

ON receipt of the following sums, we will send, by mail, or as directed, a Gold Pen or Pens, selecting the same according to the description, namely:

GOLD PENS, IN SILVER PLATED EXTENSION CASES, WITH PENCILS,

For $1 No. 2 pen; for $1 25 No. 3 pen, for $1 50 No. 4 pen; for $2 No. 5 pen; for $2 25 No. 6 pen.

These pens are stamped THE IMPERIAL PEN, and are well finished and fine writing Gold Pens, with good iridium points, although they are unwarranted, and cannot be exchanged

Warranted Gold Pens.

One name (AMERICAN GOLD PEN Co., N. Y.,) is stamped on all our 1st quality Pens, and the points are warranted for six months except against accident. Our second quality Pens, are stamp'd THE NATIONAL PEN, with the initials of our firm (A. G. P. Co.,) and are carefully made, having the same points as our first quality Pens, the only great difference being in the quality of the Gold.

GOLD PENS, 1st AND 2nd QUALITY IN SOLID SILVER EXTENSION CASES, WITH PENCILS.

For $2 00 a No. 1 pen 1st quality, or a No. 2 pen 2nd quality.
For $2 25 a No. 2 pen 1st quality, or a No. 3 pen 2nd quality.
For $2 50 a No. 3 pen 1st quality, or a No. 4 pen 2nd quality.
For $3 00 a No. 4 pen 1st quality, or a No. 5 pen 2nd quality.
For $4 00 a No. 5 pen 1st quality, or a No. 6 pen 2nd quality.
For $5 00 a No. 6 pen 1st quality.

THE SAME GOLD PENS, IN SOLID SILVER OR GOLD-PLATED EBONY DESK HOLDERS and MOROCCO CASES.

For $2 25 a No. 3 pen 1st quality, or a No. 4 pen 2nd quality.
For $2 50 a No. 4 pen 1st quality, or a No. 5 pen 2nd quality.
For $3 50 a No. 5 pen 1st quality, or a No. 6 pen 2nd quality.
For $4 00 a No. 6 pen 1st quality
For $5 50 a No 7 pen. For $6 75 a No 8 pen. For $12 00 a No. 12 pen: all first quality.

Our pens rank throughout the country as equal if not superior to any gold pens manufactured. Not only for their writing qualities but durability and elegant finish. The greatest care is used in their manufacture, and none are sold with the slightest imperfection which skill can detect.

Parties in ordering must specify the name, number and quality in all instances and whether stiff or limber, coarse or fine.

TO CLUBS.

A discount of 12 per cent will be allowed on sums of $15, if sent to one address, at one time; 15 per cent. on $25; 20 per cent. on $40.

All remittances by mail, Registered, are at our risk. To all who enclose 20 cents extra for registering, we guarantee the safe delivery of the goods.

Circulars of all our new styles, with engravings of exact sizes, and prices, sent upon receipt of stamp if desired. Pens repointed for 50 cents by mail.

Stationers and Jewelers are requested to correspond with us as we can offer them GREAT INDUCEMENTS.

Address,
AMERICAN GOLD PEN CO.
4-3mos. No. 200 Broadway, N.Y.

SAWS.

ENGLISH Gate, Mulay, Rafting, Setting Machine, and Crosscut Saws, with Spear & Jackson's Files and other furnishings
GEORGE STETHEM & CO.
Peterboro February 1, 1865. 5

TO LET,

THAT COMFORTABLE COTTAGE on Queen Street, opposite St John's Church, at present occupied by Mr. Nathaniel Shaw. Possession given [illegible]

Good News! Good News!!

E. MORRIS,
THE PEOPLE'S FRIEND
HERB DOCTOR,
FROM LONDON, ENGLAND,

IS now in Peterboro' performing his most astonishing Cures, amongst

The many Sad Cases they [illegible] of public.
With Truth sounds far every day and hour!
But Morris' Herbs excels such rubbish,
He explains their virtues from his rostrum.

He is well known o'er Canada,
In every City, Town, and Village;
He'll effect a cure for half the pay
Charged by those Quacks who live by pillage

To those afflicted with RHEUMATISM try Dr. Morris' justly celebrated
Electric Invigorating Fluid,
for dispelling Rheumatic and other pains that may afflict the human system, internal or external.

He doth use such Balms as have no strife,
With nature or the laws of life:
With mercury his name he'll never stain,
Nor poison men for sake of gain.

Our Father whom all goodness fills,
Provides the means to cure all ills;
The [illegible] beneath our feet,
Well used, relieve our pains complete.

The Invigorating Fluid acts upon the system like electricity, giving relief instantly, in almost every case. PRICE PER BOTTLE, according to size, from 25 cents to One Dollar.

If you are afflicted with Rheumatic pains,
Cramps, Colics, and such painful broad,
Caused by exposure to cold and rains,
Try Morris' Invigorating Fluid.

For COUGHS, COLDS, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, use Dr. Morris'
Cough Drops.
They will be found a never-failing remedy for the above complaints.

If you should take a severe cold,
Returning from the walks and hops,
Go where the medicine is sold,
Enquire for Morris' Cough Drops.

To those troubled with Liver and Bilious complaints, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sick and Nervous Head-ache, Costiveness, Weak and Disordered Stomach, &c., &c., try
DR. MORRIS' WORLD-RENOWNED
DANDELION PILLS

For Renovating the Blood, Correcting and Strengthening the Liver and Bowels, the Dandelion Pills have no equal.

If you feel nervous, with spirits low,
Disord red system, and other ills,
Take a friend's advice and straight you'll go,
For Morris' Dandelion Pills.

WORMS! WORMS! WORMS!

If you would expel those monsters from your dear children, try a box of Dr. Morris'
WORM DESTROYER.

If you have a son or daughter dear,
And the monstrous worms annoy her,
There's relief at hand, dry off that tear,
Get Morris' Worm destroyer

Dr. Morris can furnish reliable testimonials from some of the most respectable inhabitants of Peterboro' and other Towns and Cities of Canada West. For Testimonials see his Pamphlets. The above medicines can be obtained at PROFF. MORRIS' BOTANIC LABORATORY, Simcoe Street, nearly opposite Phelps Hotel, Peterborough.

Dr. Morris invariably treats with success diseases of a secret nature.

CONSULTATION FREE, at his Laboratory, from 9 a. m., to 7 p. m.
Peterboro', Jan. 17, 1865. 3-3m

Great Bargains.

BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.
BUY LAMPS at WILLIAMS'.
BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.
BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.
BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.
BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.
BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.
BUY LAMPS at WILLIAMS'.
BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.
BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.
BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.
BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.

Cash paid for Grain
by A. WILLIAMS.
Peterboro', Jan. 11, 1865. 3

Counties of Peterboro' & Victoria.

DIRECTORY
FOR 1865-6.

THIS WORK, for which a thorough canvas is now being made, will shortly be published. It will contain a separate Alphabetical Directory of every Town and Village of both Counties, together with an Appendix in which will be found much useful and reliable information of a County and Provincial character.

In order to ensure a large sale for this work—and thus make it an excellent medium for Advertising—it will be issued at the low price of $1.50, at which figure it cannot fail of having a very large circulation.

☞ Any information relative to the rates of advertising, &c, can be obtained at the office of this paper.

O. L. FULLER

Select Poetry.

MIL DEI'RANDUM.

Don't despair, though fortune frown,
Pitiable fortune soon may smile;
Don't de-pair, although cast down—
'Tis only for a little while.
Brighter days may come ere long,
Though to-day may clouded be;
Don't de-pair, 'tis very wrong,
All may yet be well with thee:
Though doubt may sigh and 'Ah, never!'
Mad at care, hope on—hope ever.

Don't despair, where'er thou art,
Whatever sad thy case may be;
Cherish hope within thy heart,
In return she'll cherish thee.
Disappointments vex the wisest,
Fainful is misfortune's rod;
Yet be patient, be resigned,
Put thy faith, thy trust in God:
Naught from Him thy hope shall sever—
Man of faith, hope on—hope ever.

Varieties.

A Contrast,—1760 and 1865.

To give our readers some idea of the pastimes of our forefathers, we give below a list of the games with which the anniversary of the birth day of Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Wertumbergh, the eldest daughter of the King, was celebrated. The sports were announced in the following order, and were to take place at Maiden Castle, near Dorchester, Dorsetshire:—

To be played for at cricket, a round of beef. Each man of the winning set to have a ribband.

A cheese to be rolled down the hill—Prize to whoever stops it.

A silver cup to be run for by ponies, the best of three heats.

A pound of tobacco to be grinned for.

A barrel of beer to be rolled down the hill—Prize to whoever stops it.

A Michaelmas-day goose to be dived for.

A good hat to be cudgelled for.

Half a guinea for the best ass in three heats.

A handsome hat for the boy most expert in catching a roll dipped in treacle, and suspended by a string.

A leg of mutton and a gallon of porter, to the winner of a race of 100 yards, in sacks.

A good hat to be wrestled for.

Half a guinea to the rider of the ass, who wins the best of three heats, by coming in last.

A pig—Prize to whoever catches him by the tail.

HOW TOM LOST HIS SHEEP.—An old farmer in Worcestershire sent his son Tom to a neighboring cattle fair with a flock of sheep to sell. Tom sold the sheep and got the money, but, falling into the company of some "sharps" who of course managed to hold better hands than he did, he was "cleaned out." Tom went home, but avoids the old man. He told his mother, however, of what had befallen him, and she took the news, as gently as she could, to the master of the manor and of the sheep pasture. The old man raved; and Tom, very judiciously contrived to keep out of the way. One day the farmer had a friend to dinner, and some spirituous potations having been introduced, they became quite merry.—Tom was Tom's opportunity. He rushed into the room, holding four "kings" in his hand, and exclaimed. "Father, would you bet anything on such a hand as that?" "Bet, sure I would. I'd bet every farthing I had." "Well," said Tom, with a sigh, that's what became of the sheep. The other fellow had four aces."

If any one speaks ill of thee, said Epictetus, 'Consider whether he has truth on his side; and if so, reform thyself, that his censures may not affect thee.' When Anaximander was told that the boys laughed at his singing. 'Ay,' said he 'then I must learn to sing better.' Plato being told that he had many enimies who spoke ill of him, 'It is no matter,' said he, 'I will live so that none shall believe them.' Hearing at another time, an intimate friend of his had spoken detractingly of him, 'I am sure he would not do so,' said he, 'if he had not some reason for it.'—This is the surest as well as the noblest way of drawing the sting out of a reproach, and the true method of preparing a man for that great and only relief against the pains of calumny.—a good conscience.

A somewhat profane correspondent is of opinion, in view of the many fires that have recently taken place, that the country is going to "blazes."

"You blundering scoundrel," said the owner of a crockery store to one of his assistants "what did you knock over that china set for? You have broken at least fifty dollars worth of dishes. "Blessed are the piece-makers," said the boy, "that's the only excuse I've got."

"Ah Jemmy, Jemmy," said the kind hearted Dr. Ponsonby, bishop of Derry, to a drunken blacksmith. "I'm sorry to see you beginning your evil course again and, Jemmy, I am very anxious to know what you intend to do with that fine lad, your son?" "Eh! eh! how's that—how's that? To which Jemmy, with a burst of genuine feeling, said; "I intend to make him a better man than his father."

If you is large find no bliss, and loathe cigars—no child to kiss—no wife to love—no gal to hug—don't seek oblivion in the jug; and if you haven't any sister, just ask some chap to lend you his, ter spark for a while—then 'advice," and all the rest will come in nice.

Alice.—The lock of hair you enclosed is apparently from a doormat. If, as you assert, it was cut from a young gentleman's head, all we can say is that his aunt must be a cocoa nut.

A bereaved one who has attained her seventieth, states that the state of widowhood is inconvenient, for one must assume all the modesty of a young girl, without being able to feign her ignorance.

Examples would indeed be excellent things were not people so modest that none will act, and so vain that none will follow them.

The climax of human indifference has arrived when a woman does not care how she looks.

Cheerfulness is not a proof that the mind is at ease, for often "in the midst of laughter the heart is sad."

Mr. Quilp has discovered that the first corn exchange was instituted by Joseph and his brethren.

Happiness abounds most among the lowly; there are more blossoms in the valley than the hills.

Obscurity of birth infers no moral degradation; obscurity of station,' no want of real merit.

Vain is the attempts of folly, to seek for pleasure in the haunts of vice.—Ritty's Maxims.

GREAT

CLEARING OUT

SALE

AT THE

Montreal House!

Whole Stock

SELLING OFF!

AT

GREAT

REDUCTIONS.

☞ Call early and secure a burgain.

☞ See small bills.

Peterboro, Jan. 26, 1864.

BLETCHER'S
CANADIAN
CLOTHES WRINGER

COMBINES more Strength of Frame, Capacity for Pressure, and Power of Action, than any other in the market. We manufacture five sizes intended for and adapted to Families, Hotels, Laundries, &c.

Bletcher's Canadian Clothe's Wringer

Saves Time, Labor, Clothes and Money.

It will wear for years without repair!

No Servant can break it!

A Child ten years old can operate it!

No caution or skill required in its use!

It will wring anything from a Thread to the Heaviest Quilt.

It saves its Cost in Clothing

Every six or nine Months.

The water can be pressed from large and small articles easier, quicker and more thoroughly than by the ordinary old fashioned buck-breaking, wrist-straining and clothes-destroying process.

It is easily and firmly secured to the Tub or Washing Machine and will fit Tubs of any shape or size. Every Wringer is Warranted in every particular, either with or without stair gearing; and in the event of any part becoming broken or mislaid, we can replace it at once. We sell them at prices that defy competition, as the following will testify:

No. 1, nine inch roll, ... $4 50
2, nine and a half inch roll, ... 4 75
3, ten inch roll, ... 5 00
4, twelve inch roll, ... 5 75
5, fourteen inch roll, ... 6 50

We keep all the sizes above on hand at all times at our Sewing Machine Office, over Mr. S. White's shoe store,

George Street, Peterborough.

Entrance by the Hall Door between Mr. Samuel White's and I. Robinson & Co's.

THOMAS BLETCHER.

Peterboro,' May 11, 1864. 19

REMOVAL.

Tobias Fitzgerald,

HAS REMOVED his Carriage and Waggon Establishment to those COMMODIOUS PREMISES on the

CORNER OF BROCK AND WATER ST'S,

OPPOSITE THE COURT HOUSE PARK,

Where he will continue to MANUFACTURE

CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, WAGONS, SLEIGHS, CUTTERS, &c.,

Which he will warrant to be made from the best Timber; and any person ordering from him are invited to call and examine the work before it is painted.

Jobbing & Horse Shoeing

Will be punctually attended to.

Peterborough, August, 1864. 33

PAINTING & GRAINING

DONE BY

W. H. KENNEDY,

HUNTER STREET.

HATS! CAPS!
AND FURS!

JUST RECEIVED,

A large and well-selected stock of

Silk, Tweed & Felt Hats,

ALSO,—

WHITNEY, CLOTH, and IMITATION LAMB CAPS,

OF MY OWN MANUFACTURE, IN

THE LATEST STYLES,

SUITABLE

For the Coming Season.

THE FURS

Are all carefully MADE UP BY MYSELF, and consist of Ladies Gentlemen & Children's

FURS,

SLEIGH-ROBES,

IN GREAT VARIETY,

Of Bear, Wolfe, Racoon and Buffalo. All of which will be sold at the lowest possible rates.

BATTING OF GOOD QUALITY

FOR SALE.

The highest Cash price paid for Raw Furs.

WM. LECH.

Peterborough, Aug. 24, 1864. 34

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

PIANO FORTE

MANUFACTURERS,

499 BROADWAY,

New York.

THE attention of the public and the trade is invited to our NEW SCALE

7 OCTAVE

Rosewood Piano Fortes,

WHICH FOR

VOLUME AND PURITY OF TONE,

ARE UNRIVALLED

By any hitherto offered in this market. They contain all the modern improvements,

French Grand Action,

Harp Pedal,

Iron Frame Over-Strung Brass,

&c., &c.,

And each instrum at being made under the personal supervision of Mr. J. H. GROVESTEEN, who has had a practical experience of over 30 years in their manufacture, is fully warranted in every particular.

The "Grovesteen Piano Forte" received the highest award of merit over all others at the Celebrated World's Fair.

Where were exhibited instruments from the best makers of London, Paris, Germany, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and New York; and, also, at the American Institute for five successive years, the

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

from both of which can be seen at our warerooms.

☞ By the introduction of improvements we make a still more perfect Piano Forte, and by manufacturing largely, with a strictly cash system, are enabled to offer these instruments at

A PRICE WHICH WILL

Preclude Competition!

PRICES:

No. 1, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood plain case, $275.

No. 2, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood heavy moulding, $300.

No. 3, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood Louis XIV. style, $345. Terms: Net Cash, in current funds.

Descriptive circulars sent free.

Sept. 13th, 1864. ¥-1 yr

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PHOTOGRAPHIC MATERIALS!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,

501 BROADWAY, N. Y.

IN addition to our main business of Photographic Materials, we are Headquarters for the following, viz.:

STEREOSCOPES,

AND

STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS,

Of these we have an immense assortment, including War Scenes, American and Foreign Cities and Landscapes, Groups, Statuary, &c., &c. Also, Revolving Stereoscopes, for public or private exhibition. Our Catalogue will be sent to any address on receipt of stamp.

PHOTOGRAPHIC ALBUMS!

We were the first to introduce these into the United States, and we manufacture immense quantities in great variety, ranging in price from 50 cents to $50 each. Our Albums have the reputation of being superior in beauty and durability to any others. They will be sent by mail, free, on receipt of price. Fine Albums made to order.

CARD PHOTOGRAPHS.

Our Catalogue now embraces over FIVE THOUSAND different subjects (to which additions are continually being made,) of Portraits of eminent Americans, &c., viz: about

100	Major-Generals,	550	Statesmen,
200	Brig.-Generals,	130	Divines,
275	Colonels,	125	Authors,
100	Lieut-Colonels,	40	Artists,
250	Other Officers,	125	Stage,
75	Navy Officers,	50	Prom. Women,

150 Prominent Foreign Portraits,
3,000 Copies of works of Art,

Including reproductions of the most celebrated Engravings, Paintings, Statues, &c. Catalogues sent on receipt of stamp. An order for One Dozen Pictures from our Catalogue will be filled on receipt of $1.80, and sent by mail, free.

Photographers and others ordering goods C. O. D. will please remit twenty-five per cent of the amount with their order.

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,
Manufacturers of Photographic Materials,
501 Broadway, New York.

The prices and quality of our Goods cannot fail to satisfy. 46

COPLAND'S ALE!

A LARGE QUANTITY
OF
COPLAND'S
Celebrated Sparkling Pale Ale,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND BY

LEWIS GLOVER, Sole Agent.

Peterboro, Oct. 29th, 1863. 46

J. R. Walton's Column.

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance, House & Land Agent.

ALL business trusted to him will be promptly attended to.

OFFICE OVER G. W. ROBINSON'S STORE,
GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

SCOTTISH
Provincial Assurance Co.

ESTABLISHED, 1825.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

CAPITAL, One Million Sterling.

INVESTED IN CANADA, over $262,000.

Sums Ass'd under Current Life Policies	£1,700,000 Stg
Accumulated Fund	402,630 "
Annual Income	107,920 "
Amo'nt proposed for Assurance, 1864, under 1063 applications	457,225 "

CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE,—Place D'Armes, Montreal.

A. DAVIDSON PARKER,
Secretary for Canada.

ATTENTION is directed to the rate of premiums adopted by this Company, which will compare favorably with that of any other institution in Canada. Investments of Company's funds to the large amount of nearly five hundred thousand dollars have been completed in Canada; and as all business transactions are finally disposed of in the Province, the Scottish Provincial offers all the facilities presented by a purely local Company, while it possesses the additional advantage of a large capital, and an influential and responsible body of shareholders in Great Britain.

Policies effected on or before 31st January next will receive a full year's bonus over those effected thereafter.

PETERBOROUGH:
J. R. WALTON, AGENT.
November 25, 1863. 46

PROVINCIAL
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF CANADA.

Head Office,—Toronto Street, Toronto.

FIRE! MARINE!

DIRECTORS:

Hon. J. Hillyard Cameron, M. P. P., President.
Lewis Moffatt, Esq., Vice-President,
Hon. George Crawford, M. L. C.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq.
Geo. Duggan, jr., Esq.,
John Cameron, Esq.,
A. M. Smith, Esq., M. P. P.,
Chris. Robinson, Esq.,
W. J. McDonell, Esq.,
C. J. Campbell, Esq.,
Manager & Secretary,—James S. Crocker, Esq.,
Assistant Secretary,—Donough O'Brien, Esq.,
Solicitors,—Messrs. Duggan & Bums,
Bankers,—Commercial Bank of Canada.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent for Peterborough.

November, 1863. 49

ESPECIAL NOTICE
TO FARMERS!

INSURE YOUR CROPS
IN THE
CANADA WEST FARMER'S
Mutual and Stock Insurance Co.
OF HAMILTON.

It can be done for a mere trifle

BY APPLYING TO

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent,
Peterborough.

August 10, 1864. 32

21 BUILDING LOTS
FOR SALE.

KNOWN as Park Lot No. 7, adjoining the property of Wm. Claxton, Esq., near the Little Lake. Terms to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Peterboro', Dec. 1, 1863. 49

FOR SALE CHEAP,
AND ON LIBERAL TERMS!

LOT No. 9, 5th con. Township of Ponro, 107 Acres of good Land, 70 acres cleared with a good Frame Dwelling, just new, and good office buildings, with three wells of water on the premises. Situate about six miles from Peterborough. For further particulars apply to

JOS. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, May 9th, 1864. 19

For Sale.

COMBINED Reaping and Mowing Machine, no worse than new—Patterson's make, of Belleville. Also, A good second hand Lumber Waggon.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterboro', June 24th, 1864. 26

CANADA WEST FARMERS
Mutual Stock Insurance Co.,
HAMILTON.

J. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

P. H. L. & B. RAILWAY.

Peterborough Station.

NOTICE.

THE CHARGES for Storage on Goods will be strictly enforced on and after this date

W. J. FOWLER,
Agent.

Peterborough, Sept. 14, 1864. 37

Poetry.

FARMER BOY.

God's blessing rest upon him!
That sun burnt farmer boy,
Whose footsteps ring with music,
And eye is lit with joy:
Upon whose cheek, sun-darkened,
The rose of health he wears,
And whose clear gushing laughter
Hath not a sound of tears.

What though in russet jacket,
And course and home spun shirt,
And with a hand toil-hardened
That hath a trace of dirt;
And boots so torn and battered,
His toes scarce keep within,
And hat through many a cranny
The sunbeams nestle in.

Up in the morning early,
The sleek fat cow to bring,
Or up the green slope tolling
With water from the spring:
Then far off to the meadow,
Where stands the ripened hay,
Already to be gathered—
He helps as best he may.

No wonder that he catches
The light from summer skies,
As lovely and as peaceful,
No trouble in his eyes:
And every flower springing,
And bird in dewy dell,
Their music and their sweetness
Sent to his heart to dwell.

God's blessing rests upon him,
The sunburnt farmer boy,
With nature for his teacher,
His life shall be a joy.
No low and selfish grasping,
Despite his brow of tan.
God and good men shall know him
As one who is a man.

The plough, the hoe, the shovel
Shall one day greater be
Than ever crown and sceptre—
When mind enchained, is free;
Then for your jewelled monarchs,
Now may ye shout and sing,
For in the "good time coming,"
The farmer will be king!

Agricultural.

Notes and Suggestions for February and March.

(From the American Agriculturist.)

Winter wanes slowly. The early riser finds the dawn gradually encroaching on the prolonged darkness; here and there an untimely lamb sends forth a pitreous wail, and occasionally an hour of sunshine speaks warmly of advancing Spring; but lowering clouds and fitful storms quickly warn the impatient buds to bide their time, and note the apparently relenting heart of Winter. Those hints of the coming season should not be lost. If a full plan of operations for the year be not perfected, lose no time in its completion. A map of the farm will be of great assistance in this work. It need not be an accurate survey in each lot, though this would be more satisfactory, a plain outline of boundaries and measurements taken with a marked pole, will be sufficient.

Animals of most kinds kept on farms at the North are in an artificial condition, into which however, they have become habituated by a long training. It should be the aim of the owner to make their circumstances as nearly natural as the case will permit. Thus, succulent food in the shape of roots should accompany dry fodder; shelter should not preclude fresh air; opportunities for exercise should be allowed; warm litter for comfortable rest is essential; in short, comfort and profit are most inseparable.

Butter brings golden prices; making the product of the same colour, with carrots strained into the milk through the stomach of the cow,

Calves dropped in February will bring large prices in March' but the prices of butter and milk will cost largely to fat. If to be raised, wean early, and feed with skimmed milk, clover tea and gruel. Keep well sheltered. Wheat flour in boiled milk checks scours.

Cows—Dry off six or four weeks before calving. Give generous feed, hay and roots but not much grain. Cut hay or straw steamed, and a little bran or meal added is profitable. Keep the skin healthy by frequent carding and brushing. Those about to calve should be turned loose into separate, roomy stalls. Watch their time to give assistance, if needed, but do not interfere, unless absolutely necessary, and then use gentle means. Allow the calf to have the milk for a day or two. Its effect is medicinal and necessary to the new born animal.

Horses.—A few carrots with their grain will aid digestion and appetite, and improve their coats. Exercise daily. Train colts so that no breaking will be needed, either of spirit or of harness. Keep working and carriage horses sharp shod, well groomed, and blanketed when standing out, or in cold stables after exercise. Ventilate stables and abolish high feeding racks.

Ice.—Secure a full supply, if not already done. In good weather an ice house may be made and filled within a week. One will pay on a dairy farm and be convenient everywhere.

Manure.—Mix plenty of muck, especially with that from the horse stable, to prevent fire fanging; or, in absence of this, fork over the pile to prevent too great heat.—All deposits now made in readiness for use in Spring, will respond to draft to be made for good crops next Fall. Keep a heavy balance in your favor for you to draw upon.

Roots.—Sort over, remove decayed ones to be cooked and fed immediately, and keep a supply of the soundest for breeding animal, or those failing in appetite, as Spring approaches No decayed turnips, rutabegas or cabbages should be fed to milch cows, or bad flavor will be imparted to the milk.

Sheep.—Exercise and fresh air are essential to their health. Shelters must be well ventilated not crowded, and the sheep turned out daily, except in severe storms. Roots fed with grain will be returned in wool and mutton. Pregnant ewes should have little if any grain, but roots with hay. Those yeaning early will need separate, clean, and not over littered apartments, and careful attention, that the lambs be not fatally chilled.

Swing Gates for Water Gaps.

A correspondent of the Genesee Farmer contributes the following directions for making a gate that will swing with the current, when the stream over which it is placed is raised by freshets:—

"1st. The butments should be made of sound logs. The size should be from six to ten feet square, according to the size of the stream, &c. These should be filled half way up with stone; then lay plank or poles across, resting on the logs, after which fill up the rest of the way with stone. In this way the abutments are held firmly in their place, and will stand against hard freshets.

"2nd. The gate can be made of common fence boards, hung by heavy wire, which will turn on the pole easier than standards put through turning the pole.

"Put up in this way you have a permanent water gap one that will last for years without repairing.

For Sale, To Let, &c.

FOR SALE.

CHEAP FOR CASH,
Or ON LONG APPROVED CREDIT.

ONE very fast grey Mare, 8 years old. One brown Mare, 6 years old. One splendid Breed Mare; all gentle, and fit for any work. One Lumber Waggon, one Sleigh, and one set of Double Harness.

A good yoke of Oxen or Steers will be taken in exchange.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, Oct. 12, 1864. 41

FOR SALE,
OR, TO LET.

THE subscriber wishes either to Sell or to Let those premises at present occupied by Mr. John Ritchie as a tavern,

In the Village of Bobcaygeon.

The Hotel is in a good state of repair, with good stables and other outbuildings.

For terms, &c., apply to

ROBERT HUNTER.

Bobcaygeon, Sept. 10, 1864. 37

VALUABLE
PROPERTY FOR SALE
IN THE
TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE property of the late WM. LANNIN, on Charlotte Street, opposite the Railway Station is offered for sale on reasonable terms; the lot has been divided into five parts, three of which are situated on Bathuene Street, and has a frontage of 45 feet by 114 deep; the other two are situated on Charlotte Street and have a frontage of 37 feet by 99 feet in depth which makes them desirable for building purposes.

The whole will be sold in one lot or to suit purchasers.

For terms and particulars apply to

D. HOPKINS
or THOS. LANNIN.

Peterboro', August 24, 1864. 34

VALUABLE FARM
FOR SALE OR TO LET.

BEING composed of the east halves of Lots Nos. 22 and 23, in the first concession of the Township of Otonabee. There are about 150 acres cleared, and a good Frame Dwelling House, two frame Barns, a first-rate Driving House, Sheds and Stables, a good Well and Orchard on the premises.

Title indisputable, and immediate possession will be given. TERMS MODERATE.

For further particulars apply to G. P. Orde, or to the proprietor,

WM. WEIR,
Norham Percy, C. W.

5

Farm for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale Lot No. 10, in the 12th Concession of Otonabee. There are 120 acres of good land in the farm, with a little over 100 acres cleared. There are good buildings, and two wells of water on the farm; it is about four miles from the Town of Peterborough.

TERMS.—One-half down, the remainder in 3 annual instalments.

JOSHUA DAWSON.

Otonabee Jan. 30th, 1864. 5

FARM FOR SALE.

LOT No. 27, in the 16th Concession of Smith containing 200 acres; there are 140 acres cleared, and on the premises there are a hewed Log House, Log Barn, good Well, and Orchard The Farm is situated on the main road to Buckhorn, 17 miles from the Town of Peterborough, there is a School House on one corner of it.

For Particulars apply to

ANDREW McKEE,
14th Con. of Smith.

January 12th 1864. 3

LANDS FOR SALE.

TWENTY THOUSAND ACRES of LAND, both wild and improved, and at all prices, for sale in various parts of Canada, principally in the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria and Ontario,) cheap, and on easy terms.

For lists and particulars apply to the proprietor

T. D. LEDYARD, Barrister, &c.
South-west corner King and Yonge Streets,
8 TORONTO.

For Sale or to Let,

FOR A TERM OF YEARS,

TWO DWELLING HOUSES

In the Village of Lakefield, with 2 Lots, each one-third of an acre.

For particulars, apply to the undersigned at Peterborough,

J. GRIFFIN,

General Builder, Pump-maker, &c., &c.

Peterboro', March 7th, 1864. 10

HOUSE AND FURNITURE.

A COMFORTABLE HOUSE to Let. The Furniture in it can be had at very reasonable terms. Inquire at the office of Messrs. Fairbairn & Dumble, Barristers.

Peterborough, Nov. 9th, 1864. 45

A HINT
TO THE
WORTHY CITIZENS OF CANADA.

BE WARNED IN TIME.

ALL parties purchasing my Pills and Ointment for their several complaints are respectfully warned against purchasing either Pills or Ointment purporting to be my preparations, that have a United States Stamp around the Boxes and Pots. There is no Treaty between the people of the States and the Home Government, therefore an United States Stamp does not protect my preparations. There are no stamps upon my Canadian style of Pills or Ointment, coming from the United States. I rely only for protection on the water mark in book of directions around each Box or Pot. Before you purchase them, see that there are no U. S. Stamps upon the Box of Pills or Ointment. Purchase none that have United States stamps on.

HOLLOWAY,
Maiden Lane.

46

STEAMSHIP TICKETS

STOLEN.

WHEREAS, on the night of Tuesday, 30th August, the Express Office at Peterboro' was broken into, and some Tickets of the Montreal Ocean Steamship Company stolen therefrom; the public are hereby cautioned against purchasing Tickets of the above Company numbered 219 to 240 inclusive, as they have been cancelled.

[illegible] FOX,
Agent.

Peterborough, Sept. 15, '64 1-tf

St. GEORGE'S SALOON

GEORGE MITCHELL,

Sole Agent in Peterborough for

CREIGHTON'S

Superior ALES and PORTER,

In Casks or Bottle,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

For Cash on Delivery.

Peterboro', April 14th, 1864. 15

A CARD.

DR. POOLE, after ten years successful practice, in the Eastern Section of this County, respectfully tenders his services to the people of Peterboro' and vicinity.

As a regular GRADUATE and LICENTIATE of Medicine, Surgery, &c., as commonly practised, and also a Provincial HOMŒOPATHIC Licentiate, he will bring a thorough knowledge and practical experience of both systems to bear on the treatment of disease.

Office and residence, Water St.—opposite the Market Square.

Peterboro', C. W.

September 20th 1864. 39

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
Insurance Company.

CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA
ASSURANCE COMP'Y
CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMPANY
CAPITAL, $2,000'000.

Peterborough, Jan. 1st, 1863. 1

ARE YOU IN AGONY?

A WELL SPRING OF HOPE FOR ALL!

CAN BE FOUND IN

Holloway's Pills.

Be of Good Cheer! The Sinking may be Saved!

BY THE USE OF

Holloway's Ointment.

THE history of these great Remedies is the most wonderful medical revelation that the world has ever known. It establishes the all important fact that WHENEVER, and in WHATEVER SHAPE internal diseases exists, the disinfecting, searching and healing properties of the Pills are fully equal to its subjection and cure, and that, with the Ointment, they are

The Great Ambassadors of Health to all Mankind.

This is not a history written by one man, or even derived from the experiences of one nation. It consists of a compilation of testimonials from the sick of every country—an unimpeachable record, the like of which has never been adduced in favor of any discovery or invention since time began.

These Mighty Healers, World Known and World Tried are a Boon to the Sick

The want of a sterling medicinal to meet the ills and necessities of the suffering portion of humanity, and one entirely free from mineral and other deleterious particles, was severely felt till this all powerful medicine was ushered into the world; HOLLOWAY'S INVALUABLE PILLS have become the HOUSEHOLD REMEDY of all nations Their attribute is to PREVENT as well as to CURE; they attack the DISEASE ON ROOT of the complaint, and thus, by removing the hidden cause of disease, re-invigorate and restore the drooping energies of the system, assisting nature in her task of VITAL and FUNCTIONARY REFORMATION.

Disorders of the Stomach

Are the sources of the deadliest maladies. Their effect is to vitiate all the fluids of the body, and to send a poisoned stream through all the channels of circulation. Now, what is the operation of the Pills? They cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver, bring the relaxed or irritated stomach into a natural condition, and, acting through the secretive organs UPON THE BLOOD ITSELF, change the state of the system from sickness to health, by exercising a simultaneous and wholesome effect upon all its parts and functions.

Woman in all her Difficulties

is invited to test the regulating and restorative powers of this harmless but effective preparation. At the two epochs of life in which the female system undergoes the most important and critical changes, the Pills will prove a positive safeguard against evil consequences. They are also confidently recommended as a specific in every disorder to which females are exclusively a bject.

Be it Understood,

That the above statements can at all times be verified by the written testimony (extending through a quarter of a century) of tens of thousands of unimpeachable witnesses.

Bilious Maladies, &c., &c.

In whatever form disease attacks the liver, it is repelled and exterminated by this searching, painless, and irresistable curative. Bilious remittants, bilious purging, and all the ordinary disorders of the organ, indicated by pain in the right side and between the shoulders, yellowness of the whites of the eyes, weakness and debility, &c., are relieved and removed by the remedy, with a celerity which astonishes the sufferers and their friends. Let the sick whom the faculty have abandoned, resort with confidence to this powerful anti-bilious agent, and a restoration to health and activity will be the unvarying result.

Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Weakness, &c. &c.

The terrible bodily and mental pangs which characterise Dyspepsia are at once mitigated by the Pills. Diarrhœa, constipation, headache, physical prostration, nervous tremors, hot flushes, spasms, affections of the kidneys, hemorrhoids or piles, and, in fact, all internal complaints, from whatever cause arising, give way before the salutary influence of this extraordinary remedy. As a specific for dyspepsia, and the disorders connected with it, or growing out of it, the Pills are always to be relied on when every other medicine and mode of treatment has utterly failed.

Holloway's Pills are the best Remedy known for the following diseases:

Asthma,	Headaches,
Bowel Complaints,	Indigestion,
Coughs,	Influenza,
Colds,	Inflamation,
Chest Diseases,	Inward Weakness,
Costiveness,	Liver Complaints,
Dyspepsia,	Lowness of Spirits,
Diarrhœa,	Piles,
Dropsy,	Stone and Gravel,
Debility,	Secondary Symptoms,
Fever and Ague,	Venral Affections,
Female Complaints,	Worms of all kinds.

CAUTION.

If the readers of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug store in his place, let him write to me, enclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' make.

None are genuine unless the words "Holloway, New York and London," are discernible as a Water Mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same knowing them to be spurious.

☞ Sold at the manufactory of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and the civilized world, in boxes, at 25 cents, 62 cents, and $1 40 each.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes. 23

GO TO

WM. H. KENNEDY'S

FOR YOUR

WINDOW BLINDS.

PETERBORO EXAMINER.

S. B. PECK, Esq., has kindly consented to act as Agent for the Examiner, for the neighborhood of Gull River.

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

Peterboro, January, 1865.

REEVES' AMBROSIA
FOR THE
Growth, Beauty and Preservation
OF THE
HAIR.

REEVES' AMBROSIA is prepared from valuable Roots and Herbs, each and all of which have enjoyed a reputation among eminent physicians, for their medical properties. These Roots, &c., are carefully selected and chemically compounded by such a method as to extract and combine their true medical virtues in the most effectual manner.

REEVES' AMBROSIA — Contains Burdock Root. Thoroughly eradicates Dirt, Dandruff and Dandruff.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Witch Hazel. —Allays all pains in the head; cures sore and diseased Scalps, Boil Blotches, Itching, &c. &c. Removes Dull Headaches.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Bay Berries.—Gives vigour and healthy action to the Roots of the hair—it berry cooling to the Head.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains Southern Weed.—Prevents the hair from turning prematurely grey.—Restores grey hair.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Rosemary Flowers.—Nourishes the roots of the hair and gives impetus to its growth—is a delightful ingredient.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains:

L	Leaves.	M	R
L	B	T	R

The secret discovery which causes the hair to grow beautiful, thick and long.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Is a genuine and reliable preparation. Buy it, try it, and be convinced.

For sale by all Druggists, at 75 cents per bottle.

Depot, 68 Fulton Street, New York.

December 1, 1864. Gmos.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS.

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen

THIS invaluable medicine is unfailing for the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excesses and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied upon.

TO MARRIED LADIES

It is peculiarly suited; it will, in short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity. Each bottle, price One Dollar, bears the Government stamp of Great Britain, to prevent counterfeits.

CAUTION.—These Pills should not be taken by females during the first three months of Pregnancy, as they are sure to bring on Miscarriage; but at any other time they are safe.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections pain in the back and limbs, fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed: and although a powerful remedy, they donot contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution. ☞ Full directions in the pamphlet round each box, which should be carefully preserved.

Sole Agent for the United States and Canadas

JOB MOSES, N. Y.

N. B.—$1 and 6 postage stamps enclosed to any authorized agent, will insure a bottle, containg over 50 pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN, C. W.
General Agents for the Canadas.

Sold in Peterboro by Ormond & Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and W. Coulter; by C. Britton, Lindsay; and all medical dealers. 16

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES

BRYAN'S

PULMONIC WAFERS!

The Original Medicine established in 1837, and first article of the kind ever introduced under the name of "Pulmonic Wafers," in this or any other country; all other Pulmonic Wafers are counterfeits. The genuine can be known by the name BRYAN being stamped on each WAFER.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficult breathing.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Spitting of Blood, Pains in the Chest.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Incipient Consumption, Lung Diseases.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Irritation of the Throats and Tonsils.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve the above complaints in ten minutes.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are a blessing to all Classes and Constitutions.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are adapted for Vocalists and Public Speakers.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are in simple form and pleasant to the taste.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Not only relieve but effect rapid and lasting cures.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are warranted to give satisfaction to everyone.

No family should be without a box of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers in the house.

No traveler should be without a supply of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers in his pocket.

No person will ever object to give for Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers Twenty-five Cents.

JOB MOSE . Sole Proprietor, N. Y.

NORTHOP & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas,

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour Wm. Coulter, and A. W Kempt; by C. Britton Lindsay and all medicine dealers. 16

LAW RESPECTING NEWSPAPERS.

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the Publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

If Subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office to which they

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY GRAHAM & STRATTON.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE

Vol. X. PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 1865. No. 11

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL, AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

BY

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars, Handbills, Funeral Cards, Insurance, Bill Headings, Horse Bills, Show Bills, Concert Bills, Programmes, Posters Stage Bills, Business Cards, Blanks, &c. with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing.

☞ Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,

SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,

COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,

BARRISTER-AT-LAW, George Street, Peterborough. 18

C. A. WELLER,

CLERK of the Peace. Office George Street, Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,

COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office George street. 20

DENNISTOUN & SON,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public &c., Hunter street, Peterboro'.

ROBERT DENNISTOUN. | JAMES F. DENNISTOUN.

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, Agent.

JOSEPH R. WALTON.

GENERAL Fire and Life Insurance Agent, George Street, Peterboro'. 18

MILLAR & BERTRAM,

HARDWARE Merchants, George Street, Peterborough. 18

JAMES STEVENSON.

DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ORMOND & GILMOUR,

DRUGGISTS, Chemists and Seedsmen, dealers in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 18

A. W. KEMPT,

DRUGGIST, Dealer in Genuine Drugs and Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Paints, Oils, Colours, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet nottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c.—Medical Hall, George street, Peterboro. 20

ROBERT WALTON,

SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,

DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,

BOOKSELLER, Stationer &c., Henthorn's Brick Block, north of Ormond & Gilmour's George Street, Peterborough. 20

J. GRIFFIN & Co.,

PUMP AND FANNING MILL MAKERS, Wood Turners, &c., &c.

Corner of Simco and Aylmer Streets, Peterborough, C. W. 10-1y

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.

Office and Store, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.

Nov. 21, 1861. 48

J. B. BISBEE,

DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 16

WM. N. KENNEDY,

PAINTER, PaperHanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 15

Mr. TOOLE,

MANUFACTURER of Sash, Blinds, Door and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

GEORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 15

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General, Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

R. PATTERSON & Co.

DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.

☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

LIVERY STABLES,

WHITE & EASTLAND, Hunter street Peterboro', C. W.

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.

Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 30

BANK OF TORONTO.

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposit

A. SMITH, Agent. 39

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee. 20

LAWSON'S HOTEL,

CORNER of George and Brock streets. P Huffman, proprietor, Peterborough, C. W Fare one dollar per day. 20

THOMAS W. POOLE, M. D.

PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, Accoucheur, and coroner. Water St., opposite the Market Square, Peterboro', C. W. 38

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Mr. GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c.

Office over the Hardware Store of Messrs George Stethem & Co., George Street, Peterboro'.

Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

THOS. G. CHOATE,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Commissioner for taking affidavits, &c., &c.

Warsaw, C. W. 39

JOHN McMILLAN,

TAILOR,

SHOP on Simcoe Street, next door to R. Patterson & Co's Boot and Shoe Store, Peterborough. 44

MRS. HUGH WILSON,

Milliner,

STILL continues business one door East of the Free Church. 45

MR. SIDNEY SMITH

HAS RESUMED HIS PRACTICE AS

BARRISTER, ATTORNEY,

&c., &c., &c.

Office over the Post Office,

PETERBOROUGH, C. W.

April 27, 1863. 18

JOHN O'DONNELL

DENTIST.

OFFICE—Ormond & Gilmour's Block, George st

PETERBOROUGH.

References—Dr. Legge Dentist, Brockville Dr McCrea, Keene. T White, Jr. Esq., Editor of the Review; H. T. Strickland, Esq., merchant, Peterboro', and over one hundred others

☞ Teeth extracted for those not able to pay, daily from 9 to 10 a. m., free of charge. 26

W. PHILP,

TEACHER OF MUSIC,

Residence, near the Union School.

BEG respectfully to announce to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, that he is prepared to give Lessons on the Piano and Violin, &c., either in his own house or at the residence of the pupils.

For Terms apply personally, or at Messrs Cox & Davidson's Book Store, Simcoe Street, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.

Music for Balls and Evening Parties by Philp's Quadrille Band, on reasonable terms.

Peterboro', Oct 28th, 1863. 44

NORTH AMERICAN HOTEL,

LAKEFIELD, C. W.

THE subscriber having leased the above Hotel, lately occupied by Mr. W Blakely, begs to state that he has had it completely refitted and refurnished, and being now entirely complete in all its appartments, is now open for the reception of the travelling public.

The house is commodious, and neither pains nor expense will be spared to make it one of the best in any village in the Province.

The Bar will always be supplied with the choicest Liquors and Cigars.

Good Stabling.

THOMAS HEWITT.

Lakefield, Oct. 19, 1864. 42

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN!

COUNTY AUCTIONEER!!

THE Subscriber is now prepared to attend to all kinds of sales, with promptness and dispatch as Auctioneer. Addres

CORNELIUS WILSON,

Norwood, P. O.,

Asphodel

Norwood, Sept. 5th, 1864. 36

TO LUMBERMEN.

JUST RECEIVED,

200 Barrels Ohio Mess Pork,

TO BE SOLD

CHEAP FOR CASH.

Apply to

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, Jan. 11, 1865. 2

BARLEY, OATS, & PEASE,

WANTED.

THE undersigned as usual pays the highest CASH PRICE, for any quantity of the above mentioned Grain, at his Warehouse in Ashburnham.

D. SUTHERLAND.

January 11, 1865. 2

NOTICE.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his customers that he is now prepared to GRIND GRIST in a superior manner. He respectfully invites all who wish to patronize him to favor him with a call. All flour, made from good Wheat, warranted.

LEWIS BORLAND.

Douro, March 1st, 1864. 9

Wm. N. KENNEDY

HAS

GOOD & CHEAP ROOM PAPER

ON HAND.

REMOVAL.

E. POOLE'S

Furniture Ware Rooms

HAVE BEEN REMOVED

TO RYAN'S BLOCK,

Opposite the Market.

WHERE he will keep on hand the most extensive, best selected, cheapest and latest styles of Furniture, which he will sell Cheap for Cash.

UNDERTAKING,

in all its branches attended to with punctuality. COFFINS kept constantly on hand.

Peterborough, Nov. 30th, 1864. 48

STOVES

AND

TIN-WARE.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS.

A. STEWART

Is now prepared to supply all kinds of

COOKING, BOX, AND PARLOR STOVES,

At Greatly Reduced Prices.

He keeps constantly on hand the following first class Stoves:—

ST. LAWRENCE, square and extended tops.
CANADA, do. do.
QUEEN CITY, do. do.
IRON DUKE, do. do.
PROTECTIONIST.
MAPLE LEAF, &c., &c.

PARLOR STOVES

Too numerous to mention.

☞ Let all cash buyers call and examine his stock and prices, as he is determined to be undersold by none.

A. STEWART.

N. B.—Eave Troughs, Cistern Pumps, Beer Pumps, Bell-hanging, Lumbermen's Furnishing, and Jobbing of every description.

A. S.

Peterborough, Nov. 16, 1864. 46

REMOVAL.

J. O'DONNELL, D. S.,

HAS REMOVED his Dental Office to the beautiful Corner Rooms

Over Ormond & Gilmour's Drug Store,

☞ Entrance on Hunter Street—same as Mr Ewing's Photographic Rooms.

Particular attention paid to Facial Neuralgia, diseases of the Antrum Necrosis and Caries of the Jaw, and all diseases in connection with the anatomy of the mouth.

☞ Teeth Extracted without Pain.

Peterborough, Dec. 14th, 1864. 50

MR. ORDE has removed his office to Chambers' Building, opposite the Commercial Bank.

Money, in sums varying from $200 to $2000, to a large aggregate amount, ready to be advanced on the security of Improved Farms and no other, with reference whereunto, to obviate unnecessary correspondence and postal charges, the personal application of intending mortgagors will only be entertained.

Mr. Orde has likewise entered into business arrangements with John C. Cochrane, Esq., general Land and Parliamentary Agent, of Quebec (or wherever the Seat of Government may happen to be), a gentleman of eighteen years' experience, and large practice in transactions relating to Patent and other claims in the Crown Lands Department.

Peterborough, Dec 8, 1864.

REMOVAL.

MRS. TODGHAM,

STRAW MILLINER,

BEGS to inform her Friends and Customers that she has removed from George Street, her late place of business, to Hunter Street, in the house West of the old Union School-house, where all orders will be executed in the best style, and on the same reasonable terms as heretofore.

Felt Hats Cleaned and Altered.

Peterboro, December 1, 1864. 48.

ROOM PAPER DEPOT.

WM. N. KENNEDY,

HAS REMOVED to the store immediately West of the Stewart House, on Hunter street.

His stock of Room Papers, Borders, Decorations, Window Blinds, Fire Screens, &c., has been largely increased and will be sold cheap.

Painting in all its branches carried on as usual.

Peterboro', Oct. 16, 1864. 42

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on

TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1865,

In the Union School House, at Ten a. m.

"Candidates are not eligible to be admitted to examination until they shall have furnished the Examiners with satisfactory evidence of their strictly temperate habits and good moral character."

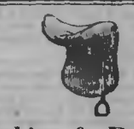
☞ Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.

By order,

J. EDWARDS,

Secretary.

Peterborough, Dec. 6th, 1864. 51tf



Hopkins & Donnelly

WOULD respectfully call the attention of the public generally to their excellent Stock of Goods, comprising everything found in a first-class Saddlery and Harness Warehouse, and surpassed by none in the Province.

As they have adopted the Ready Pay system, everything will be sold at

GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

In Peterborough, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe street; in Lakefield, next door to Mr. Sherin's store.

P. S.—Over-due notes and accounts must positively be settled at once, otherwise they will be put in suit for collection.

H. & D.

Peterboro, Feb. 1, 1865. 5

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

OF CANADA.

From Niagara Falls to Detroit,

AND BRANCHES FROM HAMILTON TO TORONTO.

Passenger Train Time Table.

OCTOBER, 1864.

TORONTO LINE.

HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

STATIONS GOING EAST.	Mixed.	Express.
	A. M.	P. M.
HAMILTON.....depart	7.45	2.45
Burlington Junction	.....	.....
Wanzhouse	8.00	.....
Wellington Square	8.15	4.10
Bronte	27	4.27
Oakville	.....	4.39
Port Credit	.....	.....
Mimico	1	.....
TORONTO, Union Station, arrive	10 20	5.20

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

STATIONS GOING WEST.	Express.	Mixed
	P. M.	P. M.
TORONTO, Union Station, depart	12.50	5.30
Mimico	.....	6.00
Port Credit	1.3	6.20
Oakville	1.4	6.41
Bronte	1.27	6.57
Wellington Square	2.13	7.14
Waterdown	.....	7.30
Burlington Junction	.....	.....
HAMILTON	2.30	8.00

Hamilton, 1864. 47

MONTREAL

OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.

TICKETS

FOR

Londonderry, Glasgow or Liverpool,

or from any of these ports to any point in Canada, may be procured from the Agent in Peterborough,

GEORGE A. COX,

At the MONTREAL TELEGRAPH OFFICE

He is also agent for the

BRITISH AND AMERICAN

Express Comp'y

OFFICE, HOPKINS BLOCK.

Simcoe Street, Peterboro',

October 26th, 1863. 44-tf

Norwood and Peterboro'

STAGE.

ACCOMMODATION LINE.

LEAVES NORWOOD

On Tuesday's and Friday's,

AT 7 A. M. RETURNING

LEAVES PETERBORO' THE SAME DAYS,

AT 2.30 P. M.

Orders left at the Huffman House, Peterboro, or the International Hotel, Norwood; will be promptly attended to.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates.

J. A. JOHNSON,

Proprietor.

Norwood, August 10, 1863. 34

ROYAL

MAIL STAGE

BETWEEN

KEENE & PETERBORO'.

A DAILY STAGE

Leaves the Victoria House, Keene.. 9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro'.....12 noon.
Leave Peterboro'.....3 p. m.
Arrive at Keene.....5.30 p. m.
April 17th, 1863. 47tf.

PORT HOPE & PETERBOROUGH

RAILWAY.

ON and after the 29th of June, the Peterboro Trains will run as follows:—

MAIL.

Leave Port Hope at.....8.45 a.m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at.....12.15 p.m.
Leave Peterboro' at.....3.30 p.m
Arrive at Port Hope.....6.55 p.m

S. R. KIMBALL, Superintendent. F. FERGUSON, Secretary.

Peterboro June, 1864. 28

Poetry.

BY-AND-BY.

BY L. J. BATES.

Under the snow the roses of June;
Cold in our bosoms the hopes of our youth;
Gone are the wild birds that warble in tune;
Mute are the lips that have pledged us their truth.
Wind of the winter night, lonely as I,
Wait we the dawn of the bright by-and-by;
Roses shall bloom again;
Sweet love will come again;
It will be summer-time, by-and-by.

Patience and toil are the meed of to-day—
Toil without recompense, patience in vain;
Darkness and terror lie thick on our way;
Our footsteps keep time with the angel of pain
Watch for the day-star of dear by-and-by.
Parched lips shall quaff again;
Sad souls shall laugh again;
Earth will be happier, by-and-by.

Cruel and cold is the judgment of men—
Cruel as winter, and cold as the snow;
But, by-and-by will the creed and the pain
Be judged by the motive that lieth below.
Wail of the winter wind, echo our cry.
Pray for the dawn of the sweet by-and-by.
When hope shall spring again;
When joy shall sing again;
Truth will be verified by-and-by.

Weary and heart-sick we totter along;
Feeble the back, though the burden is large;
Broken the purpose, and hushed is the song;
Why should we linger on life's little marge?
Wind of the winter night, hush! and reply,
Is there, oh! is there a glad by-and-by?
Will dark grow bright again,
Barthens grow light again,
And faith be justified, by-and-by?

Dreary and dark is the midnight of war;
Distant and dreamy the triumph of right;
Homes that are desolate, hearts that are sore,
Soon shall the morning-star gladden our sight
Wail of the winter wind, so like a sigh,
Herald the dawn of the bleat by-and-by.
Freedom shall reign again;
Peace banish pain again;
Right will be glorified, by-and-by.

Literature.

THE UNKNOWN.

BY THE VILLAGE SCHOOLMASTER.

Of all love-affairs, give me one with a lively correspondent, whom I have never met. There is romance about it when all others become stale and insipid.

I do not know that I would care to recommend a correspondence with an entire stranger; but to a person of a romantic or sentimental nature it is certainly full of interest. We invest our unknown ideals with all the graces of person and character with none of their deformities, and are prone to consider them fair specimens of human angels.

It was on one of those glorious June mornings—it's the twin of that morning now—when earth and heaven seem close together, that I received a highly-scented note from some unknown lady.

To the practiced eye, a simple note is a faithful index of the heart and mind of its writer. I at once observed in this note signs of character which were unmistakable. The neat address, written in the lower right hand corner; the nicely folded paper, fitted closely to the wrapper; the round, even, plain hand-writing; the fine quality of the paper, and its atmosphere of patchouli—all bespoke the taste, order, and neatness of the writer; and where such qualities are observed, it is very natural to associate others of a like nature. I at once made her the embodiment of some half a hundred beauties, both of mind and person, and surrounde her with all the luxuries which wealth and influence lavish upon their minions. But, to the shame of my better nature, be it said, that the little note, with all the imaginary beauties of its writer, lay for a long time unanswered. She had obtained my address from the editor of the Z——Magazine, and, though I had always made it a point to reply to the letters of literary friends, yet, in this instance, pressing business engagements prevented me. So, day after day, as I looked into my writing desk, her delicate note was sure to lie before me, until I half thought it was some human thing asking me, in its mute manner, if I were not ready to give it more particular notice.

At last I answered it, over an assumed name. The following week brought me an answer, from which, I barely need say, followed a frequent and, to me very interesting correspondence. She was one of those sparkling writers who charm the reader at the first perusal. Not especially deep or logical, but full of wit an sentiment.

The signs of character which I had at first noticed were throughly sustained; and as the summer wore away, I found my interest increasing, till I was half afraid it was merging into a deeper feeling. Morning after morning, when expecting her replies, I would leave my book and pretend seating myself at the study-window, wait long and anxiously for the postman to bring me the ever-welcome letter.

What a dispenser of blessings the old fellow is! As he turns the corner and comes bustling up to the street, how many hearts beat quicker. To keep time with his footsteps! but he like all the rest of the world, is a man of business. A cracking of the iron gate, a rapping at the window, a hurried "good morning Ma'am," and he flings in the long-looked for letter. As he hurries up the street, he little thinks what sunshine he has left upon the anxious face that met him at the window. Ah, the old postman, may Heaven's kindest blessings rest upon that head, here already lie the snows of fifty winters. He is one of the best of friends. In storm and sunshine, wet and windy weather, he has never failed me; and even now a glimpse of his swallow coattail flying around the corner, is more welcome than the blandest smile of Smith, Jones or Jenkins. I have heard somewhere, that, under certain circumstances, "love flies out of the window"; but when I see his hand upon the sash, I know that the order is to be reversed in the shape of a delicate letter.

There was something mysterious about the letters of my unknown correspondent which aroused my curiosity; and whenever that feeling is excited, interest and anxiety are sure to follow. At one time her letters would bear the postmark of New Haven; at another that of New York; and again that of some obscure village "over the hills and far away." But though she would assign no reason for two frequent change of base (a la Army of Potomac) I was inclined to give it a not unfavourable construction. I thought of all her indicated refinement and delicacy, and reasoned somewhat as follows.

Now if she be a lady of very refined feeling, she certainly will not reveal her name or send her picture to an entire stranger; and if her family relations be of an exalted order, her friends will surely not approve of her corresponding with a gentleman with whom she is not personally acquainted. Therefore her refusing to send me her name and picture is indicative of refined feeling; and her frequent change of location is only to fear that her friends will discover her clandestine correspondence. Whatever the premises, I always endeavored to find some reason for turning the argument in her favour. Thus month after month passed away, during which the interest of our correspondence increased (if such a thing could be) while my anxiety to see her grew proportionably stronger. At last, I received a note in the familiar handwriting, bearing the postmark of the metropolis, and informing me that she would meet me on the following morning at the New York and New Haven Depot a few minutes before the departure of the early train. My heart was all in a flutter at this pleasing announcement, and for several hours I could think of nothing save my unexpected good fortune.

I have neither time nor disposition to give you the particulars of how I ran violently against my landlady on the stairway, and then apologized to the assumed name of my correspondent; or how I bored the boarders with questions about the timetable of the New York & New Haven Railway; or how I wasted half the night in concluding what to say when I met her, and what suit of clothes I should say it in. I must hurry you off with me to the railroad-depot, solemn volens, volens, with the greatest possible dispatch.

There was a perfect Babel among the baggage and passengers when I arrived at the depot, carrying my handkerchief in my hand as the means of recognition which she had been pleased to designate. The train was about leaving, and in my anxiety to find her, I hurried through the crowd, to the great jeopardy of peanut-venders and decrpit old women. But among all that throng of fast women (it was the express-train) there was no one wearing a little brown jockey, and swinging her handkerchief in token of recognition. O Patience on a post, how I was chagrined and disappointed! I walked up and down the platform till my face looked like the advertisement of a whisky-shop; but failed to discover my unknown correspondent. There is no telling how many times I cursed the car that brought me to the depot.

At last, taking a position that commanded a full view of the train, I waited its departure. As it moved up the avenue, an elegantly dressed young lady stepped out upon the platform of the forward car, and waved her handkerchief to me as a signal of recognition. She was not sufficiently near to enable me to distinguish her features; but making due allowance for the "distance that lends enchantment to the view," she was evidently a person of no ordinary beauty. I could easily have overtaken the train, but was too proud and angry to attempt it; and waving my handkerchief in return, my eyes followed her till her form was lost amid the multitude of passing objects. She was no sooner out of sight than I began to realize what an opportunity I had lost, and regret my haste and indecision. What if I should never see her again? And the thought rushed back upon my brain and heart with a half-sickening sensation. I went home thoroughly disgusted with the whole world and a large portion of myself, and pronounced mental anathemas upon everything about me, whether right or wrong, good, bad or indifferent.

For a number of days I was possessed of "worse than seven devils," in the shape of a social hydrophobia; that miserable mad dog propensity with which some people saddle the world with troubles caused solely by themselves, and then "sadly complain to the moon" because the world refuses to hear them; which makes them, like a foolish child, pound their own fingers, and then curse and beat the hammer they did it with; and all of which is usually the result of a disordered stomach. Poor fellows! I pity them. They require a strong dose of allopathy, rather than sympathy or any kindred remedy.

A few weeks afterward, when I had regained my usual composure, I received her reply to my last letter, which requires no elaborate description. The letters of lovers are about the same the world over. An affectionate address; a jumble of endearing expressions about as intelligible to the general reader as the language of the Feejee Islanders; a little chat about "mated hearts" and "kindred spirits;" a few scraps of rhyme about love and dove, kiss and bliss; a sprinkling of good sense, perhaps, and a good deal of sickly sentiment—these constitute, with but few exceptions, the mass of letters that pass between (in) sensible lovers.—The tender passion makes a fool of Solomon, and thousands of others besides. Her letter, though not exactly modeled after the above formula, was full of regrets at her not being able to recognize me before the leaving of the train and expressed a hope that I would find sufficient excuse from my labors, to visit her at Fair Haven, Conn., where she intended staying through the remainder of the summer. Her allusion to Fair Haven struck me with a happy thought and memory. A favorite chum of mine at school was resident of that place, and during our intimacy he had frequently requested me to pay him a visit. I now resolved to accept his former invitation, and acting upon the impulse of the moment, as I was too much in the habit of doing, I immediately wrote him of my intention. I made no reference to the chief object of my visit, and, inasmuch as Miss Hudson [the assumed name of my correspondent] was still unacquainted with my real name, I hoped to be able to learn something of herself and family before she was aware of my having left the city. The return mail brought me an answer from my former room-mate who was seemingly happy in the prospect of renewing our acquaintance, and requested me to make my visit as early and long as possible. He also made a passing allusion to a cousin of his, Miss Bessie Boardman, who was spending the summer with them, and in whom he believed I would find something worthy of interest. But what cared I for Bessie Boardman, as long as the same village contained my unknown correspondent. My arrangements being completed, I immediately set out on my wild-goose chase in the country. As the train swept into Fair Haven, I caught a glimpse of my old friend at the depot, and in a few minutes we were greeting each other with all the enthusiasm of long-parted lovers. The carriage was in waiting, and leading me to it, he presented me to his cousin. Tall—graceful—queenly—beautiful! I give the adjectives which her appearance at once suggested, and leave the reader to complete the outline. As we drove to Woodland Lawn, the local name of his residence, which was near the limits of the corporation, we fell into an easy conversation, in which respect his cousin was absolutely charming.

She was one of those uncommon ladies who can sustain a conversation without introducing gossip [a female form leaning over my shoulder has just boxed my ears for saying that]; and who knows how to modify the subject to suit the taste of their companions. These eternal harpers upon some favorite topic, regardless of the wishes of their hearers, deserve to be shut alone in a room and compelled to talk to themselves.

How shall I describe the incidents of the few weeks that followed? Parties and pic-nics, riding, rowing literary chats and rural rambles, composed our every day occupations. During the first week, I made some round-about inquiries for Miss Hudson; but meeting with no success, I soon more than half forgot the original object of my visit. To say the truth, however, my indifference was due more to Miss Boardman than to any other cause or circumstance. She was one of those women of whose influence no one can be insensible, and the very touch of whose lips half exhales one's soul on the breath of rapture.—Hour after hour, in the long summer afternoons, we would sit alone in the library, reading from and commenting upon the works of our favorite authors, and at every interview I discovered, or thought I discovered, some new affinities between our sentiments and feelings. The moment a gentleman finds himself trying to discover a lady's heart and mind something similar to the qualities of his own, he may be sure he is under the influence of the fickle god. My heart was continually playing truant to my unknown ideal. Every hour passed in Miss Boardman's society was a record of my fickleness and inconsistency. I felt almost certain she did not regard me with indifference, and yet could not shake off the vague intuition that she was already in love with another. Many times, when about to give expression to some tender sentiment, this ever-present suspicion checked my feeling and utterance, and turned my thought into another channel.

But a single circumstance completely revolutionized our mutual relations. One afternoon, when I was about walking down town, she handed me a letter for the mail; and while we stood talking, I unthinkingly glanced at the address. She must have noticed my confusion, for I felt my heart throbbing like a volcano, and throwing the trembling blood into every portion of my system. It was addressed to my assumed name in the dear familiar writing of my unknown correspondent.

On my way to the office, I opened the letter and read its contents. After rambling over two pages in her usual style, she referred to a gentleman who was visiting her cousin, in this significant manner:—"I fancy he is much like you. He frequently expresses the identical sentiments that you do, and I am learning to regard him as your counterpart.—If you do not visit me soon, I shall not hold myself responsible for the consequences. You know, 'A bird in the hand is worth half a dozen in the bush.'"

It was just sunset when I returned to the Lawn, and stealing into the library, I found her alone at one of the open windows. She was too deeply absorbed in thought to be conscious of my presence. Her head was resting upon her hand, and occasionally I heard something that sounded very like a sigh. Her thought was having a confidential visit with her memory. It was the lover's hour—the blessed twilight, when every recollection of "moonlight, love, and flowers" steals upon the memory. The shifting shadows were falling like a benevolent blessing; the dews were baptizing the roses. The long dark lashes of the night were drooping over the tired eyes of day. The "balm of a thousand flowers" swept in at the open window, and the breeze, like a human thing, was sighing at the elms and willows. Ah, who has not felt the influence of that holy hour?

Stealing up close beside her, I took both of her hands in mine. They struggled for a moment like a prisoned bird; but I would not release them. In their stead I wished to release something in my own heart that was longing for liberty. And then when I opened my heart to her, and she, with all frankness and purity, told me how she loved me in return, and felt herself bound to another, I placed one of her former letters in her hands.

I dislike anything that approaches to a scene, and so will leave the reader to complete the picture, in which should be mingled nothing but the most vivid colors. The lady to whom I referred in a former paragraph as leaning over my shoulder was Bessie Broadman, and those who hope that we were or are to be married, are perfectly at liberty to do so; while those who prefer the opposite are equally entitled to have their own way.

We are both your obedient servants, and like the man in the fable, are only to willing to please you all.

Bishop Whately's Brain Tonic.

A hard thinker, he required compensating sleep. Man from first to last is fighting a battle with death through the tissues.—These are wasted by labor, but as long as they can be fully renewed by food, the man lives and is well. Otherwise he decays and dies. So with the brain; it weakens under continued protracted labor, particularly at night. Sleep restores it to strength, and fresh inclination and capacity for work. If stung did so do this, or if sufficient sleep be not allowed for the repose and invigorating of the brain, its powers decay, and even insanity may supervene through overwork, especially at undue times. No one knew this better than Whately, who may be said to have slept as fast as he could. Idle people are not to take this as a justification of their sluggardism. When Whately felt fatigue from overtaxing the brain in the daytime, he would close his books, and a quarter of an hour after, you might have seen the following instructive spectacle:

The first occasion on which I saw Dr. Whately (observes a correspondent) was under curious circumstances. I accompanied my late friend Dr. Field to visit professionally some members of the archbishop's household at Redesdale, Stillorgan. The ground was covered by two feet of snow, and the thermometer was down almost to zero. Knowing the archbishop's character for humanity, I expressed much surprise to see an old laboring man in his shirt sleeves falling a tree "after hours" in the demesne, while a heavy shower of sleet drifted piercingly in his wrinkled face. "That labourer," replied Dr. Field, "whom you think the victim of prelatical despotism, is no other than the archbishop, curing himself of a headache. When his grace has been reading and writing more than ordinarily, and finds any pain or confusion about the cerebral organization, he puts both to flight by rushing out with an axe and slashing away at some ponderous trunk. As soon as he finds himself in a profuse perspiration he gets into bed, wraps himself in Limerick blankets, falls into a sound slumber, and gets up buoyant."—Life of Whately.

A NEW MURDEROUS WEAPON.

Several New York detectives were in Philadelphia on Sunday and yesterday, and last evening a person supposed to have committed a crime was arrested. Recently an English highway robber's newly invented instrument of death made its appearance in New York. It is one of the most dangerous weapons the infernal genius of a criminal brain has ever invented. It is called the "sand club," and its use is almost certain to produce death. It is made of strong canvas, in the shape of a club about twenty-eight inches long, and from six to eight inches in circumference. This bag or club is filled with closely packed fine sand, and weighs from five to ten pounds, and has great advantages over the ordinary club or bludgeon, brass-knuckles or sling-shot. It will not rebound after the blow is struck and it leaves no mark or bruise. When the victim is struck on the top of the head, and there is where the sand-club is directed, he instantly sinks to the pavement without a struggle, the result of concussion to the brain, and not even a bruise, which any ordinary blunt instrument makes, is to be discovered on the scalp of the victim after the sand club has performed its fearful mission. A few of those instruments have already been found in the possession of desperate characters, and their use and history confessed to the police.

A victim of one of these clubs might be found dead in the street in the morning, and no doubt the verdict of a coroner's jury would be "Cause of death unknown."

CHRISTMAS EXPENDITURE.—The New York News has the following:—"The cost of the powder in the ship blown up off Fort Fisher must have been several hundred thousand dollars. The average weight of the metal employed in the subsequent bombardment of that work must had been at least 60 lbs. a shot. Rated as the greater part, if not all of the armament engaged was, the 60 lbs. missile then projected, must, we should suppose, have cost, for actual material, at least twenty dollars. One hundred and fifty a minute is the rate of fire maintained, Admiral Porter says, during the bombardments. The cost of that operation must, we thus see, have been three thousand dollars a minute, or 180,000 dollars an hour. During the 15 hours of the cannonade maintained against the works of the Cape Fear river on the 24th and 25th, the material expended must, therefore have cost upwards of two millions and a half dollars! The Christmas celebration of the administration at Fort Fisher, cost, we conclude in this way, for powder and iron alone, upwards of three millions of dollars.

A SAILOR'S LOVE OF FAIR-PLAY.—In a ship-yard in Pembroke, the other day, a tar from a man-of-war was observed watching two men dragging a seven-foot cross-cut saw through a huge oak-log. The saw was dull, the log very tough, and their they went—saw-saw, saw-saw, pull, push, push, pull. Jack studied the matter over a while, until he came to the conclusion they were going to see who could get the saw, and as one was an immense big chap while the other was a little fellow, he decided to see fair play, so giving the big fellow one blow under the ear that capsized him, he jerked the saw out of the log, and giving it to the small one, he sung out, "Now run, you beggar!"

A French gentleman has patented a new invention for instantaneously releasing run away horses from carriages. The driver, in case of accident, pulls a strap by which the trace-buckles are loosened and the horses run free with all the harness except the traces, which remain attached to the carriages.

A Vermont paper says the rumor that the high price of eggs is owing to the fact that the hens have to "stamp them," is without any foundation.

Those that wish to effect Insurance should call on the undersigned, who devotes the whole of his time to Insurance, and represents some of the best English and Canadian Offices.

J. R. WALTON.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Notice—J. Elliott and E. Richardson.
Military School—W. Powell, Lt. Col.
Sewing Machines—Fiskle & Lyon
Insolvent Act of 1864—J. W. and Giles Stone.
Pistols and Cartridges—G. Snelson & Co.
Flax Seed—John Carnegie, Jr.
Otonabee Mills—R. D. Rogers.
Public Notice—George Read.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 1865.

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

The subject of Confederation, as far as Canada is concerned, is now settled for a time. The Legislative Council declared in favor of it by a vote of 3 to 1. On the 10th inst, the debate on Attorney General McDonald's motion was resumed. After some unwarrantable shuffling by the opposition, the motion was put and carried by a majority of 63. The yeas being 91, the nays 33. Nearly 3 to 1 in the Legislative Assembly. The following is the vote in reference thereto:—

The House resumed the adjourned Debate upon Honorable Mr. Attorney General Macdonald's motion of Friday, the 3rd inst., That an Humble Address be presented to Her Majesty, praying that She may be graciously pleased to cause a measure to be submitted to the Imperial Parliament for the purpose of uniting the Colonies of Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island in one Government, with provisions based on certain Resolutions which were adopted at a Conference of Delegates from the said Colonies, held at the City of Quebec, on the 10th October, 1864,—and upon the motion for the Previous Question,—That that Question be now put.

And objection being taken that the motion, "That that question be now put," is in the nature of an amendment, and that this motion being moved by the Hon. Attorney General for Upper Canada, who is the proposer of the original motion, is out of order, because no Member can propose an amendment to his own motion.

Mr. Speaker decided as follows:—"The original motion, made by the Hon. Attorney General for Upper Canada, is, that The House should concur in certain Resolutions relating to a Federal Union of the Provinces. Del ate having taken thereon, the Hon. Attorney General for Upper Canada moves, not in amendment in my opinion, 'that that question be now put.' The substance of an amendment is to alter the original question. Does this motion alter the original question? So far from that, it is a proposal to bring that question before The House for immediate decision. The authorities cited to show that this motion is an amendment sustain the contrary view in my judgment, because they only state that the previous question is 'in the nature of an amendment.' If it were really an amendment, or were to be used as an amendment, it would be stated that it was in fact an amendment. The motion to adjourn is also spoken of as being in the nature of an amendment, but it is not an amendment, and like 'The previous question,' does not displace the original proposition, if carried. Hence I conclude that 'The previous question' is not an amendment. The objection that the Hon. Attorney General for Upper Canada cannot move it, on account of having proposed the original motion, in my opinion is not valid."

The question being then put on the motion for the Previous Question, "That that question be now put" it was agreed to on the following division:—Yeas, 85. Nays, 39.

The question being put on the main motion (of Hon. Mr. Attorney General Macdonald), it was agreed to on following division:—Yeas, 91. Nays, 33.

It is understood that the Ministers will now, after some routine business, ask the House to vote the supplies, when Mr. Galt, Cartier and McDougall will proceed to England and lay the matter before the Imperial Parliament, and the result of the mission will be laid before the House at an early session, perhaps during the summer. While the measure has been so far successful in Canada, it has met a different fate in the Maritime Provinces. As far as heard from, anti confederates are in the ascendant in those places where elections have been held; but this is no sure indication of entire rejection. On the contrary, we are confident that, perhaps before the Canadian Parliament again assembles, the scheme may be as popular in the Lower Provinces as in Canada at present. A few months sometimes brings about rapid changes. The Imperial Government desires it. The Maritime Provinces will no doubt soon acquiesce in the wishes of the home authorities.

PROVINCIAL FINANCES.

From statements issued from the Finance Department we gather the following items relating to our present financial affairs, up to Dec. 31st, 1864.

The entire expenditure for the year then ending was $14,544,882, of which sum $3,957,740 was for redemption of public debt, leaving the expenditure to be $20,587,142.

Exceptional expenditure for Ottawa Buildings, $458,077.—Leaving the true expenditure to be $10,126,065.

The receipts during the same period $15,526,549—less, sale of Debenture and stock $1,354,582. Revenue for the year 1864—$10,935,360, or an excess of receipts over expenditure of $806,235; or, omitting notice of exceptional expenses, the surplus revenue of the year would be $1,587,287.

In 1863 the revenue was $9,760,316; giving an increase in the Revenue for 1864 of $1,411,651.

The expenditure for 1863 was $10,742,807—showing a saving in this respect for 1864 of $156,673.

The direct debt of the Province at same date is $81,824,367.77. Other indebtedness, to Trust Funds, School funds, Indian Lands, miscellaneous, $4,150,983.46. Accounts, seigniorial tenure liabilities, and consolidated funds, $10,264,710.42.

Total debt $76,223,061.85, with which debt Canada was to enter the Confederation with.

For this debt we have the following works, whether they be worth what they cost or not.

St. Lawrence canals, $7,406,269,86. Welland canal, $7,309,849.89. Chambly canal &c., $433,807.83. Burlington Bay canal, $308,328.32. Lake St. Peter improvements, $1,038,235.66. Ottawa works $148,690.16. Improvement of Trent, $558,506.20. Harbors and Light Houses, $2,549,617.42. Roads and Bridges, $1,726,695.54. Ottawa Buildings, $1,812,508.71. Loans, $142,154,52. Miscellaneous, $1,860,862.13. Building and Harbour Funds $674,266.64.

Railway Debentures.—Grand Trunk, $15,312,894.17. Great Western, $2,918,500.00. Northern Railway, $2,311,666.67.

Railway interest, Municipal Loan Funds, Miscellaneous Trust Funds, Consolidated Funds, Bank of Upper Canada account, and other Bank accounts, $21,081,417.29.

Making a total of $76,223,061.65.

On thanks are again due to Col. Haultain for remitting us several important Parliamentary papers.

The Debt of the Maritime Provinces.

Newfoundland, $946,000. Nova Scotia, $4,856,547. New Brunswick, $6,102,991. Prince Edwards Island, $240,573.

The expenditure per head: in New Foundland, $3.43; in Nova Scotia, $3.10; in New Brunswick, $3.24; Prince Edward, $2.00; Canada, $3.86.

DEBT PER HEAD.

In Newfoundland $6.90; in Nova Scotia $13.91; in New Brunswick $30.91; Prince Edward, $2.75; Canada, $21.60.

Canada imports, per head, $16.51; and exports, per head, $18.03.

The average Colonial imports is $19.18 per head. The average exports, $18,42.

AMERICAN NEWS.

All the information that can be obtained from the places of active operations have to be obtained through Confederate sources.—The news is obtained principally thro' Richmond newspapers and Southern refugees or deserters. It is evident then that all the reports received are to be viewed with a due share of allowance.

Grant is still quiet. He has been ill, but is again able to give personal inspection to the operations at Petersburgh. Sheridan is reported to have defeated and captured Early and his entire force of 1,800 men.—This is again without confirmation, and anon asserted as correct. Sherman is reported as moving along victoriously, devastating all before him. Now reported occupying Fayetteville, N. C. Rumors also declared his cavalry at Florence, S. C., and that the main body of his army was crossing the Cape Fear River. The Federals are also reported as having taken Georgetown, S. C. and Fort White, mounting 17 guns. The flag-ship of Admiral Dahlgren was sunk by a torpedo. Another report says Sherman and Beauregard have encountered each other in battle, and that Sherman was victorious. There are indications that the Southerners are not too well supplied with arms, as they are trying to pick up every available old musket, and have made a call to have them if possible given up to the authorities.

Maximilian's military agents dismissed the American Consul from Matamoras.—There is no official representative of the United States in Mexico, and it is likely to continue so unless President Lincoln acknowledges Maximilian's Government.

The Richmond Despatch of Sunday, contains the following despatch from General Lee, giving the particulars of a battle near Kingston, N. C., between General Bragg, of the Confederate army, and the Union forces which moved from Newbern to meet Sherman, in the direction of Goldsborough:

HEADQUARTERS, &c., March 9.

To Gen. Breckenridge, Sec'y of War:

General Bragg reports that he attacked the enemy yesterday four miles front of Kinston, and drove him from his position. He disputed the ground obstinately, and took up a new line three miles from his first.

We captured these pieces of artillery and fifteen hundred prisoners. The number of the enemy dead and wounded, left on the field, is large—ours comparatively small.

The troops behaved most handsomely, and Major Generals Hill and Hoke exhibited their usual zeal and energy

(Signed,) R. E. LEE.

Kinston, near which the fight occurred, is situated on the direct route from Goldsboro' to Newbern, about 20 miles east of Goldsboro, and about 30 from Newbern. It is supposed that this force of the enemy was advacing from Newbern against Goldsboro' for the purpose of cutting the railroad at that point. It is not likely, after this repulse, that the enemy will attempt to advance, and it is probably that we shall hear of them falling back on Newbern, or changing their course to some other point of the compass. This movement of the enemy was evidently designed to be co-operative with Sherman, and in this light and juncture it may be of great value to us in embarrassing the movements of Sherman.

PASSPORT SYSTEM ABOLISHED.—The passport system has been abolished. The trains that were taken off on account of this nuisance, have been again resumed on the Great Western Railway. There will be three through trains every twenty-four hours, each way, two during the day and one at night, for the accommodation of passengers. The American government has at last come to its right mind on the matter, and has issued the following proclamation putting an end to the matter:—

Department of State,
Washington, March 8, 1865.

Whereas, pursuant to the order of the President of the United States, directions were issued from this Department under date of the 17th December, 1864, requiring passports from all travellers entering the United States, except immigrant passports, directly entering an American port from a foreign country, but whereas information has recently been received which affords reasonable grounds to expect that Her Britannic Majesty's Government and the Executive and Legislative branches of the Government of Canada, have taken, and will continue to take, such steps as may be looked for from a friendly neighbor, and will be effectual towards preventing hostile invasions into the United States, the President directs that from and after this date, the order above referred to requiring passports shall be modified, and so much thereof as relates to persons entering this country from Canada shall be rescinded, saving and reserving the order in all other respects in full force.

(Signed) W. H. SEWARD.

CRIMPING.

The work of enticing soldiers and civilians to leave their regular service, or employment, to increase the ranks of the Northern army has arrived at such a pitch that something more effective and stringent should be done than has yet been, to put a stop to the traffic which we may now reasonably style business. Are not the repeated cases of enticing British subjects to join the ranks of the Federal army, in direct violation of the Foreign Enlistment Act? May we not reasonably request the American people to respect our Laws, and forbear, under also pretences, to decoy our peaceable and unwary citizens so as to make them food for Confederate cannon, in order to escape the fiery ordeal themselves? Those dupes who allow themselves to be led away with the offer of a couple of hundred of those half-worthless greenbacks, deserve to suffer the reward of their ignorance and avidity; for very little value must be put upon his life who will barter it away for less than a piece of pottage. Besides our government has been at the expense of sending volunteers to force a due respect for the neutral Laws of our country. Should not our neighbors then force their subjects to respect our Foreign Enlistment Act? When British subjects, if any, are caught in the crimping business the heaviest punishis should be enforced.

We are requested to intimate that a practice meeting for the Sacred Concert will take place this (Thursday) evening, in the Methodist Church. A full attendance is particularly requested.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

The General Quarter Sessions for the County of Peterboro, commenced on Tuesday last, R. M. Boucher, Esq., presiding, and A. S. Fraser, Thos. White, Esq. and Peter Pearce, Esquires, Associates.

The following gentlemen composed the Grand Jury:—Mr. John English, Foreman.—George Brownlee, Charles Bradley, Francis Crow, John Delaney, Thos E. Fitzgerald, Joseph Grant, John T. Henderson, Thomas Hutchinson, Robert Harrison, Wm. Howson, Robert Johnston, Matthew Knox, James Mann, Thos. T. Milburn, Michael McMartin, George Rivington, Francis Sanderson, Charles Taylor, John Williamson and John R. Milburn.

CIVIL CASES.

Commercial Bank vs. Bettes—promissory note, Dennistoun for Plaintiff—verdict for Plaintiff—$235.80.

Clinton vs. McGregor, et al, Promissory note, Dennistoun for Plaintiff—verdict for Plaintiff—$204.20.

Weller vs. Hunter, et al—note, Weller for Plaintiff, S. Smith for Defendant—verdict for Plaintiff—$140.50.

Bank of Toronto vs. Moore—note, Weller for Plaintiff, Burnham for Defendant—verdict for Plaintiff—$123.98.

Elliott vs. Richardson—Burnham for Plaintiff, Holland for Defendant—verdict for Plaintiff—$129.48.

Cannon vs. Hall—Weller for Plaintiff—Fairbairn & Dumble for Defendant—verdict for Plaintiff—$200.

FIRES.

On the forenoon of Thursday the 2nd inst., the dwelling house of Mr. Geo. Moncrief, 8th Concession of North Monaghan, was consumed by fire. The fire originated in the cellar, some coals having fallen from the stove through a crevice in the floor into some straw that was put there to protect the potatoes. Mr. Moncrief was in the barn when the fire commenced, and no person was in the house but a very old woman,—his mother—and some small children. He tried to get water but owing to the well being frozen, he could not procure it easily, and in consequence the whole house and its entire contents, furniture and all, were consumed, except a barrel of pork, which he got rolled out. Mr. Moncrief has the sympathy of his neighbours, and will no doubt be aided to build another dwelling.

We learn that there were sixty bushels of wheat in the house at the time, which was also destroyed with the other things. Com.—

AT MITCHELL, there has been a fire added to the already large list. A wheat store was burnt on the 11th inst., containing 4000 bushels of wheat and 450 barrels of flour. Loss $10,000; nearly covered by Insurance.

AT WHITBY, M. O'Donovan's Carriage Factory was consumed on the same day. Loss $3000. O'Donovan was insured on stock $2000; the buildings belonging to Mr Watson were not insured.

AT LOCKPORT, on the 10th. The flax, Cotton Companie's Mill and Machinery were burned: Loss $75,000, insured for $10,000, fire caused by friction of the machinery.

BOOK NOTICES.

The Messrs. T. & R. White, the enterprising proprietors of the Hamilton Spectator, have lately issued an Exhibit of the "Commerce and Manufacture" of the City of Hamilton for 1864. It is a neat little Pamphlet of about 48 pages of items of information concerning the trade and Manufactures of the enterprising little City. The Imports, Railway works, Insurance companies, Markets, Dry Goods Trade, Wool Trade, Groceries and various Manufactures, have each received a due amount of attention from the compiler. The publishers deserve the thanks of the Hamiltonians for thus setting forth in so neat, full and accessible a manner the business and consequent advantages of the ambitious city. A yearly exhibit is promised of which this is the first.

MAN KILLED.—On Saturday last, a man named Michael Evans, in the employ of J. H. Austin Esq. came to his death while engaged in drawing timber. It appears that Evans was drawing a large piece of timber, and in getting round a tree he was caught by the timber and crushed against the tree, getting his leg broken about the knee.—He was immediately taken to the shanty and a messenger dispatched to Mr. Austin, who at once sent a doctor to the place, but before he arrived—the distance being 26 miles—the unfortunate man died. He lived about six hours after he received the hurt. Evans was a young man; his relations reside in the south end of the Town.

The Buffalo papers give an account of the burning of a man in tne cars caused by a collision in which the stove was upset on him, while fastened between the seats — all efforts to save him were unavailing.

STEAMER ROCHESTER.—We notice by our exchanges that the steamer Rochester commences running across Lake Ontario to Rochester, on the 27th inst.

It is estimated that the printing Bureau department at Washington will this year cost $2,000,000. Its paper bill will sum up to $1,277,000.

WE would remind our readers that the Orange Soiree takes place in the old Town Hall, to-morrow afternoon at one o'clock.

It is stated that 79,000 soldiers now lie sick and wounded in the several military hospitals throughout the United States.

A man was killed, at Bothwell, by a boiler explosion. When found the top of the head was blown off. His name was Sullivan.

DUNKIN'S BILL was defeated in Dundas by a majority of 65, and in the Township of Whitby by 10 votes.

Syracuse, Albany, Auburn, and New York are each striving to be the capital of New York State.

Six strawberries raised in Fitchburg, were recently sold for a large dinner party in New York for $2,50.

The Chicago Times, says that the census of St. Louis shows the population to be 165,446.

At a recent splendid wedding in New York, the bridal presents were valued at $30,000.

The Mountpelt Council of McKillop have doubled the tavern licenses this year.

Gold was 177 on the 14th instant.

OUR DEFENCES.

The Civil War now being waged in the United States has had the effect of instituting investigation into the means of our defence in case of any rupture between the United States and Great Britian. Many are of the opinion, and wisely too, that the best means of defence are friendly actions towards the United States and careful neutrality in the present war. We trust the day is far distant when the people of Britain Britain and the United States, shall be arranged in hostile attitude. Of all the nations of the Globe these two, more than any other, are bound together by ties of consanguinity, commerce and mutual interests; and we trust that these ties are so strong that no mere trifle will induce the rulers of Great Britain and the United States to engage in deadly conflict.

The unwise policy of either of the Governments, more especially of the ever-changing Government of the United States, might so far weary the forbearance of the other as to involve the nations in war. In such an event the evils to both parties would be incalculable; and Canada, which would of necessity, be the battle ground, would suffer more than any other. Yet we are fully persuaded that the seaport towns of the Atlantic coast would have to bear their portion of the troubles of the conflict. The present war, we hope, will be a lesson to our Cousins not to rush thoughtlessly into troubles, and the cost, we are sure, will have the effect of deterring such an occurrence for at least some years. We depend too much on the good sense of the people and rulers of the two nations to imagine or dream of any trouble between them.

The Government of Great Britain, however, is desirous of depending upon something more substantial than the mere chances of amicable relations or any whims of statesmen, and accordingly have had one of their most reliable military officers report on the present defences of Canada with a view to improving said defences. Col. Jervois, in his report, recommends especially the improvement of the defences at Quebec, Montreal, Kingston and Toronto, as of most pressing importance. His words are:—"I regard the works for the defence of Montreal and Quebec as being of the most pressing importance." I estimate the cost of those for Quebec at £200,000. Those for Montreal at £443,000. And the armaments for the works at those places at £100,000. Thus recommending an outlay at those two places of £743,000.

The works at Kingston, Toronto and Hamilton are estimated to cost £600,000, making a total of £1,343,000 or nearly $6,715,000 Rumors are afloat that the Imperial Government will bear the cost of repairing and equipping the defences of Quebec and Montreal, but will ask the colonial Government to assume the cost of putting Kingston, Toronto and Hamilton in a proper state of defence.

Col. Jervois gives the Volunteer Militia Force at 21,700; the Militia of the Provinces at 470,000; and the service Militia according to ballot 88,225.

In order to afford means of training and also a nucleus around which the Militia force of Canada might rally in case of trouble he recommends that the regular troops be not withdrawn.

Another item of information we derive from the Colonel's letter is, that the troops already maintained in the Province, cost Great Britain £743,000 a year. It is admitted that the forces now maintained are by no means equal to the defence of the country in case of an invasion; we would then have to vastly increase our force, and in consequence our expence. In case of trouble with the United States we might have to expend several millions of dollars annually in order to allay the public fears, does not this show us how cautious we should be to preserve friendly feelings with our neighbors, lest we incur those very things that we so justly dread—an increased expenditure, which assures no material advantage.

Our Connexion with Great Britain.

At no period in our history were the people of British North America so warmly attached to the mother country and British institutions, as they are at the present time. The Annexation [illegible] died out. The present war, and the enormous debt it is about to saddle on the great Republic, are as so many repellant forces to our quondam annexationists, causing them to ponder before they advise a union with the United States or even desire it—notwithstanding how warmly soever many admired the free institutions of the republic once, very few are now willing to cast in their lot with them. We however deny that at any time there were many of our citizens who really desired annexation, but they made a cry about it, in order to accomplish their own ends for the time then being. The idea that Great Britain now desires us to take to ourselves, to set up an independent government and see to our own defences and protection, is founded on want of knowledge of the feelings of the British people towards us. The fact is, nothing can be farther from the mind of the Imperial Government, as is plainly demonstrated by the debates in the British parliament, now assembled. We give below a few extracts in proof of this, and which shew that Britain is ready to aid with both men and money for our defences and protection.

In the British House of Lords, on Monday, the 20th ult.

Lord Lyveden called attention to the report of Colonel Jervois on the defence of Canada, which he urged showed unmistakeably the defenceless state of that colony. He wanted to know whether any steps had been taken jointly by Canada and this country towards placing the colony in a position of defence, and what provision had been made for placing gunboats on the Lakes, and especially on Lake Ontario. Her Majesty' Government ought to be prepared either to withdraw our troops, and leave Canada to defend itself, or take immediate steps for placing the territory in a state of adequate defence.

Earl De Grey and Ripon said that the papers which had been laid on the table contained no information which was new to the House, but as the Government proposed to ask Parliament and Canada to join in providing for the defence of the colony, it was necessary to show the ground on which that plan would be proposed. In the estimates of the present year there would be included a sum of £250,000 for the improvement of the fortifications of Quebec, and it was proposed that the Canadian Government should undertake the fortification of Montreal and the territory to the westward. The colony was about to ballot for 80,000 militia, and Her Majesty's Government would give every assistance towards the training of this body.

The Earl of Derby strongly censured the Government for having so long refrained from providing for the defence of Canada, and expressed a hope that a more definite statement would be made as to our naval preparations on the Lakes. He concluded by saying:—

"It would be a lasting disgrace to this country, and an ignominy to which I trust she will not submit, to allow that upon any pretext whatever these Provinces should be separated from us, not by their own act and deed, or by their own desire, but by invasion of a foreign country, whose good will we have endeavoured, however unsuccessfully, to propitiate, if not by a strict neutrality, by a neutrality, however, which has been more favourable to the North than to the South—I say that under such circumstances, to allow that colony to be wrested from us without putting forth the whole strength of the empire to repel that invasion, would be a gross and endless disgrace and ignominy which I hope the country will not submit to." (Hear.)

Earl Granville reminded the House that it was only in November last that any question arose with regard to the Lakes. He believed that a strong feeling of attachment existed between Canada and the mother country, and so long as the colony was prepared to take a fair share both in money and men in its own defence, England was bound to come forward in a manner deserving of a great country in such a cause.

The Earls of Malmesbury and Ellenborough having spoken in the same sense as Lord Derby,

Earl Russell expressed his regret that the subject had been introduced, and urged that it was impossible to have acted earlier, as the Canadians had hitherto declined to take any steps for their own defence. That being so, Government could not have asked Parliament for a large grant of money for such a purpose. At a different disposition had been now displayed by the Canadians, the Government at once were prepared to act.

The Earl of Derby wished to know whether Her Majesty's Government had taken, were taking, or intended to take any steps, in the face of the preparations which were being made by the Government of the United States to assert a naval superiority on the lakes.

The Duke of Somerset said that a notice had reached the Government that those arrangements which had hitherto operated so happily in favour of peaceful relations between the two countries were about to be put an end to. That information arrived at the end of November last, and was to the effect that in six months from that time our relations would be so far changed that the American Government would be enabled to put armed vessels upon the lakes. Now, owing to the freezing of the canals and of the river St. Lawrence, it would have been quite impossible at that time to have taken any active steps. But he (the Duke of Somerset) had been in communication for two or three years past with naval officers upon this subject, whose opinions were being constantly brought before the Cabinet, and he should be prepared, when the proper time came, to state the course which Her Majesty's Government would take upon the matter.

The Chief Superintendent and the Separate School Agitation.

Dr. Ryerson has favoured the public with a small pamphlet in refutation of the uncalled for clamour of injustice in the present Separate School Laws of Upper Canada. The Rev. Dr. is pungent and scathing in his remarks, and evidently is in a better state of mind concerning denominational education than formerly, when he battled and wrote somewhat in its favour. It is well to find him coming to his right mind and now defending the right with boldness and energy. His first letter is devoted chiefly to refuting certain statements made by the Catholic agitators, concerning the working of the Bill which Mr. O'Reilly of King-ton pronounces a "sham and a fraud." Few men are better able to defend the working of the Bill than Dr. Ryerson; to point out its advantages and disadvantages, for no man in Upper Canada has made Education and the Laws relating thereto more the subject of reflection and study than he has.

The concessions that have been made, we fear, were the suggestions of the Chief Superintendent—yet, perhaps, they were of necessity. One thing, we must admit, that he has carried out the law to the very letter in favour of the Separatists.

At last he has got his eyes open to the unceasing, unsatisfied cry of that party whom he expected satisfied in 1863—but in 1865 are as hungry as ever; and now after a quarter of a century's Legislation and contemplation, after yielding to every demand, after granting everything asked, Dr. Ryerson finds they are less satisfied than heretofore, and instead of being content with all they have got, and trying to make the best of it, they, he learns, cannot be satisfied. And he now asserts that "if the present Separate School Law is not to be maintained as a final settlement of the question, and if the Legislature finds it necessary to legislate on the Separate School Law again, I pray that it will abolish the Separate School Law altogether." And to the recommendation he finds himself forced after having long used his best efforts to maintain and give effect in the fullest and most liberal application of successive Separate School Acts, and this after 20 years experience and superintendence of the Common School System. We would ask our Roman Catholic friends to peruse the following extracts from the pamphlet referred to, and judge for themselves, are Separate Schools an advantage to them, or are they not rather a disadvantage.

"I think no one will maintain that Separate Schools are expedient for the interests of the State. Nay, those interests are more or less injured by every act of class legislation, and its strength is weakened by every sectional division which its citizens have created by law. If it was a source of individual pride and of the strength of the state, in ancient days, for a man to say, "Romanus Sum," "I am a Roman;" so would it be now, under a legislation of equal rights and privileges, without the shadow of distinction in regard to sect or party, for a man to say, "I am a Canadian." For every man to feel that he stands in all respects upon equal ground of right and privilege with every other man in relation to the state and law, must best contribute to the true interests and real strength of the State, and best respond to the spirit and principles of free government. Upon public grounds, therefore, the law for Separate Schools cannot be maintained.

I admit that the existence of such a law has contributed, and will contribute, to strengthen the political and social influence of Protestantism, and to weaken that of Romanism in Upper Canada. The influence of a small body allied to, and blended with other influences makes itself felt in any community whose selections to offices of public trust and honor, depend largely upon popular suffrage. In all such cases, the influence of Roman Catholics cannot but be powerful. But let such a community, however large, (unless it constitutes the majority of the population) isolate itself from, and maintain an avowed and active hostility to the most cherished institutions of all other classes, its influence in municipal and public affairs becomes nil, and no man dare openly ally himself with it who aspires to any situation of public trust or honour, that depends upon the suffrages of the majority; and the government itself, the creation of such combined and consolidated majority, will not dare to disregard its wishes in appointments to public offices of any description. But he must be a narrow-minded and unpatriotic Protestant who would wish its influence and power extended by the unnatural, though self-exclusion of any class of the community.

But the chief injury of such isolation must fall upon the Roman Catholics themselves. The injury to the State at large from such an unnatural division of its citizens on public institutions, is small in comparison of the injury which the authors of such division inflict upon the isolated community itself. From the comparative paucity of its resources, the elementary schools of such community, except in a few cities and towns, must necessarily be inferior to the schools in which the youth of the great majority of the population are educated. Then the youth of these inferior schools are not only excluded from the advantages of the better schools, (whose doors are open to all without the slightest interference with the religious faith or feelings of any), but they are deprived of all those springs of mental development, activity and energy which arise from competition and emulation with the other youth of the land. Thus inferiority of mental culture and development is necessarily stamped upon the mass of the community that is thus isolated from the public schools of the country. And the youth who thus grows up to manhood in a school of separation commences the battle of life, not only with inferior mental and social preparation, but comes forth into the arena of competition and enterprise estranged from, and a stranger to the habits, views, and associations of those with whom his pursuits and fortunes are linked. Is it surprising that a youth whose early energies and means of improvement are thus dwarfed by isolation and inferior school instruction, should, in the career of life, be distanced in every race of enterprise in business, profession, and public ambition, by his early more favoured rivals and competitors? There may, now and then, be an exception. There may, here and there, be a youth of great natural ability and indomitable energy who will throw off the nightmare of early depressing circumstances, force himself up through all disadvantages of inferior school and social culture, and make himself a name of honour and distinction in the community; but such an example is a rare exception to the general rule which dooms the victims of isolation to inferiority, failure, and obscurity.

Then the next result is deep dissatisfaction among the members of the isolated community at their position of social inferiority in the country, and at their failures of success in various pursuits, and at their omissions in the elections and appointments to public offices and trusts, with exclamations against the law, and the bigotry and oppression of the majority of the community, for what is the legitimate offspring and inevitable fruit of their own doings, or of the doings forced upon them. They may complain "that no 'Irish' Catholic need apply for any post of public trust or honor;" but they have themselves, by their isolation, inferior educational culture, and war against the institutions of the great body of their fellow citizens, rendered the election or appointment of many, if any, of them-selves an impossibility, where the suffrages of the majority are the predominant power in the State. Then envy, then hatred of the more successful and prosperous classes, then mutual consultations and excitements to revenge their imaginary wrongs, and relieve themselves of their deeply felt but self-inflicted evils; and then among the more daring and least scrupulous portion of such isolated community, the combinations and conspiracies of Fenianism—the employment of brute force to obtain power and wealth, which can only be legitimately obtained by the exercise of virtue, intelligence, and industry. The Hierarchy may earnestly and strongly denounce these combinations and conspiracies, but the monster has grown too strong and unmanageable to obey the voice of even a Bishop,—the disease is stronger than the remedy. In this aspect, the question of school separation deserves the serious consideration of the statesman and patriot.

So deeply impressed are many Roman Catholics with the irreparable injuries inflicted upon their children by taking them from the Public Schools, and isolating and sending them to inferior Separate Schools, that I have known instances of their obeying authority so far as to return their names and give their subscriptions as supporters of a separate school, and then send their children to the public school, and pay a large fee for the privilege of doing so—a privilege which they had forfeited by returning their names as supporters of a separate school; and, of the 504 Roman Catholic teachers employed in the schools in Upper Canada, only 171 of them are employed in separate schools, while 333 of them are employed in public schools—the schools denounced by the Freeman, Mr. O'Reilly, and other Separate School agitators; and of the more than fifty-five thousand Roman Catholic children taught in our schools in 1863, upwards of forty thousand of them attended the common or public schools, while but fifteen thousand attended the separate schools. I think I am safe in saying that every Roman Catholic in Upper Canada, who has distinguished himself either in law or politics, has been chiefly, if not wholly, educated in public schools with Protestant youth, and not in separate schools. I believe Mr. O'Reilly himself never would have got up to the position of Recorder of the city of Kingston, if he had been educated in the separate schools which he now advocates—if he had not had his mind cultivated and developed in public schools, and his energies and ambition quickened and roused by emulation with Protestant youth, and formed early acquaintances and associations with them, which have laid the foundation of his professional success. He is a living contradiction of his own advocacy. Nor do I believe that he, or any other of his party, will venture to maintain that the nine-tenths of the Roman Catholics of Upper Canada, who have themselves been taught, or have educated their children at the public schools, are any less orthodox Catholics than the one-tenth who have been induced or compelled to send their children to separate schools.

RONAGHAN COUNCIL.

March 4th, 1865

The Council met at 10 o'clock.

All the Members present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

PETITIONS.

That of Ann Lackin stating that her husband, Peter Lackin, is addicted to drunkenness, that some time during the month of December last, while under the influence of intoxicating liquors, he beat and ill-treated her so that she had to apply to the Mayor of Peterborough to have him punished—when he was committed to jail, that after coming home he again began abusing and threatening her, while she was confined, so that she was forced to have him bound over to keep the peace; that she has three young children, the youngest only five weeks old, and being deprived of her husband in procuring food for them, finds herself in a very helpless condition and therefore prays the Council to afford her some relief.

That of George D. Endicotte, on the part of Elm Grove Lodge of Good Templars, Monaghan, praying for the use of the Town Hall, in which to hold their meetings.

That of Robert Dunlop and others to have their Statute Labor confined within certain limits.—Granted.

Those of John Green, and Wm. S. Scott, to have their Tavern License renewed for present year.

COMMUNICATIONS:

From the County Clerk, with a list of Lands patented or described for patent in the Municipality in respect of which any taxes have been in arrears preceding the 1st day of January, 1865.

From Robert Rowaine, Esq., soliciting orders for the printing or publication of any such matters as may be required by the Municipality.

NOTICES.

Moved by Mr. Collins, seconded by Mr. Dundas, and resolved—That in consequence of a By-law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors and the issuing of licenses therefore having been passed in this Township. The prayer of the petitions of Messrs. John Green and Wm. S. Scott, to obtain license for this year cannot be complied with.

Moved by Mr. Dundas, seconded by Mr. Collins, and resolved—That the prayer of the petitions of Joseph Green and others for the establishing of a stone monument on the 10th concession of North Monaghan, be complied with in accordance with the Statutes.

By-Laws appointing path-masters, pound-keepers and fence-viewers received their several readings and were finally passed.

An order was given on the treasurer in favor of John H. Campbell for $4 for cord-wood for the use of the Town Hall.

The Reeve was requested to enquire into the case of Ann Lackin and use his own discretion in administering assistance to her.

The Council adjourned till Monday the 1st of May, then to meet as a Court of Revision on the Assessment Roll.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Monday, March 6th 1865,

Present, His worship the Mayor, and Messrs. Toole, Lawson, Whyte, Stephenson, Williams, Helm Ormond McNaughton, Chambers, Leonard, Chamberlain and Burnham.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications were read and received from Ivan O'Beirne, Secretary of the Board of School Trustees, informing the Council that a note on the Bank had been protested; and from Alex. Morrow Jr., asking the liberty to purchase the Market Tolls for 3 or 5 years; from R. Rutherford and D. Pentland, recommending the appointment of A. Morrow and George Johnston as Inspectors to be appointed under the Dunkin Act; also from R. D. Rogers, Esq. Warden, acknowledging the receipt of the letter from the Mayor, containing the refusal of the Town Council to plank one half of the Bridge across the Otonabee River, and informing him that the County Council would plank the other half of the said Bridge in the jurisdiction of the County Council and no more.

Several accounts were handed to their respective committees. The Auditors Report together with the abstract of Receipts and expenditure for the year 1864, the detailed statement of the same and the liabilities of the Corporation up to the 31st December last was laid on the table by the Mayor and received.

Petitions by Widow Beaudry, Michael Daly Henry Lowry and Elisabeth Howe, asking pecuniary assistance from the Council, were read and referred to the committee on Charities.

A petition from Mrs. Plunkett, asking to be relieved of her taxes, was read and on motion granted.

A report was received from the finance committee which recommended the payment of several accounts.

Mr. Toole moved for the appointment of Mr. George Johnston as Chief Constable for the Town for the present year; the motion was lost.

On motion Mr. Morrow's communication was referred to a special committee.

Mr Burnham moved that the commissioners of the Town Trust be requested to sell by public Auction the old wooden building and sheds on the Market Block; the motion was lost.

Mr. Stevenson moved that the report of the Auditors be received and that portion of it be printed as the Law directs.

Moved by Mr. Stephenson, seconded by Mr. Williams, that all the monies received hereafter on account of the Railway interest or principal, be paid over to the Commissioners of the Town Trust, for the express purpose of using such money in payment of the interest due to the Government under the Municipal Loan Fund, and that they use the balance as the law requires for a sinking fund, and for the purpose of outstanding debentures; the motion was lost.

The Mayor stated that the Clerk had waited upon Mr. Fortye, the arbitrator on behalf of the Town, and that he was of opinion that it would be of advantage to the Town to be connected with the County, at the same time he recommended waiting a short time to ascertain the probable amount that would have to be paid to the County yearly.

A petition from the licensed Tavern keepers of the Town, asking for a reduction in the price of their Licenses, and better protection from those who are selling without License.—The petition was received.

The Council then adjourned for two weeks.

SPECIAL SESSION.

The Council met in special Session, on Monday last, with his worship in the chair, and the following members present, Messrs. Lawson, Williams, Stevenson Helm, Chambers, Leonard, Toole Ormond, Burnham and Whyte.

The Mayor stated that the Special committee had handed in the Report on the Market Tolls, and it was necessary to carry out the suggestion at once, viz: that the Tolls be let by tender, instead of by auction as heretofore

A By-law was introduced and passed for amending the present Market By-law.

On motion of Mr. Lawson, Mrs. Dr. Perry's taxes were ordered to be remitted.

On motion of Mr. Toole, the report of the Special Committee was received and adopted, and the Clerk instructed to advertise for tenders for the Market Tolls, in accordance with the Market By-law.

The Council then adjourned.

Finances of the Town.

Below we give the Auditor's Report for 1864. We intended to refer to it more minutely, but have been hindered by other matters engaging our attention more directly this week.

AUDITOR'S REPORT.

To the Mayor and Town Council of the Town of Peterborough:

The report of the Auditors of the Town of Peterbrough,

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH:

That your Auditors having carefully examined the Books and Accounts produced by your Treasurer, and on comparing them with the Vouchers, find them correct. They beg to submit the Abstract and detailed Statement, shewing the Receipts for the past year, including $1,000 from Commissioners of Town Trust, for Engine House and Lock-up, and $1,200 Railway principal (not included in the estimates) amounting to the sum of $21,883 77. The expenditure for the same period being $21,20173, leaving a balance in the hands of your Treasurer at December 31st, 1864, of $680 04.

They also beg to report that they find the current liabilities of the Town, at the above date, to be $12,573 94. The available Assets, after deducting the large item of $711 for contingencies, amount to $10,657 83, leaving a deficiency of $1916 11, to be provided for in the estimates of the current year.

To prevent the recurrence of so serious an evil, your Auditors would recommend that your Treasurer be authorised not to pay any sum above the amount appropriated for any specified purpose. They would also recommend that all taxes be strictly collected and pa

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—A word to our fair readers—Health the basis of beauty—Pimples, blotches, and all skin diseases—A clear complexion is not only essential to female loveliness but it is equally an external evidence of health—while shallowness, pimples and all cutaneous eruptions are indicative of a disturbed condition of the stomach and liver. Upon these organs a famous aperient and tonic known as Holloway's Pills, act with a directness, precision and rapidity unparalleled in Medicine Science while the Ointment purges the vesticles of the skin and imparts a brilliancy and roseate tint to that delicate envelope. All who value health and beauty should beware of tampering with cosmetics as they are not only pernicious but highly dangerous to health.

Sold at the manufactories, No. 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and No. 244 Strand, London, and by all druggists. If the reader of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the druggists in his place, let him write to me, 80 Maiden Lane, enclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other person's make. 25c., 62½c., and $1 per box.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address

Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON,
Williamsburg, Kings County,
9-2m New York.

Birth.

At Peterborough, on the 13th inst., Mrs. Thos. Menzies, of a daughter.

Death.

At her residence, Elgin street, Windsor, C. W., on the 8th inst., Margaret Gribbon, wife of G. F. Blatcher, Esq., of the C.W. H. aged 28 years.

At Peterborough, on Saturday the 11th inst., Mary Jane, wife of A. H. Harbison, and second youngest daughter of J. T. Henchorn, Esq., aged 24 years.

At the Manse, Cobourg, of Diptheria, on Sabbath, the 26th February, Jane Isabella, eldest daughter,

ALSO

On Tuesday, the 7th March Catherine Brown, second daughter,

AND

On Wednesday, the 8th March, Marjory Ann, third daughter, of the Rev. John Laing.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

PETERBOROUGH, March 13 1865.

Flour ₱ brl	$4	50	@	$5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	87	@	0 90
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0	00	@	0 00
Potatoes	0	30	@	0 32
Barley ₱ bush	0	55	@	0 60
Peas "	0	75	@	0 80
Oats "	0	50	@	0 00
Hay ₱ ton new	13	00	@	14 00
Hides ₱ cwt	3	00	@	0 00
Sheepskins	1	00	@	1 25
Wool ₱ lb	0	50	@	0 00
Beef ₱ cwt	5	00	@	5 50
Eggs, per dozen	0	10	@	0 12½
Butter ₱ lb	0	15	@	0 16
Fowl, per pair	0	75	@	1 75
	0	00	@	0 00

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING relating to the human system, male and female; the causes and treatment of diseases; the marriage customs of the world; and a thousand things never published before, read the revised enlarged edition of "Medical Common sense," a curious book for curious people, and a good book for every one, 400 pages 100 Illustrations. Price $1.50. Contents table sent free to any address. Books may be had at the Book stores, or will be sent by mail, post paid, on reciept of the price

Address, Dr. E. B. FOOTE, M. D.,
9-6m 1130 Broadway New York

INFORMATION FREE!

TO NERVOUS SUFFERERS,

A GENTLEMEN, cured of Nervous Debility, incompetency, Premature Decay, and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it, (free of charge,) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's sad experience, and possess a sure and valuable remedy, can do so by addressing him at once at his place of business. The Recipe and full information—of vital importance—will be cheerfully sent by return mail.

Address JOHN B. OGDEN,
No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

P. S.—Nervous sufferers of both sexes will find this information invaluable. 8-3m

BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY IN CANADA.

The following testimony from a well known and highly respected Merchant of Prescott, is corroborative of the general approval given to Dr. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY:

PRESCOTT, C. W., Dec. 8th, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co., Boston.

Gentlemen:—

Being solicited by your Travelling Agent, for an expression of opinion of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. I with pleasure assert that it is, in my belief, the best remedy before the public for coughs and pulmonary complaints.

Having tested the article with myself and family, in case of severe coughs and colds, for years, with uniform and unexceptionable success, I unhesitatingly recommend it with full confidence in its merits.

Yours truly,
ALFRED HOOKER.

None genuine unless signed, I. Butts, on the wrapper. Prepared by Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston, and for sale by all dealers in medicines.

Peterboro, February 24, 1865. 7-4in

A GOOD THING—TRY IT

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER is a medicine for the immediate and permanent removal of all pains from the system.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Rheumatism, Pleurisy, and Pains in the back and side.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER relieves Pains in the head and Sick headache.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Bilious Cholic & Cramps in the stomach.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Dysentry, and Bowel Complaint.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Sudden Colds and sore Throat.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Neuralgia, Tic douloureux, & Toothache.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Burns, Scalds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER is also an excellent thing for Strains, Sprains Bounds and Bruises. It takes away all pain the moment it is applied.

No family should be without a Bottle of THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

Price 25 Cents Per Bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas,

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Cowlter, and A. W. Kempt; by C. Britton Lindsay, and all medicine dealers.

OLD EYES MADE NEW.

A PAMPHLET directing how to speedily restore sight and give up spectacles, without aid of doctor or medicine—sent by mail, free, on receipt of 10 cents Address,

E. B. FOOTE, M. D.,
9-6m 1130 Broadway New York.

Take no more unpleasant and unsafe Medicines.

For unpleasant and dangerous diseases, use

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU,

Which has received the endorsement of the most PROMINENT PHYSICIANS IN THE U.S.

Is now offered to afflicted humanity as a certain cure for the following diseases and abuse of the Urinary or Sexual Organs.

General Debility,
Mental and Physical Depression,
Confused Ideas,
Hysteria,
General Irritability.
Restlessness and Sleeplessness at Night.
Absence of Muscular Efficiency,
Loss of Appetite,
Emaciation,
Low Spirits,
Disorganization or Paralysis of the Organs of Generation,
Palpitation of the Heart,

And, in fact, all the concomitants of a Nervous and Debilitated state of the system.

To insure the genuine, cut this out.

ASK FOR HELMBOLD'S.
TAKE NO OTHER.
CURES GUARANTEED.

See advertisement in another column.

Peterboro, Feb. 24, 1865. 7-6in

New Advertisements.

REVOLVERS AND CARTRIDGE.

A NEW stock of Colt's, Smith & Wesson's and Marston's Pistols.

Cartridge to suit Colt's Revolvers.

GEORGE STETHEM & CO.
Peterboro March 16, 1865. 11

Flax Seed.

PERSONS desirous of obtaining Flax Seed are requested to apply to the undersigned forthwith.

JOHN CARNEGIE, Jr.,
Sec. & Treas. P. A. Society.
Peterborough, March 16, 1865. 11-3in

NOTICE.

ALL persons are hereby forbid having any dealings whatever with any person or persons for or on account of the Executors of the estate of the late William Elliott, late of the Township of Cavan, deceased, as we have not at any time appointed any person to act for us as our agent in transacting any business relating to the said estate.

JOHN ELLIOTT, } Executors.
EDW'D RICHARDSON, }
Cavan, March 13, 1865. 11-3in*

Otonabee Mills.

THE above Mills having been very much impeded in their working during the past winter by the unusual quantity of anchor ice in the river, the subscriber is glad to be able to inform his friends and customers that they are now working freely, and that proper attention will, as heretofore, be paid to grinding and custom work; and cash paid for good Spring or Fall Wheat.

R. D. ROGERS.
Asburnham, March 14th, 1865. 11-3in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

THE joint and several creditors of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Sidney Smith, in the town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, on Monday the twenty-seventh day of March instant, at ten o'clock, in the forenoon, for the purpose of receiving statements of their affairs, and of naming an assignee to whom they may make an assignment under the above Act.

The domicile of the undersigned being, on, this 10th day of March, A.D. 1865, at the Township of Burleigh, in the said County of Peterborough.

J. W. STONE
11 GILES STONE.

Military School.

CANDIDATES for Commissions in the Service Militia, desirous of obtaining admission to either of the Schools of Military Instruction, are required to make application in writing for such purpose, through the Brigade Major of the Division wherein they reside

Applicants must state their age, residence Post Office address and native country, and transmit with their application a certificate from a Clergyman or Magistrate in the locality where they live as to moral character.

W. POWELL, Lt. Col.,
D. A. G. M., U. C

Adjutant General's Office,
Quebec, March 4th, 1865. 11-13in

Public Notice.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL of the Township of Otonabee, intend on MONDAY, the SEVENTEENTH day of APRIL next, to pass a By-Law to close up and dispose of the following Road, viz:—Commencing on the eastern limit of the allowance for Road between the 6th and 7th Concessions of said Township at a point bearing south 14 degrees east, and distant 5 chains and 80 links from the north-west angle of Lot No 16 in said 6th Concession, then north 17 degrees 45 minutes, east 3 chains and 40 links; then north 30 minutes, west 3 chains, and 91 links, then north 29 degrees, west 1 chain and 32 links; then north 47 degrees, west 1 chain and 35 links; then north 71 degrees, west one chain and 30 links to the eastern limit of the allowance for Road between the 6th and 7th Concessions, 3 chains and 50 links from the north west angle of Lot No 17 in said 6th Concession.

GEO READ.
Township Clerk.
Otonabee, Feb. 25th, 1865. 11

SEWING MACHINES!

FINKLE & LYON'S

NEW PATENT ROTARY FEED Sewing Machines.

The following facts demonstrate that these Machines comprise the highest improvements in the Sewing Machine Art, viz:

1. Each Machine is guaranteed to give better satisfaction than any other Sewing Machine in Market, or money refunded.
2. They have taken many of the highest premiums at the most important Exhibitions and fairs ever held in the United States.
3. They make the lock stitch alike on both sides—thus saving more than half the thread and silk used in the ravelling-ridge-seams of the loop stitch and single-thread Sewing Machines.
4. They are adapted to the widest range of heavy and light sewing.
5. They have no rattling wires, or delicate attachments to keep in repair.
6. They require no taking apart to clean or oil, and no "Lessons" to set needle, regulate tension, or operate Machine.

Please call and examine, and demonstrate for yourself, or send for Circular, with samples of sewing.

N. B.—Town and Country Agents wanted.

FINKLE & LYON, S. M. Co.,
No. 538, Broadway, New York.
March 16, 1865. 11-6m

STRAYED

FROM the premises of the subscriber, last summer,

Three yearling Steers and a Heifer,

One of the steers has horned red and white spots, the other three are mostly red with a few white spots.

Any person giving information where they are, will be rewarded.

JAMES BECKET.
1st Con. Otonabee, Feb. 1, 1865. 9-11in*

GRAND

ORANGE SOIREE

IN AID OF

The Support of the Orange Wing of the Protestant Orphans' Home, Toronto,

Under the direction of the County Orange Lodge of the County of Peterboro,

Will be held in the Town Hall,

PETERBOROUGH,

On Friday, 17th March,

AT ONE O'CLOCK.

Addresses will be delivered by J. FLANIGAN, Esq., Grand Master of Central Canada; the Rev. Da. LETT, Grand Chaplain of the Supreme Grand Lodge of British North America; the Rev. Dr. SCOATT, of Port Hope, Deputy Grand Chaplain; and several other eloquent Ministers of the Gospel and Public Speakers.

PROFESSOR CHALAUPKA'S

CELEBRATED BRASS BAND

Will be present and will play while refreshments are being partaken of and between the addresses.

COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT:

W. Bro. D. G. Hatton, County Master,
" J. Graham, District M., Peterboro,
" J. Armstrong, " Otonabee,
" J. Collins, " Norwood,
Brother D. McDonald, W. M. 457
" A. Graham, " 180
" F. Weir, " 49
" R. Weir, " 484
" R. Chowen, " 122
" Thos. Scene, " 1072
" D. McIntyre, " 494
" Chase, " 1175
" W. H. Stephenson " 34
" Edward Foster,
" William McCullough,
" William Deacon,
" John Smith,
" William Browncomb.

Tickets of Admission 25 Cents,

To be obtained from all Members of the Committee, and at the principal places of business in Peterborough.

J. SMITH, Co. Sec. & Sec. of Com.
D. G. HATTON, Co. Master.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

Peterboro, March 8, 1865. 10

ROYAL

MAIL STAGE.

HALIBURTON TO MINDEN.

A MAIL STAGE leaves the Post Office, Haliburton, in the Township of Dysart, (English Company's Townships,)

Every Monday, Wednesday and Friday Morning,

At EIGHT o'clock, for Minden. It returns from Minden to Haliburton

Every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday Morning.

Leaving the Post Office, Minden, (Bobcaygeon Road,) at EIGHT o'clock.

FARE, HALF A DOLLAR.

February 15, 1865. 7-4in-alt

$500 REWARD!

WHEREAS, on the night of the 3rd inst. did maliciously set fire to the Workshop of John Britton, the above reward of Five Hundred Dollars will be paid by the Town Council to any one who will give such information as will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the said person or persons.

C. PERRY, Mayor,
March 7, 1865. Town of Peterborough.

DUNKIN'S BILL.

HENRY CALCUTT

RETURNS THANKS to his numerous Beer Customers for their liberal patronage, and is now prepared to supply them with

TEMPERANCE ALE,

To be called "DUNKIN ALE," put up in Barrels and Bottles.

Peterboro', March 1st, 1865. 10-tf

A RARE CHANCE.

FOR SALE, OR TO LET for the Season, an Entire Horse rising four years old with great bone and action. Apply at this Office.

March 8th, 1865. 10-tf

NOTICE.

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Partnership heretofore existing, under the name of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., in the Town of Peterborough, was dissolved by mutual consent, on the Twenty-third day of February last.

All debts due to the firm are to be paid to John Whyte, who will settle the claims due by the late firm.

J. HN WHYTE,
WILLIAM HAMILTON.
Dated the 7th of March, 1865. 10

NOTICE.

ALL those indebted to the late firm of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., by Note or Book Account will please call and settle the same forthwith, as all debts not paid before the 30th of April next, will be placed in suit for collection.

JOHN WHYTE.
Peterborough, March 7, 1865. 10

A CARD.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

THE Subscribers is returning thanks to their numerous friends in and around Peterborough for the liberal patronage they have received for the past 8 years, beg to say that although they have dissolved partnership the business will still be carried on by them in all its branches, as heretofore, in the same premises. Mr. Whyte carrying on the Agricultural department, and Mr. Hamilton the Machine department.

WILLIAM HAMILTON.
JOHN WHYTE.
Peterborough, March 7, 1865. 10

PRIMARY SCHOOL.

MISS. E. RUTHERFORD

WILL COMMENCE A PRIMARY SCHOOL,

In the School Room Adjoining the Wesleyan Church,

On MONDAY the 20th instant.

TERMS, 25 cents per month.
Peterborough, Jan. 19th, 1865.

GREAT SACRIFICE!

CHEAP SALE OF DRY GOODS.

LESLIE & FAIRWEATHER,

HUNTER STREET, sole for this, at COST PRICE,

THEIR ENTIRE STOCK

—OF—

MANTLES: BLACK CLOTH, SEALSKIN, AND WHITNEY MANTLES, from $1.50 to $7.00.

SHAWLS: Plain Wool, and Shepherd Plaid Shawls; Dagmas, and Himalay Shawls; also, a few very superior Paisley filled and Broche Shawls.

SILKS: English and French Black Glaces, French Gros Royal; Fancy Checked and Striped Silks, and very rich figured Silk worth $35 the dress, to be sold for $27.25.

A Large and Varied Stock of General Dry Goods at a Reduction of 15 Per Cent from usual Prices.

French Merinos and Colourgs, Lustres and Alpacas,
And a great variety of Dress Goods; Cloakings and Skirtings;
Prints, White Cottons and Factories, Striped Shirtings and Denims;

White and Colored Flannels, Blankets, Railway Wrappers,
And Horse Covers; Tweeds, Coatings and Over-coatings;
And a good assortment of Hosiery, &c., &c., &c.

Now is the time for Bargains.

A CALL IS RESPECTFULLY SOLICITED.

Peterborough, December 7th, 1864.

STRICKLAND & ROGERS,

Beg to announce the completion of their

FALL STOCK of DRY GOODS

Which has been selected with great care, and will be found complete in every department.

They would direct particular attention to their great variety of

DRESS GOODS AND TRIMMINGS,

Everything new in the Fancy line. A full assortment of

ENGLISH, SCOTCH AND AMERICAN TWEEDS

IN THE

TAILORING DEPARTMENT.

Their Stock of Goods will be found cheap for the season in the

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

SHOW ROOMS NOW OPEN FOR INSPECTION.

P. S.—Orders executed in the above Departments in the best styles with promptitude.

Peterborough, October, 1864. 40

CARD PICTURES

Two for a Dollar!

FRAMING CHEAP

Likenesses of deceased persons enlarged from Ambrotypes and colored in oil.

Ambrotypes from 50 Cents,

AT THE

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery,

HUNTER STREET.

R. D. EWING.

Peterboro, March 1, 1865. 9

THE CANADIAN

LAND and EMIGRATION COM'Y

OF LONDON, ENGLAND.

Capital, - - £250,000 Sterling

OFFER FOR SALE OR LEASE THEIR Lands in the

Township of Dysart,

County of Peterborough, now being rapidly settled. For further information apply to

C. J. BLOMFIELD, ESQ.,
Secretary of the Company,
Toronto Bank Buildings, Toronto

Or to C. R. STEWART, ESQ.,
P. O. station,

Resident Agent, and the only authorised agent of the Company.

Dec. 21st, 1864. 51-4in

LIST OF LETTERS

REMAINING in the Peterborough Post Office 1st March, 1865. Persons calling will please ask for advertised letters.

Adams, Samuel	Harrison, Richard
Armstrong, Alexander	Hayes, John
Adams, David	Huston, Archibald
Archer, John	Jones Robert
Beavis, William	Johnstone, Annie
Bell, Matthew	Johnstone, Archy
Black, Thomas	Kiley, Edmond
Bateson, William	Kent, Hugh
Buchanan, Thomas	Lizzipa, George
Campbell, J. Monaghan	Ludzate, Honora
Coutts, James	Martin, Robert
Clute, Benjamin	Muldoon, Bernard
Cox, aron	McNoll, Julia
Carroll, Thomas	McRea, Mary Ann
Connilly, James	McLean, William
Crowly, John	Powers, Patrick
Dean Hugh	Rooney, Patrick
Duggan, Patrick	Richardson, John
Douglass, William	Robson, Ralph
Driscoll, James	Rutherford, Walter
Donoghue, Edmond	Robertson, Mrs. S. H.
Erwin, Mary Ann	Robertson, Mrs. C.
Easton, William	Rose, George
Fry, George	Reynolds, Mrs. Nancy
Flemming, William	Raymond, Charles
Foster, Mrs. Catherine	Stewart Margaret
Goodfellow, Agnes	Steens, Samuel
Hickey, Joseph	Travis, Nathan
Howard, John D.	Valentine, William
Hopkins, William Jas.	Weatherbed, Mrs.
Harris, Mrs. Sarah 6

S. J. CARVER,
Postmaster.
Peterborough, March 1st, 1865. 10

TENDERS.

TENDERS will be received by the Trustees of School Section No. 14, in the Township of Otonabee, up to the 27th inst. for the building of a FRAME SCHOOL HOUSE. The plans and specifications may be seen at the residence of Thomas Johnston, Lot No. 24, in the 8th Con. of said Township. The Trustees do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order of the Trustees,

THOS. JOHNSTON,
Sec'y and Treas'r.
School Section No. 14,
Otonabee, March 7th, 1865. 10-3in*

WATERPROOF PASTE.

THIS is the only article in the Market that will render Boots impervious to Snow Water. It is also a GREAT PRESERVATIVE to the LEATHER. ☞ No person who desires dry feet should be without it.

Manufactured and Sold, Wholesale and Retail, by

S. WHITE,
Boot and Shoe Maker,
George Street, Peterborough.
Nov. 16th, 1864.

Great Bargains.

BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.
BUY LAMPS at WILLIAMS'.
BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.
BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.
BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.
BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.
BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.
BUY LAMPS at WILLIAM'S.
BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.
BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.
BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.
BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.

Cash paid for Grain

by A. WILLIAMS.
Peterboro', Jan. 11, 1865. 2

REMOVAL.

THE subscriber begs to inform the inhabitants of LAKEFIELD and vicinity, that he has removed his

Grocery Store IN LAKEFIELD,

To Henthorn's Block, where will be found a

Good assortment of Groceries,

WHICH WILL BE SOLD

CHEAP FOR CASH,

Or Farm Produce.

ROBT. GRAHAM.
Lakefield, March 1st, 1865. 49-9

A LIBERAL OFFER.

A Complete set of Text and Blank Books for the entire Commercial Course, (Cash price, Seven Dollars) will be presented to each Student purchasing a Scholarship in

THE LONDON

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

BEFORE

The First Day of April Next.

Price of Scholarship for Gents $30 in advance.
Price of Scholarship for Ladies $20 in advance.

Students entering within said time, will be allowed the advantages of our Club Rates, the same as others.

THIS IS THE

OLDEST COMMERCIAL COLLEGE!

IN THE PROVINCE!!

And our facilities for imparting practical knowledge, by means of actual transactions are unsurpassed. In addition to the regular Commercial Branches, everything is taught without extra charge, which is requisite for obtaining a First Class Certificate for teaching common school. Drawing and Painting and Telegraphing also taught.

Good board can be obtained in private families for Two Dollars per week.

For circular containing full particulars address post paid,

J. W. JONES,
Principal London Commercial College.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JOHN WILLIAMSON an Insolvent.

PURSUANT to the provisions of the above Act, I do hereby call a meeting of the creditors of the above Insolvent to be held at the Law Office of Sidney Smith, at Peterborough, on the thirteenth day of March next, at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, for the purpose of appointing a new assignee.

JAMES CAMPBELL.

Dated at Peterborough this 17th day of February, 1865. 9

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

THE CREDITORS of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Messrs. Fairbairn and Dumble, on Water Street, in the Town of Peterborough, at one o'clock in the afternoon of Thursday, the twenty-third day of March, 1865, for the purpose of receiving statements of his affairs, and naming an Assignee, to whom he may make an assignment under the above Act.

TEMPLETON BROWN.
Peterborough, March 1st, 1865. 9-3in

MELODEON AND COTTAGE ORGAN EMPORIUM,

PETERBORO, C.W.

Estey's Perfect Melodeon AND COTTAGE ORGAN.

ESTABLISHED 1864.

FORMERLY ESTEY & GREEN.

The only Manufactory in this Country of the Perfect Melodeon and Cottage Organ with Patent Bass Damper, Patent Harmonic Attachment, and Patent Manual Sub-Base.

These inimitable Instruments have won their way to public confidence purely on their merits, and not by force of extensive advertising and purchased recommendations. With our increased facilities for manufacture, we are still unable to meet the extraordinary demand made upon us; but we hope soon to be able to fill all orders promptly.

Some of the points of superiority claimed for our Instruments, are these:—

1st.—Smooth, steady and pipe-like quality of tone.

2nd.—Great delicacy of touch and promptness of action; producing, when desired, a low, sweet, lute-like tone, unequalled by any other instrument of the class.

3d.—The Patent Bass Damper, which enables the performer to swell the treble without increasing the volume of the bass; or, by drawing the Stop, to swell the notes by the action of the foot.

4th.—The Patent Harmonic Attachment. An ingenious octave coupler, which doubles the power of the instrument without increasing its size or the number of reeds.

5th.—The Patent Manual Sub-Base, which are played with the ordinary keys and controlled by a stop. This new and valuable invention requires no extra room and serves as a substitute for the Pedal Base, and can be used by an ordinary performer.

6th.—The Knee-Stop, in the Cottage Organ, which swells or diminishes the tone by a slight movement of the left knee, without interfering with the action of the feet,—having this advantage over the Automatic Swell that the volume of tone may be readily increased without extraordinary effort, and diminished without waiting for the change in the actions of the bellows.

Our recently constructed Cottage Organ, without the attachments, is unsurpassed by any Reed Organ or Harmonium of the size: but, with the Harmonic Attachment and Manual sub-base, it is pronounced by competent judges to be far superior to any other instrument of the class in the world. Its power, sweetness, and variety of tone, simplicity of construction and ease of management, recommend it to every one as being all that is claimed for it, both for the parlor and the church.

The Harmonic Organ, for Churches and Public Halls, has a fine, powerful Pedal Base, with independent reeds: and, with the Harmonic Attachment, is believed to be the most powerful Reed Organ made, being nearly equal to a pipe organ of three times its cost.

All our Instruments are made in the most thorough manner, and warranted in every respect

JOS. R. WALTON,
Agent.
Peterborough, Jan. 1865. 4

Rev. A. C. Rose, of Troy, N.Y. says:—These give the value of five Melodeons in one. The ease of touch and promptness of action are unrivalled. It can be played with all the sweetness of the lute or Æolian harp, and changed in an instant to its full power, nearly equal to a twelve stop organ.

All orders addressed to the undersigned will receive prompt attention.

JOSEPH R. WALTON, Peterboro.
Jan 7th, 1865.

TESTIMONIALS.

JAMES BROWN, Esq., M. D.

Peterboro, October 20th, 1864.

I am happy to inform you that after the most persevering and testing trial for some weeks of the Cottage and Parlor Organ, we like it better every day. It is remarkable for variety of tone and power, and several of the best judges here say it is unequalled by any instrument of the kind (with double reed) they have ever heard. You can so control and command all its parts, as to pass easily and rapidly from the softest tones of the Harp, Lute or Piano, to the rich full swell of a large Organ. It is really played by child or adult, and is already a very great favorite with us. Its compact structure, ingenious combination of power with the new and beautiful Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-base are greatly admired and are highly creditable to the maker, Estey, of Vermont. I think it is peculiarly adapted for Church Music.

EDW. F. CROWLE, A. M. &c.

Sheridan Villa Seminary, Peterboro, Dec. 1864.

We are delighted with the Cottage Organ with Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-bass. We prefer it to any instrument of the kind we have ever seen; its tone, sweet and harmonious in the parlor, possesses sufficient power for a church.

REV. J. C. SLATER.

Wesleyan Parsonage, Millbrook, Jan. 1865.

I have much pleasure in testifying my entire satisfaction of the Cabinet Organ, purchased from you, as an instrument possessing superior qualitities in sweetness, variety and strength, to anything of the kind I have ever seen. Two experienced musicians who have examined it, concur with me in recommending it as a perfect instrument adapted to Church or Parlor.

GEO. A. NORRIS, M. D., Recording Steward of the Wesleyan Church, Omemee.

Omemee, July, 1864.

In reply to your inquiries as to the Harmonic Organ, purchased from you for our church, we have to express our highest satisfaction; in purity and sweetness of tone as well as volume of sound, it is all that can be reasonably expected.

Peterborough, Dec. 20th, 1864.

MR J. R. WALTON,—Having examined and played upon the Parlor Organs sold by you, and Manufactured by Mr. Estey. I have great pleasure in pronouncing them a first class instrument. The Harmonic attachment and manual Sub-base being a very great improvement and well worthy the patronage of the Musical public. Yours truly,

A. T. HEATHFIELD,
Organist of St. John's Church,
Peterborough.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of John Williamson, of the town of Peterborough.

THE creditors of the insolvent are notified that he has made an assignment of his estate and effects under the above Act, to me, the undersigned assignee, and they are required to furnish me, within two months from this date, with their claims specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none stating the fact, the same attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

BY-LAW No.

A BY-LAW to raise by way of loan the sum of six thousand dollars for the purpose therein mentioned.

WHEREAS the Municipal Council of the County of Peterborough have resolved to expend the sum of $6000 in constructing, making and repairing the roads and bridges within the said County

And whereas to carry into effect the said recited object it will be necessary for the said Municipal Council to raise by way of loan the sum of $6000 in the manner hereinafter mentioned.

And whereas it will require the sum of $600 to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the said debt or loan and interest, as also hereinafter mentioned.

And whereas the amount of the whole ratable property of the said Municipality, irrespective of any future increase of the same, and also irrespective of any income to be derived from the wages any investment of the sinking fund hereinafter mentioned, or any part thereof, according to the last revised assessment roll of the said Municipality, being for the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, was $2,796,683.

And whereas for paying the interest and creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the said sum of $6000 and interest, as hereinafter mentioned, it will require an equal annual special rate of thirty-one nineteenths of a mill in the dollar, in addition to all rates to be levied in each year.

Be it therefore enacted by the Municipal Council of the County of Peterborough:

1. That it shall be lawful for the Warden of the said County to raise by way of loan, from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same, upon the credit of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $6000, and to cause the same to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said County of Peterborough, for the purposes and with the objects above recited.

2. That it shall be lawful for the said Warden to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums of money as may be required not less than $100 each; and that the said debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Municipal Council, and be signed by the said Warden and counter-signed by the Treasurer of said County.

3. That said debentures shall be made payable in 10 years at the furthest from the day hereinafter mentioned for this By-law to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer of the said Municipality, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

4. That the said debentures shall bear interest at and after the rate of six per centum per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly, on the first day of April and the first day of October in each year, at the Office of the Treasurer of the said Municipality.

5. That for the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest at the rate aforesaid to become due thereon, an equal special rate of thirty-one nineteenths of a mill in the dollar shall, in addition to all other rates, be raised, levied and collected in each year upon all the ratable property in the said Municipality during the continuance of the said debentures or any of them.

6. This By-law shall take effect and come into operation upon the day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.

The above is a true copy of a proposed By-law to be taken into consideration by the Municipality of the County of Peterborough, at its Council Chamber in the Court House, in the said County, on Thursday, the 22nd day of June, 1865, at the hour of 12 of the clock, noon, at which time and place the members of the Council are hereby required to attend for the purpose aforesaid.

(Signed) WALTER SHERIDAN,
Clerk.
Peterborough, February 17th, 1865. 8-18in

GOLD PENS

FOR THE MILLION!

PENS TO SUIT THE HAND, AND PRICES TO SUIT THE POCKET.

THE BEST

Gold Pens in the World!

ON receipt of the following sums, we will send, by mail, or as direc ed, a Gold Pen or Pens, selecting the same according to the description, namely:

GOLD PENS, IN SILVER PLATED EXTENSION CASES, WITH PENCILS.

For $1 No. 2 pen; for $1 25 No. 3 pen; for $1 50 No. 4 pen; for $2 No. 5 pen; for $2 25 No. 6 pen.

These pens are stamped THE IMPERIAL PEN, and are well finished and fine writing Gold Pens, with good iridum points, although they are unwarranted, and cannot be exchanged

Warranted Gold Pens.

Our name (AMERICAN GOLD PEN Co., N. Y.,) is stamped on all our 1st quality Pens, and the points are warranted for six months, except against accident. Our second quality Pens, are stamp'd THE NATIONAL PEN, with the initials of our firm (A. G. P. Co.,) and are carefully made, having the same points as our first quality Pens, the only great difference being in the quality of the Gold.

GOLD PENS, 1st AND 2nd QUALITY IN SOLID SILVER EXTENSION CASES, WITH PENCILS.

For $2 00 a No. 1 pen 1st quality, or a No. 2 pen 2nd quality.
For $2 25 a No. 2 pen 1st quality, or a No. 3 pen 2nd quality.
For $2 25 a No. 3 pen 1st quality, or a No. 4 pen 2nd quality.
For $2 50 a No. 4 pen 1st quality, or a No. 5 pen 2nd quality.
For $3 50 a No. 5 pen 1st quality, or a No. 6 pen 2nd quality.
For $4 00 a No. 6 pen 1st quality
For $3 50 a No 7 pen. For $6 75 a No 8 pen. For $12 00 a No. 12 pen; all first quality.

Our pens rank throughout the country as equal if not superior to any gold pens manufactured Not only for their writing qualities but durability and elegant finish. The greatest care is used in their manufacture, and none are sold with the slightest imperfection which skill can detect.

Parties in ordering must specify the name, number and quality in all instances and whether stiff or limber, coarse or fine.

TO CLUBS.

A discount of 12 per cent. will be allowed on sums of $15, if sent to one address, at one time; 15 per cent. on $25; 20 per cent. on $40.

All remittances by mail, Registered, are at our risk. To all who enclose 20 cents extra for registering, we guarantee the safe delivery of the goods.

Circulars of all our new styles, with engravings of exact sizes, and prices, sent upon receipt of stamp if desired. Pens repointed for 50 cents by mail.

Stationers and Jewelers are requested to correspond with us as we can offer them GREAT INDUCEMENTS.

Address,

AMERICAN GOLD PEN CO.
4-3mos. No. 208 Broadway, N.Y.

SAWS.

ENGLISH Gate, Huley, Butting, Sawing Machine, and Cross-cut Saws, with Spear & Jackson's Files and other forwardings

GEORGE STETHEM & CO.
Peterboro February 1, 1865. 8

TO LET,

THAT COMFORTABLE COTTAGE on Queen Street, opposite St. John's Church, at present occupied by Mr. Nathaniel Shaw. Possession given next June.

C. CLUXTON.

Good News! Good News!!

E. MORRIS,

THE FAR-FAMED

HERB DOCTOR,

FROM LONDON, ENGLAND,

Is now in Peterboro' performing his most Astonishing Cures, as usual.

The mercurial Quacks may prate and gabble,
With Latin names for every centrum;
But Morris' Herbs excels such rabble,
He explains their virtues from his centrum.

He is well known o'er Canada,
In every City, Town, and Village;
He'll effect a cure for half the pay
Charged by those Quacks who live by pillage.

To those afflicted with RHEUMATISM try Dr. Morris' justly celebrated

Electric Invigorating Fluid,

for dispelling Rheumatic and other pains that may afflict the human system, internal or external.

He doth use such Balms as have no strife,
With nature or the laws of life:
With mercury his name he'll never stain,
Nor poison men for sake of gain.

Our Father whom all go

Select Poetry.

A DREAM.

I dream'd I was one summer's day,
On the banks of a lovely river,
And in love with Nature's Giver;
Around the wild flowers were in bloom,
Above were branches waving,
And on the air a sweet perfume
My dreamy senses laving.

Three fleecy clouds were in the sky,
On the azure blue were sailing;
One lovely bird was singing nigh
Where trembling vines were trailing;
A zephyr skipp'd upon the wave,
Then flutter'd in the willow,
Then caught a leaf and ruthless gave
It to the rushing billow.

The flowers the sunshine kindly woo'd
A charm from heaven descending,
And I partook of Nature's mood,
And seem'd with Nature blending;
I spoke a word no mortal heard,
And that one word was fading;
I drew a sigh, nor knew that nigh
My lone retreat invading.

There was a being bright and fair;
Thus kindly he addressed me,
He seem'd a being of the air
That with his presence blessed me.
Daughter of Earth, arise, awake,
And cease thy useless sighing,
Thy fears are mortal, and partake
Of Nature's dross—that's dying.

For Nature's semblance only dies
To the heart unsatisfying.
The real lives beyond the skies
All glorious and undying.
And I as he spoke, a heavenly grace
In words and manner blending,
He charm'd the hour, he charm'd the place
Strength through my being sending.

And when he took his heavenward flight
I felt no more forsaken;
Still with me dwells the trusting light,
His presence did awaken.

Varieties.

Proverbs by Joshua Billings.

Don't swap with your relashuns unless you ken afford to give them the big end of the train.

Marry young, and, if circumstances require it, often.

If you can't get fine clothes and education too, get the clothes fust.

Stay "how are you" to everybody.

Kultivate modesty, but mind and have a good stock of impudence on hand.

Be charitable—three cent peices were made on purpose.

Dont take any body's advice except your own.

It costs more to borrow than to buy.

If a man flatters you, you can kalkulate that he is a roag or a fule.

Don't mortify the flesh to much; twasn't the sores of Lazzerus that sent him up to heaven.

If you itch for fame, go inter a grave yard, and scratch yourself agin a tumestone.

Young men be more anxious about the pedigree you're going to leave than you are about the one somebody left you.

I will say to all young men, 'Go in' and to all old fellers, 'Get out.'

As good a way to get rich as enny is to run in debt two hundred thousand dollars, and then go to work and pay your debts.

Edoosofers tells us the world revolves on its own axis, and Josh Billings tells us that full half the folks on airth think they are the axis.

N. B.—These ere proverbs have stood a hundred years, and hain't gin out yet.

Here is a fifty year old jeu d'esprit that is "quite as good as new." A rich old gentleman, of the name of Gould, married a girl not yet out of her "teens." After the wedding, he wrote the following couplet, to inform a friend of the "happy" event:

"You see, my dear doctor,
Though eighty years old,
A girl of nineteen
Fell in love with old Gould!"

To which the doctor replied:

"A girl of nineteen
May love Gould it is true;
But believe me, dear sir,
It is gold without u!"

Not unlike this was the retort of the young lady to an aged lover whose name was Page. He found one of the damsel's gloves and returned it with these lines:

"If from your glove you take the letter g.
Then glove is love, which I devote to thee."

She answered:

"If from your name you take the letter P.
Then Page is age, and that won't do for me!"

Dr. Franklin's celebrated receipt for cheap sleigh driving runs as follows:—Sit in the hall in your night clothes, with both doors open, so you can get a good draft; put your feet in a pail of ice water; drop the front door key down your back; hold an icicle in one hand and ring the tea bell with the other. He says you can't tell the difference with your eyes shut, and it is a great deal cheaper.

BALAAM'S ASS.—A princess of Hungary once asked a monk, who was a scholar and a wit, to explain to her the story of Balaam and his ass, adding. "Good Father, I can hardly believe that an ass should be so talkative." "Madam," replied the reverend father, "your sarcasms may cease when you are informed it was a female."

Will galvanic ring cure depression? asks a lady. What caused the complaint, ma'am? asked the doctor. The loss of my husband mournfully replied the lady. Then you had better get a wedding ring, answered the doctor.

A Test.—Judge Jeffries, when on the bench, told an old fellow with a long beard that he supposed he had a conscience as long as his beard. "Does your Lordship," replied th old man, "measure consciences by beards? If so, your Lordship has none at all."

Two travellers were robbed in a wood and tied to trees. One of them in dispair exclaimed, "Oh, I am undone!" "Are you?" said the other joyfully; "then I wish you would come and undo me.

The inventor of printing was no fool; but he has caused myriads to make fools of themselves.

A down east editor declares that modesty is a quality that highly adorns the women, but ruins a man.

A barrister is only invited to sit on the bench when he has had a considerable amount of standing at the bar.

No support, when we are right, can be received from those who are ever ready to yeild to us when we are wrong.

Why are young ladies like arrows?—Because they are all in a quirer when the beaus come.

Can a man with a wooden leg be considered a foot passenger.

The Dutch war-cry in New York—Nicks come arouse.

GREAT

CLEARING OUT

SALE

AT THE

Montreal House!

Whole Stock

SELLING OFF!

AT

GREAT

REDUCTIONS.

☞ Call early and secure a bargain.

☞ See small bills.

Peterboro, Jan. 26, 1864.

BLETCHER'S CANADIAN CLOTHES WRINGER

COMBINES more Strength of Frame, Capacity for Pressure, and Power of Action, than any other in the market. We manufacture five sizes intended for and adapted to Families, Hotels, Laundries, &c

Bletcher's Canadian Clothe's Wringer

Saves Time. Labor, Clothes and Money.

It will wear for years without repair!

No Servant can break it!

A Child ten years old can operate it!

No caution or skill required in its use!

It will wring anything from a Thread to the Heaviest Quilt.

It saves its Cost in Clothing

Every six or nine Months.

The water can be pressed from large and small articles easier, quicker and more thoroughly than by the ordinary old fashioned buck-breaking, wrist-straining and clothes-destroying process.

It is easily and firmly secured to the Tub or Washing Machine and will fit Tubs of any shape or size. Every Wringer is Warranted in every particular, either with or without gear gearing; and in the event of any part becoming broken or mislaid, we can replace it at once. We sell them at prices that defy competition, as the following will testify:

No. 1, nine inch roll, ... $4 50
2, nine and a half inch roll, ... 4 75
3, ten inch roll, ... 5 00
4, twelve inch roll, ... 5 75
5, fourteen inch roll, ... 6 50

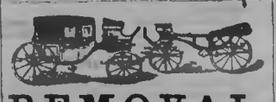
We keep all the sizes above on hand at all times at our Sewing Machine Office, over Mr. S. White's shoe store,

George Street, Peterborough.

Entrance by the Hall Door bestween Mr. Samuel White's and I. Robinson & Co's.

THOMAS BLETCHER.

Peterboro,' May 11, 1864. 10



REMOVAL.

Tobias Fitzgerald,

HAS REMOVED his Carriage and Waggon Establishment to those COMMODIOUS PREMISES on the

CORNER OF BROCK AND WATER ST'S,

OPPOSITE THE COURT HOUSE PARK,

Where he will continue to MANUFACTURE

CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, WAGONS, SLEIGHS, CUTTERS, &c.,

Which he will warrant to be made from the best Timber; and any person ordering from him are invited to call and examine the work before it is painted.

Jobbing & Horse Shoeing

Will be punctually attended to.

Peterborough, August, 1864. 33

PAINTING & GRAINING

DONE BY

W. H. KENNEDY,

HUNTER STREET.

HATS! CAPS!

AND FURS!

JUST RECEIVED,

A large and well-selected stock of

Silk, Tweed & Felt Hats,

ALSO,—

WHITNEY, CLOTH, and IMITATION LAMB CAPS,

OF MY OWN MANUFACTURE, IN

THE LATEST STYLES,

SUITABLE

For the Coming Season.

THE FURS

Are all carefully MADE UP BY MYSELF, and consist of

Ladies Gentlemen & Children's FURS,

SLEIGH-ROBES,

IN GREAT VARIETY,

Of Bear, Wolfe, Racoon and Buffalo. All of which will be sold at the lowest possible rates.

BATTING OF GOOD QUALITY FOR SALE.

The highest Cash price paid for Raw Furs.

WM. LECH.

Peterborough, Aug. 24, 1864. 34

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

PIANO FORTE MANUFACTURERS,

499 BROADWAY,

New York.

THE attention of the public and the trade is invited to our NEW SCALE

7 OCTAVE Rosewood Piano Fortes,

WHICH FOR

VOLUME AND PURITY OF TONE,

ARE UNRIVALLED

By any hitherto offered in this market. They contain all the modern improvements,

French Grand Action,
Harp Pedal,
Iron Frame Over-Strung Brass,
&c., &c.,

And each instrument being made under the personal supervision of Mr. J. H. GROVESTEEN, who has had a practical experience of over 30 years in their manufacture, is fully warranted in every particular.

The "Grovesteen Piano Forte" received the highest award of merit over all others at the Celebrated World's Fair.

Where were exhibited instruments from the best makers of London, Paris, Germany, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and New York; and, also, at the American Institute for five successive years, the

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

from both of which can be seen at our warerooms.

☞ By the introduction of improvements we make a still more perfect Piano Forte, and by manufacturing largely, with a strictly cash system, are enabled to offer these instruments at

A PRICE WHICH WILL

Preclude Competition!

PRICES:

No. 1, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood plain case, $275.

No. 2, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood heavy moulding, $300.

No. 3, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood Louis XIV. style, $325. Terms: Net Cash, in current funds.

Descriptive circulars sent free.

Sept. 13th, 1864. 7-1 Yr

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PHOTOGRAPHIC MATERIALS!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,

501 BROADWAY, N. Y.

IN addition to our main business of Photographic Materials, we are Headquarters for the following, viz.:

STEREOSCOPES,

AND

STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS,

Of these we have an immense assortment, including War Scenes, American and Foreign Cities and Landscapes, Groups, Statuary, &c., &c. Also, Revolving Stereoscopes, for public or private exhibition. Our Catalogue will be sent to any address on receipt of stamp.

PHOTOGRAPHIC ALBUMS!

We were the first to introduce these into the United States, and we manufacture immense quantities in great variety, ranging in price from 50 cents to $50 each. Our Albums have the reputation of being superior in beauty and durability to any others. They will be sent by mail, FREE, on receipt of price. Fine Albums made to order.

CARD PHOTOGRAPHS.

Our Catalogue now embraces over FIVE THOUSAND different subjects (to which additions are continually being made,) of Portraits of eminent Americans, &c., viz.: about

100 Major-Generals,	550 Statesmen,
200 Brig.-Generals,	130 Divines,
275 Colonels,	125 Authors,
100 Lieut-Colonels,	40 Artists,
250 Other Officers,	125 Stage,
75 Navy Officers,	50 Prom. Women,

150 Prominent Foreign Portraits,
3,000 Copies of works of Art,

Including reproductions of the most celebrated Engravings, Paintings, Statues, &c. Catalogues sent on receipt of stamp. An order for One Dozen Pictures from our Catalogue will be filled on receipt of $1.80, and sent by mail, free.

Photographers and others ordering goods C. O. D. will please remit twenty-five per cent of the amount with their order.

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,
Manufacturers of Photographic Materials,
501 Broadway, New York.

The prices and quality of our Goods cannot fail to satisfy. 46

COPLAND'S ALE!

A LARGE QUANTITY OF COPLAND'S Celebrated Sparkling Pale Ale,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND BY

LEWIS GLOVER, Sole Agent.

Peterboro, Oct. 25th, 1862. 44

J. R. Walton's Column.

J. R. WALTON, Insurance, House & Land Agent.

ALL business trusted to him will be promptly attended to.

OFFICE OVER G. W. ROBINSON'S STORE, GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

SCOTTISH Provincial Assurance Co.

ESTABLISHED, 1825.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

CAPITAL, One Million Sterling.

INVESTED IN CANADA, over $450,000.

Sums Ass'd under Current Life Policies	£2,200,000 Stg
Accumulated Fund	403,630 "
Annual Income	107,930 "
Amo'nt proposed for Assurance, 1862, under 1063 applications	457,235 "

CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE,—Place D'Armes, Montreal.

A. DAVIDSON PARKER,
Secretary for Canada.

ATTENTION is directed to the rate of premiums adopted by this Company, which will compare favorably with that of any other institution in Canada. Investments of Company's funds to the large amount of nearly five hundred thousand dollars have been completed in Canada; and as all business transactions are finally disposed of in the Province, the Scottish Provincial offers all the facilities presented by a purely local Company, while it possesses the additional advantage of a large capital, and an influential and responsible body of shareholders in Great Britain.

Policies effected on or before 31st January next will receive a full year's bonus over those effected thereafter.

PETERBOROUGH:

J. R. WALTON, AGENT.

November 25, 1863. 48

PROVINCIAL INSURANCE COMPANY, OF CANADA.

Head Office,—Toronto Street, Toronto.

FIRE! MARINE!

DIRECTORS:

Hon. J. Hillyard Cameron, M. P. P., President.
Lewis Moffatt, Esq., Vice-President,
Hon. George Crawford, M. L. C.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq.
Geo. Duggan, Jr., Esq.,
John Cameron, Esq.,
A. M. Smith, Esq., M. P. P.,
Chris Robinson, Esq.,
W. J. McDonell, Esq.,
C. J. Campbell, Esq.,
Manager & Secretary,—James S. Crocker, Esq.,
Assistant Secretary,—Donough O'Brien, Esq.,
Solicitors,—Messrs. Duggan & Burns,
Bankers,—Commercial Bank of Canada.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent for Peterborough.

November, 1863. 49

ESPECIAL NOTICE TO FARMERS!

INSURE YOUR CROPS

IN THE

CANADA WEST FARMER'S

Mutual and Stock Insurance Co.

OF HAMILTON.

It can be done for a mere trifle

BY APPLYING TO

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent,
Peterborough.

August 10, 1864. 32

21 BUILDING LOTS FOR SALE.

KNOWN as Park Lot No. 7, adjoining the property of Wm. Claxton, Esq., near the Little Lake. Terms to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Agent

Peterboro', Dec. 1, 1863. 49

FOR SALE CHEAP,

AND ON LIBERAL TERMS!

LOT No 9, 5th con. Township of Douro, 107 Acres of good Land, 70 acres cleared with a good Frame Dwelling, just new, and good office buildings, with three wells of water on the premises. Situate about six miles from Peterborough. For further particulars apply to

JOS. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, May 9th, 1863. 19

For Sale.

COMBINED Reaping and Mowing Machine, no worse than new—Patterson's make, of Belleville. Also, A good second hand Lumber Waggon.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterboro', June 28th, 1864. 26

CANADA WEST FARMERS

Mutual Stock Insurance Co.,

HAMILTON.

J. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

For Sale or to Let,

FOR A TERM OF YEARS,

TWO DWELLING HOUSES

In the Village of Lakefield, with 2 Lots, each one-third of an acre.

For particulars, apply to the undersigned at Peterborough,

J. GRIFFIN,
General Builder, Pump-maker, &c., &c.

Peterboro', March 7th, 1864. 10

Agricultural.

Advantages of Trees.

We do not know the author of the following beautiful and comprehensive notice of trees, but we think its perusal will cause many of our readers to involuntarily and heartily respond to the familiar and popular language of the song, "Woodman spare that tree":—

How beautiful, most beautiful, of earth's ornaments, are trees? Waving out on the hills and down in the valleys, in wild wood or orchard, or singly by the wayside. God's spies and benizon seem to us ever present in trees. For their shade and shelter to man and brute; for the music the wind makes among their leaves and the birds in their branches; for the fruits and flowers they bear to delight the palate and the eye, and the fragrance that grows out and upward from them forever, we are worshipful trees.

"Under his own vine and fig tree"—what more expressive of rest, independence and lordship in the earth! Well may the Arab reverence in the date palm a God-giving source where the families of man, and the birds of Heaven build their nests. Without trees what a desert place would be our earth—naked, parched, and hateful to the eye! Yet how many are thoughtless of the use and beauty of trees. How many strike the axe idly or wantonly at their roots. Above all other things in the landscape we should deal gently with trees. Most beautiful where and as God plants them, but beautiful even as planted by the poorest art of man, trees should be protected and preserved. If he is a benefactor who causes two blades of grass to grow where one grew before, how much greater his benefactor who plants a tree in some waste place, to shelter and shade, to draw thither song birds and to bear fruit for man. Plant trees, O man, that has waste land, careful of those that are planted.

AN ARGUMENT FOR SMALL FARMS AND HIGH CULTURE.—corresponden t of the Providence (R. I.) Press, makes the following statement of the profits of a single acre of land cultivated the last season by D. S. Reed, of Bristol, Rhode Island:—"The profits of an acre of land.—Noticing in Monday's Press your statement as about Capt A. B. Chalsey's crop of onions and carrots from 2½ acres, I desire to give you a statement of D. S. Reed, of Bristol. His lot contained one acre, five eighths of which was planted with onions and three eighths devoted to raising onion seed and some other crops of small account. He sold in one lot from five eighths of an acre $1,248 worth of onions, and has .50 bushels still on hand which at $1 50 per bushel would make his crop of onions bring $1,470. From the other three-eighths of the acre he sold to Burdick & Barrett $600 worth of onion seed, and reserved $100 for his own use. Now add $15 for a good crop of carrots, put in after taking off the onions, and we have the nice little sum of $2,248 as the yield of one acre. The net income from the acre was $2,000

TURNIP CULTURE IN CANADA.—Sanford Howard, of the Michigan Agricultural College, was in Canada the past autumn, and writes as follows to the Country Gentleman.

"The extent to which root culture is carried on in Canada would surprise some of our farmers. The Swedish turnip (ruta baga) is the principal root, and of this I found from ten to twenty acres or more on farms in general. Mr. Stone, as I was informed, had fifty acres. I saw a portion of the crop, which, like that of this section generally, is fine, although the season, until quite late, was very unfavorable. Many farmers say their crop will reach from 800 to 1,000 bushels to the acre."

As the climate of Canada West is quite similar to that of Western New York, we would be glad if some of our Canadian subscribers would give us their method of culture, and especially as to the best way of keeping the turnips during the winter.

CALVES WITH SHEEP.—It is well known, perhaps to most of our agricultural readers, that late calves when they come to the barn in the fall, will, if confined in the yards with older animals, frequently sicken and become debilitated. Being weaker and small, they are usually shoved about, and deprived of their due share of food, and in consequence, fall away rapidly. Now I never allow animals of this description to associate or be confined with larger ones, put them with my sheep, where there is no danger of their being or receiving harm. Sick calves, I have observed, often pick up and devour with avidity the hay and straw from among the sheep's feet, and I know of no article that has a more immediate and salutary effect in restoring diseased calves to health than sheep dung. And I have practiced this usage for many years, and have never lost an animal, though I have had many sick when they came to the barn.—Germantown Telegraph.

CHINCH BUG IN WHEAT.—A. W. Pease of Salem, Wis. writes the Rural:—"To prevent the chinch bug from destroying wheat, at the time of sowing your wheat mix a small quantity of Hungarian grass seed with the wheat and the bugs will not interfere with the wheat until they have destroyed all the grass; by that time the wheat will be too far forward for them to injure it. The grass will not injure your wheat if no bugs appear. Pidgeon grass will answer the same purpose, but when that is once in the land it is not so easy to get rid of it. The Hungarian will not live over winter. Try it."—Rural New Yorker.

TO WARM POTATOES.—Potatoes are done nicely in the following way: Par-boil as many potatoes as are needed; let them lie till the next morning, then cut them in small squares; add to them cream or milk, enough to make them more than moist, with a little butter, and pepper and salt. Place on the fire, cover them, and stir gently at times.

ONION PICKLE.—In November, take well dried onions, of a good shape, small and round, peel them and throw them into salt and water. Let them remain there a few days; drain them, put them in a jar and pour over them spiced vinegar.

TO KEEP BUGS FROM VINES.—Take the feathers from a hen's wing, dip them in spirits of turpentine, and stick one or two in a hill. After every every shower it will be necessary to dip them again.

WARTS ON HORSES.—In reply to an inquiry how a wart can be removed from a horse, the Irish Farmer's Gazette says; "Keep it constantly dressed in Archangel tar."

Odors from boiling hams may be prevented by throwing red pepperpods or a few pieces of charcoal into the pot.

The boy who undertook to ride a horse-radish is now practising on a saddle of mutton

For Sale, To Let, &c.

FOR SALE.

CHEAP FOR CASH,

OR ON LONG APPROVED CREDIT.

ONE very fast grey Mare, 8 years old. One brown Mare, 6 years old. One splendid Breed Mare; all gentle, and fit for any work. One Lumber Waggon, one Sleigh, and one set of Double Harness.

A good yoke of Oxen or Steers will be taken in exchange.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, Oct. 13, 1864. 41

FOR SALE, OR, TO LET.

THE subscriber wishes either to Sell or to Let those premises at present occupied by Mr. John Ritchie as a tavern,

In the Village of Bobcaygeon.

The Hotel is in a good state of repair, with good stables and other outbuildings.

For terms, &c., apply to

ROBERT HUNTER.

Bobcaygeon, Sept. 10, 1864. 37

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE

IN THE

TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE property of the late WM. LANNIN, on Charlotte Street, opposite the Railway Station is offered for sale on reasonable terms. the lot has been divided into five parts, three of which are situated on Bethune Street, and has a frontage of 57 feet by 114 deep; the other two are situated on Charlotte Street and have a frontage of 57 feet by 89 feet in depth which makes them desirable for building purposes.

The whole will be sold in one lot or to suit purchasers.

For terms and particulars apply to

D. HOPKINS
or THOS. LANNIN.

Peterboro', August 24, 1864. 34

VALUABLE FARM

FOR SALE OR TO LET.

BEING composed of the east halves of Lots Nos. 22 and 23, in the first concession of the Township of Otonabee. There are about 150 acres cleared, and a good Frame Dwelling House, two frame Barns, a first-rate Driving House, Sheds and Stables, a good Well and Orchard on the premises.

Title indisputable, and immediate possession will be given. TERMS MODERATE.

For further particulars apply to G. F. Orde, or to the proprietor,

WM. WEIR,
Norham Percy, C. W.

5

Farm for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale Lot No. 19, in the 12th Concession of Otonabee. There are 120 acres of good land in the farm, with a little over 100 acres cleared. There are good buildings, and two wells of water on the farm; it is about four miles from the Town of Peterborough.

TERMS.—One-half down, the remainder in 8 annual instalments.

JOSHUA DAWSON.

Otonabee Jan. 30th, 1864. 5

FARM FOR SALE.

LOT No. 27, in the 16th Concession of Smith containing 200 acres; there are 120 acres cleared, and on the premises there are a hewed Log House, Log Barn, good Well, and Orchard The Farm is situated on the main road to Buckhorn, 17 miles form the Town of Peterborough, there is a School House on one corner of it.

For Particulars apply to

ANDREW McKEE,
14th Con. of Smith.

January 12th 1864. 2

LANDS FOR SALE.

TWENTY THOUSAND ACRES OF LAND, both wild and improved, and at all prices, for sale in various parts of Canada, principally in the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria and Ontario, cheap, and on easy terms.

For lists and particulars apply to the proprietor

T. D. LEDYARD, Barrister, &c.
South-west corner King and Yonge Streets,
TORONTO.

8

HOUSE AND FURNITURE.

A COMFORTABLE HOUSE to Let The Furniture in it can be had at very reasonable terms Inquire at the office of Messrs. Fairbairn & Dumble, Barristers.

Peterborough, Nov. 9th, 1864. 43

A HINT TO THE WORTHY CITIZENS OF CANADA.

BE WARNED IN TIME.

ALL parties purchasing my Pills and Ointment for their several complaints are respectfully warned against purchasing either Pills or Ointment purporting to be my preparations, that have a United States Stamp around the Boxes and Pots. There is no Treaty between the people of the States and the Home Government, therefore an United States Stamp does not protect my preparations. There are no stamps upon my Canadian style of Pills or Ointment, coming from the United States. I rely only for protection on the water mark in book of directions around each Box or Pot. Before you purchase them, see that there are no U. S. Stamps upon the Box of Pills or Ointment. Purchase none that have United States stamps on.

HOLLOWAY,
46 Maiden Lane.

St. GEORGE'S SALOON

GEORGE MITCHELL,

Sole Agent in Peterborough for

CREIGHTON'S

Superior ALES and PORTER,

In Casks or Bottle,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

For Cash on Delivery.

Peterboro', April 14th, 1864. 15

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON FIRE AND LIFE

Insurance Company.

CAPIT L.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA

ASSURANCE COMP'Y

CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, $2,000,000

Peterborough, Jan. 1st, 1863. 1

GO TO

WM. H. KENNEDY'S

FOR YOUR

WINDOW BLINDS.

County of Peterboro' & Victoria

DIRECTORY

FOR 1865-6.

THIS WORK, for which a thorough canvass is now being made, will shortly be published. It will contain a separate Alphabetical Directory of every Town and Village of both Counties, together with an Appendix in which will be found much useful and reliable information of a County and Provincial character.

In order to ensure a large sale for this work—and thus make it an excellent medium for Advertising—it will be issued at the low price of $1.50, at which figure it cannot fail of having a very large circulation.

☞ Any information relative to the rates of advertising, &c, can be obtained at the office of this paper.

O. L. FULLER,
Publisher.

December 14 h, 1864. 50

ARE YOU IN AGONY?

A WELL SPRING OF HOPE FOR ALL!

CAN BE FOUND IN

Holloway's Pills.

Be of Good Cheer! The Sinking may be Saved!

BY THE USE OF

Holloway's Ointment.

THE history of these great Remedies is the most wonderful medical revelation that the world has ever known. It establishes the all important fact that WHEREVER, and in WHATEVER SHAPE internal diseases exists, the disinfecting, searching and healing properties of the Pills are fully equal to its subjection and cure, and that, with the Ointment, they are

The Great Ambassadors of Health to all Mankind.

This is not a history written by one man, or even derived from the experiences of one nation It consists of a compilation of testimonials from the sick of every country—an unimpeachable record, the like of which has never been adduced in favor of any discovery or invention since time began.

These Mighty Healers, World Known and World Tried are a Boon to the Sick

The want of a sterling medicinal to meet the ills and necessities of the suffering portion of humanity, and one entirely free from mineral and other deleterious particles, was severely felt till this all powerful medicine was ushered into the world; HOLLOWAY'S INVALUABLE PILLS have become the HOUSEHOLD REMEDY of all nations Their attribute is to PREVENT as well as to CURE: they attack the MEDIX or ROOT of the complaint, and thus, by removing the hidden cause of disease, re-invigorate and restore the drooping energies of the system, assisting nature in her task of VITAL and FUNCTIONARY REFORMATION.

Disorders of the Stomach

Are the sources of the deadliest maladies. Their effect is to vitiate all the fluids of the body, and to send a poisoned stream through all the channels of circulation. Now, what is the operation of the Pills? They cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver, bring the relaxed or irritated stomach into a natural condition, and, acting through the secretive organs upon the BLOOD itself, change the state of the system from sickness to health, by exercising a simultaneous and wholesome effect upon all its parts and functions.

Woman in all her Difficulties

Is invited to test the regulating and restorative powers of the harmless but effective preparation. At the two epochs of life in which the female system undergoes the most important and critical changes, the Pills will prove a positive safeguard against evil consequences. They are also confidently recommended as a specific in every disorder to which females are exclusively a heir.

Be it Understood,

That the above statements can at all times be verified by the written testimony (extending through a quarter of a century) of tens of thousands of unimpeachable witnesses.

Bilious Maladies, &c., &c.

In whatever form disease attacks the liver, it is repelled and exterminated by this searching, painless, and irresistable curative. Bilious remittents, bilious purging, and all the ordinary disorders of the organ, indicated by pain in the right side and between the shoulders, yellowness of the white of the eyes, weakness and debility, &c., are relieved and removed by the remedy, with a celerity which astonishes the sufferers and their friends. Let the sick whom the faculty have abandoned, resort with confidence to this powerful anti-bilious agent, and a restoration to health and activity will be the unvarying result.

Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Weakness, &c. &c.

The terrible bodily and mental pangs which characterise Dyspepsia are at once mitigated by the Pills. Diarrhœa, constipation, headache, physical prostration, nervous tremors, hot flushes, spasms, affections of the kidneys, hemorrhoids or piles, and, in fact, all internal complaints, from whatever cause arising, give way before the salutary influence of this extraordinary remedy. As a specific for dyspepsia, and the disorders connected with it, or growing out of it, the Pills are always to be relied on when every other medicine and mode of treatment has utterly failed.

Holloway's Pills are the best Remedy known for the following diseases:

Asthma,	Headaches,
Bowel Complaints,	Indigestion,
Coughs,	Influenza,
Colds,	Inflamation,
Chest Diseases,	Inward Weakness,
Costiveness,	Liver Complaints,
Dyspepsia,	Lowness of Spirits,
Diarrhœa,	Piles,
Dropsy,	Stone and Gravel,
Debility,	Secondary Symptoms,
Fever and Ague,	Venral Affections,
Female Complaints,	Worms of all kinds.

CAUTION.

If the readers of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug store in his place, let him write to me, enclosing the amount, and I will send a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' make.

None are genuine unless the words "Holloway New York and London," are discernible as a Water Mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same knowing them to be spurious.

☞ Sold at the manufactory of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and the civilized world, in boxes, at 25 cents, 63 cents, and $1 40 each.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes. 33

STEAMSHIP TICKETS STOLEN.

WHEREAS, on the night of Tuesday, 30th August, the Express Office at Peterboro' was broken into, and some Tickets of the Montreal Ocean Steamship Company stolen therefrom; the public are hereby cautioned against purchasing Tickets of the above Company numbered 210 to 240 inclusive, as they have been cancelled

JNO. FOX,
Agent.

Peterborough, Sept. 1s, 1864. 4-tf

PETERBORO EXAMINER.

S. S. PECK, Esq., has kindly consented to act as Agent for the Examiner, for the neighborhood of Gull River.

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

Peterboro, January, 1865.

REEVES' AMBROSIA

FOR THE

Growth, Beauty and Preservation

OF THE

HAIR.

REEVES' AMBROSIA is prepared from valuable Roots and Herbs, each and all of which have enjoyed a reputation among eminent physicians, for their medical properties. These Roots, &c., are carefully selected and chemically compounded by such a method as to extract and combine their true medical virtues in the most effectual manner.

REEVES' AMBROSIA — Contains Burdock Root. Thoroughly eradicates Dirt, Scurf and Dandruff.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Witch Hazel. —Allays all pains in the head; cures sore and diseased Scalps, Salt Rheum, Itching, &c &c. Removes Dull Headache.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Bay Berries —Gives vigour and healthy action to the Roots of the hair—is very cooling to the Head.

REEVES' AMBROSIA — Contains Southern Wood.—Prevents the hair from turning prematurely grey.—Restores grey hair.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Rosemary Flowers.—Nourishes the roots of the hair and gives impulse to its growth—is a delightful ingredient.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains:

L——r Leaves.	M——g H——r
B——m B——k.	T——m R——t.

The secret discovery which causes the hair to grow beautiful, thick and long.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Is a genuine and reliable preparation. Buy it, try it, and be convinced.

For sale by all Druggists, at 75 cents per bottle.

Depot, 82 Fulton Street, New York.

December 1, 1864. 6mos

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS.

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen

THIS invaluable medicine is unfailing for the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excesses and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied upon.

TO MARRIED LADIES

It is peculiarly suited; it will, in short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity. Each bottle, price One Dollar, bears the Government stamp of Great Britain, to prevent counterfeits.

CAUTION.—These Pills should not be taken by females during the first three months of Pregnancy, as they are sure to bring on Miscarriage; but at any other time they are safe.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections pain in the back and limbs, fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed: and although a powerful remedy, they donot contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution. ☞ Full directions in the pamphlet round each box, which should be carefull preserved.

Sole Agent for the United States and Canada

JOB MOSES, N. Y

N. B.—$1 and 6 postage stamps enclosed to any authorised agent, will ensure a bottle, containg over 50 pills, by return mail

NORTHROP & LYMAN, C. W.
General Agents for the Canadas.

Sold in Peterboro by Ormond & Gilmour. A. W. Kempt, and W. Coulter; by C. Britton, Lindsay, and all medicine dealers. 18

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS!

The Oriental Medicine established in 1837, and first article of the kind ever introduced under the name of "Pulmonic Wafers," in this or any other country; all other Pulmonic Wafers are counterfeits. The genuine can be known by the name BRYAN being stamped on each WAFER.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Asthma Bronchitis, Difficult breathing.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Spitting of Blood, Pains in the Chest.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Incipient Consumption, Lung Diseases.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Irritation of the vula and Tonsils.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve the above complaints in ten minutes.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are a blessing to all Classes and Constitutions.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are adapted for Vocalists and Public Speakers.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are in simple form and pleasant to the taste.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Not only relieve but effect rapid and lasting cures.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are warranted to give satisfaction to everyone.

No family should be without a box of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers in the house.

No traveler should be without a supply of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers in his pocket.

No person will ever object to give for Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers Twenty-five Cents.

JOHNSON & Sole Proprietor, N. Y.

NORTHOP & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas,

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour Wm. Coulter, and A. W. Kempt; by C. Britton Lindsay and all medicine dealers. 16

LAW RESPECTING NEWSPAPERS.

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the cont ary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the Publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid

If Subscribers neglect or

R Romaine

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY GRAHAM & STRATTON.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE

Vol. X. PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 1865. No. 12

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL,

AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

BY

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing

☞ Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,
BARRISTER-AT-LAW, George Street, Peterborough. 18

C. A. WELLER,
CLERK of the Peace. Office George Street, Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,
COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office George street. 20

DENNISTOUN & SON,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, &c., Hunter street, Peterboro'.
ROBERT DENNISTOUN. | JAMES F. DENNISTOUN.

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

JOSEPH R. WALTON.
GENERAL Fire and Life Insurance Agent. George Street, Peterboro'. 18

MILLAR & BERTRAM,
HARDWARE Merchants, George Street, Peterborough. 18

JAMES STEVENSON,
DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ORMOND & GILMOUR,
DRUGGISTS, Chemists and Seedsmen, dealers in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 18

A. W. KEMPT,
DRUGGIST, Dealer In Genuine Drugs and Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Paints, Oils, Colours, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c Medical Hall, George street, Peterboro. 20

ROBERT WALTON,
SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer &c., Henthorn's Brick Block, north of Ormond & Gilmour's George Street, Peterborough. 20

J. GRIFFIN & Co.,
PUMP AND FANNING MILL MAKERS, Wood Turners, &c., &c.
Corner of Simco and Aylmer Streets, Peterborough, C. W. 10-1y

ALEX. McNEIL,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Township of Cavan and South Monaghan.
OFFICE AND STORE, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.
Nov. 27, 1861. 48

J. B. BISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 10

WM. N. KENNEDY,
PAINTER, Paperhanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 15

Mr. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash, Blinds, Door and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 15

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General, Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—OFFICE, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

R. PATTERSON & Co.
DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.
☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

LIVERY STABLES,
WHITE & EASTLAND, Hunter street Peterboro', C. W.

JAMES McLEAN,
INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.
Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 30

BANK OF TORONTO.
GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposit.
A. SMITH, Agent. 20

GEORGE READ,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee. 20

LAWSON'S HOTEL,
CORNER of George and Brock streets. P Huffman, proprietor, Peterborough, C W Fare one dollar per day. 20

THOMAS W. POOLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, Accoucheur, and coroner. Water St., opposite the Market Square, Peterboro', C W. 38

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Mr. GEORGE EDMISON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c.
Office over the Hardware Store of Messrs George Stethem & Co., George Street, Peterboro.
Peterboro', Feb 17th, 1864. 7

THOS. G. CHOATE,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Commissioner for taking affidavits, &c., &c.
Warsaw, C. W. 39

JOHN McMILLAN,
TAILOR,
SHOP on Simcoe Street, next door to R Patterson & Co's Boot and Shoe Store, Peterborough. 44

MRS. HUGH WILSON,
Milliner,
STILL continues business one door East of the Free Church. 45

MR. SIDNEY SMITH
HAS RESUMED HIS PRACTICE AS
BARRISTER, ATTORNEY,
&c., &c., &c.
Office over the Post Office,
PETERBOROUGH, C. W.
April 27, 1863. 18

JOHN O'DONNELL
DENTIST.
OFFICE—Ormond & Gilmour's Block, George st
PETERBOROUGH.
References—Dr. Leggo Dentist, Brockville. Dr. McCrea, Keene. T White, Jr. Esq., Editor of the Review; H. T. Strickland, Esq., merchant, Peterboro', and over one hundred others.
☞ Teeth extracted for those not able to pay, daily from 9 to 10 a. m., free of charge. 26

W. PHILP,
TEACHER OF MUSIC.
Residence, near the Union School.
BEG respectfully to announce to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, that, he is prepared to give Lessons on the Piano and Violin, &c., either in his own house or at the residence of the Pupils.
For Terms apply personally, or at Messrs. Cox & Davidson's Book Store, Simcoe Street, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.
Music for Balls and Evening Parties by Philp's Quadrille Band, on reasonable terms.
Peterboro', Oct 28th, 1863 44

NORTH AMERICAN HOTEL,
LAKEFIELD, C. W.
THE subscriber having leased the above Hotel, lately occupied by Mr. W Blakely, begs to state that he has had it completely refitted and refurnished, and being now entirely complete in all its appartments, is now open for the reception of the travelling public.
The house is commodious, and neither pains nor expense will be spared to make it one of the best in any village in the Province.
The Bar will always be supplied with the choicest Liquors and Cigars.
Good Stabling.
THOMAS HEWITT.
Lakefield, Oct. 19, 1864. 42

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN!
COUNTY AUCTIONEER!!
THE Subscriber is now prepared to attend to all kinds of sales, with promptness and dispatch as Auctioneer Addres
CORNELIUS WILSON,
Norwood, P. O.,
Asphodel.
Norwood, Sept. 5th, 1864. 36

A LIBERAL OFFER.
A Complete set of Text and Blank Books for the entire Commercial Course, (Cash price, Seven Dollars) will be presented to each Student purchasing a Scholarship in
THE LONDON
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE
BEFORE
The First Day of April Next.
Price of Scholarship for Gents $30 in advance.
Price of Scholarship for Ladies $20 in advance.
Students entering within said time, will be allowed the advantages of our Club Rates, the same as others.
THIS IS THE
OLDEST COMMERCIAL COLLEGE
IN THE PROVINCE!!
And our facilities for imparting practical knowledge, by means of actual transactions are unsurpassed. In addition to the regular Commercial Branches, everything is taught without extra charge, which is requisite for obtaining a First Class Certificate for teaching common school. Drawing and Painting and Telegraphing also taught.
Good board can be obtained in private families for Two Dollars per week.
For circular containing full particulars address post paid,
J. W. JONES,
Principal London Commercial College.
LONDON, C. W.

REMOVAL.

E. POOLE'S
Furniture Ware Rooms
HAVE BEEN REMOVED
TO RYAN'S BLOCK,
Opposite the Market.
WHERE he will keep on hand the most extensive, best selected, cheapest and latest styles of Furniture, which he will sell Cheap for Cash.

UNDERTAKING,
In all its branches attended to with punctuality. COFFINS kept constantly on hand.
Peterborough, Nov. 30th, 1864. 48

STOVES
AND TIN-WARE.
GREAT INDUCEMENTS.
A. STEWART
Is now prepared to supply all kinds of
COOKING, BOX, AND PARLOR STOVES,
At Greatly Reduced Prices.
He keeps constantly on hand the following first class Stoves:—
ST. LAWRENCE, square and extended tops.
CANADA, do. do.
QUEEN CITY, do. do.
IRON DUKE, do. do.
PROTECTIONIST.
MAPLE LEAF, &c., &c.

PARLOR STOVES
Too numerous to mention.
☞ Let all cash buyers call and examine his stock and prices, as he is determined to be undersold by none.
A. STEWART.

N. B.—Eave Troughs, Cistern Pumps, Beer Pumps, Copper Tanning, Lumbermen's Furnishings, and Jobbing of every description.
Peterborough, Nov. 16, 1864. 46

REMOVAL.
J. O'DONNELL, D. S.,
HAS REMOVED his Dental Office to the beautiful Corner Rooms
Over Ormond & Gilmour's Drug Store,
☞ Entrance on Hunter Street—same as Mr Ewing's Photographic Rooms.
Particular attention paid to Facial Neuralgia, diseases of the Antrum Necrosis and Caries of the Jaw, and all diseases in connection with the anatomy of the mouth.
☞ Teeth Extracted without Pain.
Peterborough, Dec. 14th, 1864. 50

MR. ORDE has removed his office to Chambers' Building, opposite the Commercial Bank.
Money, in sums varying from $200 to $2000, to a large aggregate amount, ready to be advanced on the security of "Improved Farms and no other, with reference whereunto, to obviate unnecessary correspondence and postal charges, the personal application of intending mortgagors will only be entertained.
Mr. Orde has likewise entered into business arrangements with John C. J. Cochrane, Esq., general Land and Parliamentary Agent, of Quebec (or where ver the Seat of Government may happen to be), a gentleman of eighteen years' experience, and large practice in transactions relating to Patent and other claims in the Crown Lands Department.
Peterborough, Dec 8, 1864.

REMOVAL.
MRS. TODGHAM,
STRAW MILLINER,
BEGS to inform her Friends and Customers that she has removed from George Street, her late place of business, to Hunter Street, in the house West of the old Union School-house, where all orders will be executed in the best style, and on the same reasonable terms as heretofore.
Felt Hats Cleaned and Altered.
Peterboro, December 1, 1864. 48

ROOM PAPER DEPOT.
WM. N. KENNEDY,
HAS REMOVED to the store immediately West of the Stewart House, on Hunter street.
His stock of Room Papers, Borders, Decorations, Window Blinds, Fire Screens, &c., has been largely increased and will be sold cheap.
Painting in all its branches carried on as usual.
Peterboro', Oct 16, 1864. 42

NOTICE.
THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on
TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1865,
In the Union School House, at Ten a. m.
"Candidates are not eligible to be admitted to examination until they shall have furnished the Examiners with satisfactory evidence of their strictly temperate habits and good moral character."
☞ Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.
By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterborough, Dec. 6th, 1864. 51tf

Hopkins & Donnelly
WOULD respectfully call the attention of the public generally to their excellent Stock of Goods, comprising everything found in a first-class Saddlery and Harness Warehouse, and surpassed by none in the Province.
As they have adopted the Ready Pay system, everything will be sold at
GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.
In Peterborough, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe street; in Lakefield, next door to Mr. Sheran's store.
P. S.—Over-due notes and accounts must positively be settled at once, otherwise they will be put in suit for collection.
H. & D.
Peterboro, Feb. 1, 1865. 5

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY
OF CANADA.
From Niagara Falls to Detroit,
AND BRANCHES FROM HAMILTON TO TORONTO.
Passenger Train Time Table.
OCTOBER, 1864.
TORONTO LINE.
HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

STATIONS GOING EAST.	Mixed.	Express.
	A. M.	P. M.
HAMILTON.....depart	7 45	3 45
Burlington Junction	.....	.....
Waterdown	8 09	.....
Wellington Square	8 15	4 10
Brants	87	4 27
Oakville		4 39
East Credit	.....	.....
Milton	1	.....
TORONTO, Union Station, arrive	10 20	5 20

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

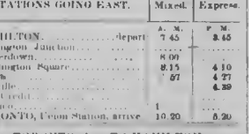
STATIONS GOING WEST.	Express.	Mixed
	P. M.	P. M.
TORONTO, Union Station, depart.	12 50	5 30
Milton	.....	6 00
East Credit	1 2	6 20
Oakville	1 4	6 41
Brants	1 07	6 57
Wellington Square	2.18	7 16
Waterdown	.....	7 30
Burlington Junction	.....	.....
HAMILTON.....	2.30	8 00

Hamilton, 1864. 47

MONTREAL
OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.
TICKETS
FOR
Londonderry, Glasgow or Liverpool,
or from any of these ports to any point in Canada, may be procured from the Agent in Peterborough,
GEORGE A. COX,
at the MONTREAL TELEGRAPH OFFICE.
He is also agent for the
BRITISH AND AMERICAN
Express Comp'y
OFFICE, HOPKINS' BLOCK.
Simcoe Street, Peterboro', }
October 26th, 1863. } 44-tf

Norwood and Peterboro'

STAGE.
ACCOMMODATION LINE
LEAVES NORWOOD
On Tuesday's and Friy's.
AT 7 A. M. RETURNING
LEAVES PETERBORO' THE SAMJAYS,
AT 2 P. M.
Orders left at the Huffman House, Peterboro, or the International Hotel, Norwood will be promptly attended to.
Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates.
J. A. JOHN,
Proprietor.
Norwood, August 19, 1863. 34



ROYAL
MAIL STGE
BETWEEN
KEENE & PETERBO'.
A DAILY STAG
Leaves the Victoria House, Keene 9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' ..... 12 noon.
Leave Peterboro'..... 3 p m.
Arrive at Keene..... 5.30 p. m.
April 17th, 1863. 17tf.

PORT HOPE & PETERBOROUGH
RAILWY.
ON and after the 28th of June Peterboro Trains will run as follow
MAIL.
Leave Port Hope at ..... 8.55 a.m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at ..... 1.15 p.m.
Leave Peterboro' at ..... 3.30 p.m
Arrive at Port Hope..... 7.55 p.m
B. R. KIMBALL, F. JOHNSON,
Superintendent. Secretary.
Peterboro June, 1864. 28

Poetry.

CONQUERORS!

A GLANCE AT HISTORY, ANCIENT AND MODERN.

They flash'd like meteors through the rack,
Flinging brightness round their track—
A purple glory, such as streams
From tropic sunshine's parting beams,
Mantling the West at daylights close
With richest blush of Eastern rose.

Go, studying lump of breathing clay
And scan Millenniums pass'd away,
And o'er the waste of perish'd years,
What worth the ardent gaze appears!
What but the great manKiller's power,
The splendours of the conquering hour?

Who heeds the wreck of human joy
When conquering satraps shout "de-stroy?"
And what's the worth of million grouns—
Of flaming towns, an I perish'd thrones;
But added ruby light to fling
Around the forehead of a King.

With kindling eye and throbbing heart,
Go, thread the maze of history's chart
Track age on age of glory bright,
With battles wild and bickering light;
And what amid the blaze appears?
One conqueror girt with million spears!

Earth with its mountains and its floods
Luxuriant plains, and waving woods,
Its sunlight, and its thousand springs,
Is but a scene where wilderi g plays,
The victor's light, the lurid blaze.

From Nimrod, seek to Zenghis Khan
The majesty of life in man;
From Irack's prophet seeand ye on
To myrid—starried Nap leon;
And own 'tis folly clos'd in death,
The sport of every conqueror's breath.

Historian, what the body so vast,
On human kind thou lavish'd hast?
Is it that o'er a nation's name
Thou fling'st some mighty felons fame?
And o'er the dust of Empires blent,
Thou rear'st a Wellington's monument?
—Glasgow Democrat.

Literature.

A GARRISON ADVENTURE.

BY ESTELLE GREY.

Verneuil and Juvigny had formed from their infancy a compact friendship; nothing is more common. At twenty five years of age they still kept it with scrupulous fidelity. At college, where the same studies united them both, and in the sixth regiment of huzzars, where they served under the rank of lieutenant, they had been surnamed, and it was still retained, Castor and Pollux, Orestes and Pylade, Damon and Pythias. One day—they were fifteen or sixteen years old; it is at that age when the thoughts come most ingeniously et ggerated; for later, alas! they become positive and true, and one ceases to be happy—Verneuil and Juvigny said to each other:

'Friendship until death.'

'And let us vow, that everything shall between us; pleasure and pain, fortune and misery.'

'But if we should desire at the same time something which might be unpossible for us both to share?'

'An well! we will both relinquish it.'

'Why deprive one of the happiness which would be for the other a cause of joy?'

'Thou art right, let us agree that fate shall decide.'

'Be it so; but do not let it be left blindly to fate. We will play if you wish it and decide by lot.'

'That is it; a game of cards and all will be decided.'

'I accept. In this way we shall never dispute.'

'Coldness shall never enter our treaty. And if one object suits thee and me also, we will have a game of cards and he who wins shall possess the conquest; this is charming.'

A solemn oath sealed this strange treaty. Strange. Thus many persons would find it; but after ten years experience one would be likelely to regard it conscientiously, as the result of a higher inspiration. At twenty-five years of age Verneuil and Juvigny, thanks to many games of cards, had avoided as many quarrels capable of breaking the most closely cemented friendship. All had then gone on charmingly, until, but—

There is no treaty so skilfully drawn up in which one cannot discover, sooner or later, some impossibility which had not been foreseen. This proves that it is not given to human minds to attain perfection in any thing, and this will explain why there does not exist a single contract where one has not consecrated a more or less number of articles to a possibility of rupture.

It was after the glorious and rapid campaign of Italy, a squadroon of the sixth huzzars, recalled to France, were garrisoned in the little city of St. Germain, and the officers feted and received like so many heroes, rushed into pleasure with as much ardor as they had formerly braved a grape shot or carried away a redoubt. The castle, the terrace, the forest, inside St. Germain a delightful place of residence. But our two friends found there still another attraction. In this city lived the father of Delbois, their captain, with whom they had formed an intimate connection. M. Delbois happy to have his son with him spared nothing to make for him as well as his companions in arms, a joyous and affectionate reception.

A bountiful table at which presided freedom and cordiality; a drawing room, where were assembled all the most elegant dancers and amiable ladies that St. Germain could offer; here were more than were necessary to justify the constant presence of Verneuil and Juvingny in the house of their friend Delbois. But they were drawn there by a charm still more powerful than pleasure. It was reported through the city that a young Italian had arrived about six months since. M. Delbois had presented her to the world as the daughter of an ancient correspondent of his house, saying to the curious that he had entrusted her to him in order to escape from the horrors of war which desolated her country.

Without stopping to draw a portrait of Bianca Marielli, this was the name of the Italian, we will only say that her first appearance in the circles of St. Germain was signalized by the open admiration manifested by all the gentlemen and the hatred of the ladies, who disguised it as ordinarily under the exterior of a lively and ardent friendship. Many adorers placed themselves in the ranks to obtain the hand of Bianca; but the demands had been received with as many refusals, and it was thought that this hand was a treasure carefully preserved for the happy Delbois. Meanwhile when the captain did return, he was flattering around all these renowned beauties, without appearing to interest himself at all in Bianca, who upon her side, returned indifference for indifference; they commenced to attribute the past refusals to awkwardness of those who made the demands. Her suitors took courage and the beautiful Italian found herself again the aim of all love and ambition.

There is not a heart more susceptible than that of an officer of huzzars. She became a kind of emulation among all the comrades of Delbois, and we shall signalize as the most enamored but alas, the most timid, Verneuil and Juvigny. But the hour of love had not come for Bianca. Whether her heart enclosed a mystery which it was important for her to conceal, she was amiable to all, and gave to no one the right of thinking himself the prefered one. she knew admirably how to stop a declaration at the exact point; and coquette or not, she had arrived at the art of giving a higher charm even to coquetry. Meanwhile, her admirers were not diminished.—Notwithstanding the maledictions which have been fulminated against coquettes, notwithstanding they have been so often devoted to scorn and hate, they always have the most slaves and retain them the longest time.

One morning captain Delbois invited all his friends to a grand ball. 'This day said he, is appointed for me to seal my happiness. I wish you to come and learn the reason of my joy, and share it with me.' And speaking thus, his manner was so expressive, and invitations were so urgent that yielding more to curiosity than the attraction of a ball, not one of the officers failed to be at the fete. Verneuil and Juvingny, as you may suppose appeared among the first.

Bianca had never appeared so bewitching as she did this evening. An expression of gayety and happiness was diffused over her features, which added to the brilliancy of her beauty, and gave to her an irresistable power. There was she in her manner according to her interpretation, one chose to give, inspired almost timid with confidence and even with a certain boldness. This influence affected Verneuil, who had not yet dared to exceed the limits of good attention and compliments. Accepted by Bianca for her partner, he promised himself not to allow the opportunity to pass without making a decided move, and giving voice at last to his acute passion. During the first figure he spoke with his looks, in the second, profiting by the dance, he ventured to press her hand; the third was scarcely finished when he stammeringly expressed to his beautiful partner the desire to confide in her. The face of Bianca became suddenly serious; she replied to him:

'Monsieur Verneuil, I have also a secret to tell you. You will know it at the close of the soiree; wait until then I entreat you. I hope then you will understand me and do me justice.' Then resuming her gayety, she extended her hand to him, saying:—'This is between us.'

And the fourth figure commenced. Verneuil knew not at first what to think, but upon reflection, he found in the reply that Bianca had given him more ground for hope than fear. Finally, his imagination so increased, that if he had not been in the midst of so many witnesses, he would have delivered himself up to all the gay transports of immoderate joy.

The quadrille was ended, and Juvigny approached Bianca to inform her of the promise made to waltz with him. Verneuil hastened to leave the drawing-room. He went into the garden where at least he should only find as witnesses of his frenzy the trees and flowers. Trees and flowers, as one knows, are the favorite confidants of lovers, who can indulge in their presence, without fear of either contradiction or raillery, the most absurd transports and the most ridiculous hyperboles.

Who knows to what degree of ridicule and absurdity the transports and hyperboles of Verneuil would had attained, when Juvigny found himself suddenly before him in a state of fever not less violent, and from the same cause. Joy always gives volubility. Our two officers, who, from self-love perhaps, had until now kept secret a passion whose end was doubtful, were delighted to meet each other and to communicate their exp riations.

'Verneuil, behold an evening which has fixed my destiny.'

'That is precisely what I was going to tell thee, my dear Juvigny.'

'My friend, imagine an angel; enough to make us lose reason.'

'I am much afraid I have lost mine. I never dreamed of so many graces united to such beauty.'

'Thou art in love.'

'Who would not be so, after seeing her? Black eyes, with a head like a Madonna; the innocence of her simplicity joined to the most finished charms; a look to lire in the heart, and a smile which burns in the soul!'

While Verneuil was speaking, Juvingny experienced a vague feeling of anxiety.

'O, it is done,' continued the first, with enthusiasm. 'My life with the beautiful Italian—my life with Bianca Marielli!'

'Bianca!' cried Juvigny. 'But it is she that I love!'

There was for a moment a terrible silence between these two young people; then it was broken by Verneuil.

'Listen, Juvigny; our relationship should not extinguish the friendship which unites us. It is Bianca alone to whom the right belongs of deciding.'

'To Bianca to decide—be it so. Verneuil, it is painful for me to afflict thee, but I ought to forewarn thee that according to all appearances the contest can no longer exist between us. After the reception Bianca has given me this evening, I have the love, I can even say the certainty, of being loved.'

'Thou art strangely deceived, my dear Juvigny, and compellest me to declare the whole truth to thee. Yes, it is I, I, dost thou really hear, to whom Bianca has given the preference. I can give the proof of it this evening. Listen, and judge for thyself.'

'Hear me, rather, and see thy error.'

And when in the midst of this discussion, which became more and more warm, they mutually related, as proof of their assertions, what Bianca had said to each of them, they stopped, confounded, seeking a reasonable explanation for this strange adventure.

'There is no doubt,' replied Verneuil, after having reflected some moments, 'this confidence that Bianca will give us has no other purpose than to announce to one his triumph, to the other his defeat.'

Then their ideas changed the course of their direction. After attributing to both the victory, they felt themselves suddenly discouraged, and regarded each other with envy, each thinking himself to be the slighted lover, and believing he saw a happy rival in his adversary. The transports of anger and despair succeeded this first movement.

'No, never,' cried Juvigny, 'will I give up Bianca to thee.'

'And I swear, while I live, Bianca shall never belong to thee. It is as we shall see.'

The eyes of Verneuil flashed, and he clung to one last hope.

'Will thou break our friendship, and forget our oath, Juvigny?'

'Our oath! Art thou keeping it, Verneuil?'

'Yes, yes, and I exact this instant the execution of our treaty.'

'But if the chance in the play is favorable to me, will thou consent to retire freely, and without reservation, and not make the slightest attempt with Bianca?'

'I accept.'

'Come, then, and let the game decide between us.

Behold them, seated at a gambling-table, five or six persons surrounding them, gazing on them with astonishment, for there was a singular expression upon their faces and there was not a stake upon the table, which did not hinder the spectators from tranquilly settling their wagers.

A half hour had passed and the betters found the game proceeding slowly. The players watched the looks of each other, not touching a card without trembling, nor throwing it till after a long hesitation. At length they each have four points. The decisive blow has commenced. Verneuil had made two odd tricks; two odd tricks are before Juvigny. Pale with anxiety, and with wild eyes, they let fall their last card—two tens of diamonds are upon the table. One of the betters said:

'This decides nothing; take another and begin again.'

'No,' cried Verneuil, 'such suspense as this one could not endure twice;' and rising, abruptly left the room.

Juvigny followed him, and, stepping out of the drawing-room, they stopped.

'It is necessary for us to decide.'

'And above all that it be quickly done.'

A look and a gesture ended the explanation.

'The judgement of God,' cried they.

They rushed towards the garden. A man placed himself before them and arrested them. It was Delbois, who had been watching the game and had followed them.

'Your cruel project cannot be accomplished,' said he to them. 'You will not be my prayer and the remembrance of the friendship which has until this moment united you, the sacrifice of a quarrel, the motive of which is perhaps imaginary. You shall not fight at present; early tomorrow, if your foolish animosity has not had time to cool itself; to-day you belong to me.' And taking them by the arm, he made them, not without some difficulty, return to the drawing-room.

Supper was served. The father of Delbois advanced, holding by the hand the prettiest of the dancers, and presented her to the guests grouped around the table, he said:

'I present to you Bianca Marielli, the wife of my son, who married her in Italy, and we have been obliged, by family reasons, to keep the marriage secret until this day.'

Verneuil and Juvigny were a little confused when they had to press the hand of Delbois to congratulate him. As for the duel, it was no more mentioned.

Behold how this history came to my knowledge. I was walking one day with my wife and my little Eugene upon the shore of the Seine, when Eugene ran towards a group of washers, among whom was a broker displaying his warres and also three or four pictures. My wife followed, and found him looking at the portrait of a lady, the beauty of which so charmed her that she could not desist the desire of purchasing it. While she was debating the price, one of the washers eagerly related to me the history of this lady, who was no other than Bianca Marielli

WHEELBARROW IMPERIAL.—The Emperor's present to Prince Napolean's eldest boy (whose baptism the Pope will not sanction on account of his recalcitrant godfather of Italy) on New Year's day, was a wheelbarrow propelled by an automaton gardener, and it appears that before giving it to the child the Emperor spent a considerable time watching the toy-work, with as much interest as if he had the affairs of Europe on his hands.

Pack your cares in as small a space as you can, so that you carry them yourself, and do not let them annoy others.

Vice and folly have erected their illegal toll-gates all along the road of life.

A Portrait of the Irish Roman Catholic.

The following remarkable and clever acrostic was written by a Dublin gentleman during the rebellion of 1798, who shared in the stirring events of that time. It is almost equally applicable to the present day. If the first word of each line be read from the top to the bottom, it will be found to convey the moral lesson which the acrostic suggests.

Let not false sorcery aid Sedition's cause,
A Rebel never will submit to Laws,
Papist and loyal, answer to me this thing?—
Have Scripture gratitude, or can we sing?—
Sway is his aim, and power without control,
And persecution frees his bloody soul,
His thoughts by factious actions are disclosed,
King Laws and Government, are now opposed—
Will he swear he's loyal, and within an hour,
Betray his country to a hostile power;
Bind him with oaths, oaths have no power to bind.
Fast Bound in bigot zeal, his jaundic'd eyes,
In every Protestant a Foe descries:
A fixed aversion and determined hate,
Chains, Fire, and Halter, Heretics await,
He who can swear, however, then be absolved
Is ready to be trusted, when involved—
Faithful alone to Protestant Damnation,
Again to brag about Transubstantiation.

During the Irish Rebellion in 1798, the rebel pass-word was composed of the following letters:—

ELIPHISMATIS.

Eliphismatic and are the initials of this murderous profession.

Every Loyal Irish Protestant Heretic I Shall Murder, And This I Swear.

Are Ministers Hirelings?

"Are you the man we have hired to preach for us?"

"No sir I am not."

"I beg pardon; are you not the minister?"

"Yes sir, I am pastor of the church here; but do you really think I have been hired to preach for you?"

"Why yes sir; I was at the meeting when the vote was taken to raise the money. Did you not come here expecting to receive a salary?"

"Certainly; and so does the Governor of this State enter upon his duties expecting to receive a salary; but would you say that he is hired to govern the State?,"

"Not exactly."

"And the reason is exactly this: the Governor of this State is elected to fill a certain office, and when you speak of him you think more of his office than you do of his salary. You do not hire him to do whatever you wish to set him at, but you elect him to an office fixed beforehand and expressly defined in the constitution, and then you fix a salary, that he may attend to his duties without embarassment. The same is true of a pastor.—You do not hire him to do a job of preaching for you. You elect him to an office, ordained in the constitution of the church, and then you affix a salary, that he may give himself wholly to the duties of his office."

"Your theory appears very well; but what practical difference does it make?"

"Just this. When you hire a man, you expect him to do as you say. When you elect a man to an office, you expect him to do what the constitution says."

Cost of Intoxicating Drinks.

The most recent attempt to ascertain the amount of money actually expended on intoxicating drinks through out Great Britain and Ireland, is contained in a volume recently published, and entitled "The Moral Statistics of Glasgow in 1863." The author first carefully fixes the retail prices of the different kinds; and, having ascertained from Government returns the quantities of of these drinks consumed, calculates the total price paid for them. According to this method, the total sum expended during the year 1861 was—

In England.....	£60,816,430
In Scotland.....	6,854,756
In Ireland.....	9,357,030
Total for three Kingdoms,	£77,028,216

When the population of each country is compared with the amount expended in it, we get the following comparative results: The expenditure per head is—

In England.....	£3	0	2
In Scotland.....	2	4	9
In Ireland.....	1	12	5

Each individual in England consumes annually 58 gills of pure alchol; each individual in Scotland consumes 38 gills; and the consumption in Ireland is 30 gills. As a higher comparative duty is paid on whiskey than on malt liquors, and whiskey is the national drink of Scotland, each Scotchman pays in the shape of duty 17s 2d; each Englishman 13 9d; and each Irishman pays 10s 1d. These calculations may be regarded as accurate in so far as they are comparative; but their absolute accuracy is liable to some dispute. However, if there is error, it is more probably from understating than from overstating the amount expended on intoxicating drinks.—Lagus Journal.

HOME.—There is no place in this world that a true heart loves more than home. Our thoughts will centre there when the mind is weary of the toils of life. How often we hear the expression, "If I were only at home," as though a sight of that loved place would brighten every prospect, lighten every care, and make us better prepared for every task. There is a time when home seems dearer than at any other. It is among those we know not well, and in a strange land. Then how quickly each little scene that has ever transpired at home comes to our minds. How we long to cross the old threshold that we have watched the sunbeams of many summers play around; and think if we could but be gathered once again within the family circle, that he would care not for wealth and praise; none save the loved ones at home would posess our affections.

Each moment makes thee dearer, as the parsimonious trakesman said to his extravagant wife.

Those that wish to effect Insurance should call on the undersigned, who devotes the whole of his time to Insurance, and represents some of the best English and Canadian Offices.

L. R. WALTON.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Dry Goods Act of 1864—James Campbell.
Public Notice—W. Leeson.
Adjourned Sessions—C. A. Weller.
To Let—James Clotworthy.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 1865.

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

At half past three o'clock on Saturday His Excellency the Governor General went to the House and after assenting to a number of Bills prorogued Parliament till the 27th of April. He closed the session with the following

SPEECH:

"Honorable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council, Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:—

"In relieving you for the present from further attendance in Parliament, I rejoice that I am able to congratulate you upon having laid the foundation for a more intimate union of Her Majesty's possessions in British North America. I am also happy to think that the course which you have adopted as been calculated to prove the sincerity and earnestness with which you adhere to the policy of Her Majesty in relation to foreign countries, and your readiness to pass measures which may be found necessary for the enforcement of that policy within the province.

"Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:—

"I thank you for the provision you have made for carrying on the public service of the province. The sum which has been entrusted to the government by your vote for the permanent defence of the province cannot fail to be regarded by our fellow subjects in England as a proof that Canadians are ready to accept the responsibility, whilst they claim the advantages, of British connection.

"Hon. Gentlemen and Gentlemen:—

"It has been considered advisable that a deputation from the government of Canada should proceed to London to confer with Her Majesty's Ministers on questions of great import nce to the colony. When these gentlemen shall have returned, I shall lose no time in again availing myself of your counsels, and laying before you the result of their mission.

The principal business of this session was the Confederation scheme, the Alien Bill, and the subject of Defences.

The present government was formed upon the express understanding and agreement that a confederation or union if possible, would be arranged, one that might remove the difficulties on which political parties had stranded, and that promised equal rights to all, and justice to Upper Canada. They have endeavoured to carry out this principle as far as in their power, and as nearly according to the wishes of the people of Upper Canada as they could do. That there would be no opposition to the scheme would be too much to expect. That there is so little is a strong evidence of the popularity of the confederation scheme. A certain class of politicians for personal reasons wish to see the old party strifes, and consequent misgovernment renewed and maintained; in the coalition and expected federation they see the hope of their gains gone—hence their clinging to the old as the miser to his bag.

A Delegation of ministers is at once to proceed to Britain, and consult the Imperial Government in regard to the Federation scheme and the state of our defences, also concerning the reciprocity treaty. As soon as they return, a short session of Parliament will again be summoned, and the result of their missions revealed. In the present critical state of our political History, our statesmen need wisdom that they may be able to guide our national frigate aright; that they may avoid the quick sands of republicanism, and the reefs of decripid aristocracy. In the excessive admiration of some for the the institutions of the old country there is need for a counter balancing influence in favour of democratic principles, lest the regal prerogative might assume dimensions Canadians would not and do not desire. On the other hand there is equal necessity to guard against unlimited Democratic tendencies. We think the present House is reasonably balanced in both these respects, and we sincerely hope in whatever constitution our new nationality may adopt, the rights of the people shall be clearly and fully defined and maintained; so that while slavery of the black is being abolished in the South, a serfdom may not be inaugurated in the North. We also trust that the mode of appointing Legislative Councillors for life, or appointing them at all, shall be reconsidered and changed, and that no system shall be adopted that may or might hereafter curse our land with a worse than useless european effete nobility, as the very dregs of nobility would be palmed upon us.

SUMS GRANTED FOR THE EXPENSES OF THE CIVIL GOVERNMENT FOR 1865, AND FOR CERTAIN OTHER PURPOSES.—For the completion of the several services of the Government, not otherwise provided for, for the remainder of the Financial year, ending 30th June, 1865, and for the first quarter of the year ending 30th June, 1866, $2,000,000.00. For the permanent Defence of the Country $1,030,000 00. For the Frontier Force $330,000 00. To make good the sum improperly surrendered in the case of Young and others claimed by the Government of the United States under the Extradition Treaty $50,000 00. Total $3,330,000 00.

The 17th of March Changed to the 20th.

The members of St. Patrick's Society in Peterborough celebrated the anniversary of their Patron Saint on the 20th instant, instead of the 17th, as is generally done everywhere else. We do not know the cause of this change, but opine that certain wild rumours concerning the Orange Soiree on the 17th, induced them to defer their celebration to the 20th. There was no procession, however. The people only attending service at the Roman Catholic Church. The town was quiet and the people orderly, no disturbance being heard of. We do not know whether the change is to be permanent or not. So long as they meet, attend their place of worship and return home quietly as they did on Monday, they need not fear molestation from any person. We are also fully persuaded that should they desire to celebrate the day of their Saint, they would not receive the slightest molestation, provided they only attest their loyalty by marching under the "Flag that has braved a thousand years, the battle and the breeze."

LORD LYONS has resigned his post at Washington, and is to be succeeded by Sir F. Bruce, brother to Lord Elgin. The cause of his resignation is ill-health.

THE ORANGE SOIREE.

According to announcement the Orange Soiree in aid of the "Protestant Orphans' Home," came off on Friday, the 17th inst. The day above head was favorable, but the roads were not so favorable, the rain the evening before rendering them so sloppy—notwithstanding there was a large concourse in Town from Otonabee, Dummer, Belmont, &c., on the East; and Emily, Cavan and Monaghan on the West; and also as far north as Bobcaygeon.

At the appointed hour the Town Hall was crowded, rendering it almost impossible to get either in or out, so great was the throng. The Hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion. On the end, over the platform, the words "A Thousand Welcomes to You," were tastefully arranged in bold letters. The two ends of these letters were supported by the British Coat of Arms. Between these was a picture of William, Prince of Orange, under this Picture were several warrants of Lodges. Below, on one side, was a large steel engraving of Her Majesty, on the other a similar picture of Prince Albert. The whole supported by the words "God Save the Queen."

The two end windows were adorned with the banners of some of the Lodges.

The other end of the Hall was also neatly decorated. In the center a "Prince of Wales feather," on one side of which were the words—"The Protestant Religion," on the other—"The British Constitution." On the other sides of the Hall were two beautiful engravings of the Embarkation and Landing of the Pilgrim Fathers.

The Hall was also decorated with evergreens.

Five tables were erected and groaned under the good things provided. There were five or six times eased of their burdens, yet notwithstanding the feats of demolition performed, we perceived there was abundance for all and large quantities left—so abundantly had the committee of management provided for the occasion.

After this essential part of the business had been attended to—the strengthening of the inner man, D. G. Hatton, Esq., County Master, called the meeting to order, and T. Brown, Esq., accompanied by Mr. Heathfield on the piano, sung Rule Britannia. Sweet music had its softening influence on all, all the merry chat was soon hushed when it began.

D. G. Hatton, Esq., County Master, then explained the object of the Soiree, viz., to aid the Protestant Orphan's Home—An Institution that demanded and deserved Protestant sympathy and support. He added that many would construe their meeting into an insult to some of their fellow citizens of a different creed—but this could not reasonably be done. The object of the meeting was a good one; the day they met could not, he thought, materially effect that object, and their meeting on the 17th of March was not intended, and might not be considered as an offence to any one.

He then read a letter from Dr. Lett, Grand Worthy Chaplain of B.N.A., stating that, because of not being able to return for Sabbath services, he would have to forego being present, but recommended the "Home" to the sympathy of the Orange Body; also a letter from Mr. Flannagan, W. G. M., of B. N. A., stating that family and other affairs forbade the possibility of his being present, as he would have wished to be. Mr. Hatton also read a letter from Mr. A. Flemming, Gen. Sec., containing an apology, and much valuable information concerning the Orphan's Home. From it we find that at present there are ninety eight children in the Home,—one half of whom are children of deceased Orangemen, yet the children of other Protestants are admitted, and that from any part of the Province. A pleasing fact in connection with the training of the Home is that not one of those who left it, either as adopted children or otherwise, ever was returned for bad conduct; and of the 500 or 600 who have been in it, only seven of them died while there. The management of the home is almost completely under the Rev. Dr. Lett, and Mr. Fleming,—a strong guarantee for the Religious training of those who entered it.

Rev. Mr. Beck, Rector of Peterboro, then addressed the meeting, and said that it afforded him much pleasure to meet in any celebration in connection with William, Prince of Orange, for to him we owed the foundation of every civil and religious liberty which as Protestants and Orangemen we enjoyed. Britain owes all her liberty to him.—we received ours through them. Mr. Beck also spoke favorably of the object of the Soiree, and added his personal testimony to the advantages and moral training of those who entered the Protestant Orphans' Home, which he, Mr. Beck, could do, for every synod he called at it to see a child he once kept three years but who is now there. The Rev. gentleman set forth the benefits of the Orphans' Home in a very clear and convincing manner; thought that Government would save money by establishing more of them, and thus save the cost of Jails, as well as save many from ignorance who were left without parental training, and thousands from crime, into which they fall from want of proper teaching in youth. The speech was a good one and well received.

Rev. Mr. Scott, Wesleyan Minister, then addressed the audience.—He referred to the fact that Protestants had only one Orphans' Home, while Rome had numerous ones, which he thought ought not to be so. As the Religion of Protestants is the religion of the Bible, we should, as Protestants and Orangemen endeavour to maintain that religion, and we should be prepared to take hold of the poor orphan and save it from the teaching and effects of Popery, by present ing to it the doctrines of the Bible—the teachings of Truth.

We are sorry we can give but a synopsis of this speech.

Rev. Mr. Rogers, who said he was unprepared to make a speech, nevertheless made a few very appropriate remarks. He thought as Protestants, as well as Orangemen, they should respond to the call for help for the Orphans' Home; thought that as the population increased, the number of Orphans' would also. And while referring humorously to national days, thought that as Canadians, we should develope our Canadian advantages while we may admire the old institutions. He thought the object of the meeting a good one, and trusted that it would meet the approbation of Jehovah. The Orphans' Home, he said, had his warmest sympathy, as it taught the principles of Protestants who held to the Bible, and the whole Bible—by doing so children would be saved from encroachments on civil and religious liberties. The Rev. gentleman concluded an effective speech, although unprepared.

Mr. Stephenson, D. M., Emily, was next called, and, although pretending to be a little bashful, showed himself as bold as he did two years ago. Mr. Stephenson was humorous yet strong; claimed for Orangemen that they kept the Ministers in the pulpit and on the Platform by the noble stand they always took on the side of right and truth. Hoped the young ladies would marry nothing but young Orangemen and thus raise up generations of Orangemen, and concluded a first rate speech by saying if ever wanted, the people of Emily had only to be sent for, they were ready.

P. Pearce, Esq., next addressed the audience. He said he came to learn, but thought he had a cold heart indeed who could not speak a word. He (Mr. P.) agreed with the D. M. of Emily, that they came to speak what they thought right, not to please outsiders, and thought parties might spend the day as seemed good to them without offence. He also said, he often wondered why Irishmen so exclusively claimed William, for he thought Englishmen had also a claim. As he, Mr. Pearce, was not an Orangeman, he united as a Protestant with a Protestant heart, and would unite with them if needed (which he hoped never would be,) to defend the constitution and protect the liberties, and the religion that vouchsafed to them those liberties, and concluded by saying that the institution had his sympathies, though not of it. He however thought there ought to be a Canadian society in which Canadians could unite, and as Canadians celebrate their day. In which also as Canadians they would be united for protection of liberty and of truth also from procection from foreign invasion should it come.

Mr. Hatton, in reply, thought that the Orange Institution being protestant was essentially Canadian, being founded on the broad principles of the Bible, equal rights, and the maintenance of British institutions, as long as Britain was protestant, it had the advantage of being already established and influential, and afforded all the advantages that any Canadian Society could do. He therefore urged on Mr. Pearce the wisdom of casting in his lot and aiding them with his wisdom and counsel, and hoped that he would advise others to unite also.

The Hon. Sidney Smith who had been repeatedly called for, now came forward, but was sorry that his late illness, as well as his present duties at Court had forbidden him to make a prepared speech. He did not, however, come as a pressed man but as a volunteer, and would do the best he could. Mr. Smith often wondered why should people say "Orangeism should be confined to Ireland, as no other country required it." He, Mr. Smith, thought there was an absolute necessity for it in Canada, and he was willing to serve in its ranks. All should unite with the society as the day was not far distant when the union might be necessary to repel the aggression of bitter enemies. He referred to the offensive declaration of Fenians, and warned those present to become bound more sincerely and truly together, for such might be necessary at no distant day. He thought it was too late to organize when danger was at the door, and thought union was most advantageous in case of any attack from either the North American republic or sworn enemies of Great Britain. He, Mr. Smith, also thought that the Roman Catholic should not be offended at their meeting, for Roman Catholics had carried torches at a celebration of Shutting the Gates of Derry; considering that they also enjoyed liberties they would not have enjoyed had the gates not been so shut. He was a friend of equal rights and thought Roman Catholics enjoyed equal rights through the medium of Protestantism that they would [illegible] was attentively listened to throughout and sat down amidst great applause.

The intervals were rendered pleasant by several songs from Mr. T. Brown, assisted by Mr. Heathfield on the piano.

A collection was then taken up in aid of the Home; when, after singing God save the Queen, also giving three cheers for the Queen, three for Mr. Hatton, three for Mr. Smith, three for Mr. Brown, and three for Mr. Stephenson, of Emily, the meeting broke up very quietly. The best of order prevailed throughout, and considering the number present, this is much to their praise. The streets were also very quiet. The sum for the aid of the Orphans' Home, after expenses, we have not yet learned.

We can truly say the meeting was a pleasant one, and as far as the object of it is concerned, a successful one. One pleasing feature in connection with it was that it was a Canadian assembly, composed of every nationality of loyal subjects and true Protestants.

FIRE.

On Tuesday morning between two and three o'clock, a fire was seen commencing in the buildings of Mr. Fry, used as a chair factory. Alarm was immediately given, and very soon a multitude of persons were on the ground. The Firemen, engine and hose were soon there also, and every effort was made to save the buildings and property. Mr. Fry's, Mr. McDonald's, and Mrs. McKearn's houses were soon emptied of their contents to the no small damage of the stuff. The great hurry to save as much as possible, very often causes no inconsiderable damage. Before the engine could be got into operation, the flames had made considerable progress, rendering it impossible to save the back buildings used as a work-shop. Mr. Fry's dwelling house (brick) was in great danger for a considerable time, but suffered little damage, considering that the back kitchen was burned to ashes. Mr. McDonald's dwelling house and some houses of his in the rear of his own, and from which he received a little rent, were left useless, the back buildings being wholly consumed, and his own dwelling damaged greatly, the whole roof being burned, yet the under part of the building is saved, the whole would have been saved but the water gave out. Mr. Lundy's dwelling house is very close to the place but it received no damage, the wind being very favourable at the time.

Mrs. McKearns dwelling house was also consumed, and the sheds attached to a brick building of Mr. Leonard's, Mr. Leonard's building however received no damage. A bakery occupied by Mr. Brennan, for a while appeared in danger, yet there was little or no damage done to it. The total loss is close to $4,000. There was an insurance effected on Mr. Fry's and Mrs. McKearn's buildings to the amount of $2,000 but none on Mr. McDonalds. Mr. McDonald's loss will be about $800. Mrs. McKearn's loss about $600, insured for $400. Mr Fry's loss about $2100 to 2200, insured for $1600. Stock, tools and machinery, valued at $400 to $500 no insurance. The firemen put forth every exertion, but the difficulty of obtaining a supply of water rendered their best efforts fruitless. The want of a hook and ladder company was evident, had there been one Mr. McDonald's dwelling house might have been saved.

A GRAVE CHARGE.

The Leader of the 6th instant in an article on "Ballot and Temperance," brings forth the grievous charge; that there appears to be some connexion between Radical Politics and enforced temperance. As the cause of the Prohibitory Liquor Law has been greatest in those neighborhoods where that class of politicians are in the ascendant."

Is not this a very plain admission that Reformers and temperance are closely allied. Tories and intemperance. If it be a reproach to be a friend of the poor degraded beings who are sunk in misery, poverty, squalor, and drunkenness, and a crime to try to elevate poor degraded humanity that has become so by intemperance. It is no honor to bear the reproach; it is a glory to be a Radical under such circumstances. The Leader has exhibited signs of some connexion with intemperance as from time to time it has been the advocate thereof, if not directly, at least indirectly, but perhaps it is a necessary adjunct of Toryism, to conserve the evil rather than reform. We are glad, by our opponent's admission, that it belongs to the Tory only to try to do so.

The Leader appears also to question the right of the Majority to bind or legislate for the minority in the case of Prohibition. In every other case the majority have the right acceded; yea it is the principle of all good governments—subjection of the minority to the will of the Majority, then why not in the case of Prohibition; and if the will of the majority shall not be binding in this case, when shall it be binding, as regards civil government? To suppose or assert, or imply, that such will is not to be respected leads to anarchy and misrule, and is the wedge, if admitted by any respectable class, that would inevitably end in complete confusion, as then there would be no law but individual will. Such ideas are too crude to be received by a civilized people. Our contemporary appears to maintain that natural right implies the right to do as any individual may consider so. Right or justice in our social relations, is founded on what the majority civilized and instructed in ways of righteousness, may decree so. Hence if the majority shall consider it right to limit or forbid any traffic because of its evil effects socially or otherwise, it cannot be considered any infringement of the liberties of the minority for that is an understood principle in our associating for mutual government and protection. The temperance community are not prepared to accept the assertion of the Leader that Prohibition where tried has proved a failure, or that those states (where tried) found it useless. But they are prepared to give it a trial and if it be found useless, or evil, or aiding drunkenness, the Radicals who have carried it will be willing to give it up and look for something better. We sincerely hope we never shall become so Conservative as out of respect for the institutions of the past, to retain the errors or rest satisfied with the morality of any period or state short of perfection; let us go on to perfection. The Leader again on the 16th gives us a little more on the evil effects of Prohibition, and refers to certain instances of disrespect of law in this county. Suppose the law is evaded or disrespected, is that an argument against the law, or is not a proof rather of lawlessness on the part of those dealers who wish to profit at the risk of violated law. Does the Leader take such particular interest in those parties that he becomes their advocate contrary to all that is right and contrary to the established law of the land; if so, we may bear with it while we pity those who are so simple as to be led opposition to prohibition. The small vote generally polled for and against prohibition is another argument set forth, as to the indifference of the people on the matter, and almost as a reason why the law should be despised; while the fact is that in the county of Halton, where it has passed, the largest vote that has been polled for years for any purpose, was polled for Prohibition. It is also predicted that when passed now, it will not be passed next year. It cannot be repealed however without the approval of the ratepayers, and we have confidence enough in the Reformers of Upper Canada that they will not do this until Prohibition has had a longer trial than one year.

FRESHETS.

From our exchanges we learn that already the freshets are doing much harm.

At Rochester there has been three feet of water in the Arcade. Buffalo, Main, State, Exchange, Front and other streets are submerged to a depth of from three to five feet, and the entire western portion of the city is under water. The New York Central railroad bridge went over the Falls on the 18th, and it is rumored that four persons went over with it.

At Syracuse the cellars and streets have been deluged, and the Railroads damaged so as to stop the trains and impede general travel. Dams have been swept away causing much loss of property.

At Utica the lumber in Mr. Reed's lumber yard was floating away, and a large quantity got away. The iron bridge over the mohawk of the Black River was swept away. The Bridge over Oriskany Creek was carried away and 3 men with it; one was saved, the other two are supposed to be drowned. The freshet filled the creek to overflowing. The force of water carried away a bridge and two of the mill dams and has inundated all the buildings in that locality. It was feared much damage would be done should the rush of water keep on the increase, which at present seems likely to be the case. The damage already done will put the mill owners to serious inconvenience.

At London also the flood has caused an alarm, but not much damage has been done.

Port Stanley has been visited with a flood the like of which has never been known there before caused by the gathering of the ice. Houses have been partly submerged. The railway station was surrounded with water. In some private residences the inmates had to seek the house tops for safety.

THE WEATHER.

On Thursday last we had the first thaw we have had for the season. It rained freely for the evening and to a late hour. The snow moves rapidly before its melting power. Just now the streets have lost their mantle of white, and are dressed in a coat of mud, waggons have commenced to take the place of sleighs and cutters. The River has opened up, but there have been no floods of any consequence yet.

During no season in our memory has there been so long a period of continuous good sleighing as has been this one, not one interruption has there been since it first commenced. It bids fair now to leave us for this season.

Canadian Land and Emigration Company.

From Reports of the Annual General Meeting held in London on the 1st inst., and from the report adopted at the meeting we gather the following:—

The number of acres sold or leased during 1864, in the Township of Dysart was 3,732 in farm Lots; in the Town plots in Haliburton 12 lots equal to 6 acres. In the Township of Guildford 60 acres. Total 3,698 acres.

About 1,000 acres may be added, as applied for.

The receipts during the year, in cash, were $1,348.37.

By work on Roads $325.86.

Total received, $1,674.23.

The settlers are represented as of the best description—respectable and chiefly accustomed to the woods. Many of them also being men of means and education.

The report says the settlers are contented and hopeful, and the settlements, generally, may be considered in a very flourishing condition.

Mr. Stewart's remarks as to its future progress are:—

"Of the future of the Company I can speak most hopefully. There is an excellent prospect of a substantial success. The majority of the new settlers take leases of their land at a rental of $10 50 per 100 acres. This at once secures a 7 per cent interest on an upset price of $1 50. Estimating the cost to the Company at 75 cents, this gives 14 per cent. interest on the original purchase money, and the lots when sold will realize a profit of 100 per cent. Higher prices than these will in time be obtained, but it would be most injudicious to raise the price at present. I can finally only repeat my former observations, that I believe the Company is in a fair way to substantial success. The opening of the Lindsay and Peterborough roads will remove the greatest difficulty in the way of the settlement; and as the great advantage offered by the Company become known, and the really excellent quality of their Land become recognised, the influx of settlers will be rapidly augmented, and the prosperity both of the settlement and the Company be secured."

We also learn from the report that nearly £900, or about $4,500, have been spent in making roads, which sum is to be repaid by the Government. A call for 10 shillings per share was made to be paid on the 1st day of July.

The settlement under wise management, must ere long become prosperous and important. And as the reasonable outlets to the trade thereof must necessarily be Peterboro or Lindsay, which will depend on the means of communication with the settlement and its natural outlets. Whichever of these places takes the lead in obtaining that trade will be sure to retain it for a long period even at the expense of inconvenience in respect to distance or otherwise. Hence the wisdom of using every effort to open up and maintain communication between this place and all the back countries whose trade naturally tends in this direction. Any supineness, on the part of our officials in those matters may allow the channel of the trade of the country in our rear to take a Westward direction, and if it once does so it will not be easily diverted. A little niggardliness in respect to the opening of communication with new settlements may result in the loss of the whole trade North of the little lakes which are now considered barriers in coming to the Town.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Monday, March 20th, 1865.

Present: His Worship the Mayor, and Messrs. Burnham, Chambers, Leonard, Lawrence, White, McNaughton, Stevenson, Ormond and Tuole.

The minutes of two meetings were read and confirmed.

A petition from R. Romaine, complaining of the unfair manner in which the Tender for Printing has been awarded to Messrs. Graham & Stratton, while his tender was lower for advertising, and two other items on an equality—complaining also of collusion and asking that new tenders may be issued. The petition was received and referred to the Financial Committee.

Mr. Ormond, chairman of the special committee on the Market Tolls, stated that the Tolls had been re-let to Alex. Morrow, Jr.

The following is a petition presented to the council by the Ladies' Aid Society, asking the Council to grant them a site for the erection of a home for the poor and indigent:—

To the Mayor and Town Council of the Town of Peterborough.

The Memorial of the Ladies' Relief Society Humbly Sheweth: That this Society has been in existence for the last three years.

That during that time $400 have been expende by them, and many poor and destitute hve been relieved.

That notwithstanding all the care and vigilance exercised by your memorialists, they grieve that many deserving persons have en overlooked.

That from the amount of relief afforded by the nans at their disposal, your memorialists are encouraged to make greater efforts to extd their usefulness.

Thyous memorialists believe this could be do more effectually and economically by eslishing a home for the homeless.

Thfrom their experience of the liberality of thabitants of Peterboro' your memorialists are confident that such an establishment could be amply sustained by the Philanropic.

Thander these considerations your memorians have resolved to establish such a homeid they pray your Honorable Council to nt them a site for a suitable building to be ted as soon as possible.

JANE HALL,
HELEN SULTAIN, President.
Secretary P. P. Br. Society.

A spl committee composed of the following gemen: Messrs. Stevenson, Burnham, Chamberlain and Ormond, was appointed to meith a committee appointed by the Ladid Society, on the selection of a site.

On Mo. of Mr. Williams, the Mayor was instructo remit the fine imposed upon Patrick ker, for selling liquor without License.

The Cwas instructed to give notice to all those ons who are entitled to take out License, unless they are taken out before the 2inst., the License will be given to the first applies and is qualified.

On mo of Mr. Stevenson, a committee composed essrs. Ormond, McNaughton, Lawson, Cherlain and the mover, to consider and on the appointments to office of Chief Cble, Clerk and Treasurer, to fix their d and name their salaries.

On mo Mr. Burnham, the Commissioners of own Trust are requested to at once dithe old wooden building on the Market re, and have the same immediately ed therefrom.

On motMr. Tuole, Messrs. McNaughton, Lawrnham, Stevenson and the mover, we pointed as the Court of Revision.

The sur dollars was placed in the hands of thity committee, for the benefit of Mrs. and Mrs. Mines.

The Cof the Township of Smith were requ pass a By-Law, appointing Wm. Tool James Stevenson members of the com on behalf of the Town, in reference topening of a road through the Town Harvey.

The T was requested to lay a statement the moneys received by him for Licens Taverns and Shops before the Coun

Mr. Cl moved that the sum of Sixteen d be refunded to J. T. Henthorn, Esq., being the amount that he overpaid as Taxes for John Gallaher.—The motion was lost.

The Mayor was requested to act in conjunction with the Warden in repairing the Bridge across the Otonabee River.

On motion of Mr. Chambers, the amendment to the Building By-Law was passed.

The Council then adjourned for two weeks.

To the Editor of the Peterborough Examiner.

MR. EDITOR,—It is much to be regretted that, owing to some informality, the Dunkin Law could not be offered to the suffrages of the ratepayers of Peterboro' this year, also that persons of influence rejoice at the fact because, forsooth, "the passage of the Law would injure the hotel keepers to the advantage of the low Groceshops, which would be multiplied."

In a letter published in the Review of Feb. 10th, the writer, "Publican" complained that, "on one street in Town there is but one Licensed House while there are on the street five open grog-shops, unlicensed;" while altogether "there are twice as many unlicensed as there are licensed establishments, in this Town." Now, were the Law, if passed, not enforced, would there be more illegal whiskey-shops here than exist at present?

These respectable supporters of respectable(?) liquor dealers urge further "by prohibition of the sale of liquor, you take the traffic out of the hands of those who would use the privilege judiciously, and place it in the hands of the unscrupulous." What they mean by "judiciously" I cannot, for the life of me, discover. I have known licensed and unlicensed sellers and the only difference between them was, that one sold openly six days in the week and secretly on the seventh, while the other did it secretly the whole seven days. Both did their utmost to scatter misery and ruin around, and both drank to the dregs the bitterness of the cup they had mixed for others.

But we will hear "Publican" again; Smith and I are compelled to pay yearly a large sum, while Brown, Jones and Robinson sell double the liquor, make twice the money, and pay nothing.—Is this fair? No, Mr. Publican, it is not fair that Brown, Jones & Co., should be permitted to cause more wretchedness than you, you who have the authority of the law to take the bread from the mouths of helpless children, to fill our jails, to break the hearts of mothers, sisters and wives! Come with me a few moments, Mr. Publican, let us enter that hovel. On yon wretched pile of straw is lying a woman, beside her, her infant, scarce three days old, around the room are six or seven ragged, hungry little ones. But stop, to the one side, make room for one of your customers, to whom you so judiciously sell grog. See, straight to that bed he staggers, and with clenched fist brings down the full weight of his arm on his helpless wife, blow after blow descends, until through sheer exhaustion he desists, leaving her a bruised and bloody mass. But that is not enough—the same man takes his own child by the feet, and knocks its head against the wall or on the floor. And yet, when sober, "he is a kind husband and father." You enjoy the spectacle! Why should you not? Every one should take pleasure in his own work.

It is very meet, to Mr. Publican, if the "new Council" will not protect him in the full "enjoyment of his license;" for it must be a pleasure to him to cause and witness such a scene. But a day of reckoning will come and will not tarry. God has said "cursed be he that holdeth the bottle to his neighbour's lips." And I have seen the curse verified, not in one instance, nor two, nor three, but many.

Yours, &c,
TEMPERANCE.

AMERICAN NEWS.

Rumours continue to prevail that the rebels contemplate the evacuation of Petersburg. On Thursday and Friday the enemy were very busy moving troops, necessitating great watchfulness on the part of the Federals.

Sheridan is lost sight of again. He was expected at White House, but has not arrived. It is reported that he had a fight with Picket's division and worsted him.

There are about 15,000 troops in Mobile, mostly citizens. Many are very young boys and infirm men. An attack of the national forces is daily expected. The women and children are suffering great distress among the poor. Provisions are very high. Large quantities of cotton are lying at the depot, ready for removal, if the rebels find they cannot hold the city.

The Tribune says it has private information that General Lee has notified Jeff Davis that it is impossible with the means at his command to make head against the Union forces now concentrating for his overthrow.

The Times' Paris correspondent says, at a rebel council in the city it is understood that a decision was come to, authorizing Page, the commander of the ram Stonewall, to attack the United States fleet in the harbour of Ferrol, Spain. The fleet is composed of the Niagara, Sacramento, and it is presumed, in Ie queue. The Stonewall carries a 300-pounder and a thick cuirass, which leads to some apprehensions as to the result, as our vessels are not cuirassed. The Spanish authorities, however, mounted a heavy battery, and are determined to have their neutrality respected.

The Times' correspondent gives details of Sheridan's movements after leaving Columbia. A movement was made northward, striking the Central railroad at several points, when it was broken up. While on the way, Custer learned that Early with 200 men, four hours before, was flying toward Richmond. This was the first heard of him since he was at Waynesboro'. Frederick's Hall station.

A despatch from Early was found, saying he was about to attack Sheridan's flank with 200 men at Goochland, but he was too late by twenty-four hours.

Two days were occupied in destroying the Central railroad.

The Tribune's army of the Potomac correspondent, on the 16th, says all quiet to show that we will have a short but severe campaign. In a few days a series of contest will have begun between the two great armies that will cause profound excitement all through the North.

The Tribune's Washington special says information from Sheridan to-night says he is still on the war path, and will soon be heard from again inflicting much punishment on the rebels.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Information from the Army of the Potomac says that cannonading was heard all day on Saturday in front of the 9th corps, without any other object apparently than to survive our troops that they still have an enemy opposite to them.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Gold, 166½.

Maximilian's Decree.

The following is the text of Maximillian's decree:—

Maximillian, Emperor of Mexico, having consulted our Council of Ministers, hereby decrees the following articles:—

Article 1.—The Empire protects the Catholic Apostolical Roman Church as the religion of the state.

Art. 2.—Free and ample toleration is extended throughout the territory of the Empire to all religions which are not opposed to morality, civilization, and good habits. The establishment of a new religious faith, however, requires the authorization of the Government.

Art. 3.—As circumstances may require instructions will be issued to the police regarding the exercise of religion.

Art. 4.—The Council of the State shall be informed of any abuses committed by the local authorities against the exercise of other religious and against the liberty which the laws guarantee the ministers. This decree shall be deposited in the archives of the Empire and published in the official Journal.

Given in the Palace of Mexico, the 26th day of February, 1865.

MAXIMILIAN.

By order of His Imperial Majesty, the Minister of Justice.

PEDRO ESCUDERO YECHANANE.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—The Warder says a man named James Carroll met with his death while chopping. The tree "lodged," and on chopping down the tree against which it lodged, somehow the man got killed. He leaves a wife and family in poor circumstances.

Abuses of the Confessional.

(From the Dublin Daily Express.)

A lecture was delivered on the above subject in the Metropolitan Hall, Dublin, on Wednesday, by a Roman Catholic gentleman, Mr. Kelly, of Ashbrook, Booterstown, who comes then publicly forward for reasons stated in his address. He was dressed in a dark robe, and on his breast he wore a large white cross. On making his appearance on the platform, some person shouted from the gallery "O'Connell," and there can be no doubt that Mr. Kelly bears a striking resemblance to the late agitator.

MR. KELLY said—This is a large assembly and I hope the majority are Roman Catholics. Ten days ago I arrived in this city with terrible secrets in my breast. I had intended to leave them there, but fate has willed it otherwise. At my hotel I met a most respected Roman Catholic citizen of S——, and related to him part of the history I intend to you. He said "it is awful, but not much worse than our own Father——perpetrated." Next evening I met one of the citizens of G——, and gave him a miniature picture. "Oh, it is dreadful," said he, "but Father T—— with one-eyes was worse." These two pieces of circumstantial evidence, with my own, I carried to an old friend, a Roman Catholic priest, in this city, and said, "I will denounce the evil-doers." He looked at me for a moment, then pressed my hand and said, "Have you the courage?" I said "Yes." "Well, my son," said he, "I there is filth in the Church of Rome, the people must sweep it out. Go forth, and speak the truth, and God will bless you." Obeying that mandate I am here. My home was at Ashbrook, within two miles of Stokestown, in the County of Roscommon, surrounded by thickly-populated villages, where I was regarded by all the people as a friend. I have now no home. I am a citizen of the world. I am a zealous Roman Catholic, and delicate the remainder of my life to the service of my God. I may say, with our own great Saint, Ignatius Loyola:—

"Glory," he said, "with thee I've done
Fame, the bright theatres I shun,
To tread fresh pathways now,
To track Thy footsteps, Saviour, God,
With throbbing heart, with feet unshod—
Hear and record my vow!
Yes, Thou shalt reign: chained to thy throne
The mind of man Thy sway shall own,
And to its Conqueror bow.
Genius his lyre to thee shall lift,
And intellect its choicest gift
Proudly on thee bestow.
Straight on the marble floor he knelt,
And on his breast exulting felt
A vivid furnace glow.
Forth to his task the giant sped,
Earth shook abroad beneath his tread,
And idols were laid low."

I am an orator. I appear before you as a witness to speak the truth. My evidence shall bear a striking resemblance to the life of man. It will be short, beginning with a comedy, followed by a little commonplace, and ending with a dreadful tragedy. I shall mention names, because I would not consider my evidence of any value unless I spoke the whole truth. But before I name the evil doers I shall introduce, with all due reverence, the name of a good man—Rev. James Connelly, C. C., Curraghroe the peacemaker, the gentleman, the Christian, an eloquent divine, a credit to the country; may God bless him! One of his predecessors was a preacher of a different stamp, and whose sermons tended to make a joke of religion. He was collector of dues, and on one occasion I recollect his reading "the Bills" He said, "James——, of Ashbrook, nothing! Is James there?" "No, your reverence," said a timid woman, "he has a sore foot." "I hope," said rather ——, "it may get well for him." "Peter ——, of Ashbrook, nothing! Is Peter there?" "No your reverence," said another woman "if I don't mistake," said the priest "he was sowing oats as I came to the chapel. I hope they may grow for him." "Peter ——, of Ashbrook, nothing! (Peter an honest, good man, had only one eye; and his reverence, a new comer, did not know this) Peter had 50 barrels of oats in the haggard, and he would not give the priest a shilling. I'll go tell Peter open Peter's eye for him." "Faith then, your reverence does," said the collector of the rates, "he'll pay you." This was rather comedy, out of place in the house of God, but of common occurrence in the West of Ireland. When the people begin to find fault with such preaching it is a bad sign. Such preachers as these injure religion, and I wish we had nothing else to complain of. But, alas! many priests are whisky-drinkers. Toject to this thing of yourselves must know that a man cannot have the fear of God in his heart and four or five tumblers of whisky punch in his stomach. Dean ——, of ——, and his two curates are drunkard. The curates get drunk before dinner, and the dean after it. In the year 18— the dean was in the habit of treating his curates to punch, and then sending them to hear confessions in the old church yard, which was lighted by candles fastened to the wall. Would an idle thing like this tell his congregation it is a mortal sin to lose mass? and yet he stands at the church gate every Sunday with an unbroken stick in his hand, refusing to let any one into the chapel who cannot pay. Can this man believe it is a mortal sin to lose mass? Is it not time to rid the Church of such scandals? The dean admitted one man in my presence who had not paid, an hiatus of starvation was characteristic. "Come in," said the dean; you have no money; you were always poor. We will preserve our ancient faith; it shall be pure, and priests shall tremble when the people stand up in the majesty of their might to save the faith for which our fathers shed their blood. I always believed that Rome would be eternal; I doubt it now. Why did I believe it? Because I had before me the history of the past, the evidence of Lord Macaulay, and my own knowledge of the people. Why do I doubt? Because the priests of Rome are traitors, and their conduct makes me fear for the stability of Rome. I never feared that dreaded rival the Protestant Church, it is a respectable Church, but the Protestant religion is too real and only fit for a nation of philosophers or gentlemen (A Voice—"It is fit for a nation of sinners") You may be right, but it is a nation of redeemed sinners. I think the great stumbling to make a religion fit for the majority with the use of the Bible—that wonderful book of wisdom. The majority of men in all ages have been ignorant, and will be so in all ages to come. Therefore, I say that reason, common sense, and the Bible alone will not form the basis of a Church or the majority the majority delight in mystery, and we need not therefore, fear the Protestant Church. The Protestant despises images; but go into one of our churches, see the Fourteen Stations of the Cross; look at the simple-minded peasant bending reverently before a picture of the crucifixion, and you can see in his face the sign of a heart giving in silence thanks to the Lord who died on the cross

HAVE YOU TASTED YEAST?—We were yesterday presented with a box of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, and find them the most delightful thing we ever tasted for a cough, tightness of the chest, and the usual irritation caused by damp weather, upon the lungs. Try them; 25 cents a box, at all druggists.

A GREAT MISTAKE.
A GREAT MISTAKE.
A GREAT MISTAKE.

There are a great many people who are in the habit of taking pills, who erroneously think that the pills or medicines taken which produce the most violent discharges from the bowels, and cause excessive pain, straining and tenesmus, are the best pills to take. This is a great mistake. The griping, straining, tenesmus, is the result of the impure and inert qualities of the medicine that are carried to the lower bowels, and there induce irritation, congestion and inflammation, hence follows straining, piles, and frequent false calls to the water closet. Avoid all such pills, and take Radway's Regulating Pills. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address

Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON,
Williamsburg, Kings County,
9-3m New York.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS—Fast life, Swift decay—"A dead without a name!"—There is a stream of vice current among the youth of both sexes prolific of the most terrible disorders. By preverting the noblest gifts of God to the vilest purposes it degrades majesty of man' ood to the level of the brute; it traces its source to the depraved affection of a prurien imagination—its companionship at schools and seminaries; it bears within its womb the tortures of its own chastisement, and the germ of speedy destruction in the fearful retribution of loss of memory, bankrupt constitution, swift decay, imbecility and insanity It is our duty to warn parents and guar ians that the nameless disease may not only be prevented but actually cured by the remedies heading this paragraph.—Daily News.

Sold at the manufactories, No. 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and No. 244 Strand, London, and by all druggists. If the reader of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug store in his place, let him write to me, 80 Maiden Lane, enclosing the amount, and I will send a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other person's make. 25c., 62½c., and $1 per box.

Married.

At St. Peters Church, Cobourg, on the 15th Inst., by the Rev. Charles Bethune, Edward E. Chamberlain, Esq., of Bedford, England, to Hannah Godard, only daughter of George Bell, Esq., late of Broomhill', Berwickshire, Scotland, presently of Peterborough, C. W.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Peterborough, March 22 1865.

Flour ₱ brl	$4	50	@	$5	00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	87	@	0	90
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0	80	@	0	00
Potatoes	0	30	@	0	35
Barley ₱ bush	0	55	@	0	60
Peas "	0	70	@	0	75
Oats "	0	50	@	0	00
Hay ₱ ton new	13	00	@	14	00
Hides ₱ cwt	5	00	@	0	00
Sheepskins	0	75	@	1	00
Wool ₱ lb	0	35	@	0	00
Beef ₱ cwt	5	00	@	8	50
Eggs, per dozen	0	10	@	0	00
Butter, ₱	0	15	@	0	18
Cordwood	1	25	@	1	75
Fowl, per pair	0	30	@	0	00

OLD EYES MADE NEW.

A PAMPHLET directing how to speedily restore sight and give up spectacles, without aid of doctor or medicine—Sent by mail, free, on receipt of 10 cents Address,

B. B. FOOTE, M. D.
9-6m 1130 Broadway New York

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING relating to the human system, male and female; the causes and treatment of diseases; the marriage customs of the world; and a thousand things never published before, read the revised enlarged edition of "Medical Common sense;" a curious book for curious people, and a good book for every one, 400 pages 100 Illustrations Price $1.50. Contents table sent free to any address Books may be had at the Book stores, or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price Address, Dr. R. B. FOOTE, M. D.,
9-6m 1130 Broadway New York

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry in Canada.

Ballou's Pictorial of the 24th July says:—

Realising the true sense of responsibility attaching to the Editor of, and publisher of, a widely circulated Journal, we should deem it little less than a crime to recommend any Medical compound the real virtue of which we could not conscientiously indorse. The balsamic compound has become a home fixture; and all persons who suffer, and have in vain attempted to cure their Coughs, Colds, Bronchial or Pulmonary Complaints, make use of this unequaled remedy. 2-4in

INFORMATION FREE!

TO NERVOUS SUFFERERS,

A GENTLEMEN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay, and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it, (free of charge,) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's bad experience, and possess a sure and valuable remedy, can do so by addressing him at once at his place of business. The Recipe and full information—of vital importance—will be cheerfully sent by return mail.

Address JOHN B. OGDEN,
No. 60 Nassau Street, New York,

P. S.—Nervous sufferers of both sexes will find this information invaluable. 9-3ms

BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY IN CANADA.

The following testimony from a well known and highly respected Merchant of Prescott, is corroborative of the general approval given to Dr. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY:

PRESCOTT, C. W., Dec. 6th, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co., Boston.

Gentlemen:—

Being solicited by your Travelling Agent, for an expression of opinion of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. I with pleasure assert that it is, in my belief, the best remedy before the public for coughs and pulmonary complaints.

Having tested the article with myself and family, in cases of severe coughs and colds, for years, with uniform and unexceptionable success, I unhesitatingly recommend it with full confidence in its merits.

Yours truly,
ALFRED HOOKER.

None genuine unless signed I. Butts, on the wrapper. Prepared by Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston, and for sale by all dealers in medicines.
Peterboro, February 24, 1865. 7-4in

A GOOD THING—TRY IT

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER is a medicine for the immediate and permanent removal of all pains from the system.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Rheumatism, Pleurisy, and Pains in the back and side.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER relieves Pains in the head and Sick headache.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Sudden Colds and sore Throat.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Neuralgia, Tic douloureux, & Toothache.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Burns; Scalds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, &c

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER is also an excellent thing for Strains, Sprains Bounds and Bruises. It takes away all pain the moment it is applied.

No family should be without a Bottle of THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER Price 25 Cents Per Bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas,

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm Coulter, and A. W. Kempt; by C. Britton Lindsay, and all medicine dealers.

Take no more unpleasant and unsafe Medicines.

For unpleasant and dangerous diseases, use

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU,

Which has received the endorsement of the most PROMINENT PHYSICIANS IN THE U.S.

Is now offered to afflicted humanity as a certain cure for the following diseases and abuse of the Urinary or Sexual Organs.

General Debility,
Mental and Physical Depression,
Confused Ideas,
Hysteria,
General Irritability.
Restlessness and Sleeplessness at Night,
Absence of Muscular Efficiency,
Loss of Appetite,
Emaciation,
Low Spirits,
Disorganization or Paralysis of the Organs of Generation,
Palpitation of the Heart,

And, in fact, all the concomitants of a Nervous and Debilitated state of the system.

To insure the genuine, cut this out.

ASK FOR HELMBOLD'S.
TAKE NO OTHER.
CURES GUARANTEED.

See advertisment in another column.
Peterboro, Feb 24, 1865. 7-8in

New Advertisements.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JOHN WILLIAMSON an Insolvent.

THE meeting of creditors of the above named Insolvent, for the appointment of another assignee in my place, is adjourned to take place at the Office of Mr. Sidney Smith, in Peterboro', on Monday, the Third day of April, 1865, at Ten o'clock, a. m.

JAMES CAMPBELL,
Assignee.
Dated 21st of March, 1865. 11

To Let.

THAT eligible two story BRICK HOUSE, on George Street, at present occupied by J. C. Hughson, Esq., attached to the premises are good stables and sheds and a large garden Possession can be given on the First of May.

For particulars apply to Robert Nicholls, Esq., or to the subscriber,

JAMES CLOTWORTHY.
Peterboro', March 20, 1865 12

ADJOURNED SESSIONS.

A SITTING of the Court of Quarter Session of the Peace, for the County of Peterborough, will be held at the COURT HOUSE, in the Town of Peterborough, on

FRIDAY, the 7th day of APRIL next,

AT TWELVE O'CLOCK, NOON,

For the purpose, among others, of Auditing the Accounts of Coroners and others against the County.

By order of the Court.

C. A. WELLER,
Clerk of the Peace.
Peterboro', March 17th, 1865. 14

PUBLIC NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Court of Revision for the Municipality of Galway and Cavendish, will be held at the House of Mr. Samuel Wiley, Lot No. 20, Concession A, of said Municipality,

On Monday, the 24th day of April next,

At the hour of TEN o'clock, a. m. Interested persons will please govern themselves accordingly.

WILLIAM LEESON
Township Clerk.
Galway, March 17th, 1865. 11-4in

REVOLVERS AND CARTRIDGE.

A NEW stock of Colt's, Smith & Wesson's and Marston's Pistols.

Cartridge to suit Colt's Revolvers.

GEORGE STETHEM & CO.
Peterboro, March 16, 1865. 11

Flax Seed.

PERSONS desirous of obtaining Flax Seed are requested to apply to the undersigned forthwith.

JOHN CARNEGIE, Jr.,
Sec. & Treas. P. A. Society.
Peterborough, March 16, 1865. 11-3in

SAWS.

ENGLISH Gate, Muley, Butting, Sawing Machine, and Cross-cut Saws, with Speer & Jackson's Files and other furnishings

GEORGE STETHEM & CO.
Peterboro February 1, 1865. 5

DUNKIN'S BILL.

HENRY CALCUTT

RETURNS THANKS to his numerous Beer Customers for their liberal patronage, and is now prepared to supply them with

TEMPERANCE ALE,

To be called "DUNKIN ALE," put up in Barrels and Bottles.

Peterboro', March 1st, 1865. 10-tf

A RARE CHANCE.

FOR SALE, OR TO LET for the Season, an Entire Horse rising four years old with great bone and action. Apply at this Office.
March 8th, 1865. 10-tf

NOTICE.

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Partnership heretofore existing, under the name of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., in the Town of Peterborough, was dissolved by mutual consent, on the Twenty-third day of February last.

All debts due to the firm are to be paid to John Whyte, who will settle the claims due by the late firm.

JOHN WHYTE,
WILLIAM HAMILTON.
Dated the 7th of March, 1865. 10

NOTICE.

ALL those indebted to the late firm of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., by Note or Book Account, will please call and settle the same forthwith, as all debts not paid before the 30th of April next, will be placed in suit for collection.

JOHN WHYTE.
Peterborough, March 10

NOTICE.

ALL persons are hereby forbid having any dealings whatever with any person or persons for or on account of the Executors of the estate of the late William Elliott, late of the Township of Cavan, deceased, as we have not at any time appointed any person to act for us as our agent in transacting any business relating to the said estate.

JOHN ELLIOTT.
EDWD RICHARDSON, } Executors.
Cavan, March 15, 1865. 11-3in*

Otonabee Mills.

THE above Mills having been very much impeded in their working during the past winter by the unusual quantity of anchor ice in the river, the subscriber is glad to be able to inform his friends and customers that they are now working freely, and that proper attention will, as heretofore, be paid to gristing and custom work; and cash paid for good Spring or Fall Wheat.

R. D. ROGERS.
Ashburnham, March 14th, 1865. 11-3in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

THE joint and several creditors of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Sidney Smith, in the town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, on Monday the twenty-seventh day of March instant, at ten o'clock, in the forenoon, for the purpose of receiving statements of their affairs, and of naming an assignee to whom they may make an assignment under the above Act.

The domicile of the undersigned being, on, this 10th day of March, A.D. 1865, at the Township of Burleigh, in the said County of Peterborough.

J. W. STONE
GILES STONE.
11

Military School.

CANDIDATES for Commissions in the Service Militia, desirous of obtaining admission to either of the Schools of Military Instruction, are required to make application in writing for such purpose, through the Brigade Major of the Division wherein they reside.

Applicants must state their age, residence Post Office address and native country, and transmit with their application a certificate from a Clergyman or Magistrate in the locality where they live as to moral character

W. POWELL, Lt. Col.,
D. A. G. M., U. C

Adjutant General's Office,
Quebec, March 4th, 1865. } 11-13in

Public Notice.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL of the Township of Otonabee, intend on MONDAY, the SEVENTEENTH day of APRIL next, to pass a By-Law to close up and dispose of the following Road, viz:—Commencing on the eastern limit of the allowance for Road between the 6th and 7th Concession of said Township at a point bearing south 14 degrees east, and distant 5 chains and 60 links from the north-west angle of Lot No 16 in said 6th Concession, then north 11 degrees 45 minutes, east 3 chains and 46 links; then north 30 minutes, west 3 chains, and 91 links, then north 29 degrees, west 1 chain and 32 links; then north 47 degrees, west 1 chain and 35 links; then north 71 degrees, west one chain and 30 links to the eastern limit of the allowance for Road between the 6th and 7th Concessions, 3 chains and 50 links from the north-west angle of Lot No 17 in said 6th Concession.

GEO READ
Township Clerk.
Otonabee, Feb. 25th, 1865. 11

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864

THE CREDITORS of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Messrs Fairbairn and Dumble, on Water Street, in the Town of Peterborough, at one o'clock in the afternoon of Thursday, the twenty-third day of March, 1865, for the purpose of receiving statements of his affairs, and naming an Assignee, to whom he may make an assignment under the above Act.

TEMPLETON BROWN.
Peterborough, March 1st, 1865. 9-3in

TO LET,

THAT COMFORTABLE COTTAGE on Queen Street, opposite St John's Church, at present occupied by Mr. Nathaniel Shaw. Possession given next June.

W. CLUXTON.
Peterborough, Feb. 1865. 8tf

REMOVAL.

THE subscriber begs to inform the inhabitants of LAKEFIELD and vicinity, that he has removed his

Grocery Store

IN LAKEFIELD,

To Henthorn's Block, where will be found a

Good assortment of Groceries,

WHICH WILL BE SOLD

CHEAP FOR CASH,

Or Farm Produce.

ROBT. GRAHAM.
Lakefield, March 1st, 1865. 49-3

TENDERS.

TENDERS will be received by the Trustees of School Section No. 14, in the Township of Otonabee, up to the 27th Inst. for the building of a FRAME SCHOOL HOUSE. The plans and specifications may be seen at the residence of Thomas Johnston, Lot No. 24, in the 8th C. n. of said Township. The Trustees do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order of the Trustees,

THOS. JOHNSTON,
Sec'y and Treas'r.
School Section No. 14,
Otonabee, March 7th, 1865. 10-2in*

CHIEFTAIN FOR SALE.

The Widow of the late Robert Moore, Esq., offers for sale the well-known spotted Arabian entire horse "Chieftain." He will be sold on reasonable terms, and time given to pay. Apply to Mrs. Moore, Smith.
February 15, 1865. 7-

LIST OF LETTERS

REMAINING in the Peterborough Post Office 1st March, 1865. Persons calling will please ask for advertised letters.

Adams, Samuel	Harrison, Richard
Armstrong, Alexander	Hayes, John
Adams, David	Huston, Archibald
Archer, John	Jones Robert
Beavis, William	Johnstone, Annie
Bell, Matthew	Johnstone, Archy
Black, Thomas	Kiley, Edmond
Bateson, William	Kent, High
Buchanan, Thomas	Lizzius, George
Campbell, J Mouaghan	Ludgate, Honora
Coutts, James	Martin, Robert
Clute, Benjamin	Meldoon, Bernard
Cox, aron	McNoil, Julia
Carroll, Thomas	McBea, Mary Ann
Conolly, James	McLean, William
Crowly, John	Powers, Patrick
Dean Hugh	Rooney, Patrick
Duggan, Patrick	Richardson, John
Douglass, William	Robson, Ralph
Driscoll, James	Rutherford, Walter
Donoghue Edmond	Robertson, Mrs. S. H.
Erwin, Mary Ann	Robertson, Mrs. C.
Easton, William	Rose, George
Fry, George	Reynolds, Mrs. Nancy
Flemming, William	Raymond, Charles
Foster, Mrs Catherine	Stewart Margaret
Godfellow, Agnes	Evans, Samuel
Hicher, Joseph	Travis, Nathan
Howard, John D.	Valentine, William
Hopkins, William Jas.	Weatherhead, Mrs.
Harris, Mrs. Sarah 6

S. J. CARVER,
Postmaster.
Peterborough, March 1st, 1865. 10

SEWING MACHINES!

FINKLE & LYON'S

NEW PATENT ROTARY FEED Sewing Machines.

The following facts demonstrate that these Machines comprise the highest improvements in the Sewing Machine Art, viz:

1. Each Machine is guaranteed to give better satisfaction than any other Sewing Machine in Market, or money refunded.
2. They have taken many of the highest premiums at the most important Exhibitions and fairs ever held in the United States.
3. They make the lock stitch alike on both sides—thus saving more than half the thread and silk used in the raveling-ridge-seams of the loop stitch and single-thread Sewing Machines.
4. They are adapted to the widest range of heavy and light sewing.
5. They have no rattling wires, or delicate attachments to keep in repair.
6. They require no taking apart to clean or oil, and no "Lessons" to set needle, regulate tension, or operate Machine.

Please call and examine, and demonstrate for yourself, or send for Circular, with samples of sewing.

N. B.—Town and Country Agents wanted.

FINKLE & LYON, S. M. Co.,
No. 536, Broadway, New York.
March 16, 1865. 11-4m

ROYAL

MAIL STAGE.

HALIBURTON TO MINDEN.

A MAIL STAGE leaves the Post Office, Haliburton, in the Township of Dysart, (English Company's Township,)

Every Monday, Wednesday and Friday Morning,

At EIGHT o'clock, for Minden. It returns from Minden to Haliburton

Every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday Morning.

Leaving the Post Office, Minden, (Bobcaygeon Road,) at EIGHT o'clock.

FARE, HALF A DOLLAR.

February 15, 1865. 7-4in-alt

$500 REWARD!

WHEREAS, on the night of the 3rd inst., some evil disposed person or persons did maliciously set fire to the Workshop of John Britton, the above reward of Five Hundred Dollars will be paid by the Town Council to any one who will give such information as will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the said person or persons.

C. PERRY, Mayor,
March 7, 1865. Town of Peterborough.

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on

TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1865,

In the Union School House, at Ten a. m.

Candidates are not eligible to be admitted to examination until they shall have furnished the Examiners with satisfactory evidence of their strictly temperate habits and good moral character."

Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.

By order,

J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterborough, Dec. 6th, 1864. 51tf

A HINT
TO THE
WORTHY CITIZENS OF CANADA.
BE WARNED IN TIME.

ALL parties purchasing my Pills and Ointment for their several complaints are respectfully warned against purchasing either Pills or Ointment purporting to be my preparations, that have a United States Stamp around the Boxes and Pots. There is no Treaty between the people of the States and the Home Government, therefore an United States Stamp does not protect my preparations There are no stamps upon my Canadian style of Pills or Ointment, coming from the United States. I rely only for protection on the water mark in book of directions around each Box or Pot. Before you purchase them, see that there are no U. S. Stamps upon the Box of Pills or Ointment. Purchase none that have United States stamps on.

HOLLOWAY,
Maiden Lane.
46

A CARD.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

THE Subscribers in returning thanks to their numerous friends in and around Peterborough for the liberal patronage they have received for the past 9 years, beg to say that although they have dissolved partnership the business will still be carried on by them in all its branches, as heretofore, in the same premises. Mr. Whyte carrying on the Agricultural department, and Mr. Hamilton the Machine department.

WILLIAM HAMILTON.
JOHN WHYTE.
Peterborough, March 7, 1865. 10

CARD PICTURES

Two for a Dollar!

FRAMING CHEAP

Likenesses of deceased persons enlarged from Ambrotypes and colored in oil

Ambrotypes from 50 Cents,

AT THE

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery,

HUNTER STREET.

R. D. EWING.
Peterboro, March 1, 1865. 9

PRIMARY SCHOOL.

MISS. E. RUTHERFORD

WILL COMMENCE A PRIMARY SCHOOL,

In the School Room Adjoining the Wesleyan Church,

On MONDAY the 30th instant.

TERMS, 25 cents per month.
Peterborough, Jan 18th, 1865.

ROOM PAPER DEPOT.

WM. N. KENNEDY,

HAS REMOVED to the store immediately West of the Stewart House, on Hunter street.

His stock of Room Papers, Borders, Decorations, Window Blinds, Fire Screens, &c., has been largely increased and will be sold cheap.

Painting in all its branches carried on as usual.

Peterboro', Oct. 16, 1864. 42

GREAT SACRIFICE!

CHEAP SALE OF DRY GOODS.

LESLIE & FAIRWEATHER,

HUNTER STREET, sell for Sale, at COST PRICE,

THEIR ENTIRE STOCK

—OF—

MANTLES: BLACK CLOTH, SEALSKIN, AND WHITNEY MANTLES, from $1.50 to $7.00.

SHAWLS: Plain Wool, and Shepherd Plaid Shawls; Dagmas, and Illusion Shawls; also, a few very superior Paisley filled and Broche Shawls.

SILKS: English and French Black Glaces, French Gros Royal; Fancy Checked and Striped Silks, and very rich figured Silk worth $35 the dress, to be sold for $27.25.

A Large and Varied Stock of General Dry Goods at a Reduction of 15 Per Cent from usual Prices.

French Merinos and Colourgs,
Lustres and Alpacas,
And a great variety of Dress Goods;
Prints, White Cottons and Factories,
Striped Shirtings and Denims;
White and Colored Flannels,
Blankets, Railway Wrappers,
And Horse Covers; Tweeds,
Coatings and Over-coatings;
And a good assortment of Hosiery,
&c., &c., &c.

Now is the time for Bargains.

A CALL IS RESPECTFULLY SOLICITED.

Peterborough, December 7th, 1864.

STRICKLAND & ROGERS,

Beg to announce the completion of their

FALL STOCK of DRY GOODS

Which has been selected with great care, and will be found complete in every department.

They would direct particular attention to their great variety of

DRESS GOODS AND TRIMMINGS,

Everything new in the Fancy line. A full assortment of

ENGLISH, SCOTCH AND AMERICAN TWEEDS

IN THE

TAILORING DEPARTMENT.

Their Stock of Goods will be found cheap for the season in the

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

SHOW ROOMS NOW OPEN FOR INSPECTION.

P. S.—Orders executed in the above Departments in the best styles with promptitude.

Peterborough, October, 1864. 40

Good News! Good News!!

E. MORRIS,

THE FAR-FAMED

HERB DOCTOR,

FROM LONDON, ENGLAND,

IS now in Peterboro' performing his most Astonishing Cures, as usual.

The mercurial Quacks may prate and gabble,
With Latin names for every nostrum;
But Morris' Herbs excels such rabble,
He explains their virtues from his rostrum.

He is well known o'er Canada,
In every City, Town, and Village;
He'll effect a cure for half the pay
Charged by those Quacks who live by pillage.

To those afflicted with RHEUMATISM try Dr. Morris' justly celebrated

Electric Invigorating Fluid,

for dispelling Rheumatic and other pains that may afflict the human system, internal or external.

He doth use such Balms as have no strife,
With nature or the laws of life:
With mercury his name he'll never stain,
Nor poison men for sake of gain.

Our Father whom all goodness fills,
Provides the means to cure all ills;
The simple herbs beneath our feet,
Well used, relieve our pains complete.

The Invigorating Fluid acts upon the system like electricity, giving relief instantly, in almost every case. PRICE PER BOTTLE, according to size, from 25 cents to One Dollar.

If you are afflicted with Rheumatic pains, Cramps, Colics, and such painful broad, Caused by exposure to cold and rains, Try Morris' Invigorating Fluid.

For COUGHS, COLDS, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, use Dr. Morris'

Cough Drops,

They will be found a never-failing remedy for the above complaints.

If you should take a severe cold,
Returning from the waltz and hops,
Go where the medicine is sold,
Enquire for Morris' Cough Drops.

To those afflicted with Liver and Billious complaints, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sick and Nervous Head-ache, Costiveness, Weak and Disordered Stomach, &c., &c., try

DR. MORRIS' WORLD-RENOWNED

DANDELION PILLS

For Renovating the Blood, Correcting and Strengthening the Liver and Bowels, the Dandelion Pills have no equal.

If you feel nervous, with spirits low,
Disordered system, and other ills,
Take a friend's advice and straight you'll go,
For Morris' Dandelion Pills.

WORMS! WORMS! WORMS!

If you would expel those monsters from your dear children, try a box of Dr. Morris'

WORM DESTROYER.

If you have a son or daughter dear,
And the monstrous worms annoy her,
There's relief at hand, dry off that tear,
Get Morris' Worm destroyer

Dr. Morris can furnish reliable testimonials from some of the most respectable inhabitants of Peterboro' and other Towns and Cities of Canada West. For Testimonials see his Pamphlets The above medicines can be obtained at PROFF. MORRIS' BOTANIC LABORATORY, Simcoe Street, nearly opposite Phelans Hotel, Peterborough.

Dr. Morris invariably treats with success diseases of a secret nature.

CONSULTATION FREE, at his Laboratory, from 9 a. m., to 7 p. m.

Peterboro', Jan. 17, 1865. 3-3m

FOR SALE,

FLOUR IN BARRELS,

ALLANDALE MILLS,

Also,—OATMEAL IN BARRELS.

W. CLUXTON.
Peterboro', June 8th, 1864. 23

GO TO

WM. N. KENNEDY'S

FOR YOUR

WIN

MELODEON AND COTTAGE ORGAN EMPORIUM,

PETERBORO, C.W.

Estey's Perfect Melodeon AND COTTAGE ORGAN.

ESTABLISHED 1864.

FORMERLY ESTEY & GREEN.

The only Manufactory in this Country of the Perfect Melodeon and Cottage Organ with Patent Bass Damper, Patent Harmonic Attachment, and Patent Manual Sub-Bass.

These fashionable instruments have won their way to public confidence purely on their merits, and not by force of extensive advertising and purchased recommendations. With our increased facilities for manufacture, we are still unable to meet the extraordinary demand made upon us; but we hope soon to be able to fill all orders promptly.

Some of the points of superiority claimed for our instruments, are these:—

1st.—Smooth, steady and pipe-like quality of tone.

2nd.—Great delicacy of touch and promptness of action; producing, when desired, a low, sweet, lute-like tone, unequalled by any other instrument of the class.

3d.—The Patent Bass Damper, which enables the performer to swell the treble without increasing the volume of the bass; or, by drawing the Stop, to swell the notes by the action of the foot.

4th.—The Patent Harmonic Attachment. An ingenious octave coupler, which doubles the power of the instrument without increasing its size or the number of reeds.

5th.—The Patent Manual Sub-Base, which are played with the ordinary keys and controlled by a stop. This new and valuable invention requires no extra room and serves as a substitute for the Pedal Base, and can be used by an ordinary performer.

6th.—The Knee-Stop, in the Cottage Organ, which swells or diminishes the tone by a slight movement of the left knee, without interfering with the action of the feet,—having this advantage over the Automatic Swell that the volume of tone may be readily increased without extraordinary effort, and diminished without waiting for the change in the actions of the bellows.

Our recently constructed Cottage Organ, without the attachments, is unsurpassed by any Reed Organ or Harmonium of the size; but, with the Harmonic Attachment and Manual Sub-base, it is pronounced by competent judges to be far superior to any other instrument of the class in the world. Its power, sweetness, and variety of tone, simplicity of construction and ease of management, recommend it to every one as being all that is claimed for it, both for the parlor and the church.

The Harmonic Organ, for Churches and Public Halls, has a fine, powerful Pedal Base, with independent reeds; and, with the Harmonic Attachment, is believed to be the most powerful Reed Organ made, being nearly equal to a pipe organ of three times its cost.

All our Instruments are made in the most thorough manner, and warranted in every respect

JOS. R. WALTON,
Agent.
Peterborough, Jan. 1865. 4

Rev. A. C. Rose, of Troy, N.Y. says:—These give the value of five Melodeons in one. The ease of touch and promptness of action are unrivalled. It can be played with all the sweetness of the lute or Æolian harp, and changed in an instant to its full power, nearly equal to a twelve stop organ.

All orders addressed to the undersigned will receive prompt attention.

JOSEPH R. WALTON, Peterboro.
Jan 7th, 1865.

TESTIMONIALS.

JAMES BROWN, Esq., M. D.

Peterboro, October 20th, 1864.

I am happy to inform you that after the most persevering and testing trial for some weeks of the Cottage and Parlor Organ, we like it better every day. It is remarkable for variety of tone and power, and several of the best judges here say it is unequalled by any instrument of the kind (with double reed) they have ever heard. You can so control and command all its parts, as to pass easily and rapidly from the softest tones of the Harp, Lute or Piano, to the rich full swell of a large Organ. It is really played by child or adult, and is already a very great favorite with us. Its compact structure, ingenious combination of power with the new and beautiful Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-base are greatly admired and are highly creditable to the maker, Estey, of Vermont. I think it is peculiarly adapted for Church Music.

EDW. F. CROWLE, A. M. &c.

Sheridan Villa Seminary, Peterboro, Dec. 1864.

We are delighted with the Cottage Organ with Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-bass. We prefer it to any instrument of the kind we have ever seen; its tone, sweet and harmonious in the parlor, possesses sufficient power for a church.

REV. J. C. SLATER.

Wesleyan Parsonage, Millbrook, Jan. 1865.

I have much pleasure in testifying my entire satisfaction of the Cabinet Organ, purchased from you, as an instrument possessing superior qualities in sweetness, variety and strength, to anything of the kind I have ever seen. Two experienced musicians who have examined it, concur with me in recommending it as a perfect instrument adapted to Church or Parlor.

GEO. A. NORRIS, M. D., Recording Steward of the Wesleyan Church, Omemee.

Omemee, July, 1864

In reply to your inquiries as to the Harmonic Organ, purchased from you for our church, we have to express our highest satisfaction: in purity and weetness of tone as well as volume of sound, it is all that can be reasonably expected.

Peterborough, Dec. 20th, 1864.

MR J. R. WALTON.—Having examined and played upon the Parlor Organs sold by you, and Manufactured by Mr. Estey. I have great pleasure in pronouncing them a first class instrument, The Harmonic attachment and manual Sub-base being a very great improvement and well worthy the patronage of the Musical public. Yours truly,

A. T. HEATHFIELD,
Organist of St. John's Church,
Peterborough.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of John Williamson, of the town of Peterborough.

THE creditors of the insolvent are notified that he has made an assignment of his estate and effects under the above Act, to me, the undersigned assignee, and they are required to furnish me, within two months from this date, with their claims specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none stating the fact, the debts attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

JAMES CAMPBELL.
Peterborough, 17th January. 5

To Farmers and others.

D. CADOTTE

IS now prepared to sell to Farmers and others at Prices that defy competition, viz:

Best Hyson and Gunpowder Teas at 40c, 50c, and 60c per lb.,
Common Hyson and Gunpowder, 40c and 50c,
Nine lbs of Muscavado Sugar for $1.
Good Tobacco for 25c.
22 lbs. of best Rice for $1,
22 lbs of best Barley for $1.
Best Coffee from 20c to 25c per lb.
Best Baking Soda at 9c per lb.
Good Corn Meal in bags and by the lb.
Oatmeal and Buck Wheat also on hand,
Good Whisky from 45c to 60c per gallon.
Good Wines, Brandies Gins, &c., at low prices
Good Pork and Bacon always on hand.

N. B.—The Highest Cash Prices given for Butter, Eggs, Potatoes, Oats, Cheese, &c., &c.,

10,000 Quart & Pint Bottles Wanted.

D. CADOTTE,
Next to C

L. LYONS' PURE OHIO

CATAWBA BRANDY,

AND

SPARKLING CATAWBA WINES.

Equal in Quality and Cheaper in Price than the Brandies and Wines of the Old World.

FOR SUMMER COMPLAINT, CHOLERA INFANTUM BOWEL COMPLAINT, CRAMP, COLIC, AND DIARRHŒA.

A Cure is guaranteed or the money will be refunded.

In support of the above statements, are presented the Certificates of Dr. Jas. R. Chilton, Chemist, New York; Dr. Hiram Cox, Chemical Inspector, Ohio; Dr. James R. Nichols, Chemist, Boston: Dr. R. S. Jones, Chemical Inspector Circleville, Ohio; Prof. C. T. Jackson, Chemist, Boston; Dr. Chas. Upham Shepard, Charleston, S. C.; and J. V. Z Blaney, and G A. Mariner, Consulting Chemists, Chicago, all of whom have analyzed the Catawba brandy, and commend it in the highest terms, for medical use.

Analysis of the Massachusetts State Assayer, Jan. 25, 1858.

When evaporated through clean linen it left no oil or offensive matter. In every respect it is a pure spirituous liquor. The oil which gives to this Brandy its flavour and aroma, is fusil, or grain oil. Its order partakes of both the fruit and oil of grapes With acids, it produces ethers of a high fragrance. The substitution of this Brandy for Cognac Brandy will do away with the manufacture of factitious spirits, sold under this name both at home and abroad. Respectfully.

A. A. HAYES, M. D., Assayer to State Mass., 16 Beylestoe St.

By the same, in 1864.

I have analyzed "L. LYONS' PURE CATAWBA BRANDY," with reference to its composition and character, being the same as that produced in past years. A sample taken from ten casks afforded the same result with regard to purity; a slightly increased amount of the principle on which its flavor depends was determined by comparison with former samples.

The indication of analysis show that this Brandy is produced by the same process as most of the imported Brandy. Respectfully,

One Hundred Dollars REWARD.

WHEREAS, on the night of the seventh day of December last, the property of Robert Morrison, Esquire, of the Township of Dummer, was wantonly and maliciously damaged and destroyed by some person or persons unknown, the above reward is hereb offered by the Corporation of the County of Peterboro, for such information as shall lead to the conviction of the guilty parties.

By order, R. D. ROGERS,
Warden.
Peterborough, Jan. 30, 1865.

$50 REWARD.

MR. MORRISON has added $50 to the above reward, which will make the whole $150.

THE CANADIAN LAND and EMIGRATION COM'Y

OF LONDON, ENGLAND.

Capital, - - £250,000 Sterling

OFFER FOR SALE OR LEASE THEIR Farm in the

Township of Dysart,

County of Peterborough, now being rapidly settled. For further information apply to

C. J. BLOMFIELD, ESQ.,
Secretary of the Company,
Toronto Bank Buildings, Toronto

Or to C. R. STEWART, ESQ.,
P. O. Addington,

Resident Agent, and the only authorised agent of the Company.
Dec. 21st, 1864. 51-4in

MACHINE SHOP

TO BE SOLD OR LET.

The subscriber offers for Sale or to Let,

THE MACHINE SHOP

ON AYLMER STREET, WITH

DICTIONARY OF TERMS.

ABRIDGEMENT.—Any thing contracted into a small compass; such for instance, as the Abridgment of the Statutes in 30 vols: folio.

ABSURDITY.—Anything advanced by our opponents, contrary to our own practice, or above our comprehension.

ADVICE.—Almost the only commodity the world refuses to receive, although it is to be had gratis, with an allowance to those who take a quantity.

ANTIQUITY.—A quality demanded essentially in diplomatic writings, acts of parliament, and law proceedings.

ASSISTANT.—The least of those who know nothing else to boast of.

ARGUMENT.—With fools passion, vociferation, or violence; with ministers a majority; with Kings the sword; with those of sence a sound reason.

BAKER.—One who gets his own bread by adulterating that of others.

BALL.—An assembly for the ostensible purpose of dancing, where the old ladies abuse and cut for money, and the young ones do the same for husbands.

BONNET.—An article much used by fashionable females for carrying a head in.

CANNIBAL.—A slavedealer.

CANNON.—Military law; very often synonomous with Canon, ecclesiastical law.

CARDINAL.—A governor of the Romish Church, by whom Popes are elected, and the Cardinal virtues are neglected.

CEREMONY.—All that is considered necessary, by many, in friendship and religion.

A HUNTING STORY.

Two business men from New Haven who occasionally indulged in a little sporting experience, visited Southington on a hunt, the other day. Birds were not plentiful, and with doubtful success the gentlemen started for the depot, towards night, to take the train home. Coming across an Irishman, they incidently asked him if there were any rabbits, partridges foxes, or any other game about there.

"Bedad there are that! I can put my finger on a nist of foxes where there is five young'uns and the old'un! They are so some yes can stroke them wid your hand."

This was a chance to capture fur that must not be lost, and after some bickering Pat agreed to pilot them to the nest for three dollars. After trudging through woods one mile, the party came to a clearing wher stood a log house. With a horrible Milesian grin, he pointed to an old woman and five young imps lying loose about the main floor, exclaiming:

"See the tame creatures! Mrs. Patrick Fox, the gintlemen are after yez?—Good-day, gentlemen."

The hunters got back to the depot too late for the train that day, but they arrived home all safe the next morning. It is unnecessary to mention, however that it is not to them we are indebted for this fact.

A REMARKABLE EPITAPH.—The following inscription was copied from a stone in the burial ground of Concord, Mass. It is seldom that a finer string of paradoxes can be found:—"God wills us free; man wills us slaves. I will as God wills; God's will be done. Here lies the body of John Tack, a native of Africa, who died March, 1773, aged about sixty years. Though born in the land of slavery, he was born free; though he lived in the land of liberty, he lived a slave, till by his honest, though stolen labours, he required the source of slavery, which gave him his freedom, though not long before death, the grand tyrant, gave him his final emancipation, and set him on a footing with kings. Though a slave to vice, he practised those virtues without which kings are but slaves."

HOT PIES.—One freezing February morning, a negro hawked mutton pies in a basket around Faneuil Hall Square, roaring out—"Hot mutton pies!" "Hot mutton pies!" A tea eater bought and tried to bite one, but found it frozen as solid, as the curb-stone. "What do you call them hot for, you black and blue swindler?" yelled the teamster to the shivering pieman. "Wy—wy—a white man gib'em to me hot dis mornin'—dey was hot when I got 'em dis mornin!' "Well, you fool, it didn't take ten minutes to freez them in that old basket; why call them hot now? "Wy, God bless you date the name ob 'em—the name ob 'em! If you didn't holler de right name nobody would teach 'em! You want me to holler frose pies, I suppose. No, sa! You can't fool me dat way!"

Wife! why, in the name of goodness, did you not make the washerwoman put starch in my shirt collar. Why, my dear, said the wife, I thought it was a useless waste of the article, for I can get your choler up so easy without it.

"I'll not strike thee bad man," said a quaker one day, "but I'll let this little billit of wood fall on thee, and at that precise moment the "bad man" was floored by the weight of the walking stick that the Quaker was known to carry.

Should I be discovered, I am lost! exclaimed the hero of a Cobourg melodrame, as he concealed himself in a closet on the stage. Should you be discovered, you are found, was the amendment of a wag in the gallery.

What is that which is so brittle that if you but name it you are sure to break it!—Silence.

Dr. Franklin said, "A good kick out of doors is better than all the rich uncles in the world."

What city in the United Kingdom would be likely to Most in the event of a flood!—Cork.

"Mary, asked Charles, what animal dropped from the clouds?" "the rain, dear," was the whispered reply.

Justice pursues the enemy of God with leaden wings, but it will lay hold of him sooner or later, with iron hands.

Conscience is a monitor, but we fear the monitors in most bosoms are iron-clad.

Ladies should never put pins in their mouths. Their lips should be rosey without thorns.

It is a popular delusion to believe that powder on a lady's face has the same effect as that in a musket—namely, to go off.

How quietly might many a one live, if he would care as much for the affairs of others as he does for his own.

Cheerfulness, the opposite of vexation and sickness, is at once the ground and flower of virtue, and its crown.

Botany is inexhaustible, tranquilising every interesting science attaching the soul to nature with bonds of flowers.

I shall soon die, Cully—I must soon set out upon a long journey. Berry will replied Cully, I guess have good goeing, because its all the way down hill.

GREAT

CLEARING OUT

SALE

AT THE

Montreal House!

Whole Stock

SELLING OFF!

AT

GREAT

REDUCTIONS.

☞ Call early and secure a bargain.

☞ See small bills.

Peterboro, Jan. 26, 1864.

BLETCHER'S
CANADIAN
CLOTHES WRINGER

COMBINES more Strength of Frame, Capacity for Pressure, and Power of Action, than any other in the market. We manufacture five sizes intended for and adapted to Families, Hotels, Laundries, &c

Bletcher's Canadian Clothe's Wringer

Saves Time, Labor, Clothes and Money.

It will wear for years without repair!

No Servant can break it!

A Child ten years old can operate it!

No caution or skill required in its use!

It will wring anything from a Thread to the Heaviest Quilt.

It saves its Cost in Clothing
Every six or nine Months.

The water can be pressed from large and small articles easier, quicker and more thoroughly than by the ordinary old fashioned back-breaking, wrist-straining and clothes-destroying process.

It is easily and firmly secured to the Tub or Washing Machine and will fit Tubs of any shape or size. Every Wringer is Warranted in every particular, either with or without star gearing; and in the event of any part becoming broken or mislaid, we can replace it at once. We sell them at prices that defy competition, as the following will testify:

No. 1, nine inch roll,	$4 50
2, nine and a half inch roll,	4 75
3, ten inch roll,	5 00
4, twelve inch roll,	5 75
5, fourteen inch roll,	6 50

We keep all the sizes above on hand at all times at our Sewing Machine Office, over Mr. S. White's shoe store,

George Street, Peterborough.

Entrance by the Hall Door beetween Mr. Samuel White's and I. Robinson & Co.'s.

THOMAS BLETCHER.

Peterboro,' May 11, 1864. 19

REMOVAL.

Tobias Fitzgerald,

HAS REMOVED his Carriage and Waggon Establishment to those COMMODIOUS PREMISES on the

CORNER OF BROCK AND WATER ST'S,

OPPOSITE THE COURT HOUSE PARK,

Where he will continue to MANUFACTURE

CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, WAGONS, SLEIGHS, CUTTERS, &c.,

Which he will warrant to be made from the best Timber; and any person ordering from him are invited to call and examine the work before it is painted.

Jobbing & Horse Shoeing

Will be punctually attended to.

Peterborough, August, 1864. 33

PAINTING & GRAINING

DONE BY

W. N. KENNEDY,

HUNTER STREET.

Great Bargains.

BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.

BUY LAMPS at WILLIAMS'.

BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.

BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.

BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.

BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.

BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.

BUY LAMPS at WILLIAM'S.

BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.

BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.

BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.

BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.

Cash paid for Grain

by A. WILLIAMS.

Peterboro', Jan. 11, 1865. 2

GROVESTEEN & CO.,
PIANO FORTE
MANUFACTURERS,

499 BROADWAY,

New York.

THE attention of the public and the trade is invited to our New Scale

7 OCTAVE
Rosewood Piano Fortes,

WHICH FOR

VOLUME AND PURITY OF TONE,

ARE UNRIVALLED

By any hitherto offered in this market. They contain all the modern improvements,

French Grand Action,

Harp Pedal,

Iron Frame Over-Strung Brass,

&c., &c.,

And each instrument being made under the personal supervision of Mr. J. H. GROVESTEEN, who has had a practical experience of over 30 years in their manufacture, is fully warranted in every particular.

The "Grovesteen Piano Forte" received the highest award of merit over all others at the Celebrated World's Fair.

Where were exhibited instruments from the best makers of London, Paris, Germany, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and New York; and, also, at the American Institute for five successive years, the

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

from both of which can be seen at our warerooms.

☞ By the introduction of improvements we make a still more perfect Piano Forte, and by manufacturing largely, with a strictly cash system, are enabled to offer these instruments at

A PRICE WHICH WILL

Preclude Competition!

PRICES:

No. 1, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood plain case, $275.

No. 2, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood heavy moulding, $300.

No. 3, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood Louis XIV. style, $345. Terms: Net Cash, in current funds.

Descriptive circulars sent free.

Sept. 13th, 1864. 7-1 yr

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PHOTOGRAPHIC MATERIALS!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,

501 BROADWAY, N. Y.

IN addition to our main business of Photographic Materials, we are Headquarters for the following, viz.:

STEREOSCOPES,

AND

STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS,

Of these we have an immense assortment, including War Scenes, American and Foreign Cities and Landscapes, Groups, Statuary, &c., &c. Also, Revolving Stereoscopes, for public or private exhibition. Our Catalogue will be sent to any address on receipt of stamp.

PHOTOGRAPHIC ALBUMS!

We were the first to introduce these into the United States, and we manufacture immense quantities in great variety, ranging in price from 50 cents to $50 each. Our Albums have the reputation of being superior in beauty and durability to any others. They will be sent by mail, free, on receipt of price. Fine Albums made to order.

CARD PHOTOGRAPHS.

Our Catalogue now embraces over FIVE THOUSAND different subjects (to which additions are continually being made,) of Portraits of eminent Americans, &c., viz: about

100 Major-Generals,	550 Statesmen,
200 Brig.-Generals,	130 Divines,
275 Colonels,	125 Authors,
100 Lieut-Colonels,	40 Artists,
250 Other Officers,	125 Stage,
75 Navy Officers,	50 Prom. Women,

150 Prominent Foreign Portraits,

5,000 Copies of works of Art,

including reproductions of the most celebrated Engravings, Paintings, Statues, &c. Catalogues sent on receipt of stamp. An order for One Dozen Pictures from our Catalogue will be filled on receipt of $1.80, and sent by mail, free.

Photographers and others ordering goods C. O. D. will please remit twenty-five per cent of the amount with their order.

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,
Manufacturers of Photographic Materials,
501 Broadway, New York.

The prices and quality of our Goods cannot fail to satisfy. 46

Wm. N. KENNEDY
HAS

GOOD & CHEAP ROOM PAPER

ON HAND.

J.R. Walton's Column.

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance, House & Land Agent.

ALL business trusted to him will be promptly attended to.

OFFICE OVER G. W. ROBINSON'S STORE, GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

SCOTTISH
Provincial Assurance Co.

ESTABLISHED, 1825.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

CAPITAL, One Million Sterling.

INVESTED IN CANADA, over $450,000.

Same Am'd under Current Life Policies	£2,200,000 Stg
Accumulated Fund	402,630 "
Annual Income	107,920 "
Amount proposed for Assurance, 1862, under 1063 applications	457,235 "

CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE,—Place D'Armes, Montreal.

A. DAVIDSON PARKER,
Secretary for Canada.

ATTENTION is directed to the rate of premiums adopted by this Company, which will compare favorably with that of any other institution in Canada. Investments of Company's funds to the large amount of nearly five hundred thousand dollars have been completed in Canada; and as all business transactions are finally disposed of in the Province, the Scottish Provincial offers all the facilities presented by a purely local Company, while it possesses the additional advantage of a large capital, and an influential and responsible body of shareholders in Great Britain.

Policies effected on or before 31st January next will receive a full year's bonus over those effected thereafter.

PETERBOROUGH:

J. R. WALTON, AGENT.

November 25, 1863. 48

PROVINCIAL
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF CANADA.

Head Office,—Toronto Street, Toronto.

FIRE! MARINE!

DIRECTORS:

Hon. J. Hillyard Cameron, M. P. P., President.
Lewis Moffatt, Esq., Vice-President,
Hon. George Crawford, M. L. C.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq.
Geo. Duggan, jr., Esq.,
John Cameron, Esq.,
A. M. Smith, Esq., M. P. P.,
Chris. Robinson, Esq.,
W. J. McDonell, Esq.,
C. J. Campbell, Esq.,
Manager & Secretary,—James S. Crocker, Esq.,
Assistant Secretary,—Donough O'Brien, Esq.,
Solicitors,—Messrs. Duggan & Burns,
Bankers,—Commercial Bank of Canada.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent for Peterborough.

November, 1863. 49

ESPECIAL NOTICE
TO FARMERS!

INSURE YOUR CROPS
IN THE

CANADA WEST FARMER'S

Mutual and Stock Insurance Co.

OF HAMILTON.

It can be done for a mere trifle

BY APPLYING TO

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent,
Peterborough.

August 10, 1864. 32

---

21 BUILDING LOTS
FOR SALE.

KNOWN as Park Lot No. 7, adjoining the property of Wm. Cluxton, Esq., near the Little Lake. Terms to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Peterboro', Dec. 1, 1863. 49

FOR SALE CHEAP,
AND ON LIBERAL TERMS!

LOT No. 9, 5th con. Township of Douro, 107 Acres of good Land, 70 acres cleared with a good Frame Dwelling, just new, and good office buildings, with three wells of water on the premises. Situate about six miles from Peterborough. For further particulars apply to

JOS. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, May 9th, 1864. 19

For Sale.

COMBINED Reaping and Mowing Machine, no worse than new—Patterson's make, of Belleville. Also, A good second hand Lumber Waggon.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterboro', June 28th, 1864. 26

CANADA WEST FARMERS

Mutual Stock Insurance Co.,
HAMILTON.

J. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

For Sale or to Let,
FOR A TERM OF YEARS,
TWO DWELLING HOUSES

In the Village of Lakefield, with 2 Lots, each one-third of an acre.

For particulars, apply to the undersigned at Peterborough,

J. GRIFFIN,
General Builder, Pump-maker, &c., &c.

Peterboro', March 7th, 1864. 10

POULTRY AS PORK PRODUCERS.

We commend the following article on this subject as being eminently judicious, and can confirm it in most particulars from a pretty thorough experience with nearly all the varieties of fowl named. The article is from The Field, one of the best, if not the very best, rural newspaper in England:—

"Many persons keep poultry almost exclusively for the sake of their eggs, and the question which naturally presents itself to their mind is, what variety of poultry will yield the greatest value in eggs in return for the corn they consume? Like many other questions, this does not admit of a straight-forward answer. Before it can be answered other questions must be asked. Are you particular as to the size of your eggs? Do you especially want a good supply in winter? Have you an unlimited range for your fowls, or are they in a place more or less confined? If the mere weight and number of eggs is taken into consideration, we believe that no fowls will give so good a return for their food as Gold and Silver Spangled. The pullets of this breed will, if well fed and with a free range, commence laying at about six months age, and will continue to lay 10 or 11 eggs a fortnight until next moulting season. After the next season they will lay admirably, but not quite so freely. We are certain that no fowls will give so many eggs for their food as these beautiful birds; and, for choice as layers, we select the Silvers. There is no doubt but that five pullets of this breed may be depended upon for supplying considerably over 1,000 eggs in twelve months. But they have their drawbacks—they are innocent of all knowledge of bounds, and fly like wild-fowl as might be inferred from their laying properties, do not sit, and their eggs are slightly below the average size of those of the larger fowls.

"If eggs of large size are required, and the fowls have to be kept in or near large towns, none answer better than Spanish. In the number of eggs they yield they fall short of the Spangles, but still they are very superior layers. They do not as a rule arrive at maturity quite so early, and their laying is rather interferred with by their prolonged moult in the autumn.

"Where a supply of new-laid eggs is required in the winter, irrespective of temperature, Cochins, Buff, White, or Partridge, or Brahams, are the most to be depended on, as when they attained an age of seven or eight months the pullets of these breeds lay quite irrespective of season, of course supposing they are well fed. They have the advantage of not requiring a very large space, and of being easily confined by low fences; but from their size they are necessarily large eaters, and, in spite of all the nonsense written about them on their first introduction, they do not lay two eggs in one day; and unlike Spanish and the Spangled Hamburghs, their laying propensities are very much interferred with by their tendency to become broody.

"If eggs and eggs alone are the object for which fowls are kept, we would say keep Hamburg or Spanish, and every autumn buy a few small sized Cochin pullets; these will answer a two-fold purpose, they will lay in the most intense frost, and when broody will hatch out your pure-bred eggs. From their buff colour the eggs of the Cochin will be at once distinguished from those of other fowls, and no chance of rearing half-bred mongrels will ensue. None of these varieties will furnish first-class table poultry. The Spanish are too long in the leg; the Hamburghs, though plump, are too small; and the Cochins are too yellow in the skin, and too little developed in the breast."

WATER FOR THE SHEEP.—A very false notion prevails among farmers as to whether sheep require water in winter; some asserting that they have need of none at all, in any form, and others that they are able to slake their thirst by eating snow. No theory could be more erroneous. The physical constitution of the sheep, in this respect, differs not from that of other domestic animals, and it has immunity from thirst no more than they. By certain experiments on this point, recently made by Mr. Lawes, of England, it was certainly established that sheep do require a considerable amount of water—the average being 40½lbs. per week, or nearly 6lbs. per day for such as were kept on dry feed.

SALT RISING.—Mrs. Wm. Jackman, of William-burg (no State given), gives her process of raising bread: "The first thing in the morning when the tea-kettle boils, I take a pint of boiling water and put a teaspoonful of salt into it, let it stand until cold enough to bear my finger in it, then stir in flour enough to make a batter (using a quart pitcher for the purpose) then set it to rise, by placing the vessel containing the batter inside of a pot of warm water, kept just warm enough to bear the finger in. After it has stood 2 or 3 hours, stir in a tablespoonful of Indian meal, and when the vessel runs over, which will be in 4 or 5 hours from the first, mix the dough and make into loaves, set them in a warm place, and cover to rise. When risen enough, bake. The above quantity is for 7 pounds of flour."

To Dye Butternut Color.—M. Gay, sends to the American Agriculturist the following directions: In any convenient vessel (as a large trough) place a layer of butternut bark, the rough portion being removed, then a layer of wool or yarn, another of bark and so on. Fill the vessel with water, and weight the goods to keep them under. Air the fabric every day by spreading in the sun; this will set the dye. Goods for men's wear are treated in this manner. For plaid dresses and material for children's wear, the bark and yarn in alternate layers are placed in an iron kettle, and warmed over a fire once or twice a day. The goods are to be aired in the sun every day as before. This gives a much darker shade, and is preferable for many purposes. This dye will not injure cloth as much as berries sometimes do.

SODA CRACKERS.—Flour, 2 quarts; butter, 1 cup; water, 1 pint; cream of tarter, 3 teaspoonful; soda, 1½ teaspoonfuls. Mix the cream tartar thoroughly with the flour; then rub in the butter, and add the water and soda together. Knead about the same as pastry for pie. Roll out a little more than an eighth of an inch thick, cut in squares, and prick them all over. Bake in a hot oven about twenty minutes or till dry. Wash the oven bottom clean, and put the crackers on it; for they will not bake well on tins.

PARSNIP CROQUETTES.—Boil the parsnips until tender, and mash them. Flour a dish thickly, drop a spoonful of the parsnip on the flour, and roll it in the flour with a spoon until it is formed into a ball. Repeat this process until you have used up the parsnips. Have a frying pan of lard hot, drop the balls in, and boil a light brown. The lard must be boiling hot, and enough of it to float the balls. This is excellent, and has been eaten by those who thought they could not eat parsnips.

For Sale, To Let, &c.

FOR SALE.

CHEAP FOR CASH,

Or ON LONG APPROVED CREDIT.

ONE very fast grey Mare, 8 years old. One brown Mare, 8 years old. One splendid Broad Mare; all gentle, and fit for any work. One Lumber Waggon, one Sleigh, and one sett of Double Harness.

A good yoke of Oxen or Steers will be taken in exchange.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, Oct. 12, 1864. 41

FOR SALE, OR, TO LET.

THE subscriber wishes either to Sell or to Let those premises at present occupied by Mr. John Ritchie as a tavern,

In the Village of Bobcaygeon.

The Hotel is in a good state of repair, with good stables and other outbuildings.

For terms, &c., apply to

ROBERT HUNTER.

Bobcaygeon, Sept. 10, 1864. 37

VALUABLE
PROPERTY FOR SALE
IN THE

TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE property of the late WM. LANNIN, on Charlotte Street, opposite the Railway Station is offered for sale on reasonable terms; the lot has been divided into five parts, three of which are situated on Dutchouse Street, and has a frontage of 45 feet by 114 deep; the other two are situated on Charlotte Street and have a frontage of 57 feet by 89 feet in depth which makes them desirable for building purposes.

The whole will be sold in one lot or to suit purchasers.

For terms and particulars apply to

D. HOPKINS
or THOS. LANNIN.

Peterboro', August 24, 1864. 34

VALUABLE FARM
FOR SALE OR TO LET.

BEING composed of the east halves of Lots Nos. 22 and 23, in the first concession of the Township of Otonabee. There are about 150 acres cleared, and a good Frame Dwelling House, two frame Barns, a first-rate Driving House, Sheds and Stables, a good Well and Orchard on the premises.

Title indisputable, and immediate possession will be given. TERMS MODERATE.

For further particulars apply to G. P. Orde, or to the proprietor,

WM. WEIR,
Norham Percy, C.W.

5

Farm for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale Lot No. 19, in the 12th Concession of Otonabee. There are 120 acres of good land in the farm, with a little over 100 acres cleared. There are good buildings, and two wells of water on the farm; it is about four miles from the Town of Peterborough.

TERMS.—One-half down, the remainder in 3 annual instalments.

JOSHUA DAWSON.

Otonabee Jan. 30th, 1864. 5

FARM FOR SALE.

LOT No. 27, in the 16th Concession of Smith containing 200 acres; there are 150 acres cleared, and on the premises there are a hewed Log House, Log Barn, good Well, and Orchard. The Farm is situated on the main road to Buckhorn, 17 miles form the Town of Peterborough, there is a School House on one corner of it.

For Particulars apply to

ANDREW McKEE,
14th Con. of Smith.

January 12th 1864. 2

LANDS FOR SALE.

TWENTY THOUSAND ACRES OF LAND, both wild and improved, and at all prices, for sale in various parts of Canada, principally in the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria and Ontario,) cheap, and on easy terms.

For lists and particulars apply to the proprietor

T. D. LEDYARD, Barrister, &c.
South-west corner King and Yonge Streets,
Toronto.

8

HOUSE AND FURNITURE.

A COMFORTABLE HOUSE to Let. The Furniture in it can be had at very reasonable terms. Inquire at the office of Messrs. Fairbairn & Dumble, Barristers.

Peterborough, Nov. 9th, 1864. 45

St. GEORGE'S SALOON

GEORGE MITCHELL,

Sole Agent in Peterborough for

CREIGHTON'S

Superior ALES and PORTER,

In Casks or Bottle,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

For Cash on Delivery.

Peterboro', April 14th, 1864. 15

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
Insurance Company.
CAPIT L.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA
ASSURANCE COMP'Y
CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMPANY
CAPITAL, $2,000'000.

Peterborough, Jan. 1st, 1863. 1

COPLAND'S ALE!

A LARGE QUANTITY
OF
COPLAND'S
Celebrated Sparkling Pale Ale,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND BY

LEWIS GLOVER, Sole Agent.

Peterboro, Oct. 29th, 1862. 44

NOTICE.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his customers that he is now prepared to GRIND GRISTS in a superior manner. He respectfully invites all who wish to patronize him to favor him with a call. All flour, made from good Wheat, warranted.

LEWIS BORLAND.

Douro, March 1st, 1864. 9

ARE YOU IN AGONY?

A WELL SPRING OF HOPE FOR ALL!

CAN BE FOUND IN

Holloway's Pills.

Be of Good Cheer! The Sinking may be Saved!

BY THE USE OF

Holloway's Ointment.

THE history of these great Remedies is the most wonderful medical revelation that the world has ever known. It establishes the all important fact that WHENEVER, and in WHATEVER SHAPE internal diseases exists, the disinfecting, searching and healing properties of the Pills are fully equal to its subjection and cure, and that, with the Ointment, they are

The Great Ambassadors of Health to all Mankind.

This is not a history written by one man, or even derived from the experiences of one station. It consists of a compilation of testimonials from the sick of every country—an unimpeachable record, the like of which has never been adduced in favor of any discovery or invention since time began.

These Mighty Healers, World Known and World Tried are a Boon to the Sick

The want of a sterling medicinal to meet the ills and necessities of the suffering portion of humanity, and one entirely free from mineral and other deleterious particles, was severely felt till this all powerful medicine was ushered into the world; HOLLOWAY'S INVALUABLE PILLS have become the HOUSEHOLD REMEDY of all nations. Their attribute is to PREVENT as well as to CURE; they attack the RADIX OR ROOT of the complaint, and thus, by removing the hidden cause of disease, re-invigorate and restore the drooping energies of the system, assisting nature in her task of VITAL and FUNCTIONARY INFORMATION.

Disorders of the Stomach

Are the sources of the deadliest maladies. Their effect is to vitiate all the fluids of the body, and to send a poisoned stream through all the channels of circulation. Now, what is the operation of the Pills? They cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver, bring the relaxed or irritated stomach into a natural condition, and, acting through the secretive organs UPON THE BLOOD ITSELF, change the state of the system from sickness to health, by exercising a simultaneous and wholesome effect upon all its parts and functions.

Woman in all her Difficulties

Is invited to test the regulating and restorative powers of this harmless but effective preparation. At the two epochs of life in which the female system undergoes the most important and critical changes, the Pills will prove a positive safeguard against evil consequences. They are also confidently recommended as a specific in every disorder to which females are exclusively subject.

Be it Understood,

That the above statements can at all times be verified by the written testimony (extending through a quarter of a century) of tens of thousands of unimpeachable witnesses.

Bilious Maladies, &c., &c.

In whatever form disease attacks the liver, it is repelled and exterminated by this searching, painless, and irresistable curatives. Bilious remittents, bilious purging, and all the ordinary disorders of the organ, indicated by pain in the right side and between the shoulders, yellowness of the whites of the eyes, weakness and debility, &c., are relieved and removed by the remedy, with a celerity which astonishes the sufferers and their friends. Let the sick whom the faculty have abandoned, resort with confidence to this powerful anti-bilious agent, and a restoration to health and activity will be the unvarying result.

Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Weakness, &c. &c.

The terrible bodily and mental pangs which characterise Dyspepsia are at once mitigated by the Pills. Diarrhœa, constipation, headache, physical prostration, nervous tremors, hot flushes, spasms, affections of the kidneys, hemorrhoids or piles, and, in fact, all internal complaints, from whatever cause arising, give way before the salutary influence of this extraordinary remedy. As a specific for dyspepsia, and the disorders connected with it, or growing out of it, the Pills are always to be relied on when every other medicine and mode of treatment has utterly failed.

Holloway's Pills are the best Remedy known for the following diseases:

Asthma,	Headaches,
Bowel Complaints,	Indigestion,
Coughs,	Influenza,
Colds,	Inflamation,
Chest Diseases,	Inward Weakness,
Costiveness,	Liver Complaints,
Dyspepsia,	Lowness of Spirits,
Diarrhœa,	Piles,
Dropsy,	Stone and Gravel,
Debility,	Secondary Symptoms,
Fever and Ague,	Vernal Affections,
Female Complaints,	Worms of all kinds.

CAUTION.

If the readers of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug store in his place, let him write to me, enclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' make.

None are genuine unless the words "Holloway New York and London," are discernible as a Water Mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same knowing them to be spurious.

 Sold at the manufactory of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and the civilized world, in boxes, at 25 cents, 63 cents, and $1 40 each.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes. 33

A HINT
TO THE
WORTHY CITIZENS OF CANADA.

BE WARNED IN TIME.

ALL parties purchasing my Pills and Ointment for their several complaints are respectfully warned against purchasing either Pills of Ointment purporting to be my preparations, that have a United States Stamp around the Boxes and Pots. There is no Treaty between the people of the States and the Home Government, therefore an United States Stamp does not protect my preparations. There are no stamps upon my Canadian style of Pills or Ointment, coming from the United States. I rely only for protection on the water mark in book of directions around each Box or Pot. Before you purchase them, see that there are no U. S. Stamps upon the Box of Pills or Ointment. Purchase none that have United States stamps on.

HOLLOWAY,
Maiden Lane.

46

STEAMSHIP TICKETS
STOLEN.

WHEREAS, on the night of Tuesday, 30th August, the Express Office at Peterboro' was broken into, and some Tickets of the Montreal Ocean Steamship Company stolen therefrom; the public are hereby cautioned against purchasing Tickets of the above Company numbered 219 to 240 inclusive, as they have been cancelled.

TEO . TOX,
Agent.

Peterborough, Sept. 15. 38 4-w

PETERBORO EXAMINER.

S. S. PECK, Esq., has kindly consented to act as Agent for the Examiner, for the neighborhood of Gull River.

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

Peterboro, January, 1865.

REEVES' AMBROSIA
FOR THE
Growth, Beauty and Preservation
OF THE
HAIR.

REEVES' AMBROSIA is prepared from valuable Roots and Herbs, each and all of which have enjoyed a reputation among our most physicians, for their medical properties. These Roots, &c., are carefully selected an chemically compounded by such a method as to extract and combine their true medical virtues in the most effectual manner.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Burdock Root. Thoroughly eradicates Dirt, Scurf and Dandruff.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Witch Hazel. —Allays all pains in the head; cures sore and diseased Scalps, Salt Rheum, Itching, &c. &c. Removes Dull Headache.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Bay Berries.—Gives vigour and healthy action to the Roots of the hair—is very cooling to the Head.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Southern Wood.—Prevents the hair from turning prematurely grey.—Restores grey hair.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Rosemary Flowers.—Nourishes the roots of the hair and gives impulse to its growth—is a delightful ingredient.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains:

L——r Leaves. H——s E——r
E——n E——k. T——n R——t.

The secret discovery which causes the hair to grow beautiful, thick and long.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Is a genuine and reliable preparation. Buy it, try it, and be convinced.

For sale by all Druggists, at 75 cents per bottle.

Depot, 62 Fulton Street, New York.

December 1, 1864. 6mos

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY!
SIR JAMES CLARKE'S
CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS.

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen

THIS invaluable medicine is unfailing for the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excesses and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied upon.

TO MARRIED LADIES

It is peculiarly suited; it will, in short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity. Each bottle, price One Dollar, bears the Government stamp of Great Britain, to prevent counterfeits.

CAUTION.—These Pills should not be taken by females during the first three months of Pregnancy, as they are sure to bring on Miscarriage; but at any other time they are safe.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections pain in the back and limbs, fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed: and although a powerful remedy, they do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution. ☞ Full directions in the pamphlet round each box, which should be carefull preserved.

Sole Agent for the United States and Canadas

JOB MOSES, N. Y.

N. B.—$1 and 6 postage stamps enclosed to any authorised agent, will insure a bottle, containg over 50 pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas.

Sold in Peterboro by Ormond & Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and W. Coulter; by C. Britton, Lindsay; and all medicine dealers.

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES
BRYAN'S
PULMONIC WAFERS!

The Original Medicine established in 1837, and first article of the kind ever introduced under the name of "Pulmonic Wafers," in this or any other country; all other Pulmonic Wafers are counterfeits. The genuine can be known by the name BRYAN being stamped on each WAFER.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficult breathing.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Spitting of Blood, Pains in the Chest.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Ineipe at Consumption, Lung Diseases.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Irritation of the Uvula and Tonsils.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve the above complaints in ten minutes.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are a blessing to all Classes and Constitutions.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are adapted for Vocalists and Public Speakers.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are in simple form and pleasant to the taste.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Not only relieve but effect rapid and lasting cures.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are warranted to give satisfaction to everyone,

No family should be without a box of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers in the house.

No traveler should be without a supply of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers in his pocket.

No person will ever object to give for Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers Twenty-five Cents.

JOB MOSES, Sole Proprietor, N. Y.

NORTHOP & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas,

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour Wm. Coulter, and A. W.

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY GRAHAM & STRATTON.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Vol. X. PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, MARCH 30, 1865. No. 13

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL, AND FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

BY

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars, Handbills, Funeral Cards, Invitations, Bill Headings, Horse Bills, Show Bills, Concert Bills, Programmes, Posters Stage Bills, Business Cards, Blanks, &c.

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing

☞ Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,

SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,

COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,

BARRISTER-AT-LAW, George Street, Peterborough. 18

C. A. WELLER,

CLERK of the Peace. Office George Street, Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,

COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office George street 20

DENNISTOUN & SON,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, &c., Hunter street, Peterboro'.

ROBERT DENNISTOUN. | JAMES F. DENNISTOUN.

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, Agent.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,

GENERAL Fire and Life Insurance Agent, George Street, Peterboro'. 18

MILLAR & BERTRAM,

HARDWARE Merchants, George Street, Peterborough. 18

JAMES STEVENSON,

DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c. George Street, Peterborough. 18

ORMOND & GILMOUR,

DRUGGISTS, Chemists and Seedsmen, dealers in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro'. 18

A. W. KEMPT,

DRUGGIST, Dealer in Genuine Drugs and Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Paints, Oils, Colours, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet nottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c.—Medical Hall, George street, Peterboro. 20

ROBERT WALTON,

SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,

DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,

BOOKSELLER, Stationer &c., Henthorn's Brick Block, north of Ormond & Gilmour's George Street, Peterborough. 20

J. GRIFFIN & Co.,

PUMP AND FANNING MILL MAKERS, Wood Turners, &c., &c.

Corner of Simcoe and Aylmer Streets, Peterborough, C. W. 10-1y

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.

OFFICE AND STORE, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.

Nov. 27, 1861. 48

J. B. BISBEE,

DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 19

WM. N. KENNEDY,

PAINTER, PaperHanger, &c. &c., Hunter street, Peterborough. 15

MR. TOOLE,

MANUFACTURER of Sash, Blinds, Door and House Frames. Every description of work done to order. Next door to Palmer Work Lane to Water Mill, Peterboro', C. W. 9

GEORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 15

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

R. PATTERSON & Co.

DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.

☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough

LIVERY STABLES,

WHITE & EASTLAND, Hunter street Peterboro', C. W.

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.

Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 30

BANK OF TORONTO,

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposit.

A. SMITH, Agent. 20

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee. 20

LAWSON'S HOTEL,

CORNER of George and Brock streets. P. Huffman, proprietor, Peterborough, C. W. Fare one dollar per day. 20

THOMAS W. POOLE, M. D.

PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, Accoucheur, and coroner. Water st., opposite the Market Square, Peterboro', C. W. 38

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

MR. GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c.

Office over the Hardware Store of Messrs George Stetham & Co., George Street, Peterboro.

Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. ?

THOS. G. CHOATE,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Commissioner for taking affidavits, &c., &c.

Warsaw, C. W. 39

JOHN McMILLAN,

TAILOR,

SHOP on Simcoe Street, next door to R. Patterson & Co's Boot and Shoe Store, Peterborough. 44

MRS. HUGH WILSON,

Milliner,

STILL continues business one door East of the Free Church. 45

MR. SIDNEY SMITH

HAS RESUMED HIS PRACTICE AS

BARRISTER, ATTORNEY,

&c., &c. &c.

Office over the Post Office,

PETERBOROUGH, C. W.

April 27, 1863. 18

JOHN O'DONNELL

DENTIST.

OFFICE—Ormond & Gilmour's Block, George st.

PETERBOROUGH.

References—Dr. Leggo Dentist, Brockville. Dr. McCrea, Keene. T. White, Jr. Esq., Editor of the Review; H. T. Strickland, Esq., merchant, Peterboro', and over one hundred others.

☞ Teeth extracted for those not able to pay, daily from 9 to 10 A. m., free of charge. 26

W. PHILP,

TEACHER OF MUSIC,

Residence, near the Union School.

BEG respectfully to announce to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, that, he is prepared to give Lessons on the Piano and Violin, &c., either in his own house or at the residence of the Pupils.

For Terms apply personally, or at Messrs Cox & Davidson's Book Store, Simcoe Street, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.

Music for Balls and Evening Parties by Philp's Quadrille Band, on reasonable terms.

Peterboro', Oct. 28th, 1863. 44

NORTH AMERICAN HOTEL,

LAKEFIELD, C. W.

THE subscriber having leased the above Hotel, lately occupied by Mr W. Blakely, begs to state that he has had it completely refitted and refurnished, and being now entirely complete in all its appurtenants, is now open for the reception of the travelling public.

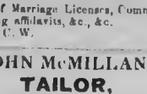
The house is commodious, and neither pains nor expense will be spared to make it one of the best in any village in the Province

The Bar will always be supplied with the choicest Liquors and Cigars.

Good Stabling.

THOMAS HEWITT.

Lakefield, Oct. 19, 1864. 42



TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN!

COUNTY AUCTIONEER!!

THE Subscriber is now prepared to attend to all kinds of sales, with promptness and dispatch as Auctioneer. Addres

CORNELIUS WILSON,
Norwood, P. O.,
Asphodel.

Norwood, Sept. 5th, 1864. 36

A LIBERAL OFFER.

A Complete set of Text and Blank Books for the entire Commercial Course, (Cash price, Seven Dollars) will be presented to each Student purchasing a Scholarship in

THE LONDON

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

BEFORE

The First Day of April Next.

Price of Scholarship for Gents $30 in advance.

Price of Scholarship for Ladies $20 in advance.

Students entering within said time, will be allowed the advantages of our Club Rates, the same as others.

THIS IS THE

OLDEST COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

IN THE PROVINCE!!

And one facilities for imparting practical knowledge, by means of actual transactions are unsurpassed. In addition to the regular Commercial Branches, everything is taught without extra charge, which is requisite for obtaining a First Class Certificate for teaching common school. Drawing and Painting and Telegraphing also taught.

Good board can be obtained in private families for Two Dollars per week.

For circular containing full particulars address post paid,

J. W. JONES,
Principal London Commercial College,
LONDON, C. W.

REMOVAL.

E. POOLE'S

Furniture Ware Rooms

HAVE BEEN REMOVED

TO RYAN'S BLOCK,

Opposite the Market.

WHERE he will keep on hand the most extensive, best selected, cheapest and latest styles of Furniture, which he will sell Cheap for Cash.

UNDERTAKING,

In all its branches attended to with punctuality. COFFINS kept constantly on hand

Peterborough, Nov. 30th, 1864. 48

STOVES

AND

TIN-WARE.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS.

A. STEWART

Is now prepared to supply all kinds of

COOKING, BOX, AND PARLOR STOVES,

At Greatly Reduced Prices.

He keeps constantly on hand the following first class Stoves:—

St. LAWRENCE, square and extended tops.
CANADA, do. do.
QUEEN CITY, do. do.
IRON DUKE, do. do.
PROTECTIONIST.
MAPLE LEAF, &c., &c.

PARLOR STOVES

Too numerous to mention.

☞ Let all cash buyers call and examine his stock and prices, as he is determined to be undersold by none.

A. STEWART.

N. B.—Eave Troughs, Cistern Pumps, Beer Pumps, Bell-hanging, Lumberman's Furnishings, and Jobbing of every description.

A. S.

Peterborough, Nov. 16, 1864. 46

CARD PICTURES

Two for a Dollar!

FRAMING CHEAP

Likenesses of deceased persons enlarged from Ambrotypes and colored in oil

Ambrotypes from 50 Cents,

AT THE

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery,

HUNTER STREET.

R. D. EWING.

Peterboro, March 1, 1865. 9

REMOVAL.

J. O'DONNELL, D. S.,

HAS REMOVED his Dental Office to the beautiful Corner Room s

Over Ormond & Gilmour's Drug Store,

☞ Entrance on Hunter Street—same as Mr. Ewing's Photographic Rooms

Particular attention paid to Facial Neuralgia, diseases of the Antrum, Necrosis and Caries of the Jaw, and all diseases in connection with the anatomy of the mouth.

☞ Teeth Extracted without Pain.

Peterborough, Dec. 14th, 1864. 50

MR. ORDE has removed his office to Chambers' Building, opposite the Commercial Bank.

Money, in sums varying from $200 to $2000, to a large aggregate amount, ready to be advanced on the security of Improved Farms and no other, with reference whereunto, to obviate unnecessary correspondence and postal charges, the personal application of intending mortgagors will only be entertained.

Mr. Orde has likewise entered into business arrangements with John C. C. Cochrane, Esq., general Land and Parliamentary Agent, of Quebec (or wherever the Seat of Government may happen to be), a gentleman of eighteen years' experience, and large practice in transacting matters relating to Patents and other claims in the Crown Lands Department.

Peterborough, Dec. 8, 1864.

REMOVAL.

MRS. TODGHAM,

STRAW MILLINER,

BEGS to inform her Friends and Customers that she has removed from George Street, to her late place of business, to Hunter Street, to the house West of the old Union School-house, where all orders will be executed in the best style, and on the same reasonable terms as heretofore.

Felt Hats Cleaned and Altered.

Peterboro, December 1, 18 4. 48.

PRIMARY SCHOOL.

MISS. E. RUTHERFORD

WILL COMMENCE A PRIMARY SCHOOL,

In the School Room Adjoining the Wesleyan Church,

On MONDAY the 30th instant.

TERMS, 25 cents per month.

Peterborough, Jan 18th, 1865.

Hopkins & Donnelly

WOULD respectfully call the attention of the public generally to their excellent Stock of Goods, comprising everything found in a first-class Saddlery and Harness Warehouse, and surpassed by none in the Province.

As they have adopted the Ready Pay system, everything will be sold at

GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

In Peterborough, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe street; in Lakefield, next door to Mr. Sheran's store.

P. S.—Over-due notes and accounts must positively be settled at once, otherwise they will be put in suit for collection.

H. & D.

Peterboro, Feb. 1, 1865. 5

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

OF CANADA.

From Niagara Falls to Detroit,

AND BRANCHES FROM HAMILTON TO TORONTO.

Passenger Train Time Table.

OCTOBER, 1864.

TORONTO LINE.

HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

STATIONS GOING EAST.	Mixed.	Express.
	A. M.	P. M.
HAMILTON.....depart.	7.45	2.45
Burlington Junction
Whitehorn	8.03
Wellington Square	8.15	4.10
Bronte	7.01	4.21
Oakville		4.39
Port Credit
Mimico
TORONTO, Union Station, arrive	10.20	5.20

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

STATIONS GOING WEST.	Express.	Mixed
	P. M.	P. M.
TORONTO, Union Station, depart.	12.30	5.30
Mimico		6.05
Port Credit	1.2	6.20
Oakville	1.4	6.44
Bronte	1.07	6.07
Wellington Square	2.13	7.16
Whitehorn		7.30
Burlington Junction
HAMILTON	2.30	8.00

Hamilton, 1864. 47

MONTREAL

OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.

TICKETS

FOR

Londonderry, Glasgow or Liverpool,

or from any of these ports to any point in Canada, may be procured from the Agent in Peterborough,

GEORGE A. COX,

at the MONTREAL TELEGRAPH OFFICE

He is also agent for the

BRITISH AND AMERICAN

Express Comp'y

OFFICE, HOPKINS' BLOCK.

Simcoe Street, Peterboro', October 26th, 1863. 44-tf

Norwood and Peterboro'

STAGE.

ACCOMMODATION LINE.

LEAVES NORWOOD

On Tuesday's and Friday's,

AT 7 A. M. RETURNING

LEAVES PETERBORO' THE SAME DAYS,

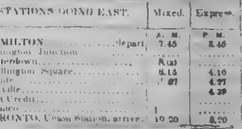
AT 2.30 P. M.

Orders left at the Huffman House, Peterboro, or the International Hotel, Norwood; will be promptly attended to.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates.

J. A. JOHNSON,
Proprietor.

Norwood, August 19, 1863. 34



ROYAL

MAIL STAGE

BETWEEN

KEENE & PETERBORO'.

A DAILY STAGE

Leaves the Victoria House, Keene.. 9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' ..... 12 noon.
Leave Peterboro' ..... 3 p. m.
Arrive at Keene ..... 5.30 p. m.

April 17th, 1863. 17-tf.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO'

RAILWAY.

ON and after the 26th of June, the Peterboro Trains will run as follows:—

MAIL.

Leave Port Hope at ..... 9.45 a.m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at ..... 12.15 p.m.
Leave Peterboro at ..... 3.30 p.m
Arrive at Port Hope ..... 5.55 p.m

B. B. KIMBALL, Superintendent. F. FERGUSON, Secretary.

Peterboro June, 1864. 28

Poetry.

LIFE AND LOVE.

Life is a garden fair and free—
But 'tis love that holds the golden key;
For hand and heart
Once held apart,
Life's flowers are dashed with storms of sorrow,
And gloom to-day may be bright to-morrow.
So reckless ever the wind and weather
Let Life and love be linked together.

Life is a diamond rich and rare,
But love is the leasure that danceth there;
For hand and heart
Once held apart
Life's jewels grow dim in the breath of sorrow.
And diamonds to-day may be dust to-morrow.
So reckless ever of wind and weather,
Let Life and Love be linked together.

Life has a rich and smiling face;
But love is the dimple that gives it grace;
For the heart and hand
Once held apart,
Life's brightest beams are blanched with sorrow
And roses to-day may be lilies to-morrow.
So reckless ever of wind and weather,
Let Life and Love be linked together.

Literature.

A Young Man's Confession, which all Young Men should read.

A SOLEMN WARNING.

We have received from Chapl in Brakeman, of Baton Rouge, the following confession made to him by Private Rhea, lately hung at that post for the murder of Dr. Sadler, and we print it for the moral lessons of which it it so full.—N. Y. Advocate.

RHEA'S CONFESSION.

My name is Larkin W Rhea; I was born in Hancock county, Tenn., March 22nd, 1845. My parents were members of the Baptist Church. I was religiously educated, and when thirteen years old was baptized by Elder Wilbourne, and joined the church with my parents, and continued a member of that church in good standing when I enlisted. My associations in the army were unfavorable to religious life.

I saw older and better men than I abandon Christian life, and they would tell me that it was impossible to live religion in the army, and that it was not expected soldiers would be Christians. It was not long till I began to follow their teaching and example, which, joined with the persecutions of ridicule of those who had never made any pretentions of piety, did their work effectually; and thus enticed—enforced and yet consenting—I strayed from the path of religion and virtue. Little by little I began to practice the habits and vices common to camp life, and in a few months found myself drinking, swearing etc. But I suffered much in mind, and often when alone would sit down to sober reflection—would think of home; of mother, then in heaven; of my former Christian life, would wonder, while I seemed to have presentiments of where my wickedness would end, and would weep, and pray, and resolve to reform. But associations with wicked companions would always overcome my good resolutions. I thus continued sinning and repenting for more than year, when I seemed to lose all resolution to be a better man. I was still troubled with thoughts of my wicked course, and where it would lead me—of death, judgment and eternity—but I would try to get them out of my mind, or drown them in hard drinking. And thus I continued till the night of that sad event which has so suddenly and shamefully ended my career.

From the moment of my committal to jail I felt that my fate was sealed; and hence was not surprised when, yesterday, my spiritual advisor—Rev. N. L. Brakeman, Post Chaplain—communicated to me my sentence and the day of my execution. Neither the Chaplain nor myself have yet seen the printed order. I think I should have had longer notice, but will not complain; my fate is as I expected.—This morning, December 28th, the Chaplain brought me the published order containing my sentence and the day of my execution which is day after to-morrow.—I have but two days to live! My race is run; I die the ignominious death of the murderer before I have seen my twentieth year! With me, so far as my earthly destiny is concerned, the die is cast, the deed is done, all is over, and, too late to profit by it, I see and mourn over the errors I might have avoided, and for which I alone am mainly re ponsible. It is useless to lament—tears, regret, remorse, cannot restore the past, or prolong my life. I reap what I has sown; I bow to my fate; discipline must be maintained. I cannot feel that it is just for me to be hung, for I did not indeed to kill Dr. Sadler. I had rather be shot. But law and order must be preserved, and I have been disorderly and lawless, and am willing to suffer, as I must, if my execution may contribute anything toward maintaining army discipline, and restraining others from the course I have pursued! God grant it may!

And now a few words to my fellow-soldiers, and I have done. Wicked and vile companions, both of men and women, have been my ruin. Had I followed, in the army as I did at home, the teachings of my mother and my Bible; had I maintained Christian principal and chosen for my more intimate companions those of good habits and morals I would to-day have been deemed an honorable and honored young man, instead of a murderer under the sentence of death. I speak of evil companions first, for it was my fatal error—I "walked in the counsel of the ungodly" and stood in the way of sinners," till at last I sat down with the scornful. Go not with the few or the many to do evil. Read Prov. iv. 14th to 19th verse; and v. 3rd to 19th verse; read it, remember, and follow it. Oh that I had given head to those warning words!

The chief instrumentality through which wicked men and women accomplished my ruin, was intoxicating liquors. Under its influence I was ready to follow wherever they chose to lead. One vice led to another till, under its influence, the crime of murder, the murder of an innocent and good man—and who but for the influence of liquor upon me, had yet been living—has ended alike the cause of my sins and my earthly existence. To one and all I would say, let liquor alone, abstain from all that can intoxicate. I never intended to drink to excess, but did not know, till too late, the power of the habit over me. And to think where it has led me! But I am only one of the thousands of the young men it has led as lambs to the slaughter."

When you think of Dr. Sadler, of his many virtues, and mourn his loss, remember that liquor did it; when you see me standing upon the gallows, soon to be launched into eternity, remember whisky brought me to it; when you see my lifeless body hanging in the air, remember liquor did it;—and when you, the members of my company and regiment, blush with shame that one of your number, at so early an age, come to such a dishonorable death, remember liquor did it; and wherever the awful and solemn scenes of the murder and the execution shall recur to the minds of any one who witnessed them, let them be remembered as the legitimate fruits of intoxication And as you value your own happiness, the peace and safety of society, a prosperous life, and an honorable death: as you value a good name and a grateful memory when you are gone from earth; nay as you value your own souls and heaven, shun the intoxicating bowl!

But I would warn you against all the vices to which you are exposed in soldier-life—intemperance, licentiousness, profanity, gambling, and immorality of every kind. Virtue, sobriety and Christian principles are as important in the army as at home. Vice destroys health and strength, and produces insubordination.—Army dissipation has destroyed more lives than the enemy. Be careful of the beginnings of vice, and "shun the appearance of evil." If you begin, there is no knowledge where you will end.

If I could know that what I have dictated, what I have already experienced, and am yet to suffer, would save any man from the course I have pursued, it would afford me comfort in my last hour. I hope it may do some one good.

I have now nothing in my heart against any one. I have sometimes felt hard toward those who first led me astray. O, why did they do it? But they did not think what they were doing, or where it would end. And I was free and should not have gone with them, or followed their counsel. I knew it was wrong, and yet followed on, a victim to the pleasures of sin. And I, in turn had led others into sin; the thought now gives me inexpressible pain; God forbid their curse should end as mine has! If any whom I have thus influenced ever see these lines, will they do themselves and me the justice to reject my former counsel, and receive and follow these my most sincere and best, because my last words?

I have done. I hope to be forgiven as I forgive, and may God have mercy upon my soul! I have no hope but in His mercy.

LARKIN. W. RHEA.

Co. C, 7th Reg. Ky. Vol. Infantry, Baton Rogue, La., Dec 28, 1864.

—Western Advocate.

A TOUCHING STORY.

The following affecting narrative, which we find in an exchange purports to have been given by a father to his son, as a warning, derived from his own bitter experience of the sin of grieving and resisting a mother's love and counsel. It is not new, but its teachings are so excellent as to make it worthy of frequent publication and perusal:

What agony was visible on my mother's face when all she said and suffered failed to move me! She arose to go home, and I followed at a distance. She spoke no more to me until she reached her own door.

'It is school time,' now, said she—Go my son, and let me once more beseech you to think upon what I have said.

'I shan't go to school,' said I.

She looked astonished at my boldness, and then firmly replied:

'Certainly you will, Alfred. I command you.

'I will not,' said I.

One of two things you must do Alfred either to go to school this moment or I will lock you in your room and keep you there until you are ready to promise implicit obedience to my wishes in future.

'I dare you to do it;' said I, you can't get me up stairs.

'Alfred choose now,' said my mother who laid her hands upon my arm. She trembled violently, and was deadly pale.

'If you touch me I will kick you,' said I, in a terrible rage. 'God knows I know not what I said!"

'Will you go, Alfred?'

'No,' I replied, but quailed beneath her eye.

'Then follow me, said she,' as she grasped my arm firmly. I raised my foot—oh, my son, hear me! I raised my foot and kicked her—my sainted mother! how my head reels at the moment of memory rushes over me! I kicked my mother—a feeble woman—my mother! She staggered back a few steps and leaned against the wall. She did not look at me, I saw her heart beat against her breast. Oh, Heavenly Father! she cried, forgive him—he knows not what he does! The gardener just then passed the door, and seeing my mother pale and almost unable to support herself she beckoned him in.

'Take this boy up stairs and lock him in his own room,' said she, and turned from me. It was a look of agony mingled with the intensest love—it was the last unutterable pang from a heart that was broken.

In a moment I found myself a prisoner in my own room. I thought for a moment I would fling myself from the open window, and dash out my brains, but I felt afraid to die. I was patient. At times my heart was subdued, but my stubborn pride rose in an instant, I flung myself on the bed and fell asleep. Just at twilight I heard a footstep approached the door. It was my sister.

'What may I tell mother for you?' she asked.

'Nothing, I replied.'

'Oh, Alfred!" for my sake, for all our sakes, say that you are—let me tell mother that you are sorry, she longs to forgive you.

'I would not answer." I heard her footsteps slowly retreating, and again I flung myself on the bed and passed a wretched and fearful.

Another footstep slower and feebler than my sister's disturbed me.

'Alfred my son, shall I come in? 'Are you not sorry for what you have done?' she asked.

I cannot tell what influence, operating at the moment, made me speak averse to my feelings. The gentle voice that thrilled through me, melted the ice from my heart and I longed to throw my self on her neck; but I did not. My word gave the lie to my heart, when I said I was not sorry I heard her withdraw. I heard her groan. I longed to call her back but did not.

I was awakened from my slumber by hearing my name called loudly and my sister stood at my bedside.

'Get up, Alfred. Oh, dont wait a minute Get up and come with me. Mother is dying."

I thought I was dreaming, but I got up mechanically and followed my sister. On the bed, pale and cold as marble lay my mother She had not undressed. She had thrown herself on the bed to rest, and rising to go again to me, she was seized with a palpitation of the heart, and was borne senseless to her room.

I cannot tell you my agony as I gazed on her—my remorse was ten fold more bitter from the thought that she would never know it. I believed that I was the murderer. I fell on the bed beside her I could not weep—My heart burned in my bosom—my brain was on fire. My sister threw her arms around me and wept in silence. Suddenly we saw a slight motion in mothers hand—her eyes unclosed she had recovered consciousness, but not speech. She looked at me and moved her lips. I could not hear her words. 'Mother, Mother?' I shrieked, say only that you forgive me. She could not say it with her lips, but her hands pressed mine. She smiled upon me, and lifting her thin white hands she clasped my own within them, and cast her eyes upwards. She moved her lips in prayer, and thus she died. I remained beside that dear form, till my gentle sister remove! me. The joy of youth had left me forever."

Boys who spurn a mother's control, who are ashamed to own that they are wrong, who think it manly to resist the authority or yield to her influence, BEWARE! Lay not up for yourself bitter memories for your future years.

MARVELS OF MAN.

When the gastric juice has a mild, bland sweetish taste, it possesses the power of digesting the hardest food that can be swallowed. It has no influence whatever on the fibres of the living animal, but at the moment of death it begins to eat them away with the power of the strongest acid.

There is dust on sea and land—in the valley and on the mountain top—there is dust always and everywhere. The atmosphere is full of it. It penetrates the noisome dungeon, and visits the darkest caves of the earth. No palace door can shut it out; no drawer is so secret as to escape its presence. Every breath of wind dashes it upon the open eye; which yet is not blinded, because there is a fountain of the blandest fluid in nature incessantly emptying itself under the eyelid, which spreads itself over the surface of the eye-ball at every winkling, and washes every atom of dust away. This liquid, so well adapted to the eye itself has some acridity, which, under certain circumstances, becomes so decided as to be scalding to the skin, and would rot away the eyelids, were it not that along the edges of the eye there are little oil manufactories, which spread over their surface a coating as impervious to the liquids necessary for keeping the eyeballs washed clean, as the best varnish is impervious to water.

The breath which leaves the lungs has been so perfectly divested of its life-giving properties that to rebreathe it, unmixed with other air, the moment it escapes from the mouth causes immediate death by suffocation; while if it hovered about us, a more or less destructive influence over health would be occasioned. But it is made of a nature so much lighter than the common air, that the moment it escapes the lips and nostrils it ascends to higher regions, above the breathing point, there to be rectified, renovated, and sent back again, replete with purity and life. How rapidly it ascends is beautifully exhibited any frosty morning.

But foul and deadly as the expired air is, nature—wisely economical in all her works and ways—turns it to good account in the outward passage through the organs of voice, and makes it the whisper of love the soft winds of affection, the tender tones of human sympathy, the sweet strains of ravishing music and the persuasive eloquence of the finished orator.

If a well-made man be extended on the ground, his arms at right angles with his body, a circle, making the navel the centre, will just take it in his head, the finger ends and the feet. The distance from "toe to toe" is precisely the same as that between the tips of the fingers when the arms are extended. The length of the body is just six times that of the foot; while the distance from the edge of the hair in the forehead to the end of the chin is one-tenth of the length of the whole stature.

Of the sixty-two primary elements known in nature only eighteen are found in the human body, and of these seven are metallic. Iron is found in the blood; phosphorus in the brain; lime in the bone; flint and ashes in all. Not only these eighteen human elements, but the whole sixty-two, of which the universe is made, have their essential basis in the food substances—oxygen, hydrogen, nitrogen and carbon—representing the familiar names of fire, water, saltpetre, and charcoal. And such is man, the lord of the earth—a spark of fire—a drop of water—a grain of gunpowder—an atom of charcoal!

But, looking at him in another direction, these elements shadow forth the highest qualities of divine nature, of mortal existance. In that spark in the coal we see which speaks of irrepressible activity; in that drop is the water which speaks of purity; in that grain is the force by which he subdues all things to himself—makes the wide creation the supplier of his wants and the servitor of his pleasures; while in the atom of charcoal there is a diamond which speaks at once of light and purity; of indestructible and resistless progress. There is nothing outshines it; it is purer than the dew-drop. "Moth and rust" corrupt it not, nor can ordinary fires destroy it; while it cuts away alike through brass and adamant and hardest steel. In that light we see an eternal progression towards omniscience; in that purity, the good of divine nature; in that indestructibility an immortal existance; in that progress, a steady ascension towards the home and bosom of God.

THE MOON AND THE WEATHER.—Mr. Merriam, lately deceased, who probably watched the weather, and made more close and accurate observations with instruments, for over thirty years, than any man living, declares that in all his experience he has never been able to perceive that the moon has the least influence upon the weather. And yet, to what multitudes in this rank heresy. How they run to the almanacs to see when the moon is "new," when it "quarters," and when it is "full," and predict changes in the weather at these points. The fact is, the moon is new, or quarters, or is full once a week the year round; and in one climate the weather changes often, about once a week, when it does not remain unaltered for weeks; and so, if a change in the weather takes place anywhere near the change in the moon, she is the author of the change. I have known educated men cling to this notion instilled into their childhood. I have known men who are careful not to plant, especially beans, in the old of the moon. And I put it to my reader, who, as I have no doubt, is wise and well educated, and free from all superstition, had you not a "beetle" rather see the new moon over the right shoulder than over the left? Don't you always think of it when you see the new moon? Can you tell why? It is one of those old roots which time and Christianity have not yet removed. So, many had rather see a crow fly over the right shoulder than over the left—a remnant of the old Roman notion of omens. The number and variety of superstitions which still linger and burrow in the world, like the remnant of the old Canaanites whom Israel "could not drive out," is far larger than most suppose. My wonder is, not that there are so many roots of the old tree remaining, but that Christianity has done so much toward removing them. I see no time when we may expect them all to be removed.

PETROLEUM—HOW A FARM WAS SOLD.—A correspondent of the American Agriculturalists gives an account of an instance of pretty "sharp practice" in the oil regions of Pennsylvania. A widow who owned a farm in a locality bordering upon or rather within the grounds of Petrolia, procured a barrel of the genuine oil, and poured a few gallons upon the surface of several small pools of water in her domain. The barrel was then secreted in some brush near a small rivulet, and a minute opening was made, so that a few drops constantly escaped, and floated down upon the surface of the water. The bait soon took with one of the roving seekers of hidden wealth, who contracted for the farm, hastened East raised a company, and returned with ample funds to pay $100 000 for the farm, and to begin operations. The widow, of course, found it convenient to immediately change her quarters to an eastern city.

—The moral sequel of the story, which we cannot vouch for, is, that by chance, this turned out to be a capital oil farm, and is yielding large returns to the company.

THE CHRISTIAN TRAVELLER.—A black cloud invites the traveller mend his pace, and mind his home, whereas a fair day and a pleasant way, wastes his time and seals his affections to the prospect of the country. However others may think of it, yet I take it as a mercy, that now and then some clouds do intercept my sun, and many times troubles do eclipse my comforts; for I perceive, if I should find too much friendship in my inn in my pilgrimage I should soon forget my father's house, and pilgrimage.

But if I place my money in the Savings Bank, inquired one of the newly arrived, when can I draw it out again? Oh, responded his Hibernian friend, sure and if you put it in to-day, you can get it out again to-morrow, only by giving a fortnight's notice.

At recent examination of girls in Chesshire for the rite of confirmation in answer to the question.

What is the outward and visible sign and form to baptism? the reply was, The baby, sir.

Wouldn't you call this the calf of a leg? asked Bob, pointing to one of his mother limbs. No replied Jim; I should say it was the leg of a calf.

"Wake up and pay your lodging," said the deacon, as he nudged a sleepy gentleman with a contribution-box.

An exchange says lovers, like armies, generally get along quietly enough until they are engaged.

Many a fellow, when whiskey is at hand makes a sye mouth.

Those that wish to effect Insurance should call on the undersigned, who devotes the whole of his time to Insurance, and represents some of the best English and Canadian Offices.

J. R. WALTON.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Insolvent Act of 1864—D. McDonald, Jr.
Dunfield—Sidney Smith.
Insolvent Act of 1864—W. Armstrong.
New Spring Goods—W. G. Thomson & Co.
To Let:—W. Sheridan.
For Sale—J. R. Walton.
St. George's Society—J. R. Walton.
Victoria Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 186—W. McCullagh.
Notice—Edmund Chamberlain.
Peach and Oakum—G. Stethem & Co.
Diamond Orange Lodge, No. 86—J. Smith.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, MARCH 30, 1863.

THE TOWN FINANCES.

We purposed giving a state of our financial position in to-day's issue, but we have been hindred by not being able to obtain time enough to give the accounts that attention which such an important affair demands. We purpose, however, if spared, next week to give a plain and intelligent elucidation of our financial position without attacking parties for no assignable cause other than a little spleen. We were rather astonished to see a desire exhibited in last weeks' Review to obscure the matter rather than explain, and to find insinuations of misconduct which upon reasonable inquiry we find to be without any known foundation. The following we clip from the Review and must say in reference to it that surely the implied charge appears to blame some of our officials for paying money without authority. If that is what is meant let it be said distinctly; but if it only means that no proper vouchers were found, or are to be found, for the delivery of articles or performance of duty, for which money has been paid, let that be stated that people may know distinctly who is to blame—the Council or the servants of the Council. We will mention two items which are given as examples of reckless expenditure, and yet can easily be explained: "We find the Chief Constable the recipient of $421.93." The Chief Constable, by direction of the Council, employed men to perform labor as directed. He applied from time to time for funds to pay those laborers. The funds were granted, no doubt, by order of the Council, but as it was paid to Mr. Wm. Arnott, directly, he was charged with it in the Treasurer's books. If we remember aright, Mr. Arnott received about $170 for work done by him, instead of $421.93. Another item mentioned is Law costs. Now a little enquiry would have acquainted the Editor of the Review that some accounts of one year are found to run into another year, and so with this item of Law costs. The costs for 1864, we learn, were something like $111.85. The balance of the item given in the Auditors' Report is accumulated costs from 1862 or 1863, or perhaps both—which the Council of 1863 at first refused to meet, but on calm consideration of the matter the Council for 1864 recommended to be paid. Now what is there unreasonable in that? A little more sober reason and care, with a fuller acquaintance with the little details will render the accounts plain, and enable us to arrive at a clear understanding of our present position, but by all means let the matter be discussed in a spirit of candour and fairness.

There is perhaps just cause for calling on our city Fathers to render a strict account, and they should be carefully watched. The peoples' interests are our interests, and any thing that would rob them either of social rights or information or of their money, should be openly and freely declared, but let every one suffer for his own sins; let not vague unmeaning general charges be made.

There has been a little extravagance last year, and a little mismanagement the year before that. These two evils are now to be met, but the town is able to meet its liabilities, if not just now, at least in a few months, we trust the present finance Committe will remove the evils that are now justly complained of—not meeting our debts as they become due. Reason tells us they must be met, and the folly of delaying to do so at the expense of discounting paper from year to year must be self evident. Our finance Committee have a scheme in view which we think might remove some of the difficulties, we may advert to it next week.

This one thing we may recommend, by all means let every year bear its own burden, by no means allow accumulated liabilities to gather, until too large to be borne by one year. The present liabilities appear to be $6236.85; accounts not rendered when the Report was made, nearly $400; due to the Government for 1865 on the 2nd of December last next, $4,430, or nearly $10,996,85, to be provided for this year. To meet this there comes in, from the Railroad $6000, leaving $4,996,85 to be directly provided for, as also for a sinking fund. By economy on streets and bridges and other outlays, this can all be met without much increase of taxes. When out of debt then out of danger.

We give, to-day, a certain Memorial of Mr. Robert Romaine, of the Review, complaining of collusion in awarding to us the Town printing for the present year. The charges are not very specific, as it is hard to infer upon whom he lays the blame. The memorial is a remarkable one in more respects than one. First—because the collusion, charged upon some person or persons unknown, is purely the result of a heated imagination. Secondly—The signs of ideas of the memorial are not very politely nor reasonably expressed; and thirdly—The calculation given in the memorial are orrious and amusing. We are glad the memorial did not get the fate it deserved, viz: to be cast into the waste-paper basket. The committee to whom it was referred will have the honor of reporting thereon; and the public will have an opportunity of learning something about the town printing; and the author of the memorial has had the honor of withdrawing his charges. We certainly would have allowed the precious document (which was secretly handed to a few of the councillors) to pass sanctioned, had the author of it not reiterated the statement and accusation in the Review of last week, by his doing so we were under the necessity to vet the public right on the matter, and shew them that their money, at least in this case, is not squandered, but on the contrary expended in the most economical manner. The only charge we would withdraw is concerning the tender for printing the detailed statement last year. The proprietor of the Review was led to believe that it was not tendered for, we therefore do not hold him guilty of untruth when he said that it was not.—He spoke according to information, as we since learned; the burden of real transgression is enough for any one to bear. His miscalculations we consider intentional and incapable of palliation, or reasonable explanation.

THE TOWN PRINTING.

Because of a certain memorial from Mr. Romaine to the Mayor and Corporation, misrepresenting facts and figures, we, for the benefit of those who have not time to examine accounts and papers relating to the Town printing, give the facts and figures, and leave those interested to judge for themselves whether Mr. Romaine has received any unjust treatment in the matter.

Mr. Romaine in his memorial places the printing under three heads:—1st, advertising; 2nd, ½ and ¼ sheet bills; 3rd, full sized posters.

Tenders for 1863 were as follows:

	MR. ROMAINE'S.	GRAHAM & STRATTON'S.
100 sheet bills,	$1.90	$1.75
50 " "	1.70	1.50
100 ½ " "	1.40	1.20
50 ½ " "	1.00	1.00
100 ¼ " "	1.00	90
50 ¼ " "	75	75
By-laws, &c., 37½ c'ts		22 cents per 1000 ems.
Advertising, 40 per ct off.		38 per ct off

The whole printing cost $53.36 according to Mr. Romaine, really $59.14, of which Mr. White got $3.96; Mr. Graham $55.48. Of this $55.48, $22.91 was for advertising; $14.92 sheet bills; $3 for detailed statement, the balance for blank conviction lists, blank books, &c., &c., for similar articles Mr. White obtained some $55.24, but this went to the Review office, its all right with Mr. Romaine. Mr. Romaine says his tender is lowest on nine-tenths of the work, (or to the amount of $52.36); whereas his own figures are $22.91; for he is lowest only in one item—advertising—so much for Mr. Romaine's nine tenths. The fact is $22.91 is about eleven twenty-ninths, or a little over four-tenths—not one half. Mr. Romaines' Arithmetic is deficient somewhere.

From the above it will be seen, (obviously indeed,) on the first item we are 9 per cent lower than Mr. Romaine; on the second we are 13 per cent lower than he; on the third we are 16 per cent lower than he; on the fourth we are equal; on the fifth we are 11 per cent lower than he; on the sixth we are equal; on By-laws, &c. &c., we are only 3½ cents over one half what Mr. Romaine tenders for; his tender being 37½ cents per mille ems, ours being 22 cents per mille ems.—On advertising, (suppose it be the same as last year) to accept Mr. Romaine's offer, the town would gain 2 per cent, or the enormous sum of 45 cents in the year; while on 50 sheet bills his tender would pull up 20 cents of that sum, and on printing one By-law of the dimensions of Mr. Romaine's memorial, his tender would be about 80 cents, ours would be 45 cents. Which would be the greatest saving to the town?

Hear Mr. Romaine again:—"It is a fact that Mr. Richard White's tender, last year, was the lowest on the face of it, though not on the whole work, &c." This we assert is a collusion of falsehood or wilful ignorance, or both combined, on the part of Mr. Romaine, which the tender for 1864 will show. See the figures.

Tenders for 1864 compared:

	MR. WHITE'S.	MR. GRAHAM'S.
Advertising, 31 per ct. off.		31 per ct. off.
50 ½ sheet bills,	$0.89	$0.85
100 " "	1.23	1.20
50 ¼ " "	1.24	1.20
100 " "	1.74	1.70

The detailed statement was tendered for afterwards, and Mr. R. White on hearing Mr. Graham's tender therefor, said: "let him have it." Now, in every item of the above, Mr. Graham's tender is the lowest, and yet Mr. Romaine has the effrontery to assert that Mr. White's was the lowest on the face of it.

Another collusion (on the brain, we think) of Mr. Romaine is that nearly one-half of the whole printing was never tendered for, nor were tenders asked for said one-half! Let us see—Mr. Romaine classifies the printing under these heads, viz:—Advertising, one-fourth and one-half sheet bills; and large bills sized posters; and by glancing at the tender for 1864 and 1865, it will be seen that all these have been tendered for; and the detailed statement also, as can be testified. So much for the truthfulness of the proprietor of the Review.

Mr. Romaine says "he has good reason to know that collusion is practised in the matter, and that justice has neither been done to the Town or myself (Mr. Romaine) in the premises." Does Mr. Romaine offer this insult to the Mayor, to the Clerk & Treasurer, or to the Council generally, of colluding with us to obtain for us the paltry affair of the Town Printing?—The characters of these men are too well known to be injured by the base insinuation of any scurrilous scribble, where mental deformity is so united with covetousness and ignorance of both Grammar and Arithmetic that few know what is meant; and we add his own words "because we have good reason to know" this. Our tender was in the Mayor's hands before Mr. Romaine's, as we can prove,—and it was in the Mayor's possession before Mr. Romaine presented his to the Clerk. When then could collusion be practiced? unless we had the magic power to learn from Mr. Romaine's tender, sealed, in his pocket; and also to change the figures of our own tender in the Mayor's possession, which powers we do not pretend to possess. The only collusion that we can think of is a diseased state of the cerebrum, superinduced by over action of acquisitiveness while pondering over the voluminous Report of the Auditors for 1864.

ORANGE ASSOCIATION.

A special emergency meeting of the County Orange Lodge, of the County of Peterborough, will be held in the Orange Hall, in Peterborough, on Friday the 31st inst., at one o'clock p. m., when all County and District Officers, and Masters of Private Lodges are particularly requested to attend.

New Spring Goods.—W. G. Thomson & Co., advertise in this issue of the Examiner, the arrival of their Spring Goods; which are well worthy of an inspection.

The Steamer Rochester made her first trip across the Lake on Tuesday last.

Rebel officers say, so great is the devastation caused by Sherman's march through South Carolina, that not a house is left standing in his track.

A LIBERAL OFFER.

We would call the attention of the different Municipal councils and the Local Superintendents to the letter of the Hon. Billa Flint in to-day's issue. Mr. Flint proposes to the different Municipalities of the division to have a Township examination of Schools, and offers to give ten dollars to every Municipality in the division; the Municipality to give ten more for which sum forty dollars worth of prize books would be obtained, and distributed in the various Towns and Townships, of course those only receiving who should be considered worthy, after examination. We think the scheme should recommend itself to the Local Superintendents and the Municipal authorities. In no way could ten dollars be better spent than in encouraging education, and at the same time diseminating useful and moral reading throughout the division. A stimulus would be offered to the ambitious, and an opportunity of testing both Teachers and taught. A pleasant week would also be afforded to those engaged in the examinations, and a fresh impetus be given to the pupils. The dull sameness of every day lessons requires more than common courage and patience to induce and maintain interest in School routine. This liberal offer of our very worthy Representative shows his patriotism and philantrophy. In no way can a man erect a more enduring memento of himself than by encouraging those things that prepare the youth for the discharge of those political and moral duties that may devolve upon them through life. And by fostering education and extending the means of acquiring knowledge, a more lasting advantage is bestowed upon our race than any mere pecuniary reward, which remains only for a season, but knowledge is valuable and eternal. Let the Local Superintendents at once make the necessary arrangements and let no efforts be spared to have the whole affair as pleasant and profitable as possible. We would not at this time do more than urge that the offer be accepted and arrangements made, so that time for publicity and a little preparation be given.

FIRES.

The cooper shop of Mr. Robert Renfrew, was consumed by fire on Wednesday night last, about 12 o'clock. The fire is believed to have been the work of an incendiary, about 800 barrels, and the tools, and a great amount of material were consumed. Mr. Renfrew had an insurance to the amount of $300, his loss is about $500. Rumors appear to throw the blame of the foul deed upon those connected with the coopers of this place. Investigation should be made into this as well as some of the late fires, and if possible drag the perpetrators of such disgraceful acts to justice and punishment. Fires are becoming alarmingly on the increase; every week brings intelligence of one or more fires. This state of things does not speak well for the morality of at least a part of our citizens. The ease with which Insurance Companies have hitherto met the claims of those suffering by fire, appears to have no good effect upon the minds of a few others, and hence the continual complaints we hear of parties being complicated more or less with those fires. But these last fires appear to be a work of revenge, for selling at lower prices than their fellow tradesmen. If this be so we can not at least speak well of one class of our mechanics. We really think it is incumbent on the craft to have the matter cleared up and not allow the general impression of guiltiness to go abroad.

The dwelling house of Mr. Timothy Murphy, Aspodel, was burned down some days since, not insured.

Also Mr. B. W. Moore's furniture shop Norwood. No insurance. The furniture was saved but the tools were burned.

The dwelling house and furniture of Jas. Grieves, Bridgenorth, were burned on Wednesday morning the 22nd instant. Loss $1,400. No insurance.

TRADE AND NAVIGATION.

From the Tables of the Trade and Navigation of the Province of Canada for the half year ending June 30th, 1864, we gather the following items.

Gross value of importations $23,882,216, or an increase of $3,788,976 over 1863. The value of dutiable goods for the same period $14,309,886, or an increase of $4,721,666. The value of Free goods $7,996,826. Duties collected for that period of 1864 $3,068,368. The principle articles on which duties were collected are as follows:—

	VALUE.	DUTY.
Cottons	$3,277,985	$644,387
Woollens	2,537,667	499,084
Tea, 3,048,567 lbs.	1,059,674	275,126
Iron and Hardware	776,225	151,422
Linen	421,543	84,136
Hats, caps &c.	281,197	55,546

The Trade of the Province for the period referred to amounted to $37,765,724.

The excise returns of spirits distilled and malt liquors brewed in the province are as follows:—

Proof spirits distilled, 2,420,419 gallons; duty $454,939,02.

Malt Liquor 2,976,049 gallons; duty $91,539,27.

Imported in same period:—

	GALLONS.	VALUE.
Whisky	14,469	$ 9,843
Brandy	42,194	54,602
Gin	178,033	36,803
Rum	25,198	9,455
Ale, Beer, Porter	33,962	12,159
	LBS.
Coffee	579,733	91,531
Sugar	14,909,967	789,887

Value of goods imported from the United States for the same period $4,875,630.

Value of goods imported from the Maritime provinces $101,794.

Horses exported to the United States, 6,418; value $503,687.

Horned cattle exported to U. S., 11,638; value $358,925. Swine, 10,200; value $82,284. Sheep, 10,316; value $42,326. Pork, value, $154,844. Wool, 854,530 lbs, value $392,373. Flax seed, 18,559 bush., value $20,664. Flour, value $731,596. Oats, 2,728,088 bush., value $1,302,642.

COLLISION ON THE GRAND TRUNK.—On Friday night, about ten o'clock, the morning express from Montreal ran into the mixed, which left Toronto at noon on the same day, while standing at Colborne station. The express fortunately was not coming into the station with much speed, and therefore the collision was but little felt by the passengers, although some of them were knocked down but unhurt. The couplings of the express passenger cars were broken, and the front of both locomotives slightly damaged. After a couple of hours' delay, the passengers were transferred to other cars, and arrived at Toronto at about five o'clock on Saturday morning. At the time of the accident a freight train was standing on the siding and the mixed on the main track, and the neglect to signal the express outside the station was the cause of the accident.—Globe.

AMERICAN NEWS.

The news of the week has been as meagre as heretofore. Reports are also conflicting. The general tenor however appears to be adverse to the Confederate cause.

On Saturday we had the intelligence of a Federal defeat, it does not appear to be such when fuller information is received. Sherman is more than a match for any force yet sent against him. Sheridan is reported to have suffered a check, what it amounts to has yet to be learned.

Grant is still quiet waiting the most opportune moment to make a move. The Confederates are believed to be loosing courage because of the untowards appearance of events. Gen. Lee has had power conferred on him to treat with Gen. Grant in reference to terms of peace, perhaps they may settle by a military convention what diplomacy has not yet been able to accomplish. If the South appears to come to terms, the North should at once come to some understanding, and thus put an end to the slaughter, blood enough has been spilt to atone for a multitude of crimes.

The Scottish American says:—

"The week has been marked by the most destructive freshets that have occurred in this country for twenty years. On the Hudson, Mohawk, and Genesee Rivers, in this State, the damage done to railroad, farm, and town property is almost incalculable. Trains on the Hudson and Central Roads were compelled to stop for several days. In Central, Eastern, and Western Pennsylvania the damage to property has been positively fearful, especially along the Susquehannah and Alleghanny rivers. Thousands that were well-to-do ten days ago have been beggered by this terrible visitation, and many hundreds will have to depend on charity for temporary relief.

Generals Schofield and Terry have affected a junction with Sherman, and may now be more than a match for the enemy.—Sherman had some hard fighting with the rebel General Johnston, but no general engagement. Sherman was able to proceed, however, which shows he is yet strong. Sheridan is now with Grant. The Rebs attacked Fort Stanstead and succeeded in taking it but were unable to hold it. A few days may bring important news.

Destructive Freshet at Belleville.

LOSS ABOUT $15,000.

From the Intelligencer we learn that the most destructive freshet that ever occurred in Belleville, or in that section of the country, took place on Wednesday last, involving the loss of $15,000 to $20,000 worth of property. The jams of ice that had collected, urged on by the rains of Tuesday, became irresistible and carried away the iron bridge. The movement of the ice, logs and water is represented as grand yet terrible, owing to the very sudden rising of the waters. The stock of those near the scene were with difficulty saved. Some few buildings suffered damage. No less than one hundred houses were surrounded by the water, and a great many families had to take refuge in the upper stories without means of egress. Some children on their way to school were lifted off their feet and carried a short distance with the current, but fortunately escaped.—Many have been forced from their houses and in consequence are suffering from its effects. We hear of no loss of life.

THE LADY'S FRIEND.

"Grandmother's Story" is the significant title of the handsome and expressive steel engraving of the April number of the Lady's Friend. The story attached to it, by Bella Z. Spencer, explains the significance of the engraving. Then we have the usual richly colored double steel Fashion Plate. Then a variety of other engravings of the fashions, work table, &c. Then for music, a song "I Built a Bridge of Fancies." Then the usual amount of literary matter, including "Lavinia's Education," by Julia Gill; "A Story of a Household," by Mrs. Hoerner; "Larry O'Leary's Ghost," by Emma M. Johnston; "Two Kisses," by Ida Mason; "An Everyday Story," by Leslie Walter; "Four Birthdays," by Frances Lee; "The Statue in the Block," by Beatrice Colonna; Novelties for April, Editor's Department, New Books, Receipts, Fashions, &c., &c.

Price $2.50; 2 copies $4.00; 9 copies $16.00; 21 copies $35.00. Specimen numbers will be sent to those desirous of making up clubs for 15 cts. Wheeler & Wilson's celebrated Sewing Machines are furnished as Premiums. Address Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut street, Philadelphia.

Now is the time to send on subscriptions for 1865.

Through Tickets—Good only under certain conditions.

At the county of Wetworth assizes, there was an action brought against the G. W. R. by one W. Gray of Dundas, for an alledged illegal ejectment from the cars. The plaintiff had purchased a ticket at Buffalo on the 26th of November last, good for a first class passage from Buffalo to Detroit. He came as far as Dundas, and remained over till the 16th of December when he got on the train to continue his journey but was ejected by the conductor. This train was only going to London, and would have arrived there at 9.15. p.m. on the evening of the ejectment.

It was set up for the defence that the contract was to carry through continuously, during any period within twenty days, but not after. That persons having a through-ticket could not lie over from time to time at intermediate stations. That the train from which the plaintiff was ejected was not a through-train.

His Lordship, Judge Draper, in charging the Jury, remarked that it was important for Railways to know their obligations, and the public to have their rights properly defined. It was unreasonable for a plaintiff to ask for more damages than he in reality had sustained; he could not but admit that his opinion was favorable to the defendants on one point—yet on others, the law appeared to be with the plaintiff. First, taking it to be proved that the plaintiff was ejected from the cars—having determined the time and place—the next point to be decided on was, whether or not such ejectment took place from a train running between the two termini through which the plaintiff had contracted to travel; this was the contract he got on his part, and which the defendants were bound to fulfil. The train from which the plaintiff was ejected, appears to have been going to no point further west than London, and if the gentlemen of the Jury considered that this was really the identical train from which the plaintiff was ejected, then this should have a very material effect upon their judgment, and would also, no doubt, should the matter be referred, have a very material effect upon the decision of a higher court. His Lordship then, in a lucid manner, summed up the points on which they would have to determine, and remarked that the idea of making an example, and so forth, was all very well to talk about in common conversation, but in a matter of this kind, and before a Court damages should be measured by legal principles and legal rules; and when they came to talk of damages, they should endeavour to discern whether plaintiff was really entitled to the amount claimed. Damages should be such as were in contemplation between both parties at the time of coming into the contract. His Lordship here cited several cases in point; he considered that the only damages which could be claimed, were those actually sustained; of course it would be different if violence had been used—the same in an action of trespass—but in an action on a contract, the damages must be limited. His Lordship, after some minor directions, left the case in the hands of the Jury.

The Jury, after an absence of half an hour, returned a verdict for defendants.

The "Grambler" Libel Suit.

Sir Henry Smith brought an action for libel against Mr. Backas, (news dealer) of Toronto, for selling a publication known as the Grambler, which contained an article grossly aspersing the character of the Plaintiff. One of the clauses on which the action for libel was instituted read as follows:—"When his poor old mother in law was served upon for taxes and had to pledge a dozen of silver spoons to propitiate the forbearence of a City Catch-pole he heartlessly refused to advance a few beggarly dollars to redeem these relics of better days". Damages were given by consent to the amount of $500.

After a short consultation the learned counsel for the complainant stated to His Lordship that they had agreed to take $500 as damages, money not being the object sought by his client.

His Lordship, in charging the jury, said that Sir Henry Smith had taken the proper course in this matter, in bringing the case into Court, and had shown a moral courage which was highly creditable to him, for a more scandalous and cowardly libel he had never heard, and in-tructed the jury to find a verdict for the amount agreed upon, which they did accordingly.

The case created great interest, and the speech of Mr. O'Reilly was listened to with the deepest attention by a densely crowded Court.

The Case of Smith vs. Irving was for a similar offence, and the complainant was the same person as in the preceding one, the defendant being also a resident of Toronto. The same gentlemen were retained in this as in the other, and a like verdict was agreed to, viz, damages to the amount of $500.

(For the Examiner.)

Reward Books for the Children of the Common Schools in Trent Division.

MR. EDITOR.—In making the offer of ten dollars to each Town and Township for the purpose of obtaing reward books for distribution amongst the children of the Common Schools, I had no desire, as it seems some have thought, of bringing all the Schools of the County of Peterborough, or of Hastings or Lenox together in one locality, well knowing that it could not be done.

My object was, if practicable, and I believe it is, to bring the scholars of one Township to some central point in that one Township in order to hold an examination, but I would not insist on that being done. I will leave it to the friends of the Township or town to do as they may see fit.

Last year, in the Township of Elziver, we had a gathering of all the schools in that Township at Bridgewater, one of the schools being seven miles distant, quite a number of the scholars being present, and the examination, Pic-nic, and speeches all passed off to the entire satisfaction of all present, and there was a good turn out on the occasion. We expect a much larger gathering this year.

Our local superintendant is now working up his programme for a similar demonstration in each Township which I trust will prove a decided success, and I am satisfied if the Town and Township schools take hold with a will, it will give an impetus to the scholars which will materially advance the educational interests of the youth of our noble division, and may stimulate others to go and do likewise.

I am waiting to hear suggestions, and to hear the views of others on this subject and especially to hear from those Local Superintendants, that have not yet answered my letters.

By the plan proposed, as there are about thirty Town and Township Municipalities in the Division, it will be the means of distributing about $1200 worth of prizes among the scholars.

Please insert this for the benefit of all concerned. The Review will please copy.

Yours, &c.,
B. LLA FLINT.

Belleville 25th March 1863.

On the Origion of Civil Government.

MR. EDITOR,—Disrespect for law, whether it be physical, mental, moral, or civil, is the sure precursor of decline, in whatever phase it may appear. Every American worthy of the name of patriot must be pained at the eruptions of this deep rooted disease, which of late has exhibited itself in the form of mobs. The disease is not located in any particular member or members of the United States, but has permeated the whole system. In the Rebel states, negro slavery has been the core around which the pus has gathered, which is now suppurating in the form of Rebellion. The remark has often been made, and nowhere more frequently than at the South (for there the truth is most apparent,) that the worst blight of negro slavery falls upon the South herself. The wide chasm between the labourer and the proprietor destroys that happy adjustment of power, so essential to the preserving of Society from the despotism of one, or of many. And when we turn to the other side—the loyal States, we find the disease there again gathering around that irritating care, Slavery, and suppurating in many instances, in lawless attempts to get rid of it.

The whole body politic is diseased, that the whole heart is sick, and both are struggling to be relieved of their own corruptions. We discover its outworkings in the loyal States, in the resistance of constitutional authority, as in the State of New York, in dangerous secret combinations, dangerous symptoms of lawlessness, like smoking flax, only waiting a breeze to fame. And its tendency is as much more dangerous than that is to oath, as conspiracy is as crime above rebellion.

I will try to enumerate briefly, what seems to me to be the causes leading to this state of affairs; and one of the most vicious is that imbiel superficial and degrading theory of civil government, that puts it on no higher ground than a mere convenient adjustment of communities for protection and benefit. A theory essentially atheistic, and whose necessary consequence is anarchy, as is every arrangement that has no God in it.

Some men have imbibed the notion, that civil government is a sort of compact among men, instead of an eternal principle, and whatever its form may be, it is a modification of the same principle, and it is the working of this principle that makes it ever possible for them to be compacted. Without it you could no more league men together for any purpose, than you could confederate a heap of sand. The fable of the 11 oxen confederating themselves together to resist the attempt of a neighbouring lion, is the history of the origion and end of civil government on this theory. Nay, Mr. Editor, we owe the beasts an apology for thus caricaturing them. Their instincts are not so superficial and senseless. Even they obey a necessity of their nature, to be gregarious, which they never acquired by their own efforts, but is the impress of their Creator, even as matter, by a necessity of its nature, is attracted universally as the square of its distances.

Dr. McCrae (the elder,) and the Messrs. Symingtons, Mcleod Guthrii and Paxton, have often in their writings demonstrated the unscriptural character of the popular opinion on this subject; but their arguments have never been answered, nor is it likely they ever will; and the sooner the world cracks the nut, and finds the kernel of civil government, the better it will be for our race in civilization and religion. As it now is in America, (and elsewhere) infidelity gives them the husk, and bids them live and be in health. What has the idea of civil government brang a compact done for the U. S.? It has hatched in its own bosom the monstrous prodigy secession and anarchy. Government is a compact my sonne, and all the disaffected members have to do, is to withdraw from the body, until a limbless trunk will remain to die of sheer exhaustion, reproducing on a splendid scale, the sermon of the limbs from the stomach. Any system of government that cannot point to a Divine progenitor is futile. Coleridge the poet, on hearing a friend descant on the probabilities of an infidel system of philantrophy regenerating the world, plucked a thistle—down and flinging it to the winds said: "The tendency of this down is to elysium, but I know, certainly, it will never get there; but after a few gyrations, it will fall near the place where it started. So government born outside of the Divine mind, will perish in the lap that gave it birth."

In order to perpetuate civil Government the moral sense of the citizen must be educated, the violations of the laws of civil Government must first be put in the domain of conscience, where the primary minister of justice will punish those infringements before they become overt, which though they ultimately lead to, as yet is not within its grasp. One part of the mission of the Saviour into the world was to vindicate and give supremacy to law and Government Civil society is a citizen when divorced from moral Government. Without it we are not above the race of pismires.

Yours &c.,
ORIGIN.

Otonabee, 21st January 1865.

(For the Examiner.)

The Quarterly examination of the Pupils, in School Section No. 5, Township of Dummer, taught by Miss Greenlow, was held on the 17th of March, 1865. The School House was crowded to excess. The Trustees, parents, and a great many others were in attendance. The pupils being examined in the several branches which have engaged their studies through the winter, viz:—Reading, spelling, English Grammar, Geography, English & Canadian History, Mineralogy, Astronomy, the different rules of Arithmetic, proportion, interest, discount, vulgar and decimal fractions, square and cube roots, Algebra, &c., in all of which exercises the pupils almost invariably gave ready and correct answers. The arithmetical questions put, were more of a practical than a theological kind, and the readiness with which they were solved gave evidence that the Teacher had not merely taught how to work the rules, but also how to apply them. A committee was appointed to judge of the improvement the pupils had made in writing, between the present and a given period back, specimens from both dates being laid before them. Prizes were then distributed to the most deserving in the several branches, and some few for industry, diligence and good behaviour. There were eighty-two prizes distributed, most of which were books, and some cards. Some adresses were then delivered, complimenting the scholars on the progress they had made, and bringing permanently before them their present advantages, contrasting it with the past for ten or fifteen years back, the teaching then given in our Township was scarcely an alphabet to that which is at present taught. All the speakers congratulated the section on having such a teacher as Miss Greenhow. The section has a good cause to indulge in such congratulations as long as they can retain her services. They pay her liberally. But I would assure them, they are putting their money to an excellent use. It is very rare to find the qualifications to constitute a good teacher, meet in the person of one individual, but I think all the necessary and central qualifications for teaching the young meet and harmonize in the person of Miss H. H. Greenhow.

JOHN ROSE,
Local Superintendent.

AMERICAN NEWS.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The Commercial's special despatch says:—"The Washington Chronicle has another peace article to-day, which is regarded as significant in view of Forney's intimate relations with the President and the latter's departure for Gant's headquarters. It advocates a liberal policy to the Confederate leaders to prevent further bloodshed. There is a growing conviction that the leaders on both sides have now under discussion some project that points towards a suspension of hostilities."

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, March 24, 9 p. m.—To Major General Dix:—The following extracts from Richmond papers were received this evening at 8:30 from General Grant.

(Signed) E. M. STANTON.

CITY POINT, March 23, 1865.—To Hon. E. M. Stanton: Richmond papers are received, the following is from the Despatch:—"From North Carolina. It is understood in official circles that no fighting has occurred in N. C. since Sunday. From all we can learn it appears that Sherman has attempted no advances since his check on that day. Gen. Hardee's victory on the 6th was a very important one, and as regards the enemy a most bloody affair. Gen. Johnston telegraph, that in that battle the Confederate loss was 450, while that of the enemy was 3,200. The fight took place at Averyboro, on the Cape Fear river, half way between Raleigh and Fayetteville.

"Gen. Johnston's defeat of the enemy last Sunday, the 19th inst., occurred at Bentonville, near the Neuse river. By these facts we are informed that Sherman is marching toward Raleigh in two columns, one moving due north from Fayetteville, the other one from Newbern. Gen. Hardee taught the former, Gen. Johnston the latter."

(Signed) U. S. GRANT,
Lieut. Gen.

PROPOSED MILITARY CONVENTION—INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE.

The Richmond Sentinal of the 18th publishes the following letters.—

RICHMOND, March 13th 1864.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I herewith transmit for your information copies of correspondence referred to in my message of this date, in regard to the proposed conference, the object being terms of peace, by means of a military convention.

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

LETTER OF THE PRESIDENT

To Gen. R. E. Lee, Commanding, etc:

SIR,—You will learn learn by the letter of Gen. Longstr et the result of his second interview with Gen Ord. The point as to whether yourself or Gen Grant should invite the other to a conference suggested should be had, you will proceed as you may prefer, and are clothed with all the supplimentary authority you may need in the consideration of any proposal, or for a military convention, or the appointment of a commissioner to enter into such an arrangement as will cause at least a temporary suspension of hostilities.

Very truly yours,
JEFFERSON DAVIS.

LETTER OF GEN. R. E. LEE.

HEADQUARTERS CONFEDERATE STATES ARMIES, March 2, 1865.

To Lieut. Gen. U. S. Grant, Commanding U. S. Armies:

GENERAL,—Lieutenant General Longstreet has informed me that in a recent conversation between himself and Major Gen. Ord, as to a possibility of arriving at a satisfactory adjustment of the present unhappy difficulties by means of a military convention, General Ord stated that if I desired to have an interview with you on the subject, you would not decline, provided I had authority to act. Sincerely desiring to leave nothing untried which may put an end to the calamities of war. I propose to meet you at such convenient deemed place as you may designate; with the hope that upon an interchange of views it may be found practicable to submit the subject of controversy between the belligerents to a convention of the kind mentioned. In such event I am authorized to do whatever the result of the proposed interview may render necessary or advisable.—Should you accede to this proposition, I would suggest, that if agreeable to you, we meet at the place selected by Gens. Ord and Longstreet for the interview, at 11, a. m., on Monday next.

Very respectfully your obedient servant,
R. E. LEE Gen., etc.

C. S. Venable, A. A. G., Headquarters, March 7, 1865.

LETTER OF GEN. U. S. GRANT,
HEADQUARTERS ARMIES UNITED STATES, March 4, 1865.

Gen R. E. Lee, Commanding C.S. Armies:

GENERAL,—Your two letters of the 20th ult. were received yesterday. In regard to any apprehended misunderstanding in reference to the exchange of political prisoners, I think there need be none. Gen. Ord or Longstreet has probably misunderstood what I said to the former on the subject, or I may have failed to make myself understood, possibly.

A few days before the interview between Generals Longstreet and Ord, I had received a despatch from Gen. Hoffman, Commissary General of Prisoners, stating in substance that all prisoners of war who were, or had been in close confinement or irons, whether under charges or sentences, had been ordered to City Point for exchange. I forwarded the substance of that despatch to Lieut. Colonel Mulford, assistant agent of exchange, and presumed it probable that he had communicated it to Col. Robert Ould. A day or two after an offender, who was neither a prisoner of war nor a political prisoner, was executed, after a fair and impartial trial, and in accordance with the laws of war and the usage of civilized nations. It was in explanation of this class of cases I told Gen. Ord to speak to Gen Longstreet.

Reference to my letter of Feb. 16 will show my understanding on the subject of releasing political or citizen prisoners.

In regard to meeting you on the 6th inst., I would state that I have no authority to accede to your proposition for a conference on the subject mentioned. Such authority is vested in the President of the United States alone.

General Ord could only have meant that I would not refuse an interview on any subject on which I have a right to act, which, of course would be such as are purely of a military character, and on the subject of exchange, which has been entrusted to me.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

U. S. GRANT,
Lieutenant General.

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, March 27th 1:30 p m.—Maj. Gen. Dix—The following official reports of operations of the Army of the Potomac to Saturday, and of Gen. Sherman's operations since he left Fayetteville, have been received this morning. Gen. Sherman was at Goldsboro on the 23nd of this month. No movements have been made on either side before Richmond or Petersburg since Saturday night.

(Signed) E. M. STANTON,
Sec. of War.

"CITY POINT, 10:30 a m, March 27, 1865—Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War.—The battle of the 25th resulted in the following losses on one side:—Second corps, killed, 51; wounded, 463; missing, 302. Ninth corps killed, 68; wounded, 436; missing, 50d. Our captures by the second corps 361, by the sixth corps 469, and by the ninth corps 1049. The second and sixth corps pushed forward and captured the enemy's strong entrenchments and turned its guns against him, and still held it. In trying to retake this the battle was continued until 5 o'clock at night, the enemy brought in a flag of truce for permission to collect his dead, which were between his picket line and the main fortifications. Permission was granted.

(Signed,) "U. S. GRANT,
"Lieut. Gen."

NEW YORK, March 27.—The World's despatch from Kinston, dated 22nd March, says of Sherman's fighting on last Sunday and Monday: There was severe and continuous fighting between Sherman and Johnston, but there has been no grand battle, Johnston, for reasons best known to himself, declining a general engagement. The battle was set in array upon two opposite ranges of hills, on the south side of the Neuse, our troops firing westward, and both armies defended by earthworks, those of Sherman of course being hastily constructed. The fighting lasted two days, during which desperate charges were made on both sides; the Confederates charging our lines, and five times our men made counter-charges. The fighting on Sunday was mostly done by the 20th and 14th corps, and on Monday the 15th and 17th came up and partially relieved them. All along the route from Fayetteville Sherman has had more or less fighting every day.

Official report of the capture of Fort Steadman:—

"CITY POINT March 25.—To Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War. The enemy attacked my front this morning about 4:30 a m, with about three divisions, under command of Gen Gordon. By a sudden rush they seized the line held by the third brigade, first division, at the foot of the hill right of Fort Steadman, wheeled, and overpowering the garrison took possession of the fort. They established

CRIMPS.

The Quebec correspondent of the London Free Press has the following:

Among the most recent bills passed, there is one for the punishment of crimps, alias man stealers, who debauch, drug, carry away, and sell to the United States war shambles so many of our poor befooled people. It is proposed, or rather is is now enacted, that magistrates before whom, the offence is proved may summarily convict and sentence the culprits. This will cut off some of their gains, for, till the present, the magistrates could only send them for trial to higher courts, and the villains meanwhile bought off the witnesses, so that hardly one out of ten could be convicted. In the course of the short debate which preceded the passage of the bill in the Legislative Council, Hon. Mr. Campbell read a circular from Mr. D. McKinnon, of Hamilton, in which that gentleman proves, from an extensive correspondence with Subsidiary Magistrates and Justices of the Peace, that hundreds of men in Upper Canada are decoyed every week by these scoundrels into their toils, made drunk, or drugged, then run off to the frontier towns of the Union and there sold like so many cattle to the equally rascally war brokers, who less so time in forwarding them along to the front, where they mount light or hang. The circular states that during the war the official records at Washington show that no less than 64,000 (FORTY-FOUR THOUSAND) Canadians have been enlisted, and it may be fairly questioned if the odd 4,000 will ever revisit this country or any other country than that "bourne from which no traveller ever returns." Let us hope that the bill in question will lead to the nabbing of a good per centage of the crimps, so that the gang may come under a salutary fear of the honest labor which we have in store for them in the Penitentiary. And, by the way, Hon. S. Flint asked if women crimps were included in the attentions which the bill proposed to pay to the profession, for he knew of one lady who in a short time had fascinated no less than seven young men, and handed them over to the Federal brokers, to which Hon. Mr. Campbell answered that it did, for it merely mentioned the "persons" guilty of the offence.—Hamilton Times.

THE EAST-INDIAN TELEGRAPH.—The completion of telegraph communication between England and India is an event of the highest political and commercial importance, and it will figure conspicuously in history amongst the most memorable events of 1865, and indeed of the century. It brings the centres of Indian commerce within a few hours' communication with the British Metropolis—must have an important bearing on the exchanges; and the price of cotton on the Liverpool flags will necessarily exercise a kindred influence on its price in Bombay. In fact, by this process there will be a daily adjustment of prices. The tariff of charges published by the intercolonial and Electric Telegraph Company—the Indo-European Telegraph Company—were expected to be high, and must, in the nature of things, be so; but the rates will astonish many people, and if the business of the Company should prove extensive, cannot fail to return a handsome dividend to the proprietors. To the three Presidencies, Bombay, Calcutta, and Madras, the charge for a message of twenty words is £5, and for each additional ten words, or fractions of words, one half of this sum. The charge, of course, increases to distances beyond these places.—English paper.

OUR DAUGHTERS IN CONVENTS.—The N. Y. Observer says:—"In this country and in England convents are being built and filled fast. Young women are enamored into them by priests and their agents. Upon taking the black veil, they are made to vow obedience to all unmarried priests. And with regard to the nature and limits of this vow of obedience, hear a definition of it by a Roman "saint." "Obedience is a holocaust, wherein the whole man, without any reserve whatever, is immolated to his Creator by the hands of his minister. The noble simplicity of obedience is gone, if in our secret breast we call in question what is commanded be it right or wrong." This doctrine of obedience was recently publicly taught by Archbishop McCloskey in this city.

The Hamilton Times states that a Mr. John McKay has just returned to that city from Mexico, whither he had gone last summer to dispose of some horses. In the Mexican capital he became acquainted with a young man from Kingston named John Cunningham, who was shot in a café by a government detective, the latter suspecting him, without any cause, of being a "Yankee spy." Mr. McKay gives a deplorable picture of the condition of the interior of Mexico. The people, he says, are centuries behind the age; know little or nothing of how they are governed; but amongst the more intelligent there is a very strong feeling against Maximilian.

WIFE MURDER IN MORNINGTON.—The wife of Charles Jones of Mornington died in November last. In a few weeks after he married again, and the neighbors got suspicious that all was not right. The body of his late wife Ann Jones was exhumed, and Coroner Waugh proceeded to investigate the matter. The stomach was sent to Prof. Croft, who reported that strychnine in large quantities was found in it. The jury returned a verdict of wilful murder—that Ann Jones died from the poison of strychnine, administered by the hand of her husband. He is now in jail and will stand his trial at the assizes.—Guelph Mercury.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR THROATS!—This is just the weather for getting a sore throat, hoarseness, cold in the lungs, &c., and a box of Bryans Pulmonic Wafers, sold for 25 cents, by———, will not only prevent such ills, but cure those already upon you.

HOW THE PRINCE STOOD IT.—Almost everybody wondered, and so did we; but there will be no more wondering what is best to take for coughs and colds, or for the cure of rheumatism, pleurisy, neuralgia, tooth-ache, sprains, strains bruises, bowel complaints, &c. The "Canadian Pain Destroyer now takes the lead everywhere, for such complaints and is entirely eclipsing all other preparations of the kind.

R.R.

QUICK AS THOUGHT.

QUICK AS THOUGHT

Radway's Ready Relief, when applied to the part of the body seized with pain, acts with the rapidity of thought.

If afflicted with pain use the Ready Relief; in an instant you will feel better.

If seized with Diarrhea, Dysentry, Cramps, Spasms, Sore throat, Influenza, Hoarseness, Diptheria, Croup, &c, use the Ready Relief. Price 25 cts. per bottle. Sold by druggists and storekeepers.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address

REV. EDWARD A. WILSON,
Williamsburg, Kings County,
9-3m New York.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT—FOUR VITAL AGENCIES. Salt-Rheum, Scurvy &c. An officer of the New York Police Force doing duty in the upper part of the city, whose name we suppress at his own request, was for many years afflicted with salt-rheum in the hands, for which he tried numberless remedies without success—the disease increased and finally became so bad that he could neither close his hand nor grasp his baton without experiencing the most intense pain—he was on the point of resigning his situation and seeking admittance to Bellevue Hospital, when he was advised to try Holloway's Pills and Ointment. He did so and by persevering in their use the disorder quickly disappeared and he now enjoys sound health. This is but one out of thousands of cures.

Death.

At Peterborough, on the 23rd inst., Isabella Bain, aged 26 years.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Peterborough, March 29 1865.

Flour ₱ brl	$4	50	@	$4 50
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	85	@	0 90
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0	75	@	0 80
Potatoes	0	30	@	0 35
Barley ₱ bush	0	50	@	0 60
Peas "	0	80	@	0 85
Oats "	0	50	@	0 55
Hay ₱ ton new	14	00	@	16 00
Hides ₱ cwt	3	00	@	3 50
Sheepskins	0	75	@	1 50
Wool ₱ lb	0	30	@	0 00
Beef ₱ cwt	4	00	@	5 50
Eggs, per dozen	0	10	@	0 00
Butter, fir	0	15	@	0 00
Cordwood	1	50	@	2 00
Fowl, per pair	0	25	@	0 40

OLD EYES MADE NEW.

A PAMPHLET directing how to speedily restore sight and give up spectacles, without aid of doctor or medicine—Sent by mail, free, on receipt of 10 cents Address,

E. B. FOOTE, M D.,
9-3m 1130 Broadway New York.

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING relating to the human system, male and female, the causes and treatment of diseases; the marriage customs of the world; and a thousand things never published before, read the revised enlarged edition of "Medical Common sense," a curious book for curious people, and a good book for every one, 400 pages 100 Illustrations. Price $1.50. Contents table sent free to any address. Books may be had at the Book stores, or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price Address, Dr. E. B. FOOTE, M. D.,

9-6m 1130 Broadway New York

INFORMATION FREE!

TO NERVOUS SUFFERERS,

A GENTLEMEN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay, and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it, (free of charge,) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's sad experience, and possess a sure and valuable remedy, can do so by addressing him at once at his place of business. The Recipe and full information—of vital importance—will be cheerfully sent by return mail.

Address JOHN B. OGDEN,
No. 60 Nassau Street, New York,

P. S.—Nervous sufferers of both sexes will find this information invaluable. 1-3ms

BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY IN CANADA.

The following testimony from a well known and highly respected Merchant of Prescott, is corroborative of the general approval given to Dr. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY:

PRESCOTT, C. W., Dec. 8th, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co., Boston.

Gentlemen: —

Being solicited by your Travelling Agent, for an expression of opinion of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, I with pleasure assert that it is, in my belief, the best remedy before the public for coughs and pulmonary complaints.

Having tested the article with myself and family, in case of severe coughs and colds, for years, with uniform and unexceptionable success, I unhesitatingly recommend it with full confidence in its merits.

Yours truly,
ALFRED HOOKER.

None genuine unless signed, I. Butts, on the wrapper. Prepared by Seth W. Fowle & Co, Boston, and for sale by all dealers in medicines.

Peterboro, February 24, 1865. 7-4in

Take no more unpleasant and unsafe Medicines.

For unpleasant and dangerous diseases, use

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU,

Which has received the endorsement of the most PROMINENT PHYSICIANS IN THE U.S.

Is now offered to afflicted humanity as a certain cure for the following diseases and abuse of the Urinary or Sexual Organs.

General Debility,
Mental and Physical Depression,
Confused ideas,
Hysterin,
General Irritability.
Restlessness and Sleeplessness at Night.
Absence of Muscular Efficiency,
Loss of Appetite,
Emaciation,
Low Spirits,
Disorganization or Paralysis of the Organs of Generation,
Palpitation of the Heart,

And, in fact, all the concomitants of a Nervous and Debilitated state of the system.

To insure the genuine, ask this out.

ASK FOR HELMBOLD'S.
TAKE NO OTHER.
CURES GUARANTEED.

See advertisement in another column.

Peterboro, Feb 24, 1865. 7-8in

A GOOD THING—TRY IT

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

is a medicine for the immediate and permanent removal of all pains from the system.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Rheumatism, Pleurisy, and Pains in the back and side.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER relieves Pains in the head and Sick headache.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures bilious Cholic & Cramps in the stomach.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Dysentry, and Bowel Complaint.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Sudden Colds and sore Throat.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Neuralgia, Tic douloureux, & Toothache.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Burns, Scalds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, &c

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER is also an excellent thing for Strains, Sprains bounds and Bruises It takes away all pain the moment it is applied.

No family should be without a Bottle of THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

PRICE 25 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

NORTHROP & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas,

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, and A. W. Kempt; by C. Britton Lindsay, and all medicine dealers.

New Advertisements.

TO LET.

THE House and premises lately occupied by J. W. Tate, Esq., on the Court House hill. Also, the Cottage lately occupied Mr. Glover, No. 3 Sherbian Terrace, Peterborough.

Apply to
W. SHERIDAN.

Peterboro, March 29, 1865. 13

For Sale.

A BRICK HOUSE and LOT for sale, one and a half stories high, situated on London street, West of George street, Town of Peterborough. For particulars apply to

J. R. WALTON.
House and Insurance Agent.

Peterboro, March 28, 1865. 13

PITCH AND OAKUM RECEIVED.

G. STETHEM & Co.

Peterborough, March 29, 1865. 13-2in

NOTICE.

ALL PERSONS INDEBTED to the Estate of ROBERT TANNER, late of the Town of Peterborough, deceased, are hereby required to make payment thereof forthwith to the undersigned administrators, and all persons claiming to be creditors of the deceased are likewise requested to furnish the particulars thereof to the Administrators in order that the same may be examined and adjusted.

E. CHAMBERLEN, } Executors.
Wm. CUMMING. }

Peterboro, March 27, 1865: 13

DIVIDEND OF

Estate of Waters & Co., of Norwood.

The Creditors of the said Estate are hereby required to furnish to the undersigned, on or before the twenty-fifth day of April next, a statement of their respective claims duly attested under oath, in order that a dividend of the funds in hand may then be declared and paid to those who have proved their claims.

HENRY SMITH.
Solicitor for Mrs. Foley, Executrix of the Assignee.

Peterborough, 25th March, 1865.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

Province of Canada, } In the County
County of Peterborough, } Court of the County of Peterborough. in the matter of William Armstrong, an Insolvent.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has filed, in the office of this Court, a consent by his creditors to his discharge, and that on Wednesday, the seventh day of June next, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, or as soon as counsel can be heard, he will apply to the Judge of the said Court for a confirmation of the discharge thereby effected in his favor, under the said Act.

W. ARMSTRONG.

Dated at Peterborough this 28th day of March, A. D., 1865. 13-id

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JAMES W. STONE AND GILES STONE, Insolvents.

THE creditors of the Insolvents are notified that they have made an assignment of their estate and effects under the above Act, to me, the undersigned assignee, and they are required to furnish me, within two months from this date, with their claims, specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none, stating the fact; the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

D. McDONALD, Jr.,
Assignee.

Peterborough, March 28th, 1865. 13-3in

St. George's Society.

THE General Quarterly meeting of this Society will be held at the Huffman Hotel, on Wednesday evening, the 5th of April next, to commence at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is earnestly desired as business of importance will come before the meeting.

JOS. R. WALTON.
Secretary.

Peterboro, March 28th, 1865. 13

Victoria Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 180.

THE REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING of Victoria Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 180, will be held in the Lodge Room, over the Express Office, on Wednesday 5th of April, at half-past seven o'clock.

A full attendance is requested.

By order
Wm. McCULLAGH, Secretary.

God Save the Queen.

Peterborough, March 30th, 1865. 13

Diamond Orange Lodge NO. 80.

THE REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING of Diamond Loyal Orange Lodge will be held in the Lodge room, on Monday evening next, at half-past seven o'clock.

By order,
JOHN SMITH,
Secretary.

Peterborough, March 30, 1865. 13

To Let.

THAT eligible two story BRICK HOUSE, on George Street, at present occupied by J. C. Hughson, Esq., attached to the premises are good stables and sheds and a large garden. Possession can be given on the First of May.

For particulars apply to Robert Nicholls, Esq., or to the subscriber.

JAMES CLOTWORTHY.

Peterboro', March 20, 1865. 12

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JOHN WILLIAMSON an Insolvent.

THE meeting of creditors of the above named Insolvent, for the appointment of another assignee in my place, is adjourned to take place at the Office of Mr. Sidney Smith, in Peterboro', on Monday, the Third day of April, 1865, at Ten o'clock, a. m.

JAMES CAMPBELL,
Assignee.

Dated 21st of March, 1865. 12

ADJOURNED SESSIONS.

A SITTING of the Court of Quarter Session of the Peace, for the County of Peterborough, will be held at the COURT HOUSE, in the Town of Peterborough, on

FRIDAY, the 7th day of APRIL next,

AT TWELVE O'CLOCK, NOON,

For the purpose, among others, of Auditing the Accounts of Coroners and others against the County.

By order of the Court,
C. A. WELLER,
Clerk of the Peace.

Peterboro', March 17th, 1865. 12

SAWS.

ENGLISH Gate, Muley, Butting, Sawing Machine, and Cross-cut Saws, with Speer & Jackson's Files and other furnishings

GEORGE STETHEM & CO.

Peterboro February 1, 1865. 5

A RARE CHANCE.

FOR SALE, OR TO LET for the Season, an Entire Horse rising four years old with great bone and action. Apply at this Office.

March 8th, 1865. 16-tf

TO LET,

THAT COMFORTABLE COTTAGE on Queen Street, opposite St. John's Church, at present occupied by Mr. Nathaniel Shaw. Possession given next June.

W. CLEATON.

Peterborough, Feb. 1865. 6-tf

NEW SPRING GOODS!

W. G. THOMSON & Co.

Announce the arrival of part of their

New Stock of Spring & Summer Goods

IN

PRINTS, WHITE and GREY COTTONS, DRESS GOODS, SHAWLS, PARASOLS, STRAW HATS, BONNET FRONTS, GLOVES and HOSIERY.

They expect their Stock will be complete in every department in about two weeks.

N. B.—The prices of the New Stock of COTTON GOODS ARE CONSIDERABLY LOWER than formerly.

W. G. THOMSON & Co.,
George Street, Peterborough.

March 30, 1865. (2in)

STRICKLAND & ROGERS,

Beg to announce the completion of their

FALL STOCK of DRY GOODS

Which has been selected with great care, and will be found complete in every department.

They would direct particular attention to their great variety of

DRESS GOODS AND TRIMMINGS,

Everything new in the Fancy line. A full assortment of

ENGLISH, SCOTCH AND AMERICAN TWEEDS

IN THE

TAILORING DEPARTMENT.

Their Stock of Goods will be found cheap for the season in the

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

SHOW ROOMS NOW OPEN FOR INSPECTION.

P. S.—Orders executed in the above Departments in the best styles with promptitude.

Peterborough, October, 1864. 40

REVOLVERS AND CARTRIDGE.

A NEW stock of Colt's, Smith & Wesson's and Marston's Pistols.

Cartridge to suit Colt's Revolvers.

GEORGE STETHEM & CO.

Peterboro, March 16, 1865. 11

Flax Seed.

PERSONS desirous of obtaining Flax Seed are requested to apply to the undersigned forthwith.

JOHN CARNEGIE, Jr.,
Sec. & Treas. P. A. Society.

Peterborough, March 16, 1865. 11-3in

PUBLIC NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Court of Revision for the Municipality of Galway and Cavendish, will be held at the House of Mr. Samuel Wiley, Lot No. 20, Concession A, of said Municipality,

On Monday, the 24th day of April next,

At the hour of TEN o'clock, a. m. Interested persons will please govern themselves accordingly.

WILLIAM LESSON.
Township Clerk.

Galway, March 17th, 1865. 12-4in

DUNKIN'S BILL.

HENRY CALCUTT

RETURNS THANKS to his numerous Beer Customers for their liberal patronage, and is now prepared to supply them with

TEMPERANCE ALE,

To be called "DUNKIN ALE," put up in Barrels and Bottles.

Peterboro', March 1st, 1865. 10-tf

Otonabee Mills.

THE above Mills having been very much impeded in their working during the past winter by the unusual quantity of anchor ice in the river, the subscriber is glad to be able to inform his friends and customers that they are now working freely, and that proper attention will, as heretofore, be paid to gristing and custom work; and cash paid for good Spring or Fall Wheat.

R. D. ROGERS.

Ashburnham, March 14th, 1865. 11-3in

NOTICE.

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Partnership heretofore existing, under the name of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., in the Town of Peterborough, was dissolved by mutual consent, on the Twenty-third day of February last.

All debts due to the firm are to be paid to John Whyte, who will settle the claims due by the late firm.

JOHN WHYTE,
WILLIAM HAMILTON.

Dated the 7th of March, 1865. 10

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on

TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1865,

In the Union School House, at Ten a. m.

"Candidates are not eligible to be admitted to examination until they shall have furnished the Examiners with satisfactory evidence of their strictly temperate habits and good moral character."

☞ Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.

By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.

Peterborough, Dec. 6th, 1864. 51tf

A HINT TO THE WORTHY CITIZENS OF CANADA.

BE WARNED IN TIME.

ALL parties purchasing my Pills and Ointment for their several complaints are respectfully warned against purchasing either Pills or Ointment purporting to be my preparations, that have a United States Stamp around the Boxes and Pots. There is no Treaty between the people of the States and the Home Government, therefore an United States Stamp does not protect my preparations. There are no stamps upon my Canadian style of Pills or Ointment, coming from the United States. I rely only for protection on the water mark in book of directions around each Box or Pot. Before you purchase them, see that there are no U. S. Stamps upon the Box of Pills or Ointment. Purchase none that have United States stamps on.

HOLLOWAY,
Maiden Lane.

40

LIST OF LETTERS

REMAINING in the Peterborough Post Office 1st March, 1865. Persons calling will please ask for advertised letters.

Adams, Samuel	Harrison, Richard
Armstrong, Alexander	Hayes, John
Adams, David	Huston, Archibald
Archer, John	Jones Robert
Bearin, William	Johnston, Ancie
Bell, Matthew	Johnstone, Archy
Black, Thomas	Kiley, Edmond
Bateson, William	Kent, Hugh
Buchanan, Thomas	Lizzips, George
Campbell, J. Monaghan	Ludrate, Honora
Coutts, James	Martin, Robert
Clute, Benjamin	Muldoon, Bernard
Cox, aron	McNoll, Julia
Carroll, Thomas	McRea, Mary Ann
Conolly, James	McLean, William
Crowly, John	Powers, Patrick
Dean Hugh	Rooney, Patrick
Duggan, Patrick	Richardson, John
Douglass, William	Robson, Ralph
Driscoll, James	Rutherford, Walter
Donoghue, Edmond	Robertson, Mrs. S. H.
Erwin, Mary Ann	Robertson, Mrs. C.
Easton, William	Rose, George
Fry, George	Reynolds, Mrs. Nancy
Flemming, William	Raymond, Charles
Foster, Mrs. Catherine	Stewart Margaret
Goodfellow, Agnes	Seens, Samuel
Hicker, Joseph	Travis, Nathan
Howard, John D.	Valentine, William
Hopkins, William Jas.	Weatherhead, Mrs.
Harris, Mrs. Sarah

S. J. CARVER,
Postmaster.

Peterborough, March 1st, 1865. 10

ROYAL

MAIL STAGE.

HALIBURTON TO MINDEN.

A MAIL STAGE leaves the Post Office, Haliburton, in the Township of Dysart, (English Company's Townships,)

Every Monday, Wednesday and Friday Morning,

At EIGHT o'clock, for Minden. It returns from Minden to Haliburton

Every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday Morning.

Leaving the Post Office, Minden, (Bobcaygeon Road,) at EIGHT o'clock.

FARE, HALF A DOLLAR.

February 15, 1865. 7-4in-alt

Public Notice.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL of the Township of Otonabee, intend on MONDAY, the SEVENTEENTH day of APRIL next, to pass a By-Law to close up and dispose of the following Road, viz:—Commencing on the eastern limit of the allowance for Road between the 6th and 7th Concession of said Township at a point bearing south 14 degrees east, and distant 5 chains and 60 links from the north-west angle of Lot No 16 in said 6th Concession, then north 14 degrees 45 minutes, east 3 chains and 46 links; then north 30 minutes, west 3 chains, and 91 links, then north 29 degrees, west 1 chain and 32 links; then north 47 degrees, west 1 chain and 35 links; then north 71 degrees, west one chain and 30 links to the eastern limit of the allowance for Road between the 6th and 7th Concessions, 3 chains and 50 links from the north-west angle of Lot No 17 in said 6th Concession.

GEO. READ.
Township Clerk.

Otonabee, Feb. 25th, 1865. 11

REMOVAL.

THE subscriber begs to inform the inhabitants of LAKEFIELD and vicinity, that he has removed his

Grocery Store IN LAKEFIELD,

To Heathcote's old stand, where will be found a

Good assortment of Groceries,

WHICH WILL BE SOLD

CHEAP FOR CASH,

Or Farm Produce.

ROBT. GRAHAM.

Lakefield, March 1st, 1865. 49-6

NOTICE.

ALL persons are hereby forbid having any dealings whatever with any person or persons for or on account of the Executors of the estate of the late William Elliott, late of the Township of Cavan, deceased, as we have not at any time appointed any person to act for us as our agents in transacting any business relating to the said estate.

JOHN ELLIOTT. } Executors.
EDWD RICHARDSON, }

Cavan, March 13, 1865. 11-3in*

GO TO

WM. N. KENNEDY'S

FOR YOUR

WINDOW BLINDS.

Good News! Good News!!

E. MORRIS,

THE FAR-FAMED

HERB DOCTOR,

FROM LONDON, ENGLAND,

IS now in Peterboro' performing his most Astonishing Cures, as usual.

The mercurial Quacks may prate and gabble,
With Latin mixed for every nostrum;
But Morris' Herbs excels such rabble,
He explains their virtues from his rostrum.

He is well known o'er Canada,
In every City, Town, and Village;
He'll effect a cure for half the pay
Charged by those Quacks who live by pillage.

To those afflicted with RHEUMATISM try Dr. Morris' justly celebrated

Electric Invigorating Fluid,

for dispelling Rheumatic and other pains that may afflict the human system, internal or external.

He doth use such Balms as have no strife,
With nature or the laws of life:
With mercury his name he'll never stain,
Nor poison men for sake of gain.

Our Father whom all goodness fills,
Provides the means to cure all ills;
The simple herbs beneath our feet,
Well used, relieve our pains complete.

The Invigorating Fluid acts upon the system like electricity, giving relief instantly, in almost every case. PRICE PER BOTTLE, according to size, from 25 cents to One Dollar.

If you are afflicted with Rheumatic pains, Cramps, Colics, and such painful brood, Caused by exposure to cold and rains, Try Morris' Invigorating Fluid.

For COUGHS, COLDS, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, use Dr. Morris'

Cough Drops,

They will be found a never-failing remedy for the above complaints.

If you should take a severe cold,
Returning from the waits and hops,
Go where the medicine is sold,
Enquire for Morris' Cough Drops.

To those afflicted with Liver and Billious complaints, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sick and Nervous Head-ache, Costiveness, Weak and Disordered Stomach, &c., &c., try

DR. MORRIS' WORLD-RENOWNED

DANDELION PILLS

For Renovating the Blood, Correcting and Strengthening the Liver and Bowels, the Dandelion Pills have no equal.

If you feel nervous, with spirits low,
Disord red system, and other ills,
Take a few pills and straight you'll go,
For Morris' Dandelion Pills.

WORMS! WORMS! WORMS!

If you would expel those monsters from your dear children, try a box of Dr. Morris'

WORM DESTROYER.

If you have a son or daughter dear,
And the monstrous worms annoy her,
There's relief at hand, dry off that tear,
Get Morris' Worm destroyer

Dr. Morris can furnish reliable testimonials from some of the most respectable inhabitants of Peterboro' and other Towns and Cities of Canada West. For Testimonials see his Pamphlets The above medicines can be obtained at PROFF. MORRIS' BOTANIC LABORATORY, Simcoe Street, nearly opposite Phelans Hotel, Peterborough.

Dr. Morris invariably treats with success diseases of a secret nature.

CONSULTATION FREE, at his Laboratory, from 9 a. m., to 7 p. m.

Peterboro', Jan. 17, 1865. 3-3m

MACHINE SHOP TO BE SOLD OR LET.

The subscriber offers for Sale or to Let,

THE MACHINE SHOP

ON AYLMER STREET; WITH

Steam Engine Machines and Tools,

To be sold seperately or together, for Cash, or exchanged for other property.

For particulars, &c., apply to

WM. MALCOM.

Peterboro, October 24, 1864. 43

One Hundred Dollars REWARD.

WHEREAS, on the night of the seventh day of December last, the property of Robert Morrison, Esquire, of the Township of Dummer, was wantonly and maliciously damaged and destroyed by some person or persons unknown, the above reward is hereby offered by the Corporation of the County of Peterboro, for such information as shall lead to the conviction of the guilty parties.

By order,
R. D. ROGERS,
Warden.

Peterborough, Jan. 30, 1865.

$50 REWARD.

MR. MORRISON has added $50 to the above reward, which will make the whole $150.

SEWING MACHINES!

FINKLE & LYON'S

NEW PATENT ROTARY FEED

Sewing Machines.

The following facts demonstrate that these Machines comprise the highest improvements in the Sewing Machine Art, viz:

1. Each Machine is guaranteed to give better satisfaction than any other Sewing Machine in Market, or money refunded.
2. They have taken many of the highest premiums at the most important Exhibitions and fairs ever held in the United States.
3. They make the lock stitch alike on both sides—thus saving more than half the thread and silk used in the raveling-ridge-seams of the loop stitch and single-thread Sewing Machines.
4. They are adapted to the widest range of heavy and light sewing.
5. They have no rattling wires, or delicate attachments to keep in repair.
6. They require no taking apart to clean or oil, and no "Lessons" to set needle, regulate tension, or operate Machine.

Please call and examine, and demonstrate for yourself, or send for Circular, with samples of sewing.

N. B.—Town and Country Agents wanted.

FINKLE & LYON, S. M. Co.,
No. 838, Broadway, New York.

March 16, 1865. 11-3m

Military School.

CANDIDATES for Commissions in the Service Militia, desirous of obtaining admission to either of the Schools of Military Instruction, are required to make application in writing for such purpose, through the Brigade Major of the Division wherein they reside.

Applicants must state their age residence Post Office address and native country, and transmit with their application a certificate from a Clergyman or Magistrate in the locality where they live as to moral character.

W. POWELL, Lt. Col.,
D. A. G. M., C. C.

Adjutant General's Office,
Quebec, March 4th, 1865. 11-13in

MELODEON AND COTTAGE ORGAN EMPORIUM,

PETERBORO, C.W.

Estey's Perfect Melodeon AND COTTAGE ORGAN.

ESTABLISHED 1864.

FORMERLY ESTEY & GREEN.

The only Manufactory in this Country of the Perfect Melodeon and Cottage Organ with Patent Bass Damper, Patent Harmonic Attachment, and Patent Manual Sub-Bass.

These admirable instruments have won their way to public confidence purely on their merits, and not by force of extensive advertising and purchased recommendations. With our increased facilities for manufacture, we are still unable to meet the extraordinary demand made upon us; but we hope soon to be able to fill all orders promptly.

Some of the points of superiority claimed for our instruments, are these:—

1st.—Smooth, steady and pipe-like quality of tone.

2nd.—Great delicacy of touch and promptness of action; producing, when desired, a low, sweet, lute-like tone, unequalled by any other instrument of the class.

3d.—The Patent Bass Damper, which enables the performer to swell the treble without increasing the volume of the bass; or, by drawing the Stop, to swell the notes by the action of the foot.

4th.—The Patent Harmonic Attachment. An ingenious octave occupier, which doubles the power of the instrument without increasing its size or the number of reeds.

5th.—The Patent Manual Sub-Base, which are played with the ordinary keys and controlled by a stop. This new and valuable invention requires no extra room and serves as a substitute for the Pedal Base, and can be used by an ordinary performer.

6th.—The Knee-Stop, in the Cottage Organ, which swells or diminishes the tone by a slight movement of the left knee, without interfering with the action of the feet,—having this advantage over the Automatic Swell that the volume of tone may be readily increased without extraordinary effort, and diminished without waiting for the change in the actions of the bellows.

Our recently constructed Cottage Organ, without the attachments, is unsurpassed by any Reed Organ or Harmonium of the size; but, with the Harmonic Attachment and Manual sub-base, it is pronounced by competent judges to be far superior to any other instrument of the class in the world. Its power, sweetness, and variety of tone, simplicity of construction and ease of management, recommend it to every one as being all that is claimed for it, both for the parlor and the church.

The Harmonic Organ, for Churches and Public Halls, has a fine, powerful Pedal Base, with independent reeds: and, with the Harmonic Attachment, is believed to be the most powerful Reed Organ made, being nearly equal to a pipe organ of three times its cost.

All our Instruments are made in the most thorough manner, and warranted in every respect

JOS. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Peterborough, Jan. 1865. 4

Rev. A. C. Rose, of Troy, N.Y. says:—These give the value of Are Melodeons in one. The ease of touch and promptness of action are unrivalled. It can be played with all the sweetness of the lute or Æolian harp, and changed in an instant to its full power, nearly equal to a twelve stop organ.

All orders addressed to the undersigned will receive prompt attention.

JOSEPH R. WALTON, Peterboro.

Jan 7th, 1865.

TESTIMONIALS.

JAMES BROWN, Esq., M. D.

Peterboro, October 20th, 1864.

I am happy to inform you that after the most persevering and testing trial for some weeks of the Cottage and Parlor Organ, we like it better every day. It is remarkable for variety of tone and power, and several of the best judges here say it is unequalled by any instrument of the kind (with double reed) they have ever heard You can so control and command all its parts, as to pass easily and rapidly from the softest tones of the Harp, Lute or Piano, to the rich full swell of a large Organ. It is easily played by child or adult, and is already a very great favorite with us. Its compact structure, ingenious combination of power with the new and beautiful Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-bass are greatly admired and are highly creditable to the maker, Estey, of Vermont. I think it is peculiarly adapted for Church Music.

EDW. F. CROWLE, A. M. &c.

Sheridan Villa Seminary, Peterboro, Dec. 1864.

We are delighted with the Cottage Organ with Harmonic attachment and Manual Subbass. We prefer it to any instrument of the kind we have ever seen; its tone, sweet and harmonious in the parlor, possesses sufficient power for a church.

REV. J. C. SLATER.

Wesleyan Parsonage, Millbrook, Jan. 1865.

I have much pleasure in testifying my entire satisfaction of the Cabinet Organ, purchased from you, as an instrument possessing superior qualities in sweetness, variety and strength, to anything of the kind I have ever seen. Two experienced musicians who have examined it, concur with me in recommending it as a perfect instrument adapted to Church or Parlor.

GEO. A. NORRIS, M. D., Recording Steward of the Wesleyan Church, Omemee.

Omemee, July, 1864.

In reply to your inquiries as to the Harmonic Organ, purchased from you for our church, we have to express our highest satisfaction; in purity and sweetness of tone as well as volume of sound, it is all that can be reasonably expected.

Peterborough, Dec. 20th, 1864.

MR J. R. WALTON.—Having examined and played upon the Parlor Organs sold by you, and Manufactured by Mr. Estey. I have great pleasure in pronouncing them a first class instrument, The Harmonic attachment and manual Sub-base being a very great improvement and well worthy the patronage of the Musical public. Yours truly,

A. T. HEATHFIELD,
Organist of St. John's Church,
Peterborough.

$500 REWARD!

WHEREAS, on the night of the 3rd inst., some evil disposed person or persons did maliciously set fire to the Workshop of John Britton, the above reward of Five Hundred Dollars will be paid by the Town Council to any one who will give such information as will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the said person or persons.

C. PERRY, Mayor,
Town of Peterborough.

March 7, 1865.

NOTICE.

ALL those indebted to the late firm of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., by Note or Book Account, will please call and settle the same forthwith, as all debts not paid before the 30th of April next, will be placed in suit for collection.

JOHN WHYTE.

Peterborough, March 7, 1865. 10

TENDERS.

TENDERS will be received by the Trustees of School Section No. 14, in the Township of Otonabee, up to the 27th inst. for the building of a FRAME SCHOOL HOUSE. The plans and specifications may be seen at the residence of Thomas Johnston, Lot No. 24, in the 8th Con. of said Township. The Trustees do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order of the Trustees,
THOS. JOHNSTON,
Sec'y and Treas'r.

School Section No. 14,
Otonabee, March 7th, 1865. 12-3in*

BY-LAW No.

Poetry.

ICE HOFFEN.

Misfortune, like a piece of cloth,
Have each a wrong and right side—
Of both I very much prefer
To look upon the bright side.

The clouds that bring the thunder-storm
Have every one a white side;
I do not care because I'm low
And can not see the right side.

All things on earth, I do suppose,
Possesses a dark and bright side;
Then let us keep our spirits high
By looking on the brighs side.

Yes, look upon the bright side,
The white side, the right side;
No'or fret about the night side
While looking on the right side!

Varieties.

Josh Billings' Martial Dictionary.

'Unlese the dogs of war'—but muzzle the darned critters, if you don't somebody will get hurt.

'War of Extermination'—this fraze belongs solely to the Knownuthare Department.

'Advance Gard'—this is a gard that we hav to hav in our armee to keep fellers from pitchin in to the enama frontwards.

'Rere Gard'—this is a gard that hav to keep our fellers when they are surrounded, from pitchin in to the enama backwards.

'All quiet on the Potomac'—this shows what perfect subjection our fellers are under.

'A successful rade'—cutting oph a turnpike within the enamas lines, and bringing a blind mule and 2 niggers to board.

'Reserved Korps'—this, I take it, means our ophicers, who lie at tavern stands, and are stuffed and sent home to hurry.

'Base of supplize'—Unkle Samuel's pocket-book.

'Pickets'—these are surplus chaps who are sent out to borry turbacker, and to see if the kussed Rebels have got eny pass.

'An Armistice'—giving the enama two chances to get licked instead ov one.

'Military Strategee'—trying to reduce a swamp by ketchin the bilyous fever out ov it.

'Rekrutin Ophisars'—individuals who are sent into the rural districts, on a furlough, to recrute—themselfs.

'Armee Rashuns'—back pay and preserved beef.

'Quartering on the enama'—this phrase is defunctted, because it is contrasse to Hoyle.

'War Hoops'—just the thing for a hot da; the injuns used to give them.

'Corte Marshall'—where tha thi the inside meuers ov an orphiser, so that he shall do to promoat.

'Parallel lines'—are them kine o' lines that never cum together.

'Militare necessits'—ten ophisars and a gallon of whiski to every three privates.

Dictionary of Terms.

CHAPLAIN—MILITARY.—One appointed to say grace at mass, and drink wine with the officers.

COLLEGE.—An institution where young men learn everything but that which is professed to be taught.

COTTAGE.—Supposed to be the abode of happiness by all except those who live in it.

DOCTOR.—One whose business is to pour drugs of which he knows little, into a body of which he knows less.

DITCH.—A place in which those who have taken too much wine, are apt to take a little water.

DRESS.—External gentility, frequently used to disguise internal vulgarity.

FRIEND.—One who will tell you of you of your faults and follies in prosperity, and assist you with his hand and heart in adversity.

FROWN.—Writing the confession of a bad passion with an eye-lerne.

GALLOWS.—The remedy which society has provided for roguery, a cure without being a prevention.

EGOTISM.—Suffering the private I to be too much in the public eye.

HERO.—A wholesale man-butcher.

HEARSE.—The triumphal car in which bones and dust proceed in state to their final place—the grave.

LOGIC.—Substituting sound for sense, and perverting reason by reasoning.

NEGRO.—A creature treated as a brute because he is black, by greater brutes who happened to be white.

AN IRISH SCHOOLMASTER PUT OUT.—A country school-teacher, preparing for an exhibition of his school, selected aclass of pupils and wrote down the questions which he would put to them on examination-day. The day had arrived; and so did the hopefuls, all but one. The pupils took their place as had been arranged, and all went on glibly until the question of the absentee came. "In whom do you believe?" "Napoleon Buonaparte?" was the answer quickly returned. "You believe in the Holy Catholic Church, do you not?" "No," said the youngster, amid roars of laughter, "the boy that believes in that Church hasn't come to school to-day; he's at home sick a-bed."

I say, old fellow, what are you politics? said one friend, quizzing another. Conservative—my father was a Conservative. And what is your religion? enquired the other.

Protestant, was the reply, my father was a very strict Protestant.

And why are you a bachelor?

Because my father was a—oh, co found it! don't bother me with your stupid questions.

Several gentlemen were discussing the alarming prevalence of the crime of wife-desertion, women eloping with other men, &c., when Hans, who had been listening with great attention, stepped up and in an excited manner said,

'If my wife runs awar mit anoder man's wife runs away mit anoder man's wife, I will shake him out of her breeches, if she had been mine own fader by Got!'

You can take it for granted that when a young lady is too nervous to venture into a lobby alone, and insists upon your accompanying her, she expects some reward as soon as the door is closed.

You have destroyed my mind Betsey, said a despondent lover to a truant lass. It can't do much harm, John, for it was an amazing small piece you had, answered Betsey.

Ma, said a little boy, why is a postage stamp like a bad scholar? I can't tell, my son. Why is it? Because it gets licked and put in the corner.

GREAT

CLEARING OUT

SALE

AT THE

Montreal House!

Whole Stock

SELLING OFF!

AT

GREAT

REDUCTIONS.

☞ Call early and secure a bargain.

☞ See small bills.

Peterboro, Jan. 26, 1865.

BLETCHER'S
CANADIAN
CLOTHES WRINGER

COMBINES more Strength of Frame, Capacity for Pressure, and Power of Action, than any other in the market. We manufacture five sizes intended for and adapted to Families, Hotels, Laundries, &c.

Bletcher's Canadian Clothe's Wringer

Saves Time, Labor, Clothes and Money.

It will wear for years without repair!

No Servant can break it!

A Child ten years old can operate it!

No caution or skill required in its use!

It will wring anything from a Thread to the Heaviest Quilt.

It saves its Cost in Clothing
Every six or nine Months.

The water can be pressed from large and small articles easier, quicker and more thoroughly than by the ordinary old fashioned back-breaking, wrist-straining and clothes-destroying process.

It is easily and firmly secured to the Tub or Washing Machine and will fit Tubs of any shape or size. Every Wringer is Warranted in every particular, either with or without star gearing; and in the event of any part becoming broken or mislaid, we can replace it at once. We sell them at prices that defy competition, as the following will testify:

No. 1, nine inch roll,	$4 50
2, nine and a half inch roll,	4 75
3, ten inch roll,	5 00
4, twelve inch roll,	5 75
5, fourteen inch roll,	6 50

We keep all the sizes above on hand at all times at our Sewing Machine Office, over Mr. S. White's shoe store,

George Street, Peterborough.

Entrance by the Hall Door beetween Mr. Samuel White's and I. Robinson & Co's.

THOMAS BLETCHER.

Peterboro,' May 11, 1864. 19

REMOVAL.

Tobias Fitzgerald,

HAS REMOVED his Carriage and Waggon Establishment to those COMMODIOUS PREMISES on the

CORNER OF BROCK AND WATER ST'S,

OPPOSITE THE COURT HOUSE PARK,

Where he will continue to MANUFACTURE

CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, WAGONS, SLEIGHS, CUTTERS, &c.,

Which he will warrant to be made from the best Timber; and any person ordering from him are invited to call and examine the work before it is painted.

Jobbing & Horse Shoeing

Will be punctually attended to.

Peterborough, August, 1864. 33

PAINTING & GRAINING

DONE BY

W. N. KENNEDY,

HUNTER STREET.

Great Bargains.

BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.

BUY LAMPS at WILLIAMS'.

BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.

BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.

BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.

BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.

BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.

BUY LAMPS at WILLIAM'S.

BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.

BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.

BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.

BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.

Cash paid for Grain

by A. WILLIAMS.

Peterboro', Jan. 11, 1865. 3

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

PIANO FORTE

MANUFACTURERS,

499 BROADWAY,

New York.

THE attention of the public and the trade is invited to our New Scale

7 OCTAVE

Rosewood Piano Fortes,

WHICH FOR

VOLUME AND PURITY OF TONE,

ARE UNRIVALLED

By any hitherto offered in this market. They contain all the modern improvements

French Grand Action,

Harp Pedal,

Iron Frame Over-Strung Brass,

&c., &c.,

And each instrument being made under the personal supervision of Mr. J. H. GROVESTEEN, who has had a practical experience of over 30 years in their manufacture, is fully warranted in every particular.

The "Grovesteen Piano Forte" received the highest award of merit over all others at the Celebrated World's Fair.

Where were exhibited instruments from the best makers of London, Paris, Germany, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and New York; and, also, at the American Institute for five successive years, the

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

from both of which can be seen at our warerooms.

☞ By the introduction of improvements we make a still more perfect Piano Forte, and by manufacturing largely, with a strictly cash system, are enabled to offer these instruments at

A PRICE WHICH WILL

Preclude Competition!

PRICES:

No. 1, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood plain case, $275.

No. 2, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood heavy moulding, $300.

No. 3, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood Louis XIV. style, $325. Terms: Net Cash, in current funds.

Descriptive circulars sent free.

Sept. 13th, 1864. 1-1 yr

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PHOTOGRAPHIC MATERIALS!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,

501 BROADWAY, N. Y.

IN addition to our main business of Photographic Materials, we are Headquarters for the following, viz.:

STEREOSCOPES,

AND

STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS,

Of these we have an immense assortment, including War Scenes, American and Foreign Cities and Landscapes, Groups, Statuary, &c., &c. Also, Revolving Stereoscopes, for public or private exhibition. Our Catalogue will be sent to any address on receipt of stamp.

PHOTOGRAPHIC ALBUMS!

We were the first to introduce these into the United States, and we manufacture immense quantities in great variety, ranging in price from 50 cents to $50 each. Our Albums have the reputation of being superior in beauty and durability to any others. They will be sent by mail, FREE, on receipt of price. Fine Albums made to order.

CARD PHOTOGRAPHS.

Our Catalogue now embraces over FIVE THOUSAND different subjects (to which additions are continually being made,) of Portraits of eminent Americans, &c., viz: about

100 Major-Generals,	550 Statesmen,
200 Brig.-Generals,	130 Divines,
275 Colonels,	125 Authors,
100 Lieut-Colonels,	40 Artists,
250 Other Officers,	125 Stage,
75 Navy Officers,	50 Prom. Women,

150 Prominent Foreign Portraits,
3,000 Copies of works of Art,

Including reproductions of the most celebrated Engravings, Paintings, Statues, &c. Catalogues sent on receipt of stamp. An order for One Dozen Pictures from our Catalogue will be filled on receipt of $1.20, and sent by mail, free.

Photographers and others ordering goods C. O. D. will please remit twenty-five per cent of the amount with their order.

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,
Manufacturers of Photographic Materials,
501 Broadway, New York.

The prices and quality of our Goods cannot fail to satisfy. 46

Wm. N. KENNEDY

HAS

GOOD & CHEAP ROOM PAPER

ON HAND.

J. R. Walton's Column.

J. R. WALTON,

Insurance, House & Land Agent.

A Life Business trusted to him will be promptly attended to.

OFFICE OVER G. W. ROBINSON'S STORE,
GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

SCOTTISH

Provincial Assurance Co.

ESTABLISHED, 1825.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

CAPITAL, One Million Sterling.

INVESTED IN CANADA, over $450,000.

Same Am'd under Current Life Policies	£2,200,000 Stg
Accumulated Fund	423,430 "
Annual Income	107,920 "
Amo'nt proposed for Assurance, 1862, under 1063 applications	457,235 "

CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE,—Place D'Armes, Montreal.

A. DAVIDSON PARKER,
Secretary for Canada.

ATTENTION is directed to the rate of premiums adopted by this Company, which will compare favorably with that of any other institution in Canada. Investments of Company's funds to the large amount of nearly five hundred thousand dollars have been completed in Canada; and as all business transactions are finally disposed of in the Province, the Scottish Provincial offers all the facilities presented by a purely local Company, while it possesses the additional advantage of a large capital, and an influential and responsible body of shareholders in Great Britain.

Policies effected on or before 31st January next will receive a full year's bonus over those effected thereafter.

PETERBOROUGH:

J. R. WALTON, AGENT.

November 25, 1863. 48

PROVINCIAL

INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF CANADA.

Head Office,—Toronto Street, Toronto.

FIRE! MARINE!

DIRECTORS:

Hon. J. Hillyard Cameron, M. P. P., President.
Lewis Moffatt, Esq., Vice-President,
Hon. George Crawford, M. L. C.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq.
Geo. Duggan, jr., Esq.,
John Cameron, Esq.,
A. M. Smith, Esq., M. P. P.,
Chris. Robinson, Esq.,
W. J. McDonell, Esq.,
C. J. Campbell, Esq.,
Manager & Secretary,—James S. Crocker, Esq.,
Assistant Secretary,—Donough O'Brien, Esq.,
Solicitors,—Messrs. Duggan & Burns,
Bankers,—Commercial Bank of Canada.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent for Peterborough.

November, 1863. 49

ESPECIAL NOTICE

TO FARMERS!

INSURE YOUR CROPS

IN THE

CANADA WEST FARMER'S

Mutual and Stock Insurance Co.

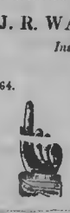
OF HAMILTON.

It can be done for a mere trifle

BY APPLYING TO

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent,
Peterborough.

August 10, 1864. 32



21 BUILDING LOTS

FOR SALE.

KNOWN as Park Lot No. 7, adjoining the property of Wm. Clinton, Esq., near the Little Lake. Terms to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Peterboro', Dec. 1, 1863. 49

FOR SALE CHEAP,

AND ON LIBERAL TERMS!

LOT No. 9, 5th con. Township of Douro, 107 Acres of good Land, 70 acres cleared with a good Frame Dwelling, just new, and good office buildings, with three wells of water on the premises. Situate about six miles from Peterborough. For further particulars apply to

JOS. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, May 9th, 1864. 19

For Sale.

COMBINED Reaping and Mowing Machine, no worse than new—Patterson's make, of Belleville. Also, A good second hand Lumber Waggon.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterboro', June 28th, 1864. 26

CANADA WEST FARMERS

Mutual Stock Insurance Co.,

HAMILTON.

J. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

For Sale or to Let,

FOR A TERM OF YEARS,

TWO DWELLING HOUSES

In the Village of Lakefield, with 2 Lots, each one-third of an acre.

For particulars, apply to the undersigned at Peterborough,

J. GRIFFIN,
General Builder, Pump-maker, &c., &c.

Peterboro', March 7th, 1864. 10

MILK—BEEF—LABOUR.

ADAPTION TO THE LAND.—For whatever purpose cattle are raised, regard should be taken as to the character of the soil, the climate and the topography of the country. Although the various breeds of cattle will maintain their peculiar characteristics for several generations, whether they be kept on the rich plains or rough and sparsely grassed mountains, yet as we all seek the greatest profit, we must know the adaption of each breed to our own locality, and be guided accordingly in their selection.

The adjective lordly has been well applied to the Short-horns—the breed which may be considered as showing the greatest effects of culture. They are of the largest size, well boned, but not coarse, with small heads, large carcases, straight backs, wide in the pelvis, deep in the flank, maturing early, laying on flesh and fat with great rapidity, and when slaughtered remarkable for the smallness of the offal. In order to exhibit these qualities in anything like perfection, they need good feed and plenty of it, all the time shelter in cold weather—in fact good stabling—and the better care they have, the more rapidly they will grow and fatten. There is no reason why the breed should not be perpetuated in perfection on the blue grass pastures of the West or on the closer and red top of the rich intervals of the middle states, and in other choice spots as occur in the valley of the Connecticut, and elsewhere in New England. And it is within the past 50 years the Short-horns have been gradually disseminated more or less all over the United States and Canada, producing a great improvement upon the common stock of the country. The "grades," that is, the half-bloods, quater-bloods, etc., being the product of crossing the bulls upon common or half-blood cows, possess the external characters and feeding qualities of their sire to to a great extent.

Very different are the characteristics of the Devons (sometimes called Notrh Devons as such are not known in this country nor bred distinct in England.) They are much smaller, much more active, tougher, able to get a good living where a Short-horn would almost starve, not so early in coming to maturity, but being serviceable proportionably longer. The cows give richer milk than the Short-horns, and a good supply; they require less care and with fair treatment remain productive and healthy to a great age. This breed adapts itself to the rough parts of New England, and many parts of the Northern States—especially where the steers are used in the yoke or find a ready sale as working oxen. Their qualities in the yoke will be discussed in a subsequent article. When put to feed, they fatten rapidly, and many connoisseurs think they furnish the most delicious beef we have in our markets.

The Ayshires, Alderneys and Dutch cattle are peculiarly milk breeds, having been bred chiefly for Dairy purposes for many generations. The Dutch cattle are large, great milkers, slow and logey in their motions, good feeders, and are adapted for similar situations to the Short-horns. The Ayshires are much more active, smaller not above medium size, thrive in good pasturage, and sustain themselves very well on "short commons." They give large quantities of milk, but not rich in quality.

The Alderneys are even more active than the Ayshires, but are great eaters; they need therefore good and abundant pasturage not of the juicy succulent sort, but sweet and fine. They are not adapted to dairy use, but particularly to families keeping one, two, or three cows for their own use, or for dairies where very choice butter, a "fancy article," is made. The cream of these breeds are not esteemed because too small for heavy work. The Herefords are adapted to a wider range of pasturage than the Short-horns, not so active as the Devons, but are large, excellent for beef, of not much account for the dairy, but good workers. They mature early, and of course like the Short-horns are most profitable on fat pastures. On good fair farming land, any of the breeds will do well, but as we depart from this towards either extreme—toward the rich prairies and intervals, or sparse pasturage—we must exercise judgement in selecting a proper class of cows, and suitable bull for their improvement.

GARDEN SEEDS.

Every good gardener should now be looking after the seed that he is to sow in the spring. Of the imported varieties, the supply will probably be much less than the demand, and even of home-grown seeds the stock frequently gives out by planting time, as was the case with onion seed last year. It is scarcely necessary to insist upon the importance of good seeds—good not only as being of a good sort or strain, but good as to their germinating power. Old seeds are often a source of great loss and disappointment, and many are sold each year which are only fit to be thrown into the fire. It is especially difficult to procure at a distance from seedsmen of reputation, seeds on which one can rely with confidence. Seed-men put up their boxes of seeds with a flaming printed lab l, "Warranted Fresh." All very true and fair for the first year; but when these boxes of seeds are brought out year after year for many years, it is neither true nor fair. Many kinds of seeds will not regetate after the first or second year. The only honest way is for the dealer to label his boxes with the year in which they were put up, leaving it to the purchaser to decide for himself whether or no they are "fresh" enough for his use. Test by sprouting a few of each lot.

TO HOUSEKEEPERS.—The Country Gentleman gives the following method of ridding houses from the intrusion of bed bugs. It is not expensive, and our good housewives should give it a trial, unless they are fond of the company of the aforesaid pests: "Persons not desirous of being carried out of the world by bugs will be glad to learn that they can't stand hot alum water. Take two pounds of alum, bruise it, and reduce it to powder, dissolve it in three quarts of water; let it remain in a warm place till the alum is dissolved. The alum water is to be applied hot by means of a brush to every joint and crevice. Brush the crevices in the floor of the places, whitewash the ceiling, putting in plenty alum, and there will be an end to their dropping visence.

TO DRAW RUSTY NAILS.—Rusty nails may be drawn from wood with ease by first giving them a blow hard enough to start them in a trifle.

TO DRIVE NAILS IN HARD WOOD.—Nails may be driven into hard wood by first touching the small end to grease.

HOW TO CLINCH CUT NAILS.—Common nails, heated red hot, and put into cold water, will clinch and answer the purpose of wrought nails.

Kerosene Oil applied to the parts affected, is the latest remedy for rheumatism.

For Sale, To Let, &c.

FOR SALE.

CHEAP FOR CASH,

OR ON LONG APPROVED CREDIT.

ONE very fast grey Mare, 6 years old. One brown Mare, 6 years old. One splendid Breed Mare; all gentle, and fit for any work. One Lumber Waggon, one Sleigh, and one sett of Double Harness.

A good yoke of Oxen or Steers will be taken in exchange.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, Oct. 12, 1864. 41

FOR SALE,

OR, TO LET.

THE subscriber wishes either to Sell or to Let those premises at present occupied by Mr John Ritchie as a tavern,

In the Village of Bobcaygeon.

The Hotel is in a good state of repair, with good stables and other outbuildings.

For terms, &c., apply to

ROBERT HUNTER.

Bobcaygeon, Sept. 10, 1864. 37

VALUABLE

PROPERTY FOR SALE

IN THE

TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE property of the late WM. LANNIN, on Charlotte Street, opposite the Railway Station is offered for sale on reasonable terms; the lot has been divided into five parts, three of which are situated on Bethune Street, and has a frontage of 45 feet by 114 deep; the other two are situated on Charlotte Street and have a frontage of 51 feet by 89 feet in depth which makes them desirable for building purposes.

The whole will be sold in one lot or to suit purchasers.

For terms and particulars apply to

D. HOPKINS
or THOS. LANNIN.

Peterboro', August 24, 1864. 34

VALUABLE FARM

FOR SALE OR TO LET.

BEING composed of the east halves of Lots Nos. 22 and 23, in the first concession of the Township of Otonabee. There are about 150 acres cleared, and a good Frame Dwelling House, two frame Barns, a first-rate Driving House, Sheds and Stables, a good Well and Orchard on the premises.

Title indisputable, and immediate possession will be given. TERMS MODERATE.

For further particulars apply to G. F. Orde, or to the proprietor,

WM. WEIR,
Norham, Percy, C. W.

6

Farm for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale Lot No. 19, in the 12th Concession of Otonabee. There are 120 acres of good land in the farm, with a little over 100 acres cleared. There are good buildings, and two wells of water on the farm; it is about four miles from the Town of Peterborough.

TERMS.—One-half down, the remainder in 8 annual instalments.

JOSHUA DAWSON.

Otonabee Jan. 30th, 1864. 5

FARM FOR SALE.

LOT No. 27, in the 16th Concession of Smith containing 200 acres; there are 150 acres cleared, and on the premises there are a hewed Log House, Log Barn, good Well, and Orchard. The Farm is situated on the main road to Bulkhorn, 17 miles form the Town of Peterborough, there is a School House on one corner of it.

For Particulars apply to

ANDREW McKEE,
14th Con. of Smith.

January 12th 1864. 2

LANDS FOR SALE.

TWENTY THOUSAND ACRES of LAND, both wild and improved, and at all prices, for sale in various pars of Canada, principally in the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria and Ontario,) cheap, and on easy terms.

For lists and particulars apply to the proprietor

T. D. LEDYARD, Barrister, &c.
South-west corner King and Yonge Streets,
TORONTO.

8

HOUSE AND FURNITURE.

A COMFORTABLE HOUSE to Let. The Furniture in it can be had at very reasonable terms. Inquire at the office of Messrs. Fairbairn & Dumble, Barristers.

Peterborough, Nov. 9th, 1864. 45

St. GEORGE'S SALOON

GEORGE MITCHELL,

Sole Agent in Peterborough for

CREIGHTON'S

Superior ALES and PORTER,

In Casks or Bottle,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

For Cash on Delivery.

Peterboro', April 14th, 1864. 15

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
Insurance Company.

CAPIT L.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA
ASSURANCE COMPY

CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, $2,000'000.

Peterborough, Jan. 1st, 1863. 1

COPLAND'S ALE!

A LARGE QUANTITY

OF

COPLAND'S

Celebrated Sparkling Pale Ale,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND BY

LEWIS GLOVER, Sole Agent.

Peterboro, Oct. 26th, 1863. 44

NOTICE.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his customers that he is now prepared to GRIND GRISTS in a superior manner. He respectfully invite all who wish to patronize him to favor him with a call. All flour, made from good Wheat, warranted.

LEWIS BORLAND.

Douro, March 1st, 1864. 9

ARE YOU IN AGONY?

A WELL SPRING OF HOPE FOR ALL!

CAN BE FOUND IN

Holloway's Pills.

Be of Good Cheer! The Sinking may be Saved!

BY THE USE OF

Holloway's Ointment.

THE history of these great Remedies is the most wonderful medical revelation that the world has ever known. It establishes the all important fact that WHEREVER, and in WHATEVER SHAPE internal disease exists, the disinfecting, searching and healing properties of the Pills are fully equal to its subjection and cure, and that, with the Ointment, they are

The Great Ambassadors of Health to all Mankind.

This is not a history written by one man, or even derived from the experiences of one nation. It consists of a compilation of testimonials from the sick of every country—an unimpeachable record, the like of which has never been adduced in favor of any discovery or invention since time began.

These Mighty Healers, World Known and World Tried are a Boon to the Sick

The want of a sterling medicinal to meet the ills and necessities of the suffering portion of humanity, and one entirely free from mineral and other deleterious particles, was severely felt till this all powerful medicine was ushered into the world; HOLLOWAY'S INVALUABLE PILLS have become the HOUSEHOLD REMEDY of all nations. Their attribute is to PREVENT as well as to CURE: they attack the RADIX OR ROOT of the complaint, and thus, by removing the hidden cause of disease, re-invigorate and restore the drooping energies of the system, assisting nature in her task of VITAL and FUNCTIONARY RESTORATION.

Disorders of the Stomach

Are the sources of the deadliest maladies. Their effect is to vitiate all the fluids of the body, and to send a poisoned stream through all the channels of circulation. Now, what is the operation of the Pills? They cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver, bring the relaxed or irritated stomach into a natural condition, and, acting through the secretive organs upon THE BLOOD itself, change the state of the system from sickness to health, by exercising a simultaneous and wholesome effect upon all its parts and functions.

Woman in all her Difficulties

Is invited to test the regulating and restorative powers of this harmless but effective preparation. At the two epochs of life in which the female system undergoes the most important and critical changes, the Pills will prove a positive safeguard against all consequences. They are also confidently recommended as a specific in every disorder to which females are exclusively subject.

Be it Understood,

That the above statements can at all times be verified by the written testimony (extending through a quarter of a century) of tens of thousands of unimpeachable witnesses.

Bilious Maladies, &c., &c.

In whatever form disease attacks the liver, it is repelled and exterminated by this searching, painless, and irresistable curative. Bilious remittents, bilious purging, and all the ordinary disorders of the organ, indicated by pain in the right side and between the shoulders, yellowness of the whites of the eyes, weakness and debility, &c., are relieved and removed by the remedy, with a celerity which astonishes the sufferers and their friends. Let the sick whom the faculty have abandoned, resort with confidence to this powerful anti-bilious agent, and a restoration to health and activity will be the unvarying result.

Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Weakness, &c. &c.

The terrible bodily and mental pangs which characterise Dyspepsia are at once mitigated by the Pills. Diarrhœa, constipation, headache, physical prostration, nervous tremors, hot flushes, spasms, affections of the kidneys, hemorrhoids or piles, and, in fact, all internal complaints, from whatever cause arising, give way before the salutary influence of this extraordinary remedy. As a specific for dyspepsia, and the disorders connected with it, or growing out of it, the Pills are always to be relied on when every other medicine and mode of treatment has utterly failed.

Holloway's Pills are the best Remedy known for the following diseases:

Asthma,	Headaches,
Bowel Complaints,	Indigestion,
Coughs,	Influenza,
Colds,	Inflamation,
Chest Diseases,	Inward Weakness,
Costiveness,	Liver Complaints,
Dyspepsia,	Lowness of Spirits,
Diarrhœa,	Piles,
Dropsy,	Stone and Gravel,
Debility,	Secondary Symptoms,
Fever and Ague,	Vernal Affections,
Female Complaints,	Worms of all kinds.

CAUTION.

If the readers of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug store in his place, let him write to me, enclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' make.

None are genuine unless the words "Holloway New York and London," are discernible as a Water Mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same knowing them to be spurious.

 Sold at the manufactory of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and the civilized world, in boxes, at 25 cents, 63 cents, and $1 40 each.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes. 33

STEAMSHIP TICKETS

STOLEN.

WHEREAS, on the night of Tuesday, 30th August, the Express Office at Peterboro' was broken into, and some Tickets of the Montreal Ocean Steamship Company stolen therefrom; the public are hereby cautioned against purchasing Tickets of the above Company numbered 210 to 240 inclusive, as they have been cancelled.

REG COX,
Agent.

Peterborough, Sept. 1s 264 5-tf

ROOM PAPER DEPOT.

WM. N. KENNEDY,

HAS REMOVED to the store immediately West of the Stewart House, on Hunter street.

His stock of Room Papers, Borders, Decorations, Window Blinds, Fire Screens, &c., &c., has been largely increased and will be sold cheap.

Painting in all its branches carried on as usual.

Peterboro', Oct. 16, 1864. 42

FOR SALE,

FLOUR IN BARRELS,

ALLANDALE MILLS,

Also,—OATMEAL IN BARRELS.

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro', June 6th, 1864. 23

PETERBORO EXAMINER.

S. PECK, Esq., has kindly consented to act as Agent for the Examiner, for the neighborhood of Gull River.

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

Peterboro', January, 1865.

REEVES' AMBROSIA

FOR THE

Growth, Beauty and Preservation

OF THE

HAIR.

REEVES' AMBROSIA is prepared from valuable Roots and Herbs, each and all of which have enjoyed a reputation among eminent physicians, for their medical properties. These Roots, &c., are carefully selected on chemically compounded by such a method as to extract and combine their true medical virtues in the most effectual manner.

REEVES' AMBROSIA — Contains Burdock Root. Thoroughly eradicates Dirt, Scurf and Dandruff.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Witch Hazel. —Always all pains in the head; cures sore and diseased Scalps, Salt Rheum, Itching, &c. &c. Removes Dull Headache.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Bay Berries.—Gives vigour and healthy action to the Roots of the hair—is very cooling to the Head,

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Southern Wood.—Prevents the hair from turning prematurely grey.—Restores grey hair.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Rosemary Flowers.—Nourishes the roots of the hair and gives impulse to its growth—is a delightful ingredient.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains:

L——r Leaves.	M——a H——p
E——m B——k.	T——m R——t.

The secret discovery which causes the hair to grow beautiful, thick and long.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—is a genuine and reliable preparation. Buy it, try it, and be convinced.

For sale by all Druggists, at 75 cents per bottle.

Depot, 42 Fulton Street, New York.

December 1, 1864. 6mos.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS.

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen

THIS invaluable medicine is unfailing for the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excesses and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied upon.

TO MARRIED LADIES

It is peculiarly suited; it will, in short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity. Each bottle, price One Dollar, bears the Government stamp of Great Britain, to prevent counterfeits.

CAUTION.—These Pill's should not be taken by females during the first three months of Pregnancy, as they are sure to bring on Miscarriage; but at any other time they are safe.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections pain in the back and limbs, fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed: and although a powerful remedy, they do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution. ☞ Full directions to the pamphlet round each box, which should be carefully preserved.

Sole Agent for the United States and Canadas

JOB MOSES, N. Y.

N. B.—$1 and 6 postage stamps enclosed to any authorised agent, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN, C. W.
General Agents for the Canadas.

Sold in Peterboro by Ormond & Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and W. Deniter; by C. Britton, Lindsay; and all medicine dealers. 18

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES

BRYAN'S

PULMONIC WAFERS!

The Original Medicine established in 1827, and first article of the kind ever introduced under the name of "Pulmonic Wafers," in this or any other country; all other Pulmonic Wafers are counterfeits. The genuine can be known by the name BRYAN being stamped on each WAFER.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficult breathing.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Spitting of Blood, Pains in the Chest.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Incipient Consumption, Lung Diseases.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Irritation of the Throats and Tonsils.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve the above complaints in ten minutes.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are a blessing to all Classes and Constitutions.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are adapted for Vocalists and Public Speakers.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are in simple form and pleasant to the taste.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Not only relieve but effect rapid and lasting cures.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are warranted to give satisfaction to everyone.

No family should be without a box of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers in the house.

No traveler should be without a supply of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers in his pocket.

No person will ever object to give for Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers Twenty-five Cents.

JOB MOSES, Sole Proprietor, N. Y.

NORTHOP & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas,

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, and A. W. Kempt; by C. Britton Lindsay and all medicine dealers. 18

LAW RESPECTING NEWSPAPERS.

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the Publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

If Subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered their papers to be discontinued.

If Subscribers remove to other places without informing the publisher, they are held responsible.

The courts have decided that refusing to take a newspaper or periodical from the office, or removing, and leaving it unsettled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

THE

PETERBOROUGH 'EXAMINER'

Is published at the office of the publisher every Thursday morning,

NICHOLLS & HALL'S BLOCK, WATER ST.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

If paid strictly in advance.....$1 50 per an.
If not paid within 3 months of time of subscribing 2 00

Rates of Advertising.

Six Lines, and under, first insertion.....50 cts
Each subsequent insertion 17
Six to ten lines, first insertion.....60
Each subsequent insertion.....20
Over ten lines, first insertion (per line).....6
Each subsequent insertion,

APRIL

1865

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY GRAHAM & STRATTON.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE

Vol. X. PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, APRIL 6, 1865. No. 14

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL,

AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

BY

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars, Checks, Funeral Cards, Invitations, Bill Headings, Notes Bills, Show Bills, Consert Bills, Programmes, Posters, Stage Bills, Business Cards, Blanks, &c. with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing

☞ Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,

SURVEYOR, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,

COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,

BARRISTER-AT-LAW, George Street, Peterborough. 18

C. A. WELLER,

CLERK of the Peace. Office George Street, Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,

COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office George street. 20

DENNISTOUN & SON,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, &c., Hunter street, Peterboro'.

ROBERT DENNISTOUN. | JAMES D. DENNISTOUN.

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, Agent.

JOSEPH H. WALTON.

GENERAL Fire and Life Insurance Agent, George Street, Peterboro'. 18

MILLAR & BERTRAM,

HARDWARE Merchants, George Street, Peterborough. 18

JAMES STEVENSON,

DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ORMOND & GILMOUR,

DRUGGISTS, Chemists and Seedsmen, dealers in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 18

A. W. KEMP'T,

DRUGGIST, Dealer in Genuine Drugs and Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Paints, Oils, Colours, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c.—Medical Hall, George street, Peterboro. 20

ROBERT WALTON,

SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,

DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 18

THOMAS MENZIES,

BOOKSELLER, Stationer &c., Heathern's Brick Block, north of Ormond & Gilmour's George Street, Peterborough. 20

J. GRIFFIN & Co.,

PUMP AND PANNING MILL MAKERS, Wood Turners, &c., &c.

Corner of Simcoe and Aylmer Streets, Peterborough, C. W. 19-1y

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.

Orders and Sticks, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.

Nov. 27, 1861. 48

J. B. BISBEE,

DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 18

WM. N. KENNEDY,

PAINTER, Paperhanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 18

Mr. TOOLE,

MANUFACTURER of Sash, Blinds, Door and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Mastyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 2

GEORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 18

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Corner, Corner of Walter and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

R. PATTERSON & Co.

DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.

☞ Nicholls & Co.'s old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

LIVERY STABLES,

WHITE & EASTLAND, Hunter street Peterboro', C. W.

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.

Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 20

BANK OF TORONTO.

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposit

A. SMITH, Agent. 20

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Ontario. 20

LAWSON'S HOTEL,

CORNER of George and Brock streets. P. Huffman, proprietor, Peterborough, C. W. Fare one dollar per day. 20

THOMAS W. POOLE, M. D.

PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, Accoucheur, and Licenser. Water St., opposite the Market Square, Peterboro', C. W. 20

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Mr. GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c.

Office over the Hardware Store of Messrs George Stetham & Co., George Street, Peterboro.

Peterboro', Feb. 11th, 1864. 7

THOS. G. CHOATE,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Commissioner for taking affidavits, &c., &c.

Warsaw, C. W. 20

JOHN McMILLAN,

TAILOR,

SHOP on Simcoe Street, next door to R. Patterson & Co's Boot and Shoe Store, Peterborough. 44

MRS. HUGH WILSON,

Milliner,

STILL continues business one door East of the Free Church. 48

MR. SIDNEY SMITH

HAS RESUMED HIS PRACTICE AS

BARRISTER, ATTORNEY,

&c., &c., &c.

Office over the Post Office,

PETERBOROUGH, C. W.

April 27, 1865. 18

JOHN O'DONNELL

DENTIST.

OFFICE—Ormond & Gilmour's Block, George st.

PETERBOROUGH.

References—Dr. Legge Dentist, Brockville. Dr. McCrea, Keene. T. White, Jr. Esq., Editor of the Review; H. T. Strickland, Esq., merchant, Peterboro', and over one hundred others.

☞ Teeth extracted for those not able to pay, daily from 9 to 10 a. m., free of charge. 16

W. PHILP,

TEACHER OF MUSIC,

Residence, near the Union School.

BEG respectfully to announce to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, that, he is prepared to give Lessons on the Piano and Violin, &c., either in his own house or at the residence of the Pupils.

For Terms apply personally, or at Messrs. Cox & Davidson's Book Store, Simcoe Street, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.

Music for Balls and Evening Parties by Philp's Quadrille Band, on reasonable terms.

Peterboro', Oct. 28th, 1863. 44

NORTH AMERICAN HOTEL,

LAKEFIELD, C. W.

THE subscriber having leased the above Hotel, lately occupied by Mr. W Blakely, begs to state that he has had it completely refitted and refurnished, and being now entirely complete in all its appartments, is now open for the reception of the travelling public.

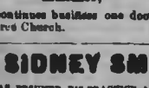
The house is commodious, and neither pains nor expense will be spared to make it one of the best in any village in the Province.

The Bar will always be supplied with the choicest Liquors and Cigars.

Good Stabling.

THOMAS HEWITT.

Lakefield, Oct. 19, 1864. 42



TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN!

COUNTY AUCTIONEER!!

THE Subscriber is now prepared to attend to all kinds of sales, with promptness and dispatch as Auctioneer. Addres

CORNELIUS WILSON,

Norwood, P. O.,

Asphodel.

Norwood, Sept. 5th, 1864. 36

A LIBERAL OFFER.

A Complete set of Text and Blank Books for the entire Commercial Course, (Cash price, Seven Dollars) will be presented to each Student purchasing a Scholarship in

THE LONDON

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

BEFORE

The First Day of April Next.

Price of Scholarship for Gents $30 in advance.

Price of Scholarship for Ladies $20 in advance.

Students entering within said time, will be allowed the advantages of our Club Rates, the same as others

THIS IS THE

OLDEST COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

IN THE PROVINCE!!

And our facilities for imparting practical knowledge, by means of actual transactions are unsurpassed. In addition to the regular Commercial Branches, everything is taught without extra charge, which is requisite for obtaining a First Class Certificate for teaching common school. Drawing and Painting and Telegraphing also taught.

Good board can be obtained in private families for Two Dollars per week.

For circular containing full particulars address post paid,

J. W. JONES,

Principal London Commercial College,

London, C. W.

REMOVAL.

E. POOLE'S

Furniture Ware Rooms

HAVE BEEN REMOVED

TO RYAN'S BLOCK,

Opposite the Market.

WHERE he will keep on hand the most extensive, best selected, cheapest and latest styles of Furniture, which he will sell Cheap for Cash.

UNDERTAKING,

In all its branches attended to with punctuality. COFFINS kept constantly on hand.

Peterborough, Nov. 30th, 1864. 48

STOVES

AND

TIN-WARE.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS.

A. STEWART

Is now prepared to supply all kinds of

COOKING, BOX, AND PARLOR STOVES,

At Greatly Reduced Prices.

He keeps constantly on hand the following first class Stoves:—

St. LAWRENCE, square and extended tops.
CANADA, do. do.
QUEEN CITY, do. do.
IRON DUKE, do. do.
PROTECTIONIST.
MAPLE LEAF, &c., &c.

PARLOR STOVES

Too numerous to mention.

☞ Let all cash buyers call and examine his stock and prices, as he is determined to be undersold by none.

A. STEWART.

N. B.—Eave Troughs, Cistern Pumps, Beer Pumps, Bell-hanging, Lumbermen's Furnishings, and Jobbing of every description.

A. S.

Peterborough, Nov. 16, 1864. 46

CARD PICTURES

Two for a Dollar!

FRAMING CHEAP

Likenesses of deceased persons enlarged from Ambrotypes and colored in oil.

Ambrotypes from 50 Cents,

AT THE

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery,

HUNTER STREET.

R. D. EWING.

Peterboro, March 1, 1865. 9

REMOVAL.

J. O'DONNELL, D. S.,

HAS REMOVED his Dental Office to the beautiful Corner Rooms

Over Ormond & Gilmour's Drug Store,

☞ Entrance on Hunter Street—same as Mr. Ewing's Photographic Rooms.

Particular attention paid to Facial Neuralgia, diseases of the Antrum, Necrosis and Caries of the Jaw, and all diseases in connection with the anatomy of the mouth.

☞ Teeth Extracted without Pain.

Peterborough, Dec. 14th, 1864. 50

MR. ORDE has removed his office to Chambers' Building, opposite the Commercial Bank.

Money, in sums varying from $200 to $3000, to a large aggregate amount, ready to be advanced on the security of "Improved Farms" and no other, with reference whereunto, to obviate unnecessary correspondence and postal charges, the personal application of intending mortgagors will only be entertained.

Mr. Orde has likewise entered into business arrangements with John C. T. Cochrane, Esq., general Land and Parliamentary Agent, of Quebec (or wherever the Seat of Government may happen to be), a gentleman of eighteen years' experience, and large practice in transactions relating to Patent and other Claims in the Crown Lands Department.

Peterborough, Dec. 6, 1864.

REMOVAL.

MRS. TODGHAM,

STRAW MILLINER,

BEGS to inform her Friends and Customers that she has removed from George Street, her late place of business, to Hunter Street, in the house West of the old Union School-house, where all orders will be executed in the best style, and on the same reasonable terms as heretofore.

Felt Hats Cleaned and Altered.

Peterboro, December 1, 1864. 48

PRIMARY SCHOOL.

MISS. I. RUTHERFORD

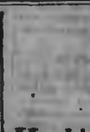
WILL COMMENCE A PRIMARY SCHOOL,

In the School Room Adjoining the Wesleyan Church,

On MONDAY the 30th instant.

TERMS, 25 cents per month.

Peterborough, Jan. 19th, 1865.



Hopkins & Donnelly

WOULD respectfully call the attention of the public generally to their excellent Stock of Goods, comprising every thing found in a first-class Saddlery and Harness Warehouse, and surpassed by none in the Province.

As they have adopted the Ready Pay system, everything will be sold at

GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

In Peterborough, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe street; in Lakefield, next door to Mr. Sharon's store.

P. S.—Overdues noted and accounts must positively be settled at once, otherwise they will be put in suit for collection.

H. & D.

Peterboro, Feb. 1, 1865. 6

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

OF CANADA.

From Niagara Falls to Detroit,

AND BRANCHES FROM HAMILTON TO TORONTO.

Passenger Train Time Table.

OCTOBER, 1864.

TORONTO LINE.

HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

STATIONS GOING EAST.	Mixed.	Express.
	A. M.	P. M.
HAMILTON.....depart	7.45	2.55
Burlington Junction.....	.....	.....
Waterdown.....	8.30	.....
Wellington Square.....	8.15	4.10
Bronte.....	9.07	4.57
Oakville.....		4.30
Port Credit.....
Mimico.....
TORONTO, Union station, arrive	10.30	5.30

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

STATIONS GOING WEST.	Express.	Mixed
	P. M.	P. M.
TORONTO, Union Station, depart.	12.30	5.30
Mimico.....	.....	6.00
Port Credit.....	1.3	6.30
Oakville.....	1.4	6.44
Bronte.....	1.27	6.57
Wellington Square.....	1.17	7.10
Waterdown.....		7.30
Burlington Junction.....
HAMILTON.....	2.30	8.00
Hamilton, 1864.		47

MONTREAL

OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.

TICKETS

FOR

Londonderry, Glasgow or Liverpool.

or from any of these ports to any point in Canada, may be procured from the Agent in Peterborough,

GEORGE A. COX,

at the MONTREAL TELEGRAPH OFFICE.

He is also agent for the

BRITISH AND AMERICAN

Express Comp'y

OFFICE, HOPKINS' BLOCK.

Simcoe Street, Peterboro', October 26th, 1863. 44-tf

Norwood and Peterboro'

STAGE.

ACCOMMODATION LINE.

LEAVES NORWOOD

On Tuesday's and Friday's,

AT 7 A. M. RETURNING

LEAVES PETERBORO' THE SAME DAYS,

AT 2.30 P. M.

Orders left at the Huffman House, Peterboro, or the International Hotel, Norwood; will be promptly attended to.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates.

J. A. JOHNSON,

Proprietor.

Norwood, August 19, 1863. 34

ROYAL

MAIL STAGE

BETWEEN

KEENE & PETERBORO'.

A DAILY STAGE

Leaves the Victoria House, Keene.. 9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro'.....12 noon.
Leave Peterboro'.....2 p. m.
Arrive at Keene.....5.30 p. m.
April 17th, 1863. (tf)

PORT HOPE & PETERBOROUGH

RAILWAY.

ON and after the 26th of June, the Peterboro Trains will run as follows:—

MAIL.

Leave Port Hope at.....9.55 a.m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at.....12.15 p.m.
Leave Peterboro at.....3.30 p.m.
Arrive at Port Hope.....5.55 p.m.

R. R. KIMBALL, Superintendent. F. FERGUSON, Secretary.

Peterboro June, 1864. 26

Poetry.

I AM BLIND.

I can hear the birdies singing,
Earth and air with music ringing;
I can feel the fatal breeze
Softly moving through the trees,
And I feel the sun's warm heat
Rising upon my burning cheek.
And I know the coming wind.
But I cannot see—I'm blind.

Sister, oft I hear you say
"'Tis a very pleasant day;
And the lark and linnet sings
On the tree-top and their wings
Soon they spread, and far away,
'Out of sight' they go, you say."
And you never seem to mind
When you're speaking—that I'm blind.

And you'll talk of pretty flowers,
And of deeply shaded bowers,
And you say the sky is blue,
And bluer seems the rainbow's hue
And the clouds were bright and gay;
And bespeak a pleasant day;
And to murmur I'm inclined
When you're speaking—for I'm blind.

Sis, do those go to Heaven
To whom light here is never given?
Yes, my brother, I would meet
Them at last at Jesus' feet;
Joyfully we there will raise
A never ending song of praise.
Ah! light of earth, I will not mind
If I in Heaven shall not be blind.

If, sister, we shall never meet
Each other at the Saviour's seat,
I there will love to see and know
Those best whom on thy brow;
And I would view the Saviour there,
He to whom I gave my prayer;
O joy for me! if ere I find
The way to Heaven was being blind.

Literature.

FREAKS OF FORTUNE

BY W. O. EATON.

Jasper Erling was a plain farmer in easy circumstances, made the more easy since the death of his wife, from the silence of her restless, loved, and fretful tongue; and yet the less easy from the absence of that energy and shrewdness that once had wielded it and managed the affairs of the household and the farm with good and substantial results.

At the time of her death Mrs. Erling left her husband the sole possessor of a well cultivated farm, about ten thousand dollars in the bank, and three sons, aged respectively thirteen, eight and two; Louis, Alfred and Oscar. Nearly eight years had now elapsed and the worldly possessions of Mr. Erling had not increased. What little energy he had before the death of his wife, seemed to have departed with her, and the farm had been neglected; while the elder boys had been indulged in idleness so that they knew little more about farming than if they had been raised in the city. In fact, Louis, near his majority, and Alfred, about sixteen, had conceived a contempt for the business of agriculture, as being a dirty, monotonous drudgery, and hoped their father would appoint them to some different sphere of life. Both were ambitious for the city and weary of the old homestead.

One day their father called his three sons together and thus addressed them;

"My sons, I am in declining health. I know not how soon I may be consigned to the grave; and as Louis is to day twenty one, I am about to fulfil an intention I have long entertained, of parting my property between you on this day; and that no jealousy may be felt between you, you are to decide, by drawing lots what your portion shall be; one is to draw the farm and the other two will share the funds in the bank, with this condition that whoever shall receive the homestead, shall never part with it but live upon and improve it; always remembering that his parents were not too proud to till the soil, and dwell amid the blessings it afforded them."

The lots were now drawn, and much to his disappointment Alfred drew the farm, to be his when he should come of age.

Elated with his good fortune, Louis repaired to the neighboring city, and with his share of the capital, soon engaged in trade and still continuing to reside at the old homestead.

This added much to the discontent of Alfred. He entertained little love for his elder brother, who had in earlier days delighted to tease his high temper, mar his pastimes and domineer over him, and whose greater age made him a counselor with his father, and thus excited the jealousy of his younger brother, and made him the more receptive at the prospect before him, and the continued presence of a brother, who, he thought, would now look down more scornfully than ever on him.

"I see how it is," he passionately complained to his father. "You always prefer him to me, and I had no reason to expect better luck than to draw the farm; which I hate and long to leave. But I will not take it when it becomes mine. I will never become a slave to an employment I despise and to forever cheated of by Louis, while he prospers in his pride as a merchant. Neither will I remain at home if he stays here. He has got his money; why don't he go, and not continue to aggravate me with his high-gentlemanly airs? He only partook in remaining here to annoy me."

Mr. Erling remonstrated, but Alfred's bitterness increased, the more he brooded over what he considered his calamity; and he rashly resolved to abandon the paternal roof and seek his fortune elsewhere.

To this desperate move he was especially spurred by another consideration. The estate of a gentleman named Proudfit adjoined that of the Erling's. The Proudfit's had very aristocratic notions, and had declared that their only daughter, Jessie, who was of about the age of Alfred, should never marry anybody but a gentleman, by which they meant that he must be something better than a mere farmer, and stand as high in society as a city storekeeper, able to wear fine clothes all the time in some closet "business, with people to wait for him. Mr Proudfit was himself a farmer, but he took care to have it understood that he was a "gentleman-farmer," and had never swung a sythe or handled a hoe. Alfred had become deeply attached to Jessie; and now that he had deserted himself by lot to be a farmer, he felt that he must now give up all hopes of being "gentleman enough for Jessie."

"I had heard of better things," he grieved. "But Jessie is herself proud, and she too, will scorn me. I have lost her, I am lost myself."

Packing up a few things he secretly left a note concerning all his greenbacks, and, repairing to the city, shipped before the mast for a three-years' whaling voyage; careless, in his maligned rage and grief, if he never returned from the wilderness of waters, where he had ample chance to wail and blubber at his leisure, and help swell the briny ocean with his tears.

It might have given the wayward lad some comfort in his miseries of sea-sickness, sea-fare, finding his sea-legs, climbing perilous rigging and handling tarred ropes, if he had known how much grief he had caused and left behind him.

His father, whose love he doubted, was inconsolable for his loss. His brother whom he hated, felt more kindly to him than he had been aware of, and now sorely regretted his former conduct toward him. His youngest brother Oscar deplored the absence of his most beloved companion; and all three lamented the unhappy whim by which the property had been divided, and a son and brother perhaps sacrificed. Jessy Proudfit fell into a fever, supposed to have been caused by the departure of her unhappy lover; and when she recovered, she was for a long time as pale and thin, and mournful, that people declared she would never again be the girl she had been.

Her parents however, said that they knew better, and appeared to be very well satisfied that things had happened as they had. Louis Erling was getting along finely in business, and would make a much better match for her than Alfred; and accordingly they approved of the visits of Jessy to their neighbor's house, whither she daily went in anxious inquiries for news from her absent swain.

A year passed and nothing was heard from him, and some predicted he would never return; and in the meantime, the attentions paid by Louis to Jessie, being encouraged by her parents, resulted in her timid acceptance of him as a suitor although the sorrowful girl never ceased to express her sympathy for poor Alfred; and having become a partial convert to the doctrine of spiritualism, often called in the aid of mysterious tricks, to throw some light upon his fate.

Mr. and Mrs. Proudfit were much opposed to this, and besought her to leave the spirits and the outcast alone.

"What is it to you, now, whether he is dead or alive?" said they. "If he cared for you he would not have run off. You will argue his brother if you show such an interest in the scapegrace, and thus add to the folly of asking a piece of board to perform a miracle for you.

But Jessy was not to be dissuaded, and it increased her regard for Louis to find that he showed no opposition to her spiritual interviews. He seemed deeply interested in them, and on one occasion took her to the city, to the house of a star spiritualist, a Miss. Seraphine Cloudbrain, said to be a most powerful medium so favored of the spirits and so charged with mental magnetism that her hair has been known to emit phosphoric light in a dark room. Her trances were of the first class, for sight-seeing, ransacking the past, and hurrying up the future; and her super-human sagacity, only exhibited on rare occasions and expensive to her nerves, was the power of invoking and conjuring up the visible spirit of the dead or absent, and causing it, to speak to its anxious friends.

"I doubt this, myself," said Louis; but since you have so much faith, I will not ridicule the superstition; and it will do no harm to engage her to try the experiment, and see if she can really summon up the image of Alfred.

The professoress said she could, and the charge was twenty-five dollars in advance, to prove the sincerity of the applicants, before she took the trouble of getting herself into the proper mental and bodily state.

Louis promptly paid the fee, the visitors were ushered into a dark room, divided by a screen of gauze, and after they had been seated a few minutes, Miss Cloudbrain uttered an incantation, in an awful whisper; the space behind the filmy partition became dimly illuminated by degrees, and, to the amazement of Jessie, she beheld what seemed an exact counterpart of Alfred Erling, standing behind the misty veil.

The figure was considerably smaller than his, but regarding its costume's garb; and the voice, for it addressed her—was so like his that but for the difference in size she would have believed it his self.

"Fear not, Jessie," said the apparition sadly, "and do not cease to love me. I am alive, though far away and in sorrow; but I will yet return. Farewell."

The lights were suddenly withdrawn, and confessing themselves satisfied of her miraculous power, Louis and Jessie took their leave of the spirited enchantress, and went home.

The deep impression thus produced upon the mind of Jessie was very annoying to her parents, who wondered at the indiscretion of Louis much more than they did at the marvel—which, however, they were all a loss to explain; but still, as Louis confessed his own fallibility, though slowly, they had no fear that his would shed the enchantment of the spirits to get the better of his temporal interests, and beguile him of Jessie. He seemed too much of a business man for that, so much that his absorption in business was held as the reason why his suit was protracted over a space of three years. But he seemed happy enough, and Jessie did not complain.

Meanwhile, the experiences of the self-exiled sailor had been more seriously unpleasant than he had suspected, or than they often are in the life of a sailor, in the estuary of the tropics. His vessel had gone into the Pacific, but nothing there seemed to profit him. During the first year, he became quite an object seller, and studied with that concern that he had been taken home, tested ship-work by different whalers, which had been deliberately trained to distrusted a change of vessels, and mentioned their indignation with the stowaway. Alfred, by dissembling the brute, and growing more cowed across before-mentioned; but even his thankfulness at escaping such hints to the ship did not protect him from brow-beating his lot; for which the captain was as rude as to reprimand him for wash-on, which caused him to vomiting, and received a severe-like walking on that account.

At the close of the second year, however, he was so far restored to confidence, as to be intrusted with the helm, in a station, which enabled him to run the ship ashore, on one of the coralled islands, where all but himself were drowned or unmanned, and where he became in a short time a man of much mark, being tattooed extensively, and adopted into the family of a powerful chief, who, considering the forlorn lover too lank to eat, gave him like ty to roam about as much as he pleased, till he should become fatter.

With this fortune, after a long captivity, he one day took French leave, on board a ship which neared the island, and ultimately succeeded in bringing the boast to his native land again, thankful he had enough left, to rattle them; and yet mournful, as he was averse to a sea existence, as he moved over the results of his folly, and wondered what had become of Jessie by this time.

The joy of his long despairing father was boundless at his not the associated wreck of his repentant boy to bed; though afterward it was tempered with regret, when obliged to inform him that during his absence Jessie had become betrothed to his elder brother.

"Alas!" sighed Alfred, "I have only myself to blame for that. I was too ungrateful to you, and vindictively jealous of him. Had I been less proud and impatient, all might have been well, and I spared all my sufferings, and my shame to this reappear to you, like a tattooed skeleton or a ragabond mourning.

"Blow God for life," said his father, "and perhaps love will come in time."

Later in the day, when Louis and Oscar came home, an affecting reconciliation occurred between the two elder brothers, while Oscar was dispatched to entertain Jessie with the news.

"Is she far from being your enemy," said Louis, "feeling sure that you would yet return, my attentions were paid to Jessie Erling for the sole purpose of preventing her from accepting a husband elsewhere."

But before Alfred could entirely believe this plausible statement, he needed its confirmation by Jessie herself, who, on her arrival at the bedside, gave him intense satisfaction by assuring him that Louis had been so cold a lover, that she had often been tempted to discard him and bask for a gentleman elsewhere.

"A gentleman," repeated Alfred. "Ah! that's it. Your parents will never allow you to marry any one but a gentleman; and whatever I might have been, if I had'nt been tattooed they certainly will not debar me as one now. I should forgive you if you did not love me. My visage is so scarred as the top-crust of a fancy pie, Jessie; and that puts an altogether different face upon the matter."

Jessie wept at this, partly in pity for the disfiguration, and partly over the prejudice of her parents, which she felt would be now increased by it.

"We shall have to get up another vision, at Miss Cloudbrain's," at last said Louis, laughing, and see if we can't delliet your father's superstition in behalf of Alfred."

"I am ready to perform my part again," said Oscar, clapping his hands.

As the two lovers were much puzzled at this, Louis now explained that Oscar had been the hero of the first prophetic vision; and that, if Jessie could prevail upon her father to attend, a new vision on the same plan might produce a good effect on his unyielding mind, the return of Alfred being kept a secret meantime.

Jessie succeeded in inducing Mr. Proudfit to go, promising to convert him to spiritualism; and there, to his amazement, the living likeness of the sailor-brother appeared and prophesied:

"Be of good cheer, dear Jessie! I shall be at home to-morrow. Prevail upon your father to accept me as his son-in-law; and to believe that Heaven, thus attesting me to consent and prophesy, is upon my side and is bound to prosper me. Tell him that then befriended I shall be equal to a gentleman, and when I take you for better or for worse, I shall prove much better than I look."

"It is astonishing!" was the verdict of Mr. Proudfit, as the parties left; "and it would be more astonishing if it turned out true."

On the following day, he was astonished sadly to the house of Mr. Erling, to see Alfred himself, reported just arrived.

"And this is amazing!" exclaimed he, as he took the hand of Alfred, and looked smilingly around upon the inquiring faces "And it will be the more amazing to you when I inform you that I felt sure the prophecy would be true, as I recognized Oscar as a fine young family-medium yesterday. He was a capital limner, barring the odors."

"Then we are detected!" sighed Jessie, blushing her least, "and there is no help for it."

"Not of a spiritual nature," replied Mr. Proudfit. "The only remedy for you two lovers, that I can see, is of a bodily not a spiritual character. Let Alfred get some flesh upon his ribs, and say he will henceforth plow his farm instead of the sea, for a living, and I don't care how soon he makes a wife of Jessie—and a lady to himself. I believe that my foolish prejudice almost made one of us; and the more readily consent to what seems the wish of all, since it will transmit the remains of a family of whose nightmares I have heard the dreadful stories."

Under the inspiration of this happy promise, Alfred soon grew fat enough to be married; and the gallant joy of the household which astounded the gay street, has kept him in fresh rosy cheek.

Something about Dreams.

The study indicated by dreams, that is after the wise fashion. We dare not believe that one can tell from dreams what is to happen. Strange stories are told of things occurring after certain dreams, but nobody knows what the stories amount amid after the event came to pass, so that the dreamer was no wiser than the people. Any one who should try to do business by following his dreams, would often have an enemy to defame about. Of course we do not refer to the visions which the prophets had in olden times, but to the ordinary dreams which everybody has. Our belief in dreams is, that pleasant ones are very desirable, that they restore and recreate the mind during the hours of study. The poorest man may enjoy unbounded wealth for eight hours out of the twenty four, if he is a good dreamer, and all things which the heart can desire may come without an effort. Then at least one third of life may bring pleasure, and this is as large a portion of enjoyment as most men have.

A heavy meal shortly before retiring, very great anxiety, too heavy grade of bedclothes; or whatever disturbs body or mind during sleep, will often bring torment to the dreamer. He will be disturbed by wild beasts, or fall from precipices, or be drawn a leg, or in some other terrible shape. Pleasant dreams usually attend sound health, a proper mode of life and a quiet conscience all of which will add to happiness by day as well as at night. The most important dreams come when people are wide awake. Columbus dreamed in this way; that there was a Western world, and then he went to work to find it. Jefferson Davis and others dreamed that they could have greater power in a Southern Confederacy, and they are endeavoring to make it come true. Thousands of boys and girls, men and women, are every day dreaming of becoming rich or famous, but, they do not go to work to bring it about, and on their dreams only make themselves discontented. Here then are three things to be constantly had, day dreams are useful if they are to good purposes. 2nd, bad dreams can, and should be disbelieved; and 3rd, to accomplish anything, dreaming must be followed by doing.

Only a Symptom.

"Talent, sister! you are too bigoted in your ideas. I don't believe that a man will be punished forever for swearing now and then, or for doing what he pleases on Sunday; nay there time that going to church and subscribing to missionary and Bible societies will take him to Heaven."

"Brother; what made you say that you thought that Lewis Elmer would not live long because he had those rusted red spots upon his cheeks every afternoon? Had quite spots the least connect till him, I suppose."

"Why, how you talk, Annie! Those hectic spots would, of course, be trifling in themselves, but what makes them important is, that they are the symptoms of a fatal disease."

"Well, brother, that is just what gifted importance to swearing, Sabbath breaking and such practices. They are the symptoms of a heart that does not love and reverence his Maker as it should; and it is not more impossible that the symptoms of disease should appear in a perfect healthy body, than that such habits as these can be indulged in by a man who realizes the goodness and holiness of God. Is it not by the fruits of the tree that we are to know its nature? And now, to illustrate my opinion in regard to the last part of your remark concerning church going, etc.; but see not you a couple of other questions. If a poor man meets you in the street and asks for some assistance, will it do him any good for you to merely put your hand into your pocket, and let it remain there?"

"Why, of course not."

"But yet, if you were going to give him something, you would put your hand into your pocket, I suppose?"

"I should think so; but what of all that?"

"Only this, brother: The movement of your hand is the sign of what you mean to do, but whether it is a sincere movement or not must be proved by the result. This I apply to church-going and so forth. These things are merely the outward signs of love to God, and a wish to join in praising him. They are actions which if supported may perform, but which is not at all likely that a Christian will neglect; and the difference between the true and counterfeit may easily be known by their results. In God's sight the motive is as plainly visible as the action but we mortals, brother, are only judge of characters as we do of disease—by their symptoms.—Christian Intelligencer.

A PERTINENT ANSWER.—Old Prof. Smith was one of the instructors of Dartmouth College years ago, and was noted about as blunt and straight-forward a specimen of humanity as ever walked, being considered a little crabbed by intimates. One day, in early summer, in the taking his usual stroll about the village, keeping his "eye out" for any "fun" student who might be "off duty," when he met Mr. Page, a sturdy farmer from East Hampton, with a load of wood, trudging along the road barefooted; but he was a fine representative of Nature's nobleman.

"Hallo, Mr Page," grow'l the Professor, "I should like to know if all the people of Hanover go barefoot."

"Part on 'em do and the rest on 'em mind their own business" was the rather nettling reply.

The greatest pleasure connected with wealth consists in acquiring it. Two months after a rich donee into a fortune, he feels just as proud and fretful as he did when he worked for six shillings a day.

Those that wish to effect Insurance should call on the undersigned, who devotes the whole of his time to Insurance, and represents some of the best English and Canadian Offices.

J. R. WALTON.

AUCTION SALES.

FARM STOCK, IMPLEMENTS, &c.,—At the residence of D. Wood, Lot 11, first Con. of South Monaghan, on Friday, 7th April, at ten o'clock. Jas. Rollins, Auctioneer.

FARM STOCK, IMPLEMENTS, FURNITURE, &c.,—At the residence of John Barnard, Esq., Lot 9, second Con. of South Monaghan, on Friday, 14th April, at ten o'clock a. m. A. McNeil, Auctioneer.

FARM STOCK, IMPLEMENTS, &c.,—At the residence of E. Bunham, Mather's Corner, near Keene, Lot 13, 9 Con. of Otonabee, on Monday, April 17th at eleven o'clock, a. m. A. McNeil, Auctioneer.

FARM STOCK, IMPLEMENTS, &c.—At the residence of Wm. Hopkins, Lot 5 6th Con. of South Monaghan, on Wednesday, April 12th at eleven o'clock. a. m. A. McNeil, Auctioneer.

FURNITURE &c.—A. McNeil's Sale of Furniture takes place on the Market Square on Saturday next.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Prince of Wales Orange Lodge—John Smith.
Notice—Zacharia Cole.
Dissolution of Partnership—Fairbairn & Dumble.
Barrister, &c.—Mr. T. M. Fairbairn.
Steamboat Notice—"Rochester."
Masonic.—J. M. Burns.
Glasgow Warehouse,—John Erskine.
Dissolution of Partnership.—Millar & Bertram.
Notice—Melville Millar.
Insolvent Act of 1864—R. Howden.
Insolvent Act of 1864—John Sim.
A Word to Young Men—J. W. Jones.
Court of Revision—James Stratton.
Notice to Farmers—Henry Calcutt.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, APRIL 6, 1865.

THE FINANCES OF THE TOWN.

It is needless for us to state that the Town of Peterborough stands number one in regard to its credit, and also in regard to moderate liabilities.

The Town of Dundas has had to increase its rates yearly since 1858, so that from 14 cents on the dollar then, it has increased to 30 cents in 1864. Guelph in 1858 levied 15 cents on the dollar; in 1864 15¾.

Cobourg has had to increase its rate from 17½ cents in 1861, to 25 cents in 1864.

Prescott also raises 16 cents per dollar in '64. St. Catharines, 19½ cents. City of London, 20 cents. Brockville, 19½ cents. Peterboro, 14 cents. From the Parliamentary Report of the Municipal Loan Funds, for 1864, the following towns only appear to have realized anything for their indebtedness. Peterborough realizes in securities or cash $30,000; Stratford, $38,000; Brantford, $360,000; Niagara, $47,000; Port Hope, $40,000. Thus showing that Peterborough has not invested its indebtedness in a useless manner. And from comparison of debts and sums secured it will be seen that Peterborough has realized in cash and securities eight-tenths of the outlay; while the others have as yet not realized more than from one-tenth to one-half,—so much for Peterborough compared with other Towns.

Now supposing the following expenditures for 1865, which are based in some degree on the necessary expenses of 1864, they will give a very near approximation to the expenses necessary to be provided for 1865, according to Auditors' Report:

To meet interest and sinking Fund	$5,844 00
The deficit of 1864	1,916 11
For School purposes	2,200 00
For M. L. F	4,250 00
Salaries	1,843 00
Law expenses	150 00
Charities, suppose	350 00
Fire Department	150 00
Streets and Bridges	1,000 00
Assessments (to County)	950 00
Police Court	160 00
Miscellaneous	500 00
	$19,303 11

RECEIPTS FOR SAME PERIOD:

Cash on hand	$680 00
From Market	300 00
Police Court	200 00
School Fund, Gov. Grant	340 00
License (less than last year)	1800 00
Railroad	5784 00
Miscellaneous	100 00
Total	$9,304 00

Leaving about $10,000 to be provided for by direct tax, and supposing the assessed value the same as last year, the annual value would be the same, $95,000. It will be seen that 15 cents on the dollar will raise about $10,644.00. Hence with economy a greater sum on the dollar than last year need not be raised.

And the only item we propose to lessen is the Street and Bridge outlay. Last year it was $3993,33, this year not more than one fourth that sum need be expended.

Much has been said about the expenses under this head, last year, and certain ideas are endeavoured to be set afloat on the matter. The only matter worthy of fault-finding must be charged in a great degree to the Street and Bridge Committee, in a secondary degree to the Finance Committee. The parties who furnished materials may or may not be guilty in the matter but as it not according to English Law—to hold every one innocent until proved guilty? The Street and Bridge Committee should have seen that all was right, both in regard to quality and quantity, and if they did not—and cannot testify thereto,—there is where liability lies. If they could not, some person should have been appointed to see after the matter. When the matter is settled, it is almost certain to raise a cry of mismanagement, and especially when nothing definite can be set forth. Let the errors of the past (if any) be a lesson for the future. We can assure our citizens however that we merely put public without proper reflection.

ST. ALBAN'S RAIDERS.—It is expected the raiders will be discharged by Judge Smith, perhaps in a day or so, when they will be rearrested on warrants from Toronto for breach of Neutrality Law. It is reported that the military in Montreal are under arms.

The Review—The Finances and our Charges.

Last week we exposed the ambiguous way in which the Review deals with figures in relation to its Tools, Printing.

The Finance Committee has taken our figures, which will expired exactly from papers in the Clerk's Office, and consequently have confirmed the decision awarding to us the printing upon the simple principle that our tender was the lowest. We convicted the Review of making false calculations, and that intentionally, as all the tokens of making correct ones were within his power. We also showed that in the matter of the Finances of the Town there was the same reckless indifference to truth without the evident object of the Review being to obscure rather than explain. The last insinuation is simple that money has been paid away without vouchers, and supposing the Auditors to be so foolish as the writer, a call is made on them to state whether this has been done or not. Thus trying to make it appear that certain officials are wasting the money without authority, all of which is entirely without the shadow of a foundation unless in the disordered mind of the Review. We further proved that the writer of the memorial, as well as in the Review did not understand what he was writing about—that his arithmetic and grammar were sadly deficient, and that every statement he made was untrue, to all this he answers, it is "billingsgate," Instead of going to work and showing that we were wrong, he shuffles out of it as meanly as he commenced, though perhaps not so cunningly. We wish the Review would take time to show us how $22,97 becomes nine tenths of $58,34, and how $111,85, equals $342,10; when he does he will convince us that he understands at least addition, which at present we doubt. To tell the Review that all his twaddle about collusion was a freak of a disordered cerebrum is "billingsgate," yet to-day's report of the Council proves that he had to acknowledge that his charges were without foundation, but it is abuse to let the public know the truth. It's throwing mud to warn the people that the mind of the Review is under such unhallowed influence that the truth cannot be expected from it.

But the richest piece of logic we have read is in last week's issue of that paper. Here it is:—"When a man will condescend to the use of bad grammar and billingsgate on such a question, what can be expected of his arithmetic"? O shade of Whatley! The principles of arithmetic depend on the rules of grammar, therefore 2 and 2 are 4, for the verb must agree with its nomination in number and person! What a sequence! May we not reasonably ask, when logic so runs mad, what may be expected of the author of such a logical sequence? gone with it; and yet had he time he could prove himself correct. We expected we had a contemporary possessing respect for fairness, truth and candor, we have been undeceived, in future we shall understand our position and touch not the unclean thing.

THE ST. ALBAN'S RAIDERS.

Mr. Justice Smith of the Superior Court of Montreal has given judgment in the case of the Raiders, and in doing so has declared that they are not amenable to extradition under the charge that has been preferred against them, other charges however are still pending and the prisoners are still retained to be tried under them. No doubt however remains but that he will decide favourably to the prisoners in the matter of the other charges.

Justice Smith has considered the prisoners as Confederate soldiers, and as such are not responsible for their acts, consequently, in the murder that was no doubt perpetrated by them. The Judges of Upper Canada gave a different decision in the case of Burley, hence his extradition, but perhaps there are features in the St. Albans raiders' case that materially differ from that of Burley, and which have induced Judge Smith to arrive at the conclusion he has arrived at. Judge Smith does not consider the raiders guiltless, only that they are not amenable to Municipal Law—the act they perpetrated being a violation of national Law. There can however be no doubt of the guilt of the prisoners, but it appears that the treaty did not anticipate the extradition of those who should be considered political refugees. What the effect of this decision will have upon the American mind remains yet to be seen. There cannot be any reason for overt acts towards us because one of our Judges in what he believes to be the conscientious discharge of his duty, sees fit to exculpate the prisoners. The Government is doing all that it can reasonably be expected it should do. Every effort is put forth to prevent any further raids, and a stringent law is enacted by which a check will be put to planning any further acts of robbery or war against the American people. Our Government should not be blamed for the act of one of our Judges, nor should our Judges in any way be intimidated by any influence, so as to induce them to give judgment to suit either our own Government or people, or the people of the United States, at the cost of violated conventions convictions or contrary to what they consider according the strictest letter of the law, whether Municipal or national.

WAR NEWS.

RICHMOND AT LENGTH HAS FALLEN.

During the last week there has been heavy fighting at Petersburgh and Richmond. Lee has been compelled to evacuate the city, and the Federal forces have occupied it. The city is said to be in flames, but no reliable information has yet reached us of the losses, which must have been fearful on both sides. It is certain if Grant took Petersburgh by fighting, the loss must be immense, notwithstanding the advantage of superior numbers which undoubtedly he possessed. It is not known where Lee is directing his course, conjectures on the subject are really useless. A few days will reveal the result of these victories which must prove fatal to the cause of the South. Lee and Johnston striking way prolong the contest a little, but can numb they must to the superior forces of the North. Enough of blood must now be spilt to explate the crime of slavery. We trust both North and South will see this and cause a war that can only end in destruction to the South, and permit heavy taxes on the North to cease. Sherman has not been heard of during this struggle, but it is altogether likely that he was marching and some of the concerted plans of a general engagement. Some are inclined to think that Lee took the initiative, and commenced the attack which proved unsuccessful, who commenced is of trifling importance, the result is glory to the North—destruction to Secession.

DUNKIN'S BILL IN CANADA.

Some few days ago we stated, that Thursday we were appointed to be days of humiliation, or it was said. All the while however plans were being matured for punishing the guilty parties. At length a number of dealers have been brought up or are just about to be, and a determination to have the law respected is now evinced. This is just as it should be, either carry out the law or repeal it. It was the cry of its opponents that it would be a dead letter, and hence the uselessness of passing it. They also asserted that if they believed that it would be enforced they would support it. Let them not offer opposition now to those who would hurry out fish which they themselves acknowledged necessary. Some disgraceful acts have been enacted in Millbrook because of the efforts to suppress the liquor traffic, such as cellar burning. Such acts only render the object of their scorn the more illustrious, they may injure the good name of parties who engage in such uncalled for deeds. If the law is obnoxious to the people let lawful means be used to have it repealed.

A SECOND ATTEMPT AT ARSON.

On Sabbath, about 8 p. m. The store at present occupied by A. Graham & Co. George Street was seen to be on fire. Alarm was given, but before the firemen arrived those present had extinguished the flames with a few pails of water, the fire had not got to much head. This was evidently the work of an incendiary. A room over the store had been entered, and there were evident traces of attempts to set fire to the walls, as the plaster was pulled off for that purpose. A tarred sail and bed in the room also were fired in the inside. The diabolical act did not succeed however. They succeeded in securing Mr. Graham's cash box containing about $50, this is about all they got. A person named Phillip —— was brought before the Mayor on Monday, but there was not evidence enough to convict him. It is to be hoped that some of those cowards who have been attempting to commit such dastardly outrages will be secured and made to suffer, as a warning to others. The perpetrators evidently set fire to the place with the intent of getting an opportunity of stealing.

Godey's Lady's Book for April is now before us. This number is equal if not superior to any of the former numbers of the Lady's Book. This is enough to recommend it: Every Lady should subscribe for it. The contents of the present number are:—The Recognition—a fine engraving, and the usual Colored Fashion-Plate, containing five figures. The other novelties of the month are a Spring Robe, from the Parisian establishment of Messrs A. T. Stewart & Co; Other Spring Dresses; Coiffures; Latest Style of Bonnets; Child's Spring Dress; The Heidmone Waist, back and front view; Artificial Hair Ornaments; Braces for Gents; Designs for various fancy works; Embroidery Patterns; Flower-Vase Mat; Patch-Work Basket, something new; Drawing Lessons and Model Cottages, with plans. The First of April illustrated; with the sum of amount of interesting reading.

TRAGEDY AT NIAGARA FALLS.—The Rochester Union says:—"A gentleman from Niagara Falls informs us that a tragedy occurred in that village on Monday last. A woman about twenty five years of age, went to the bridge connecting Goat Island with the American Shore, and threw herself into the water. She was instantly borne through the rapids and over the American Fall. The causes are supposed to be the unhappy state of her domestic affair."

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS.—We especially invite the attention of those Farmers who intend to make a trial of flax growing, to Mr. Calcutt's Advertisement. He has met the great difficulty by providing seed for intending purchasers, and then promises to purchase the produce at prices remunerative to the grower.

We invite the attention of our readers to the Card of Mr. Millar, Hardware Merchant. The Co partnership of Messrs Millar and Bertram has been dissolved by mutual consent. The business however in all its branches will still be continued by Mr. Millar. For particulars see his Advertisement.

Emigration to the United States appears to open brickly this spring. The early arrivals from Ireland, &c., indicate a very large movement through the present season. The steamers Virginia and City of Manchester arrived last night and this morning with about 4100 emigrant passengers.—N. Y. Times 29th ultimo.

The Journal De Quebec says:—"A telegram from New Brunswick says that the elections there are over. Twenty-eight anti-federal members and thirteen Confederates have been elected. The whole vote polled gives less than 16,000 anti-federal votes, and 15,300 in favor of Confederation, the parties being thus about equal."

We are requested to state that a meeting of the new Hook and Ladder and Bucket Company will be held on Monday evening, next at 8 o'clock, in the Fireman's Hall for the purpose of appointing their Officer's and organizing the Company, when all interested are requested to attend.

PERSONAL.—The Hon. John A. Macdonald in crossing the ice on the 29th ultimo, to catch the train at Point Levi, had a very narrow escape from drowning. The sleigh in which he was crossing broke through the ice, and was with some difficulty extricated.

A fearful conflagration occurred at Port au Prince, Hayti, on the 28th ult. The fire started in a Theatre, just previous to an evening performance, reducing the building to ashes, and spreading on all sides until four hundred houses were burned.

Mr. Joseph Graham, has been gazetted agent for the settlement of Bobcaygeon Road, and for the sales of crown Lands in Victoria and Peterborough Counties, in the place of George Boswell, Esq. deceased.

The quantity of tea imported into the United Kingdom during the first six months of 1864, amounted to, in round numbers, 67½ million pounds.

In the first six months of last year the duties collected in Montreal amounted to $1,890,000; the expense of collecting which was $33,839.

LATEST.—Grant has taken 20,000 prisoners in the late battles.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Monday, April 3rd 1865.

Present: His Worship the Mayor, and Messrs. Perrizo, Chambers, Leonard, Thompson, Wilkie, McNaughton, Stevenson, Crandell Williams, Chamberlain, Toole and Helm.

The minutes of former meetings were read and confirmed.

A communication from Mr. John O'Donnell, Secretary of the Fire Company was read, asking the council to refund the Company the price of a Fire bell for the engine and three water proof coats. Also a communication from Alex. Stewart and 58 others, stating that if the Council would provide hooks and ladders, they would form themselves into a Hook and Ladder Company. Both communications were referred to a special committee.

A communication from E. Robertson, was read, complaining of the inconveniences upon Bethune street, by piling lumber thereon, it was referred to the Mayor for redress.

A petition was read from Mr. W. B. Ward complaining of having been fined in the Police Court, in the sum of $40, for selling beer without license, as he was going out of business, and asking for a remission of the fine.

A communication from Ivan O'Beirne, Secretary of the Commissioners of the Town Trust, asking the Council for the money due them, was read and referred to the committee on finance.

A petition from Samuel Dickson and Maurice Eanlon, asking for amalteration in the building by-law, to enable them to erect a brick building on lot No. 2 South of Hunter Street, and west of George Street one story in height. The petition was received.

The following is a return laid on the table, of the Licenses issued and the sums paid:—

TAVERNS.		SHOPS.
Samuel Jays	$50	James Campbell	$60
Peter Huffman	50	John Watterson	60
George Mitchell	50	Thomas Collins	60
Lewis Glover	50	Angus McDonald	60
John O'Brien	50	Edward Robinson	60
Edward Phelan	50	Paid on ac. of Shop.
Malm. McKellar	50	John Cameron	$30
Leon Caisse	50	RAISE HORSE.
Hamilton Uin	50	Patrick McKabe	$5
Patrick Maher	50	CARTS.
Paid on account of Taverns.		John Rule	$3
John Sullivan	20	William Thornton	3
John Curtain	35	James Buller	3
D. Faucher	30	Mathias Sheehy	3
		LIVERY.
		William Tierney	$8

A report of the finance Committee was submitted received, and adopted. It recommends that the account of T. G. Hazlitt for $38.29, and Andrew Jackson for $12.25 be paid.

The following is the report of special Committee on appointments to office:—

Your Special Committee selected to report on the appointment to office of the Treasurer and Clerk, and Chief Constable, beg to report as follows:—They would recommend the reappointment of Mr. James Edwards as Clerk and Treasurer, to have the same salary as last year, viz: $300. Your Committee would have recommended an increase of salary to the Clerk, from the great increase of duties to be performed from orders from the Government, your Committee took into consideration the difficulties of the times, and from that circumstance consider they are not justified to recommend an increase for this year. They also recommend the reappointment of Mr. Wm. Arnott as Chief Constable at a salary of $400. The whole of his time to be devoted to the Town, and his appointment to embrace the office of Health Officer and Inspector of Streets and Bridges, and to report to the Council any delapidations or repairs as they occur. All of which is respectfully submitted.

C. ORMOND, Chairman.

Peterboro, April 3, 1865.

The following report from the special Committee on the memorial of Mr. Romaine was recieved and adopted:

Your Special Committee appointed to report on the memorial of Robert Romaine, beg to state, on examining the memorial, they came to the conclusion that it is not couched in that courteous language which is usually adopted in addressing a body Corporate; but as Mr. Romaine apologised for anything the Memorial contained that was objectionable or offensive, to the Mayor and Clerk as well as to the Council. Your Committee then considered the complaint made by Mr. Romaine, as relates to the printing; and after examining the tenders, your Committee came to the conclusion not to alter the appointment for printing already made for the present year. All of which your Committee respectfully submit.

C. ORMOND, Chairman.

Peterboro, April 3, 1865.

Moved by Mr. Ormond, and seconded by Mr. Lawson, that the Salary of the Mayor shall be for the same amount as last year, viz., $600.

On motion of Mr. Williams, the following Fire Committee was appointed:—Messrs Chambers, Chamberlain, Toole and Williams.

A communication from Lewis Spry, calling the attention to the bad state of Stuart, Street, was referred to the committee on Streets and Bridges.

Moved by Mr. Helm and seconded by Mr. Williams, that the Mayor be requested to remit so much of the fine inflicted upon Mr. Ward as legally belongs to this Council, he paying the costs attendant thereon.

The Council then adjourned for four weeks.

ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

The Municipal Council of Ashburnham met on the 3rd instant, pursuant to adjournment.

Present, R. D. Rogers, Esq. Reeve, H. T. Strickland, W. McGregor and J. Ladgate.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

A petition from J. Simpson praying that a tavern license be granted to him, was presented and received, and the petition granted on condition of complying with the By-laws of the Municipality and the Statutes of this Province.

On application from Frederick Fisher for aid towards the support of a blind man whom he supported for 10 weeks and 3 days the Council granted him six dollars.

The Collector was authorized to continue to collect the taxes in arrears until the 20th instant.

The Court of Revision was appointed to be held on the 15th day of May.

The Council adjourned to meet again on the first Monday of May at 7 o'clock p. m.

A Steamer Burned.

FROM 550 to 600 SOULS ON BOARD, VERY FEW OF WHOM WERE SAVED.

The U. S. Steamer General Lyon, bound from Wilmington to Fortress Munroe, was consumed by fire on Friday last. Almost all on board perished. The New York Times says the fate of the General Lyon may be classed among the most disastrous calamities that have occurred at sea for years.

Of the 37,072 births in the largest Towns in Scotland, 1864, 33,438 were legitimate, and 3,634 illigitimate.

AMERICAN NEWS.

[illegible]

If the Confederate government had regained the advantages of [illegible] they might, but formerly would have [illegible] the war for years to come; [illegible] their disastrous transportation, and with a comparatively small army. But, according to the news which has recently reached the city, this condition, which began to be evident when Sherman occupied Atlanta, and which had become greatly impaired by the time that Savannah, Charleston, and Wilmington were evacuated, is, now that Sherman has marched triumphantly through the Carolinas entirely gone. The southern people, for the last two years, have hoped (against hope) that the two federate leaders and the confederate army would succeed in gaining independence for the South; and all that they have had to show them has been the successful defence of their capital. But hope is now dead within them. They have freely given their substance to the cause, as they fondly regarded it, of southern independence. They have given the fruit of their field to feed the confederate armies, and the very carpets off their floors to make blankets to keep them warm.

THE SOUTHERN PEOPLE WANT PEACE.

They have, as a last resort, given their slaves to be soldiers. They have freely given up their sons and husbands and fathers, and have sent them forth to battle with the Spartan mother's injunction. The cannals of no country, ancient or modern, can exhibit many touching instances of devotion than those which the southern people have furnished in their struggle for independence. They have failed, and they know it. No feeling of degradation attaches to this failure, for they feel that they have deserved success, if they have not been able to command it. They are anxious now for peace. But they are not in the attitude of suppliants, or of criminals. They do not supplicate mercy. They desire justice. They do not ask for pardon. They are not conscious of having been in the wrong.

INCIDENTS OF CONCILIATION—NO CHANCE OF SETTLEMENT THROUGH WAR ALONE.

(From the Louisville Journal.)

It is reasonable to believe that the southern people are worn and weary of the war, which they plainly see is fraught only with destruction to their property and to themselves. Is not this therefore, an exceedingly befitting period of the war, when, taking advantage of the numerous victories achieved by our arms, the northern authorities might end the conflict without the addition of 14 noddred, upon terms at once magnanimous and honorable to the country? We have always anticipated that a point would be reached in the progress of the war at which statesmanship should take the place of generalship, and reconcile the opposing sections upon just and enduring terms. We do not wish that the southern people shall be dragged back to their allegiance, with ropes around their necks. They were our brothers in the past, they are our brothers again, by all the ties of civilization, language and blood, and in the future we would have them as equals in the family of states. The dignity and pride of the nation hereafter will require them to be such. There must at least be conciliation between the parties to this great struggle. War alone with its horrid features, can never achieve that result but it may drive a brave, though erring people, into hopeless desperation, resulting in their irretrievable ruin, and rendering our own nominal triumph in reality an inglorious defeat.

"Never can true reconcilement grow
When wounds of deadly hate have pierced so deep."

A CURIOUS STORY—LEE REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN IN GENERAL GRANT'S CAMP TALKING WITH PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

[From the Syracuse Journal.]

A communication which seems to confirm the rumors of a renewal of peace negotiations on the 3rd inst. was received by the Hon. Mr. Hillard. Melcher of this city. His son, who is connected with one of the Maine regiments located in the immediate vicinity of Lieutenant-General Grant's headquarters, writing on the 25th, says: "The President is here to-night, and General Lee is here too. They are trying to settle this thing up if they can, and I rather think they will succeed. I saw Lee myself. They brought him here blindfolded. He came to our headquarters accompanied by Lieutenant-General Grant." If there be no mistake about this statement, it is, of course a most important one. What greatly discredits it however is the fact that on the very day mentioned—last Saturday—the severe engagements on the two wings of Grant's army took place.

RUMORS OF ANOTHER PEACE CONFERENCE.

WASHINGTON, March 30.

The Republicans of this evening has the following, in startling double leads. The only portion known to be true is, that on Monday the President, General Grant, and General Sherman had a consultation at City Point, as here published.

The Republican says: A report reaches us to-day that after the disastrous repulse given to Lee on Saturday last he became satisfied that, in view of the recent defeat of Johnston in North Carolina, and the formidable combination of Schofield's and Sherman's armies, under the latter, further resistance to the national arms is useless; and to the end that a settlement of existing difficulties may be had, and the effusion of blood stopped, Gen. Lee authorised General Longstreet to repeat his request for an interview between the former and Gen. Grant. A council of war was held on board the River Queen on Tuesday, at which the President, Lieutenant-General Grant, Major-General W. T. Sherman Major-General Meade, Major-General Ord, Major-General Sheridan, and others were present. Precisely what has grown out of this council, or whether the report that Lee has asked for another interview, with a view to a termination of the war, are matters about which we do not feel at liberty to speak at present. That Lee believes the rebel cause hopeless, there is no doubt. We are informed from source of the highest respectability and truthfulness in this city, that positive and direct information has been received from General Lee that—(the italics are the Republican's)—he cannot long remain in Rich mond with his army, the means of supplies having become too small, by reason of the destruction of the James river canal, the principal channel of supply for his army.

WASHINGTON, March 30.

The peace stories have occupied public attention exclusively to-day. Secretary Seward's sudden departure for City Point is fully confirmed. And the rumor that the acting British and Swedish ministers accompanied him does not seem to be so true. Besides, it is asserted that Secretary Seward has simply sought a little needed recreation by a trip to Fortress Monroe and back, without even going as far as City Point. Those who know the movements of Grant, Sheridan, and Sherman, fail to see any foundation for these peace rumors just so long as the magnificent columns of those commanders are on the rapid advance. In fact, public expectation here is on the tip toe for bulletins of renewed battle at more points than one, rather than the details of any so called peace conference.

SHERMAN'S LOSSES IN TWO WEEKS TEN THOUSAND

(From the Raleigh Confederate, March 23.)

What is especially worthy of notice in the severe actions with the enemy of the past two weeks, is the admirable spirit and determined courage of the troops. It was difficult to restrain their ardor. They were unwilling to await the approach of the enemy behind their works, but sprang over the intrenchments and charged him on the advance. On the other hand, it is noticeable with how much ease the enemy were driven back; though rallying on successive lines of reinforcements, he made feeble resistance and gave back on our approach. In these affairs of the last two weeks, the co-operating armies of Sherman have sustained a loss of full ten thousand men.

LATEST REPORT.

PETERSBURG AND RICHMOND EVACUATED.—LEE RETREATING.—HIS DESTINATION NOT KNOWN.—GRANT IN PURSUIT.

OFFICIAL.—WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON April 3, 12 noon.—To Maj. Gen. Dix: The following official confirmation of the capture of Richmond, and the announcement that the city is on fire, has been received.

E. M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

"CITY POINT, April 3, 11 a. m.—To E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:—General Weitzel telegraphs as follows: "We took Richmond at 8:15 this morning. I captured many guns. The enemy left in great haste. The city is on fire in one place. I am making every effort to put it out. The people receive us with enthusiastic expressions of joy. Gen. Grant started early this morning with the army toward the Danville road to cut off Lee's retreating army if possible. President Lincoln has gone to the front."

(Signed,) "T. S. BOWERS,
"A. A. G.

NEW YORK, April 3.—New York is again dressed in national colors. Both public and private buildings are gaily decked, and the whole city is alive with joy and enthusiasm for the success of our arms in effect of the Confederate capital. Some ten thousand people assembled at Union Square early in the morning, and speeches were made by distinguished citizens of the capture of Richmond.

NEW YORK, April 3.—There is a general feeling of excitement over the glorious news here. Third street is thronged, and masses congratulating each other. Flags are flying every where.

NEW YORK, April 3.—The Herald's army of the James correspondent says, On the 27th troops were selected for special service from both corps and sent across the James under command of General Ord. At sunset on the 29th they occupied a position vacated by the 2nd corps, moved to the left. In the midst of a rain storm, Gen. Turner moved his division, the 24th corps, just after daybreak, down the Vaughan road, crossed Hatcher's run, and pushed forward to make connection with the right of the 2nd corps. With no fighting, this connection was made. Other commands were also moved so as to form a parallel line. Talbot or captured a line of Confederate rifle pits, with nearly all the Confederates in them. Simultaneously, General Foster pushed forward part of his division, then successively sidling, General Turner's command. The advance of both these divisions—one headed by Gen. Devins with picket line and within 400 yards of their main works, Birney's division is on the right of Foster's strengthening the latter's line. Throughout the night of the 29th our men were busy strengthening their works and now have a line that will enable them to hold their ground against any force of the enemy.

The Herald's Washington special says it is expected that the President, immediately upon the occupation of Richmond, will issue a new proclamation of amnesty.

The Petersburgh "Express says: "At an early hour on Wednesday morning a heavy force of the enemy, consisting of cavalry, infantry, and artillery, supposed to be headed by Gen. Sheridan's cavalry, made a detour around our lines and advanced toward the Boydton road, and between seven and eight o'clock a rush this thoroughfare some six miles beyond Dinwiddie Court-house. Toward eleven o'clock, we understood that the force was in the vicinity of the Court-house. Our forces were skirmishing heavily with their advance. Last evening it was reported that the enemy had reached the Court-house and was demonstrating towards Burgess mill. It is believed that the destination of this force is the Southside railway, which Gen. wishes to destroy and thereby cut off Lee's communications and diminish his supplies. While demonstrating on the plank road it is thought that the main body of the cavalry struck out through the country in the direction of the railroad, this however is not positively known.

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, April 3, 10 a. m.—To Maj. Gen Dix:—It appears from a despatch of Gen. Weitzel, just received by this department that our forces under his command are in Richmond, having taken it at 8:15 this morning.

(Signed) "E. M. STANTON,
Sec. of War.

"NEW YORK, April 3.—President Lincoln, at 8 30 this morning, reports Petersburg evacuated and Gen. Grant thinks Richmond is also—he is pushing on to cut off retreat.

(Signed) ROOKER.

The Tribune's Washington special says:—"It is understood there that Grant's plan was that Sheridan should cut the Southside railroad and reach over to the Danville road—the armies of the Potomac and James were to push over towards the left and turn Lee's right flank, while the line in front of Petersburg was still to be held, and if possible advanced. Judging by the latest despatches the whole plan seems to have been successful, including cutting the Southside railroad, turning Lee's right and carrying a portion of the Confederate works in front of Petersburg. Two lines of railway only are believed open to Lee—retreat to Danville, or falling in the fight till Johnston can be induced to join the Weldon railroad to reinforce him—this is believed possible, and herein military men conceive our danger. Mrs. Lincoln has returned to Washington, leaving the President at City Point to enter Richmond; as Grant has promised him he shall within 48 hours."

The British Iron Trade Stopped.

The great "lock out" in the iron making districts of England has begun. It was computed that if the measure was preserved in all over the country in accordance with the compact which the iron masters had entered into with each other, seventy thousand men would be thrown out of employment, and they and their families deprived of means of subsistence. The London "News," commenting upon this affair, says:

"The North Staffordshire puddlers—by that name are called the men who stir molten pig iron about in the bed of a furnace until it becomes malleable iron—struck work rather than submit to a reduction of ten per cent on their wages, resolved on by their employers some time ago. In the ordinary course of things the men would have remained out supported by the Union until the employers, tired of losing the profits of trade, conceded to their terms. A week of this, a meeting of iron masters was held in Birmingham three weeks ago, at which seventy-six firms were represented, and the National Association of Ironmasters was formed. It was then resolved that the North Staffordshire masters should not then be left to fight their own battle alone; but that, in order for to strike at the source from which the men who stood out were supplied, the iron works everywhere should be closed."

AMERICAN ITEMS.

The Utica Herald gives a detailed account of the destruction of the fine female academy in that city. The fire broke out shortly before daylight, and was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. At the time of the fire there were over 90 young lady boarders and 20 teachers. All escaped uninjured but lost nearly all their clothing.

In Batavia, State of New York, is being exhibited a young German girl, named Mary Ann Heinrich. She is aged only seven years, weighs one hundred and twenty-five pounds, and sports an enormous pair of whiskers and a moustache.

A substitute broker from Detroit, engaged in obtaining recruits from the Canadian side being hotly pursued by a detective, actually swam from Windsor C. W., to Detroit upon a plank. When he got to the American side, he was nearly perished with the cold.

Several thieves entered a bankers office in Louisville, Ky., drove him into the safe, locked him up, and then made off with $4,500. The banker was released after two hours' hard work by a locksmith. It was not a very safe investment for him.

A man was hanged in a neighboring State, and confessed upon the gallows that his first commencement in crime and villainy was that of stopping a newspaper without paying for it!

In Rhode Island every clergyman is liable to a fine of $200 if he unites in marriage any white person with an African, Indian or Mulatto.

A cooking academy has been opened in New York. Sixty-seven ladies were in attendance the first day.

A precious lad was sent to the Philadelphia House of Refuge, on Wednesday last for stealing $7,000 from his employers.

Jacob Little, one of the most prominent gold and stock gamblers of Wall Street, New York, died on Tuesday last.

The Count Joannes has obtained a verdict of $25,000 against Stephen R. Fisher, of the New York Leader for libel.

The Rochester Democrat roughly estimates the loss in that city by the late freshet, at upwards of $1,000,000.

Women are working in Chicago at 20 cents per pair for making pantaloons. One pair is a day's work.

All the cotton captured at Savannah has now been shipped, and amounts to 30,076 bales.

Thirty-one miles of the Pacific R. R. in California are now in operation.

Detroit has now a free public library. It was opened with 5000 volumes.

The St. Albans Raiders—Another Judicial Decision.

Montreal, April 3.—Chief Justice Smith has decided that the St. Albans raiders are no longer of the character of the Confederate army, and that as such they did not come within the Extradition Treaty. To better explain the matter, in his own Dogberry way, Justice Smith further holds that the Extradition Treaty is no longer binding on the contracting parties. And the cause of this lapse in the contract is, that the "United States Courts refuse to recognize the belligerent character of the Confederates!" Judge Smith is also made to say (by telegram) that "he held that Gen Grant's order to shoot them down, recognizes the raiders as belligerents, and that as such here!"

Several months ago, when the cases of these burglars was transferred from the hands of the superiors General to those of Smith an assistant Chancellor Judge, on a visit to New York, remarked that the St. Albans raiders having been tried before a jury, were now to go before a fool. The telegram may be incorrect in Justice Smith's learning and logic, for it is unanimously held of belief that even a second-class provincial Justice can have declared the Extradition Treaty at an end, by the fact of the United States Court having "refused to recognize the belligerent character of the Confederates!" This is nonsense so forcibly dull that it is not even amusing. One must either suppose that Justice Smith was ignorant that the Extradition Treaty was put in active force at the instance of the British authorities, only a few months ago, in the case of Metler; and that it was in operation at the instance of our own Government still more recently, to the case of Burley; or it must be concluded that Smith has constituted himself the supreme authority in the matter of terminating or annulling international covenants as he pleases. We had supposed that the opening or closing of treaties were matters of purely Executive action. This Dogberry tells us that it is a judicial matter altogether, and that he himself is the judge.

These is something more peculiarly in the nonsense that follows in regard to Gen. Dix's Order. It is lively enough to hear that that order constituted the St. Albans thieves belligerents! By parity of reasoning—if a gang of Manatoulin Indians crossed over to Northern Michigan, and commenced plundering and massacreing in that State, it would prove that they were belligerents if Gen. Pope or any one in command of the Northwest, ordered them to be pursued across the border and shot wherever found. The logic in the one case would be quite as powerful as the other. If the application by [illegible] with in this case fails to earn him a name, we can scarce y conceive what can purchase fame.

The act of the Canadian Executive in following up this extraordinary judgment by re-arresting the burglars on the double charge of murder can a violation of the Municipal laws of the colony, shows a prudent regard to what the situation demands. It is needless for us to repeat that the people of the United States will only believe that the Government of the Province means to act in good faith in this matter when the order for the extradition of the criminals is signed by Lord Monck. They will steadily refuse to consider it possible that the Goursols and Smiths are honest interpreters of justice, as it is ordinarily administered under British laws. And they will, therefore, expect to hear that the Crown Prosecutor is busily exerting himself to have a judicial decision rendered in this case, which will be neither insulting to common sense, nor flagrantly at variance with international compacts.

Confession of Robert Codd Kennedy the Rebel Incendiary.

After my escape from Johnson's Island, I went to Canada, where I met a number of Confederates. They asked me if I was willing to go on a expedition. I replied, "Yes, if it is in the service of my country." They said, "it's all right," and gave no intimation of the nature, nor did I ask for any. I was then sent to New York, where I stayed some time. There were eight men in my party, of whom two fled to Canada. After we had been in New York three weeks, we were told that the object of the expedition was to retaliate on the North for the atrocities in the Shenandoah Valley. It was designed to set fire to the city on the night of the Presidential election, but the phosphorus was not ready, and it was put off until the 25th of November. I was staying at the Belmont House, but moved into Prince's street. I set fire to four places—Barnum's Museum, Lovejoy's Hotel, Tammany Hotel, and the New England House. The others only started fires in the house where each was lodging, and then ran off. Had they done as I did, we would have had thirty-two fires and played

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Peterborough, April 5, 1865.

Wheat, Fall, per bush.	0	00	0	00
Wheat, Spring, per bush.	0	00	0	00
Barley, per bush.	0	00	0	00
Peas, "	0	00	0	00
Oats, "	0	00	0	00
Rye, "	0	00	0	00
Hay, per ton	0	00	0	00
Straw, per load	0	00	0	00
Potatoes, per bush.	0	00	0	00
Beef, per cwt.	0	00	0	00
Pork, "	0	00	0	00
Mutton, per quarter	0	00	0	00
Veal, "	0	00	0	00
Beef, per cwt.	0	00	0	00
Eggs, per dozen	0	00	0	00
Butter, per pound	0	00	0	00
Cheese, "	0	00	0	00
Lard, "	0	00	0	00
Wool, "	0	00	0	00
Beef, per cwt.	0	00	0	00
Ham, per dozen	0	00	0	00
Butter, per pound	0	00	0	00
Cheese, "	0	00	0	00
Eggs, per dozen	0	00	0	00
Potatoes, per bush.	0	00	0	00
Onions, "	0	00	0	00
Turnips, "	0	00	0	00
Carrots, "	0	00	0	00
Parsnips, "	0	00	0	00
Beets, "	0	00	0	00
Apples, "	0	00	0	00
Pears, "	0	00	0	00
Plums, "	0	00	0	00
Cherries, "	0	00	0	00
Grapes, "	0	00	0	00
Peaches, "	0	00	0	00
Quinces, "	0	00	0	00
Chickens, per pair	0	00	0	00
Ducks, "	0	00	0	00
Geese, "	0	00	0	00
Turkeys, "	0	00	0	00
Fowls, "	0	00	0	00

OLD EYES MADE NEW.

A PAMPHLET showing how to speedily restore sight and give up spectacles, without aid of doctor or medicine—sent by mail, free, on receipt of 10 cents. Address,

E. B. FOOTE, M.D.,
1130 Broadway New York.
9-6m

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING relating to the human system, male and female; the causes and treatment of diseases; the marriage customs of the world; and a thousand things never published before, read the revised enlarged edition of "Medical Common Sense," a curious book for curious people, and a good book for every one, 400 pages 100 illustrations. Price $1.50. Contents table sent free to any address. Books may be had at the Book stores, or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price Address, Dr. E. B. FOOTE, M. D., 1130 Broadway New York.
9-6m

INFORMATION FREE!

TO NERVOUS SUFFERERS.

A GENTLEMEN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay, And Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it, (free of charge,) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's find experience, and possess a sure and valuable remedy, can do so by addressing him en close at his place of business. The Recipe and full information—of vital importance—will be cheerfully sent by return mail.

Address, JOHN B. ODDEN,
No. 42 Nassau Street, New York.

P. S.—Nervous sufferers of both sexes will find this information invaluable. 1-6ma

BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY IN CANADA.

The following testimony from a well known and highly respected Merchant of Prescott, is corroborative of the general approval given to Dr. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY:

Prescott, C. W., Dec. 8th, 1860.
Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co., Boston.

Gentlemen:—

Being solicited by your Travelling Agent, for an expression of opinion of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. I with pleasure assert that it is, in my belief, the best remedy before the public for coughs and pulmonary complaints.

Having tested the article with myself and family, in cases of severe coughs and colds, for years, with uniform and unexceptionable success, I unhesitatingly recommend it with full confidence in its merits.

Yours truly,
ALFRED HOOKER.

None genuine unless signed, I. Butts, on the wrapper. Prepared by Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston, and for sale by all dealers in medicines.
Peterboro, February 24, 1865. 7-6in

Take no more unpleasant and unsafe Medicines.
For unpleasant and dangerous diseases, use
DR. HOLOD'S EXTRACT BUCHU,
Which has received the endorsement of the most PROMINENT PHYSICIANS IN THE U.S.
It is now offered to afflicted humanity as a certain cure for the following diseases and abuse of the Urinary or Sexual Organs.
General Debility,
Mental and Physical Depression,
Confused Ideas,
Hysteria,
Great Irritability,
Restlessness and Sleeplessness at Night,
Absence of Muscular Efficiency,
Loss of Appetite,
Emaciation,
Low Spirits,
Disorganization or Paralysis of the Organs of Generation,
Palpitation of the Heart,
And, in fact, all the concomitants of a Nervous and Debilitated state of the system.
To insure the genuine, see this out.
ASK FOR HELMBOLDS.
TAKE NO OTHER.
ORDERS GUARANTEED.
See advertisement in another column.
Peterboro, Feb. 24, 1865. 7-3in

A GOOD THING—TRY IT

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
is a medicine for the immediate and permanent removal of all pains from the system.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Rheumatism, Pleurisy, and Pains in the back and side.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
relieves Pains in the heart and Sick headache.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Bilious Cholic & Cramps in the stomach.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Dysentry, and Bowel Complaint.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Sudden Colds and sore Throat.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Neuralgia, Tic doloureux, & Toothache.
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
cures Burns, Scalds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, &c
THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
is also an excellent thing for Strains, Sprains Bounds and Bruises. It takes away all pain the moment it is applied.
No family should be without a Bottle of
☞ THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER
Prices 25 Cents Per Bottle.
NORTHOP & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas.
Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, and A. W. Kempt; by C. Britton Lindsay, and all medicine dealers.

New Advertisements.

COURT OF REVISION.

ASHBURNHAM.

THE Court of Revision for the village of Ashburnham for the current year will be held at the Town Hall of said village, on Monday the 15th day of May, at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon.

All interested parties will please take notice.

JAS. STRATTON,
Clerk
Ashburnham, April 4, 1865. 15

Notice to Farmers.

ANY Farmer wishing to grow FLAX can be supplied with any quantity of Seed by applying to the undersigned, who will be prepared to furnish the seed at cost price, and will buy the produce at prices ranging from 12 to 16 dollars per ton. By the growth of Flax, Farmers can realize from forty to fifty dollars per acre, which will pay far better than Wheat. Farmers wanting seed will hand in their names as soon as possible, at my office.

HENRY CALCUTT, Broker.
Ashburnham, April 1, 1865. 15-6f

NOTICE.

ALL persons are hereby forbid purchasing or having anything to do with three notes of hand made by my father by one Wm. Jarvis, each bearing date 24th September, 1864, and payable respectively—1st, $30, payable in 12 months after date; 2nd, $30, payable 2 years after date; the 3d, $10, payable 3 years after date. Said notes having passed into the possession of Andrew Roth, Galt River, as collateral security, and he now refuses to account in any way for the same.

ZACHARIA COLE.
Minden, April 4, 1865. 15

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Common Law Partnership of Hilton, Fairbairn & Dundas was this day dissolved.

T. H. FAIRBAIRN,
D. W. DUNDAS.

March 24, 1865.

MR. T. McFAIRBAIRN,
BARRISTER-AT-LAW
ATTORNEY, &c.
Peterborough, C. W.

NOTICE.

Dissolution of Copartnership.

THE Copartnership heretofore existing between Melville Millar and John Bertram, under the firm of Millar & Bertram, carrying on business as Hardware Merchants in Peterborough, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent.

The liabilities of the late firm, and all debts due to the same will be settled by Mr. Millar, who continues the business on his own account.

(Signed) MELVILLE MILLAR.
JOHN BERTRAM.

Dated, Peterborough,
1st day of April, 1865.

N. B.—With reference to the above, Mr. Millar would respectfully request all parties indebted to the late firm, (either by note or book account,) to call at once and arrange the same, as the terms of dissolution necessitate an early settlement.

A CARD.

THE subscriber takes this opportunity of tendering his sincere thanks to the numerous friends and customers of the late firm, for the very liberal patronage bestowed on them for the past three years, and respectfully solicits a continuance of the same on his own behalf.

The large and varied stock of
GENERAL HARDWARE,
IRON AND STEEL,
PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, &c.
Together with every variety of
Carpenters' and Mechanics' Tools,
Shoemaker's Findings, &c. &c. &c.
Will be kept complete as heretofore, with constant additions as required.

Prices will be kept on the lowest possible scale, and strict attention paid as heretofore, to give his customers every satisfaction.

MELVILLE MILLAR,
George Street,
Peterboro, April 1, 1865. 14-3

PRINCE OF WALES
LOYAL ORANGE LODGE.

THE regular monthly meeting of the Prince of Wales Loyal Orange Lodge No. 484 will be held in the Orange Hall on Wednesday evening next, at 7½ o'clock.

By order,
JOHN SMITH
Secretary.
Peterborough, April 6, 1865. 14.

MASONIC.

THE REGULAR Communication of Peterborough Lodge No. 155, will be held
ON FRIDAY EVENING NEXT,
At half-past seven o'clock, in the Lodge Room Market Block.

A full attendance is particularly requested.
By Order of the Worshipful Master.
J. M. BURNS,
Secretary
Peterborough, April 5th, 1865.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JOSEPH GRAHAM, an Insolvent.

THE creditors of the insolvent are notified that he has made an assignment of his estate and effects under the above Act, to me, the undersigned assignee, and they are required to furnish me, within two months from this date, with their claims specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none stating the fact; the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

RICHARD HOWDEN, Assignee.
Dated at the Village of Millbrook in the County of Durham, this 13th day of February, A. D. 1865. 15

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

THE creditors of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Silas Burnham in the town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, on Monday the 8th day of May, A. D. 1865, at ten o'clock, in the forenoon, for the purpose of receiving statements of his affairs, and of naming an assignee to whom he may make an assignment under the above Act.

JOHN SIM.

H. BURNHAM,
Solicitor for the said John Sim.
Dated at Peterborough aforesaid, this 4th day of April, A. D., 1865. 15-3in

A Word to Young Men.

THE man who would prefer one dollar to two, would be common consent be voted a natural and void of good sense. Yet there are hundreds of young men working for a salary of Two Hundred Dollars, and even less, when they might by devoting a few months to obtaining a Business Education, at a small expense, fit themselves for situations where their services would command twice or thrice that amount. The place where such an education can be obtained at a Cheaper rate than anywhere else in this Province, is

THE LONDON Commercial College
THE SYSTEM OF INSTRUCTION
PURSUED IN
The Actual Business Department
OF THE COLLEGE

Is practised nowhere else, and by it the student can obtain a thoroughly Practical Knowledge of every kind of business transactions in one-half the time required by any other means. The Proprietor has determined to extend the special advantages enjoyed by those entering before the 1st of April, to those who enter during that month also. Therefore all persons PURCHASING SCHOLARSHIPS before the FIRST of MAY, will be presented with a Complete set of TEXT and BLANK BOOKS for the ENTIRE COMMERCIAL COURSE, (Cash Price, Seven Dollars) or for $5 additional, a full supply of Books and Stationery. Full instruction in Phonography, Drawing, Painting and Telegraphing is given at a very low rate.

Good Board can be obtained for Two Dollars per week.

Full instruction is given when desired, (without extra charge) in all the branches required to obtain a First Class Certificate for teaching Common School.

Life Scholarship for Gents.....$30 in advance
do do. Ladies.....$20 do

☞ To any one sending us post paid, the address of ten persons who would like to receive our circular, we will forward full instructions in one of the most Pleasing and Useful Arts of the present age; one which will be a constant source of enjoyment and, profit.

For circular or other information address
J. W. JONES,
Principal of London Commercial College,
joseph c. w.

STEAMBOAT NOTICE.

1865. The Fast-sailing new Steamer 1865.

ROCHESTER!

CAPT. GREENWOOD,

WILL COMMENCE RUNNING TO ROCHESTER, on March 27, 1865, until further notice, as follows:—

Every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday Morning,

Leaving Port Hope.....at 9 30 a. m.
Cobourg ..... 10 30 a. m.
Colborne..... 12 00 m.

Direct for Rochester, arriving there in time to connect with the New York Central Railroad for New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Syracuse, Buffalo, Chicago, and other points East and West.

Passengers from the West via Grand Trunk Railroad, will take the Steamer at Cobourg; from the East will take the Steamer at Colborne.

Returning, the Steamer will leave Rochester every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 8½ o'clock, a. m., for the above mentioned places, connecting with the Grand Trunk Railway for all points East and West.

For further information, enquire of A. Cochrane, Port Hope; Chas. Elliott, Cobourg or J. Kooker, Colborne.

Cobourg, April 6th 1865. 14-tf

TO LET.

THE House and premises lately occupied by J. W. Tate, Esq., on the Court House hill. Also, the Cottage lately occupied Mr. Glover, No. 2 Sheridan Terrace, Peterborough.

Apply to
W. SHERIDAN.
Peterboro, March 28, 1865. 13

For Sale.

A BRICK HOUSE and LOT for sale, one and a half stories high, situated on London street, West of George street, Town of Peterborough. For particulars apply to

J. R. WALTON.
House and Insurance Agent.
Peterboro, March 28, 1865. 13.

NOTICE.

ALL PERSONS INDEBTED to the Estate of ROBERT TANNER, late of the Town of Peterborough, deceased, are hereby required to make payment thereof forthwith to the undersigned administrators, and all persons claiming to be creditors of the deceased are likewise requested to furnish the particulars thereof to the Administrators in order that the same may be examined and adjusted.

E. CHAMBERLEN, } Executors.
Wm. CUMMING. }
Peterboro, March 27, 1865. 13

DIVIDEND
OF
Estate of Waters & Co., of Norwood.

The Creditors of the said Estate are hereby required to furnish to the undersigned, on or before the twenty-fifth day of April next, a statement of their respective claims duly attested under oath, in order that a dividend of the funds in hand may then be declared and paid to those who have proved their claims.

SIDNEY SMITH.
Solicitor for Mrs. Foley, Executrix of the Assignee.
Peterborough, 25th March, 1865.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

Province of Canada, } In the County
COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH, } Court of the County of Peterborough. In the matter of William Armstrong, an Insolvent.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has filed, in the office of this Court, a consent by his creditors to his discharge, and that on Wednesday, the seventh day of June next, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, or as soon as counsel can be heard, he will apply to the Judge of the said Court for a confirmation of the discharge thereby effected in his favor, under the said Act.

W. ARMSTRONG.
Dated at Peterborough this 18th day of March, A. D., 1865. 13-6d

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JAMES W. STONE AND GILES STONE, Insolvents.

THE creditors of the Insolvents are notified that they have made an assignment of their estate and effects under the above Act, to me, the undersigned assignee, and they are required to furnish me, within two months from this date, with their claims, specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none, stating the fact; the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

D. McDONALD, Jr.,
Assignee.
Peterborough, March 28th, 1865. 13-3in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JOHN WILLIAMSON an Insolvent.

THE meeting of creditors of the above named Insolvent, for the appointment of another assignee in my place, is adjourned to take place at the Office of Mr. Sidney Smith, in Peterboro', on Monday, the Third day of April, 1865, at Ten o'clock, a. m.

JAMES CAMPBELL,
Assignee.
Dated 21st of March, 1865. 12

ADJOURNED SESSIONS.

A SITTING of the Court of Quarter Session of the Peace, for the County of Peterborough, will be held at the COURT HOUSE, in the Town of Peterborough, on

FRIDAY, the 7th day of APRIL next,
AT TWELVE O'CLOCK, NOON,

For the purpose, among others, of Auditing the Accounts of Coroners and others against the County.

By order of the Court,
C. A. WELLER,
Clerk of the Peace.
Peterboro', March 17th, 1865. 12

REVOLVERS AND CARTRIDGE.

A NEW stock of Colt's, Smith & Wesson's and Marston's Pistols.

Cartridge to suit Colt's Revolvers.

GEORGE STETHEM & CO.
Peterboro, March 16, 1865. 11

Flax Seed.

PERSONS desirous of obtaining Flax Seed are requested to apply to the undersigned forthwith.

JOHN CARNEGIE, Jr.,
Sec. & Treas. P. A. Society.
Peterborough, March 16, 1865. 11-3in

SAWS.

ENGLISH Gate, Mulay, Rotting, Sawing Machine, and Cross-cut Saws, with Spear & Jackson's Files and other Sundries

GEORGE STETHEM & CO.
Peterboro February 1, 1865. 8

A RARE CHANCE.

FOR SALE, OR TO LET for the Season, an Entire Horse, rising four years old with great bone and action. Apply at this Office.
March 6th, 1865. 10-tf

PITCH AND OAKUM
RECEIVED.
G. STETHEM & Co.
Peterborough, March 29, 1865. 13-3in

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE!

JOHN ERSKINE

Respectfully announces that he has received part of his

Spring and Summer Goods!

Consisting of Fancy Dress Goods, Hosiery and Gloves, Lace Curtains, &c. Prints, White and Factory Cottons, Ginghams, Strip and Check Shirtings, etc.

N. B.—In about a week the Stock will be complete in all departments. The New Cotton Goods are Cheaper.

Peterboro, April 5, 1865. 14-1in

NEW SPRING GOODS!

W. G. THOMSON & Co.,

Announce the arrival of part of their

New Stock of Spring & Summer Goods

IN

PRINTS, WHITE and GREY COTTONS, DRESS GOODS, SHAWLS, PARASOLS, STRAW HATS, BONNET FRONTS, GLOVES and HOSIERY.

They expect their Stock will be complete in every department in about two weeks.

N. B.—The prices of the New Stock of COTTON GOODS ARE CONSIDERABLY LOWER than formerly.

W. G. THOMSON & Co.,
March 30, 1865. (2in) George Street, Peterborough.

STRICKLAND & ROGERS,

Beg to announce the completion of their

FALL STOCK of DRY GOODS

Which has been selected with great care, and will be found complete in every department.

They would direct particular attention to their great variety of

DRESS GOODS AND TRIMMINGS,

Everything new in the Fancy line. A full assortment of

ENGLISH, SCOTCH AND AMERICAN TWEEDS

IN THE

TAILORING DEPARTMENT.

Their Stock of Goods will be found cheap for the season in the

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

SHOW ROOMS NOW OPEN FOR INSPECTION.

P. S.—Orders executed in the above Departments in the best styles with promptitude.

Peterborough, October, 1864. 40

PUBLIC NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Court of Revision for the Municipality of Galway and Cavendish, will be held at the House of Mr. Samuel Wiley, Lot No. 20, Concession A, of said Municipality,

On Monday, the 24th day of April next,

At the hour of TEN o'clock, a. m. Interested persons will please govern themselves accordingly.

WILLIAM LEESON,
Township Clerk.
Galway, March 17th, 1865. 11-4in

DUNKIN'S BILL.

HENRY CALCUTT

RETURNS THANKS to his numerous Beer Customers for their liberal patronage, and is now prepared to supply them with

TEMPERANCE ALE,

To be called "DUNKIN ALE," put up in Barrels and Bottles.

Peterboro', March 1st, 1865. 10-tf

Otonabee Mills.

THE above Mills having been very much impeded in their working during the past winter by the unusual quantity of anchor ice in the river, the subscriber is glad to be able to inform his friends and customers that they are now working freely, and that proper attention will, as heretofore, be paid to gristing and custom work; and cash paid for good Spring or Fall Wheat.

R. D. ROGERS.
Ashburnham, March 14th, 1865. 11-3in

NOTICE.

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Partnership heretofore existing, under the name of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., in the Town of Peterborough, was dissolved by mutual consent, on the Twenty-third day of February last.

All debts due to the firm are to be paid to John Whyte, who will settle the claims due by the late firm.

JOHN WHYTE,
WILLIAM HAMILTON.
Dated the 7th of March, 1865. 10

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on

TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1865,

In the Union School House, at Ten a. m.

"Candidates are not eligible to be admitted to examination until they shall have furnished the Examiners with satisfactory evidence of their strictly temperate habits and good moral character."

☞ Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.

By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterborough, Dec. 6th, 1864. 61tf

A HINT
TO THE
WORTHY CITIZENS OF CANADA.

BE WARNED IN TIME.

ALL parties purchasing my Pills and Ointment for their several complaints are respectfully warned against purchasing either Pills or Ointment purporting to be my preparations, that have a United States Stamp around the Boxes and Pots. There is no Treaty between the people of the States and the Home Government, therefore an United States Stamp does not protect my preparations. There are no stamps upon my Canadian sale of Pills or Ointment, coming from the United States. I rely only for protection on the water mark in book of directions around each Box or Pot. Before you purchase them, see that there are no U. S. Stamps upon the Box of Pills or Ointment. Purchase none that have United States stamps on.

HOLLOWAY,
Maiden Lane.
66

To Let.

THAT eligible two story BRICK HOUSE, on George Street, at present occupied by J. C. Hughson, Esq., attached to the premises are good stables and sheds and a large garden. Possession can be given on the First of May.

For particulars apply to Robert Nicholls, Esq., or to the subscriber.

JAMES CLOTWORTHY.
Peterboro', March 20, 1865. 13

TO LET,

THAT COMFORTABLE COTTAGE on Queen Street, opposite St. John's Church, at present occupied by Mr. Nathaniel Shaw. Possession given next June.

W. CLUXTON.
Peterborough, Feb. 1865. 9-tf

ROYAL
MAIL STAGE.
HALIBURTON TO MINDEN.

A MAIL STAGE leaves the Post Office, Haliburton, in the Township of Dysart, (English Company's Township,)

Every Monday, Wednesday and Friday Morning,

At EIGHT o'clock, for Minden. It returns from Minden to Haliburton

Every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday Morning.

Leaving the Post Office, Minden, (Bobcaygeon Road,) at EIGHT o'clock.

FARE, HALF A DOLLAR.

February 15, 1865. 7-4in-alt

Public Notice.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL of the Township of Otonabee, intend on MONDAY, the SEVENTEENTH day of APRIL next, to pass a By-Law to close up and dispose of the following Road, viz:—Commencing on the eastern limit of the allowance for Road between the 6th and 7th Concession of said Township at a point bearing south 14 degrees east, and distant 5 chains and 60 links from the north-west angle of Lot No. 16 in said 6th Concession, thence north 11 degrees 45 minutes, east 8 chains and 46 links; thence north 30 minutes, west 3 chains, and 91 links, then north 29 degrees, west 1 chain and 32 links; then north 47 degrees, west 1 chain and 36 links; then north 71 degrees, west one chain and 30 links to the eastern limit of the allowance for Road between the 6th and 7th Concessions, 3 chains and 50 links from the north-west angle of Lot No 17 in said 6th Concession.

GEO. READ.
Township Clerk.
Otonabee, Feb. 28th, 1865. 11

REMOVAL.

THE subscriber begs to inform the inhabitants of LAKEFIELD and vicinity, that he has removed his

Grocery Store
IN LAKEFIELD,

To Hen'horn's old stand, where will be found a

Good assortment of Groceries,
WHICH WILL BE SOLD
CHEAP FOR CASH,
Or Farm Produce.

ROBT. GRAHAM.
Lakefield, March 1st, 1865. 10-3

NOTICE.

ALL persons are hereby forbid having any dealings whatever with any person or persons for or on account of the Executors of the estate of the late William Elliott, late of the Township of Cavan, deceased, as we have not at any time appointed any person to act for us as our agent in transacting any business relating to the said estate.

JOHN ELLIOTT, }
EDWD RICHARDSON, } Executors.
Cavan, March 13, 1865. 11-3in*

GO TO
WM. H. KENNEDY'S
FOR YOUR
WINDOW BLINDS.

Good News! Good News!!

E. MORRIS,
HERB DOCTOR,

The successful Quacks very pretty and gentlemanly Yankee, is now in town advertising himself as Dr. Morris' Herbs cures cash only.

He is well known all over Canada, in every City, Town, and Village; Will collect a note for half the pay Charged by those Quacks who live by pillage.

To those afflicted with RHEUMATISM try Dr. Morris' justly celebrated

Electric Invigorating Fluid,

for dispelling Rheumatic and other pains that may collect the human system, internal or external.

He feels into their Bellies as here on earth, With nature or the laws of life; With mercury his name hath perished, But poison vents for sake of gain.

Our Father whom all questions fills, Prescribe the Instant to cure all ills; The simple herbs beneath our feet, Well used, relieve our pains complete.

The Invigorating Fluid acts upon the system like electricity, giving relief instantly, in almost every case. PRICE PER BOTTLE according to size, from 25 cents to One Dollar.

If you are afflicted with Rheumatic pains, Cramps, Colics, and such painful bread, Caused by exposure to cold and rains, Try Morris' Invigorating Fluid.

For COUGHS, COLDS, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, use Dr. Morris'

Cough Drops,

They will be found a never-failing remedy for the above complaints.

If you should take a severe cold, Retaining from the waits and hops, Go where the medicine is sold, Enquire for Morris' Cough Drops.

To those afflicted with Liver and Kidney complaints, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sick and Nervous Headache, Costiveness, to each and Disordered Stomachs, &c., &c., &c.,

Dr. MORRIS' WORLD-RENOWNED

DANDELION PILLS

For Renovating the Blood, Correcting and Strengthening the Liver and Bowels, the Dandelion Pills have no equal.

If you feel nervous, with spirits low, Disordered system, and other ills, Take a few of the advice and straight you'll go. For Morris' Dandelion Pills.

WORMS! WORMS! WORMS!

If you would expel those monsters from your dear children, try a box of Dr. Morris'

WORM DESTROYER.

If you have a son or daughter dear, And the monstrous worms annoy her, There's relief at hand, dry off that tear, Get Morris' Worm destroyer.

Dr. Morris can furnish reliable testimonials from some of the most respectable inhabitants of Peterboro' and other Towns and Cities of Canada West. For Testimonials see his Pamphlets. The above medicines can be obtained at PROFF. MORRIS' BOTANIC LABORATORY, Simcoe Street, nearly opposite Phelans Hotel, Peterborough.

Dr. Morris invariably treats with success diseases of a secret nature.

CONSULTATION FREE, at his Laboratory, from 9 a. m., to 7 p. m.

Peterboro', Jan. 17, 1865. 2-3m

MACHINE SHOP
TO BE SOLD OR LET.

The subscriber offers for Sale or to Let,

THE MACHINE SHOP
ON ALBION STREET; WITH

Steam Engine Machines and Tools,

To be sold seperately or together, for Cash, or exchanged for other property.

For particulars, &c., apply to
WM. MALCOLM.
Peterboro, October 24, 1864. 43

One Hundred Dollars REWARD.

WHEREAS, on the night of the seventh day of December last, the property of Robert Morrison, Esquire, of the Township of Dummer, was wantonly and maliciously damaged and destroyed by some person or persons unknown, the above reward is hereby offered by the Corporation of the County of Peterboro, for such information as shall lead to the conviction of the guilty parties.

By order,
R. D. ROGERS,
Warden.
Peterborough, Jan. 30, 1865.

$50 REWARD.

MR. MORRISON has added $50 to the above reward, which will make the whole $150.

SEWING MACHINES!

FINKLE & LYON'S
NEW PATENT ROTARY FEED
Sewing Machines.

The following facts demonstrate that these Machines comprise the highest improvements in the Sewing Machine Art, viz:

1. Each Machine is guaranteed to give better satisfaction than any other Sewing Machine in Market, or money refunded.
2. They have taken Many of the highest premiums at the most important Exhibitions and fairs ever held in the United States.
3. They make the lock stitch alike on both sides—thus saving more than half the thread and silk used in the ravaling-ridge-seams of the loop stitch and single-thread Sewing Machines.
4. They are adapted to the widest range of heavy and light sewing.
5. They have no rattling wires, or delicate attachments to keep in repair.
6. They require no taking apart to clean or oil, and no "Lancaster" tenet needle, regulate tension, or operate Machine.

Please call and examine, and demonstrate for yourself, or send for Circular, with samples of sewing.

N. B.—Town and Country Agents wanted.

FINKLE & LYON, S. M. Co.,
No. 536, Broadway, New York.
March 16, 1865. 11-6m

Military School.

CANDIDATES for Commissions in the British Provinces, desirous of obtaining admission to either of the Schools of Military Instruction, are required to make application in writing for such purpose, through the Brigade Major of the Division wherein they reside.

Applicants must state their age, residence, Post Office address and native country, and transmit with their application a certificate from a Clergyman or Magistrate in the locality where they live as to moral character.

W. POWELL, Lt. Col.,
D. A. G. M., V. C.

Adjutant General's Office,
Quebec, 24th Feb., 1865. 11-3in

MELODEON
IN
COTTAGE ORGAN FORM.
PETERBORO, C. W.

Estey's Perfect Melodeon
AND PUMP ORGAN.
FORMERLY ESTEY & GREEN.

The only Manufactory in this Country of the Perfect Melodeon and Cottage Organ with Patent Bass Dampers, Patent Harmonic Attachment, and Patent Manual Sub-Bass.

These instruments have been brought into very high favor with the musical public, and test by force of extensive advertising and purchased recommendations. With our increased facilities for manufacture, we are still unable to meet the extraordinary demand made upon us That we hope soon to be able to fill all orders promptly.

Some of the points of superiority claimed for our instruments, are these:—

1st.—Smooth, steady and pipe-like quality of tone.

2nd.—Great delicacy of touch and promptness of action; singularly, when desired, a light, graceful, staccato effect, or powerful Bass or Chord, crushing 10 volumes of sound, or sustaining the tone, to avoid the notes by the action of the foot.

3rd.—The Patent Harmonic Attachment. An ingenious octave coupler, which doubles the power of the instrument without increasing its size or the number of reeds.

4th.—The Patent Manual Sub-Bass, which are played with the ordinary keys and controlled by a stop. This new and valuable invention requires no extra room and serves as a substitute for the Pedal Bass, and can be used by an ordinary performer.

5th.—The Grand Jubilee Organ, of Coloured Organs, which swells or subdues all the tone by a slight movement of the left knee, without interfering with the action of the feet,—having this advantage over the Automatic Swell that the volume of tone may be readily increased without extraordinary effort, and diminished without prejudice to the change in the motions of the feet.

Our recently patented Church Organ, without the Manual Sub-Bass, is the Best Reed Organ or Harmonium of its size: but, with the Harmonic Attachment and Manual sub-bass, it is pronounced by competent judges to be far superior to any other instrument of the class in the world. Its power, sweetness, and variety of tone, simplicity of construction and ease of management, recommend it to every one as being all that is claimed for it, both for the parlor and the church.

The Harmonic Organ, for Churches and Public Halls, has a fine, powerful Pedal Bass, with independent reeds: and, with the Harmonic Attachment, is believed to be the most powerful Reed Organ under being nearly equal to a pipe organ of three times its cost.

All our Instruments are made in the most thorough manner, and warranted in every respect

JOS. R. WALTON,
Agent.
Peterborough, Jan. 1865.

Rev. A. C. Hess, of Troy, N.Y. says:—These give the value of five Melodeons in one. The ease of touch and promptness of action are unrivalled. It can be played with all the sweetness of the lute or Æolian harp, and changed in an instant to its full power, nearly equal to a twelve stop organ.

All orders addressed to the undersigned will receive prompt attention.

JOSEPH R. WALTON, Peterboro.
Jan 7th, 1865.

TESTIMONIALS.

JAMES BROWN, Esq., M. D.

Peterboro, October 20th, 1864.

I am happy to inform you that after the most persevering and testing trial for some weeks of the Cottage and Parlor Organ, we like it better every day. It is remarkable for variety of tone and power, and several of the best judges here say it is unequalled by any instrument of the kind (with double reed) they have ever heard. You can so control and command all its parts, as to pass easily and rapidly from the softest tones of the Harp, Lute or Piano, to the rich full swell of a large Organ. It is easily played by child or adult, and is already a very great favorite with us. Its compact structure, ingenious combination of power with the new and beautiful Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-bass are greatly admired and are highly creditable to the maker, Estey, of Vermont. I think it is peculiarly adapted for Church Music.

Rev. V. CROWLE, A. M. &c.

Sheridan Villa Seminary, Peterboro, Dec. 1864.

We are delighted with the Cottage Organ with Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-bass. We prefer it to any instrument of the kind we have ever seen; its tone, sweet and harmonious in the parlor, possesses sufficient power for a church.

Rev. J. C. SLATER,
Wesleyan Parsonage, Millbrook, Jan. 1865.

I have much pleasure in testifying my entire satisfaction of the Cabinet Organ, purchased from you, as an instrument possessing superior qualities in sweetness, variety and strength, to anything of the kind I have ever seen. Two experienced musicians who have examined it, concur with me in recommending it as a perfect instrument adapted to Church or Parlor.

Geo. A. Noxon, M. D., Recording Steward of the Wesleyan Church, Omemee.

Omemee, July, 1864.

In reply to your inquiries as to the Harmonic Organ, purchased from you for our church, we have to express our highest satisfaction; in purity and sweetness of tone as well as volume of sound, it is all that can be reasonably expected.

Peterborough, Dec. 20th, 1864.

Mr. J. R. WALTON,—Having examined and played upon the Parlor Organs sold by you, and Mr. Mcleary by Mr. Estey. I have great pleasure in pronouncing them a first class instrument. The Harmonic attachment and manual Sub-bass being a very great improvement and well worthy the patronage of the Musical public. Yours truly,

A. T. HEATHFIELD,
Organist of St. John's Church,
Peterborough.

$500 REWARD!

WHEREAS, on the night of the 3rd inst., some evil-disposed person or persons did maliciously cut out of the Workshop of John Britton, the above, portion of Five Hundred Dollars will be paid by the Town Council to any one who will give such information as will lead to the discovery and conviction of the said person or persons.

C. PERRY, Mayor,
March 7, 1865. Town of Peterborough.

NOTICE.

ALL those indebted to the late firm of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., by Note or Book Account, will please call and settle the same forthwith, as all debts not paid before the 20th of April next, will be placed in suit for collection.

JOHN WHYTE.
Peterborough, March 7, 1865. 10

TENDERS.

TENDERS will be received by the Trustees of School Section No. 14, in the Township of Otonabee, up to the 21th inst., for the building of a FRAME SCHOOL HOUSE. The plans and specifications may be seen at the residence of Thomas Johnston, Lot No. 24, in the 6th Con. of said Township. The Trustees do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order of the Trustees,
THOS. JOHNSTON,
Sec'y and Treas'r.
School Section No. 14,
Otonabee, March 9th, 1865. 10-3in*

BY-LAW No.

*A BY-LAW

MAIDEN RESOLUTION.

"Oh, I'll tell you all a story,
Of a fellow,
Who is neither white nor yellow,
But is altogether green.
His big name is Isn't changing,
For the only surname "Bill,"
Which the widow sue to send him,
But I hardly think I will.

She has said one of a cottage,
Oh to cottage 'mong the trees,
And of love you think the hearing,
Tumbled down upon his knees!
While the toots the trainers wasted,
Were enough to turn a mill;
And he begged me to accept him,
But I hardly think I will.

He was here last night to see me,
And he made so long a stay,
I began to think the blockhead
Never meant to go away.
At the first I learned to hate him,
And I have it from him still,
Yet he urges me to have him,
But I hardly think I will!

I'm sure I wouldn't disown him,
But the very dense is in it;
For he says if I refuse him
That he couldn't live a minute;
And you know, the blessed Bible
Plainly says, "no woman's kill,"
So I've changed the matter over,
And I rather think I will.

Varieties.

Hints for the Hard Times.

To have a sleighride when there is no snow—try bare ground. If unprovided with bells, kiss the ladies' fingers; this will keep out frost, and bring music from the belles, especially if the bright angels happen to be cousin.

To get a good report from your neighbor—attempt burglary on his premises; if he hears you, you will get what you need.

To get rid of hunger or thirst, without food or drink—wait till they subside.

To get a cheap warm coat—tar-kettles are plenty, and you can easily take a roll at an upholsterer's.

If an invalid, too weak for out-of-door exercise, run up and down stairs very rapidly all day long.

For gouty feet—cut them off; they are of no use.

To get a good pair of boots—become bootblack at a large hotel; thus you can take your choice, with a chance of going well booted from the house.

To get $100—find the owner of about say $5,000 which has been lost; but take care and not find it in the lawful possession of another.

When buying a pair of pantaloons, be sure and have them large enough—never be too tight.

To get rent free, with good bed and sure sleep thrown in—shirk.

To live and get rent free—tear coat and leave it torn.

To restore relish for food—plenty of heat Burgundy, with a select party of gay friends and lovely ladies.

If no silverware for friends to dinner—use gold instead, or don't invite them—mortification.

If necessary to outstrip your neighbors, don't sacrifice too much and tear off shirt and skin too.

To be thought rich—do nothing: "time is money", and you will have plenty to spare.

To get your name up—write it on a cartridge and shoot at the sky; otherwise carry it up.

If annoyed by the cross of that other fellow over the way, make yourself miserable about it and become an outcast as fast as possible; this will please him, and of course you will be satisfied.

If a low chap affront you, feel so eager and give no rebuke; one is not obliged to "pitch into" a ditch because it happens to lie before him.

It considered out of your mind—thank God you have a mind to be out of.

If a malapert thrusts his advice upon you—appreciate and bless him for his generosity; he gives you all he can well spare.

If used to idling all day, and so have no bread to eat—idle only half and work the other; half a loaf is better than no bread.

A MODEL INSTITUTION.

Artemus Ward's new hall is now open in New York. The following are its published rules:

I. Artemus Ward is compelled to charge one dollar for reserved seats, because cats, which two years ago cost 30 cents per bushel, now cost $1; hay is also $1 75 per cwt., formerly 50 cents.

II. Persons who think they will enjoy themselves more by leaving the hall early in the evening are requested to do so with as little noise as possible.

III. Children in arms not admitted if the arms are loaded.

IV. Children under one year of age not admitted, unless accompanied by their parents or guardians.

V. If any Usher employed in the Hall should assault the audience, he will be reprimanded. If the same conduct be frequently repeated, he will be discharged without a certificate of character.

VI. Ladies and gentlemen will please report any negligence or disobedience on the part of the Lecturer.

VII. Artemus Ward will not be responsible for any money, jewelry, or other valuables left with him—to be returned in a week or so.

VIII. The Manager will not be responsible for any debts of his own contracting.

IX. If the audience does not leave the Hall when this entertainment is over, they will be put out by the police.

Who Chews Tobacco.—A preacher not long since asking to stay at night at a house, and refused by a lady. Knowing her to be a member of the church, and consequently trying to encourage christian, he began to quote Paul to the lady, that she would understand by this that he was a preacher. He hastily got out "for thereby ye have entertained" angels unawares," when she said: I know sir; but angels would not come with quids of tobacco stuck in their mouths. The preacher left without any further expostulation.

A nursery must be a great place for fretting. Why so? Because it is, I don't see how. Ain't a nursery a regular fanal-room?

The poet speaks to the heart; the music to the soul; the painter to the imagination; and the sculptor to the eyes.

GREAT

CLEARING OUT

SALE

AT THE

Montreal House!

Whole Stock

SELLING OFF!

AT

GREAT

REDUCTIONS.

☞ Call early and secure a bargain.

☞ See small bills.

Peterboro, Jan. 26, 1864.

BLETCHER'S CANADIAN CLOTHES WRINGER

COMBINES more Strength of Frame, Capacity for Pressure, and Power of Action, than any other in the market. We manufacture five sizes intended for and adapted to Families, Hotels, Laundries, &c.

Bletcher's Canadian Clothe's Wringer

Saves Time, Labor, Clothes and Money.

It will wear for years without repair!

No Servant can break it!

A Child ten years old can operate it!

No caution or skill required in its use!

It will wring anything from a Thread to the Heaviest Quilt.

It saves its Cost in Clothing

Every six or nine Months.

The water can be pressed from large and small articles easier, quicker and more thoroughly than by the ordinary old fashioned back-breaking, wrist-straining and clothes-destroying process.

It is easily and firmly secured to the Tub or Washing Machine and will fit Tubs of any shape or size. Every Wringer is Warranted in every particular, either with or without star gearing; and in the event of any part becoming broken or mislaid, we can replace it at once. We sell them at prices that defy competition, as the following will testify:

No. 1, nine inch roll, ... $4 50
2, nine and a half inch roll, ... 4 75
3, ten inch roll, ... 5 00
4, twelve inch roll, ... 5 75
5, fourteen inch roll, ... 6 50

We keep all the sizes above on hand at all times at our Sewing Machine Office, over Mr. S. White's shoe store,

George Street, Peterborough.

Entrance by the Hall Door between Mr. Samuel White's and I. Robinson & Co.'s.

BLETCHER'S CANADIAN CLOTHES WRINGER.

REMOVAL.

Tobias Fitzgerald,

HAS REMOVED his Carriage and Waggon Establishment to those COMMODIOUS PREMISES on the

CORNER OF BROCK AND WATER ST'S,

OPPOSITE THE GRAND TRUNK DEPOT,

Where he will continue to MANUFACTURE

CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, WAGONS, CUTTERS, &c.,

Which he will warrant to be made from the best Timber; and any person ordering from him are invited to call and examine the work before it is painted.

Jobbing & Horse Shoeing

Will be punctually attended to.

Peterborough, August, 1864. 32

PAINTING & GRAINING

DONE BY

W. N. KENNEDY,

HUNTER STREET.

Great Bargains.

BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.
BUY LAMPS at WILLIAMS'.
BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.
BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.
BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.
BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.
BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.
BUY LAMPS at WILLIAMS'.
BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.
BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.
BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.
BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.

Cash paid for Grain

by A. WILLIAMS.

Peterboro', Jan. 11, 1865. 2

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

PIANO FORTE

MANUFACTURERS,

499 BROADWAY,

New York.

THE attention of the public and the trade is invited to our New Scale

7 OCTAVE

Rosewood Piano Fortes,

WHICH FOR

VOLUME AND PURITY OF TONE,

ARE UNRIVALLED

By any [illegible] hitherto offered in this market. They contain [illegible] all the modern improvements

From [illegible]ch Grand Action,

Harp Pedal,

Iron Frame [illegible]per-Strung Brass,

&c., &c.,

And each instrument at [illegible]cing made under the personal supervision of Mr. J. M. GROVESTEEN, who has had a practical experience of over 30 years in their manufacture, is fully warranted in every particular.

The "Grovesteen Piano Forte" received the highest award of merit over all others at the Celebrated World's Fair.

Where were exhibited instruments from the best makers of London, Paris, Germany, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and New York; also, at the American Institute for five successive years, the

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

from both of which can be seen at our warerooms.

☞ By the introduction of improvements we make a still more perfect Piano Forte, and by manufacturing largely, with a strictly cash system, are enabled to offer these instruments at

A PRICE WHICH WILL

Preclude Competition!

PRICES:

No. 1, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood plain case, $275.

No. 2, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood heavy moulding, $300.

No. 3, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood Louis XIV. style, $325. Terms: Net Cash, in current funds.

Descriptive circulars sent free.

Sept. 13th, 1864. Y-1 yr

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PHOTOGRAPHIC MATERIALS!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,

501 BROADWAY, N. Y.

IN addition to our main business of Photographic Materials, we are Headquarters for the following, viz.:

STEREOSCOPES,

AND

STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS,

Of these we have an immense assortment, including War Scenes, American and Foreign Cities and Landscapes, Groups, Statuary, &c., &c. Also, Receiving Stereoscopes, for public or private exhibition. Our Catalogue will be sent to any address on receipt of stamp.

PHOTOGRAPHIC ALBUMS!

We were the first to introduce these into the United States, and we manufacture immense quantities in great variety, ranging in price from 90 cents to $66 each. Our Albums have the reputation of being superior in beauty and durability to any others. They will be sent by mail, paid, on receipt of price. Fine Albums made to order.

CARD PHOTOGRAPHS.

Our Catalogue now embraces over FIVE THOUSAND different subjects (to which additions are continually being made,) of Portraits of eminent Americans, &c., viz.: about

100 Major-Generals,	350 Statesmen,
200 Brig.-Generals,	120 Divines,
275 Colonels,	125 Authors,
100 Lieut-Colonels,	40 Artists,
250 Other Officers,	125 Stage,
75 Navy Officers,	50 Prom. Women,

150 Prominent Foreign Portraits,
3,000 Copies of works of Art,

including reproductions of the most celebrated Engravings, Paintings, Statues, &c. Catalogues sent on receipt of stamp. An order for One Dozen Pictures from our Catalogue will be filled on receipt of $1.25, and sent by mail, free.

Photographers and others ordering goods C. O. D. will please remit twenty-five per cent of the amount with their order.

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,
Manufacturers of Photographic Materials,
501 Broadway, New York.

The prices and quality of our Goods cannot fail to satisfy. 46

Wm. N. KENNEDY

HAS

GOOD & CHEAP ROOM PAPER

ON HAND.

J. R. WALTON,

Insurance, House & Land Agent.

ALL business trusted to him will be promptly attended to.

OFFICE OVER G. W. BARRON'S STORE, GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

SCOTTISH

Provincial Assurance Co.

ESTABLISHED, 1825.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

CAPITAL, One Million Sterling.

INVESTED IN CANADA, over $450,000.

Gross Annual Fire Current Life Premiums [illegible] ..... £2,200,000 Stg
Accumulated Fund ..... 650,000 "
Annual Income ..... 167,000 "
Amount proposed for Insurance, 1863, under 1000 applications ..... 457,225 "

CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE,—Place D'Armes, Montreal.

A. DAVIDSON PARKER,
Secretary for Canada.

ATTENTION is directed to the rate of premium adopted by this Company, which will compare favorably with that of any other institution in Canada. Investments of Company's funds to the large amount of nearly five hundred thousand dollars have been completed in Canada; and as all business transactions are finally disposed of in the Province, the Scottish Provincial offers all the facilities presented by a purely local Company, while it possesses the additional advantage of a large capital, and an influential and responsible body of shareholders in Great Britain.

Policies effected on or before 31st January next will receive a full year's bonus over those effected thereafter.

PETERBOROUGH:

J. R. WALTON, AGENT.

November 25, 1863. 48

PROVINCIAL

INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF CANADA.

Head Office,—Toronto Street, Toronto.

FIRE! MARINE!

DIRECTORS:

Hon. J. Hillyard Cameron, M. P. P., President.
Lewis Moffatt, Esq., Vice-President,
Hon. George Crawford, M. L. C.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq.
Geo. Duggan, jr., Esq.,
John Cameron, Esq.,
A. M. Smith, Esq., M. P. P.,
Chris. Robinson, Esq.,
W. J. McDonell, Esq.,
C. J. Campbell, Esq.,
Manager & Secretary,—James S. Crocker, Esq.,
Assistant Secretary,—Donough O'Brien, Esq.,
Solicitors,—Messrs. Duggan & Burns,
Bankers,—Commercial Bank of Canada.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent for Peterborough.

November, 1863. 49

ESPECIAL NOTICE

TO FARMERS!

INSURE YOUR CROPS

IN THE

CANADA WEST FARMER'S

Mutual and Stock Insurance Co.

OF HAMILTON.

It can be done for a mere trifle

BY APPLYING TO

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent,
Peterborough.

August 10, 1864. 33

21 BUILDING LOTS

FOR SALE.

KNOWN as Park Lot No. 7, adjoining the property of Wm. Clinton, Esq., near the Little Lake. Terms to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Peterboro', Dec. 1, 1863. 49

FOR SALE CHEAP,

AND ON LIBERAL TERMS!

LOT No. 9, 5th con. Township of Douro, 107 Acres of good Land, 70 acres cleared with a good Frame Dwelling, just new, and good office buildings, with three wells of water on the premises. Situate about six miles from Peterborough. For further particulars apply to

JOS. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent

Peterborough, May 9th, 1864. 19

For Sale.

CHEAP for Sewing and Sewing Machine, no worse than new—Patterson's make, of Belleville. Also, A good second hand Lumber Waggon.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterboro', June 25th, 1864. 26

CANADA WEST FARMERS'

Mutual Stock Insurance Co.,

HAMILTON.

J. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

For Sale or to Let,

FOR A TERM OF YEARS,

TWO DWELLING HOUSES

In the Village of Lakefield, with 2 Lots, [illegible] each thereof on same.

For particulars, apply to the undersigned at Peterborough,

J. GRIFFIN,
General Builder, Pump-maker, &c., &c.

Peterboro', March 7th, 1864. 10

KEEP US DOING THE BEST WE CAN.

BY CHARLES J. DUNPHY.

Life is but a fleeting dream,
Care destroys the best of it;
Smile it gladsome like a stream—
Mind you make the best of it!

Toil's not of your weary work,
Trouble's often the best of it,
If we have but brief repose,
Let us make the best of it.

If your friend has got a heart,
There is something fine in him,
Cast away his darker part,
Cling to what's divine in him.
Friendship is our best relief—
Make no heartless jest of it,
It will brighten every grief,
If we make the best of it.

Happiness despises chance,
'Tis all clear experience,
Simply that the wise and great
May have joy and merriment.
Ready is not its spell refused—
Melody's not the test of it,
But a calm contented mind,
That will make the best of it.

Trusting in the Power above,
Which, containing all of us
In one common bond of love,
Shadeth great and cotsil of us.
Whatsoever may befall—
Sorrows or the rest of it—
We shall overcome them all,
If we make the best of it.

One Acre Enough—Sometimes.

An "Ex-Market Gardener" gives to the American Agriculturist the following illustrations of what can be done on a small piece of land, by hand work and high manuring. The story looks large, but we do not doubt its truth: 'On a fertile acre, within sight of Trinity Church steeple, New York, but in the benighted land, of Jersey,' lives a man whom, not to offend his modesty I will call 'John Smith.' John's neat cottage and gore cost him, some eight years ago, $1,000—now worth $6,000. "In the spring of 1864, he planted on his acre 12,000 Early Wakefield cabbage plants, which, by the first week in July, were sold in the New York markets, at $8 per 100, for $960 Between the rows of cabbage were planted, at the same time, 18,000 Silesia lettuce plants, which at $1.50 per 100, brought $270. Both crops were cleared off by 12th July, the ground again thoroughly plowed and harrowed, and planted with 40,000 celery plants, which were sold before Christmas of same year, at $3 per 100, for $1,200, making the total receipts $2,430. His expenses were: "Manure $150; keep of horse, $300; interest on $6,000, $420; hired labor, $400; incidental outlay, $100; amounting in all to $1,370, which deducted from the receipts gave him the net profit of $1,060. "John is only a common-place man. Some might call him a skid-hopper. He has no particular skill, no great share of "brains"—his only prominent quality is untiring industry; but it would be difficult for any one, no matter how endowed with skill or brains, to make more of an acre than he has done.

"Another more ambitious friend, who thinks ten acres more than enough, has, with nearly the same crop, laid himself liable to pay Uncle Sam's 5 per cent. from his income on his 'truck patch,' his profits having been this season, on ten acres of land, $5,700, over and above household expenses. Both of the above are exceptional cases, their grounds being in the very highest state of cultivation. But it is a fact beyond all question, that is what is known as the 'Commonpaw district' the net profit per acre, for the past three years, have averaged $500. "No greater mistake can be made, either by farmer or gardener, than spreading himself over a large surface. The market gardener of New Jersey, in vicinity of New York, cultivate from one to fifteen acres each. The most successful are those who have been contest with six or eight acres. I believe their success will bear favorable comparison with that of the Long Islanders, whose farm-gardens contain from ten to one hundred acres each. As a class, they are hard-working and frugal, and all who have weathered the storm during the past dozen years are now independent."

CANADA THISTLES.—I see an enquiry for a good mode of killing Canada thistles in the Country Gentleman of July 21. I have seen several such enquiries before, and have been surprised that no one has given the true answer to them. Let your thistles grow as long as you can and not have the seed mature enough to grow. Then mow them close to the ground. The next year they will be few and weak, and a second cutting will finish them. I do not think that a "patch" of Canada thistles was ever subdued by ploughing or hoeing. Have tried both methods thoroughly several times, but always failed. Fields in which the Canada thistle has become troublesome should be stocked down and mowed, and they will soon disappear.—D. H. O., in Country Gentleman.

PROFITS OF SHEEP.—The following account of the profits of a small flock of sheep was communicated to the Bangor Whig by Mr. John Gerrish, of Newport, Maine: —"I wintered eight ewes and a buck. The buck was a small lamb, and one of the ewes was a twin lamb. They sheared 34 lbs. of wool, worth $1 per pound, and had 13 lambs, but raised only 13, worth $49, which with the wool makes $83—an average of $9.22. One of the sheep raised three lambs, worth more than $10. I put to her credit $14; these raised two apiece; I put to their credit an average of $11 50, which will make from the four $46 50. The sheep that raised three lambs is four years old, and has raised seven lambs. The increase from that lamb is fourteen—seven children and one great-grand-child. There are in the flock ten ewes of the tribe now."

Practical Hints.

TO MAKE A WAGGON JACK.—A good jack may be made by taking a piece of board two feet long, or longer, according to the size of the wheel, and another long enough to go under the axle after it is raised, place one board in front of the wheel, one end on the ground, and the other just under one of the spokes, close up to the felloe; then take hold of a spoke on the opposite side of the wheel with one hand, while with the other hand you place the other board under the axletree. In this way a heavy waggon may be lifted, and the jack is quickly and cheaply made.

SIMPLE MODE OF PURIFYING WATER.—It is not generally known that pounded alum possesses the property of purifying water. A tablespoonful of pulverized alum sprinkled into a hogshead of water (the water stirred at the same time) will, after a few hours, by precipitating to the bottom the impure particles, so purify it that it will be found to possess nearly all the freshness and clearness of the finest spring water. A pailful containing four gallons, may be purified by a single teaspoonful of the alum.

It is good to have one's practical sense of the world's nothingness refreshed and stirred up anew by the sight of a death-bed.

For Sale, To Let, &c.

FOR SALE.

CHEAP FOR CASH,

Or ON LONG APPROVED CREDIT.

ONE very fast grey Mare, 8 years old. One Brown Mare, 4 years old. One splendid Broad Mare; all gentle, and fit for any work. One Lumber Waggon, one Sleigh, and one set of Double Harness.

A good yoke of Oxen or Steers will be taken in exchange.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, Oct. 13, 1864. 41

FOR SALE, OR, TO LET.

THE subscriber wishes either to Sell or to Let those premises at present occupied by Mr. John Ritchie as a tavern,

In the Village of Bobcaygeon.

The Hotel is in a good state of repair, with good stabling and other outbuildings.

For terms, &c., apply to

ROBERT HUNTER.

Bobcaygeon, Sept. 10, 1864. 37

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE

IN THE

TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE property of the late WM. LANNIN, on Charlotte Street, opposite the Railway Station is offered for sale on reasonable terms; the lot has been divided into five parts, three of which are situated on Bethune Street, and has a frontage of 45 feet by 114 deep; the other two are situated on Charlotte Street and have a frontage of 57 feet by 89 feet in depth which makes them desirable for building purposes.

The whole will be sold in one lot or to suit purchasers.

For terms and particulars apply to

D. HOPKINS
or THOS. LANNIN.

Peterboro', August 24, 1864. 34

VALUABLE FARM

FOR SALE OR TO LET.

BEING composed of the east halves of Lots Nos. 22 and 23, in the first concession of the Township of Otonabee. There are about 150 acres cleared, and a good Frame Dwelling House, two frame Barns, a first-rate Driving House, Sheds and Stables, a good Well and Orchard on the premises.

Title indisputable, and immediate possession will be given. TERMS MODERATE.

For further particulars apply to G. F. Orde, or to the proprietor,

WM. WEIR,
Northern Percy, C. W.

5

Farm for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale Lot No. 19, in the 12th Concession of Otonabee. There are 120 acres of good land in the farm, with a little over 100 acres cleared. There are good buildings, and two wells of water on the farm; it is about four miles from the Town of Peterborough.

TERMS.—One-half down, the remainder in 8 annual instalments.

JOSHUA DAWSON.

Otonabee Jan. 30th, 1864. 5

FARM FOR SALE.

LOT No. 27, in the 16th Concession of Smith containing 200 acres; there are 150 acres cleared, and on the premises there are a hewed Log House, Log Barn, good Well, and Orchard The Farm is situated on the main road to Buckhorn, 17 miles from the Town of Peterborough, there is a School House on one corner of it.

For Particulars apply to

ANDREW McKEE,
14th Con. of Smith.

January 12th 1864. 2

LANDS FOR SALE.

TWENTY THOUSAND ACRES OF LAND, both wild and improved, and at all prices, for sale in various parts of Canada, principally in the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria and Ontario,) cheap, and on easy terms.

For lists and particulars apply to the proprietor

T. D. LEDYARD, Barrister, &c.
South-west corner King and Yonge Streets,
8 TORONTO.

HOUSE AND FURNITURE.

A COMFORTABLE HOUSE to Let. The Furniture in it can be had at very reasonable terms. Inquire at the office of Messrs. Fairbairn & Dumble, Barristers.

Peterborough, Nov. 9th, 1864. 45

St. GEORGE'S SALOON

GEORGE MITCHELL,

Sole Agent in Peterborough for

CREIGHTON'S

Superior ALES and PORTER,

In Casks or Bottle,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

For Cash on Delivery.

Peterboro', April 14th, 1864. 15

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
Insurance Company.
CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA
ASSURANCE COMP'Y.
CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMPANY
CAPITAL, $2,000,000.

Peterborough, Jan. 1st, 1863. 1

COPLAND'S ALE!

A LARGE QUANTITY

OF

COPLAND'S

Celebrated Sparkling Pale Ale,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND BY

LEWIS GLOVER, Sole Agent.

Peterboro, Oct. 29th, 1863. 44

NOTICE.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his customers that he is now prepared to GRIND GRISTS in a superior manner. He respectfully invites all who wish to patronize him to favor him with a call. All flour, made from good Wheat, warranted.

LEWIS BOWLAND.

Douro, March 1st, 1864. 9

ARE YOU IN AGONY?

A WELL SPRING OF HOPE FOR ALL!

CAN BE FOUND IN

Holloway's Pills.

Be of Good Cheer! The Sinking may be Saved!

BY THE USE OF

Holloway's Ointment.

THE history of these great Remedies is the most wonderful medical revelation that the world has ever known. It establishes the all important fact that WHERESOEVER and in WHATEVER SHAPE internal disease exists, the disinfecting, searching and healing properties of the PILLS are fully equal to its subjection and cure, and that, with the OINTMENT, they are

The Great Ambassadors of Health to all Mankind.

This is not a history written by one man, or even derived from the experiences of one nation. It consists of a compilation of testimonials from the sick of every country—an unimpeachable record, the like of which has never been adduced in favor of any discovery or invention since time began.

These Mighty Healers, World Known and World Tried are a Boon to the Sick

The want of a sterling medicinal to meet the ills and necessities of the suffering portion of humanity, and one entirely free from mineral and other deleterious particles, was severely felt till this all powerful medicine was ushered into the world; HOLLOWAY'S INVALUABLE PILLS have become the HOUSEHOLD REMEDY of all nations. Their attribute is to PREVENT as well as to CURE; they attack the BASIS or ROOT of the complaint, and thus, by removing the hidden cause of disease, re-invigorate and restore the drooping energies of the system, assisting nature in her task of VITAL and FUNCTIONARY REPARATION.

Disorders of the Stomach

Are the sources of the deadliest maladies. Their effect is to vitiate all the fluids of the body, and to send a poisoned stream through all the channels of circulation. Now, what is the operation of the Pills? They cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver, bring the relaxed or irritated stomach into a natural condition, and, acting through the secretive organs FROM THE BLOOD ITSELF, change the state of the system from sickness to health, by exercising a simultaneous and wholesome effect upon all its parts and functions.

Woman in all her Difficulties

Is invited to test the regulating and restorative powers of this harmless but effective preparation. At the two epochs of life in which the female system undergoes the most important and critical changes, the Pills will prove a positive safeguard against evil consequences. They are also confidently recommended as a specific in every disorder to which females are exclusively subject.

Be it Understood,

That the above statements can at all times be verified by the written testimony (extending through a quarter of a century) of tens of thousands of unimpeachable witnesses.

Bilious Maladies, &c., &c.

In whatever form disease attacks the liver, it is repelled and exterminated by this searching, painless, and irresistable curative. Bilious remittents, bilious purging, and all the ordinary disorders of the organ, indicated by pain in the right side and between the shoulders, yellowness of the whites of the eyes, weakness and debility, &c., are relieved and removed by the remedy, with a celerity which astonishes the sufferers and their friends. Let the sick whom the faculty have abandoned, resort with confidence to this powerful anti-bilious agent, and a restoration to health and activity will be the unvarying result.

Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Weakness, &c. &c.

The terrible bodily and mental pangs which characterise Dyspepsia are at once mitigated by the Pills. Diarrhœa, constipation, headache, physical prostration, nervous tremors, hot flushes, spasms, affections of the kidneys, hemorrhoids or piles, and, in fact, all internal complaints, from whatever cause arising, give way before the salutary influence of this extraordinary remedy. As a specific for dyspepsia, and the disorders connected with it, or growing out of it, the Pills are always to be relied on when every other medicine and mode of treatment has utterly failed.

Holloway's Pills are the best Remedy known for the following diseases:

Asthma,	Headaches,
Bowel Complaints,	Indigestion,
Coughs,	Influenza,
Colds,	Inflamation,
Chest Diseases,	Inward Weakness,
Costiveness,	Liver Complaints,
Dyspepsia,	Lowness of Spirits,
Diarrhœa,	Piles,
Dropsy,	Stone and Gravel,
Debility,	Secondary Symptoms,
Fever and Ague,	Vernal Affections,
Female Complaints,	Worms of all kinds.

CAUTION.

If the readers of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug store in his place, let him write to me, enclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' make.

None are genuine unless the words "Holloway New York and London," are discernible as a Water Mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same knowing them to be spurious.

 Sold at the manufactory of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and the civilized world, in boxes, at 25 cents, 62 cents, and $1 40 each.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes. 33

STEAMSHIP TICKETS

STOLEN.

WHEREAS, on the night of Tuesday, 30th August, the Express Office at Peterboro' was broken into, and some Tickets of the Montreal Ocean Steamship Company stolen therefrom; the public are hereby cautioned against purchasing Tickets of the above Company numbered 219 to 240 inclusive, as they have been cancelled.

TEE . COX,
Agent.

Peterborough, Sept. 13 166 6-tf

ROOM PAPER DEPOT.

WM. N. KENNEDY,

HAS REMOVED to the store immediately West of the Stewart House, on Hunter street.

His stock of Room Papers, Borders, Decorations, Window Blinds, Fire Screens, &c., has been largely increased and will be sold cheap.

Painting in all its branches carried on as usual.

Peterboro', Oct. 16, 1864. 43

FOR SALE,

FLOUR IN BARRELS,

ALLANDALE MILLS,

Also,—OATMEAL IN BARRELS.

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro', June 8th, 1864. 13

PETERBORO EXAMINER.

S. B. PROU, Esq., has kindly consented to act as Agent for the Examiner, for the neighborhood of Gull River.

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

Peterboro, January, 1865.

REEVES' AMBROSIA

FOR THE

Growth, Beauty and Preservation

OF THE

HAIR.

REEVES' AMBROSIA is prepared from valuable Roots and Herbs, each and all of which have proved, by experiment, eminently successful in producing the most luxuriant growth of hair. These Roots, &c., are carefully selected, and chemically compounded by such a method as to extract and combine their true medical virtues in the most effectual manner.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains Nutshell Bark. Thoroughly eradicates Dirt, Gum and Dandruff.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains Witch Hazel.—Stops all pains in the head; cures sore and diseased Scalps, Salt Rheum, Scaldhead, &c. &c. Removes Dull Headache.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains Bay Rum.—Gives vigour and healthy action to the Roots of the hair.—Is very cooling to the Head.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains Southern Wood.—Prevents the hair from turning prematurely grey.—Restores grey hair.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains Rosemary Flowers.—Nourishes the roots of the hair and gives impulse to its growth—is a delightful ingredient.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains:

L——r	Leaves.	H——s	H——r
B——n	Bark.	V——n	R——k.

The surest discovery which causes the hair to grow beautiful, thick and long.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Is a genuine and reliable preparation. Buy it, try it, and be convinced.

For sale by all Druggists, at 75 cents per bottle.

Depot, 42 Fulton Street, New York.

December 1, 1864. Cons.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS.

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to Her Queen

THIS invaluable medicine is confidently offered for the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the Female constitution is subject. It moderates all excesses and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied upon.

TO MARRIED LADIES

It is peculiarly suited; it will, in short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity. Each bottle, price One Dollar, bears the Government stamp of Great Britain, to prevent counterfeits.

CAUTION.—These Pills should not be taken by females during the first three months of Pregnancy, as they are sure to bring on Miscarriage; but at any other time they are safe.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections pain in the back and limbs, fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, they do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution. ☞ Full directions in the pamphlet round each box, which should be carefully preserved.

Sole Agent for the United States and Canadas

JOB MOORE, N. Y.

N. B.—$1 and 6 postage stamps enclosed to any authorized agent, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN, C. W.
General Agents for the Canadas.

Sold in Peterboro by Ormond & Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and W. Coulter; by C. Britton, Lindsay; and all medical dealers. 16

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS!

The Original Medicine established in 1831, and first article of the kind ever introduced under the name of "Pulmonic Wafers," in this or any other country; all other Pulmonic Wafers are counterfeits. The following can be known by the name BRYAN being stamped on each WAFER.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficult breathing.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Spitting of Blood, Pains in the Chest.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Incipient Consumption, Lung Diseases.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve Irritation of the Throat and Tonsils.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Relieve the above complaints in ten minutes.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are a blessing to all Clergy and Constitutions.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are adapted for Vocalists and Public Speakers.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are in simple form and pleasant to the taste.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Not only relieve but effect rapid and lasting cures.
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
Are warranted to give satisfaction to everyone.

No family should be without a box of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers in the house.

No traveler should be without a supply of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers in his pocket.

No person will ever object to give for Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers Twenty-five Cents.

JOB MOORE, Sole Proprietor, N. Y.

NORTHROP & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas,

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour Wm. Coulter, and A. W Kempt; by C. Britton Lindsay and all medicine dealers. 16

LAW RESPECTING NEWSPAPERS.

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the cont ary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the Publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

If Subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered their papers to be discontinued.

If Subscribers remove to other places without informing the publisher, they are held responsible.

The courts have decided that refusing to take a newspaper or periodical from the office, or removing, and leaving it uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

THE

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

Is published at the office of the publisher every Thursday morning,

NICHOLLS & HALL'S BLOCK, WATER ST.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

If paid strictly in advance.....$1 50 per an.
If not paid within 3 months of time of subscribing 2 00

Rates of Advertising.

Six Lines, and under, first insertion.....50 cts
Each subsequent insertion.....17
Six to ten lines, first insert

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY GRAHAM & STRATTON.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE

Vol. X. PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, APRIL 13, 1865. No. 15

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL, AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

BY

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars, Handbills, Funeral Cards, Invitations, Bill Headings, Horse Bills, Show Bills, Concert Bills, Programmes, Posters, Stage Bills, Business Cards, Blanks, &c. with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing in Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,
BARRISTER-AT-LAW, George Street, Peterborough. 18

C. A. WELLER,
CLERK of the Peace. Office George Street, Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,
COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office George street. 20

DENNISTOUN & SON,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, &c., Hunter street, Peterboro'.
ROBERT DENNISTOUN. | JAMES F. DENNISTOUN.

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

JOSEPH R. WALTON.
GENERAL Fire and Life Insurance Agent, George Street, Peterboro'. 18

MILLAR & BERTRAM,
HARDWARE Merchants, George Street, Peterborough. 18

JAMES STEVENSON,
DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c, George Street, Peterborough. 18

ORMOND & GILMOUR,
DRUGGISTS, Chemists and Seedsmen, dealers in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 18

A. W. KEMPT,
DRUGGIST, Dealer in Genuine Drugs and Chemicals, Patent Medicines. Paints, Oils, Colours, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c.—Medical Hall, George street, Peterboro. 20

ROBERT WALTON,
SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 18

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer &c., Henthorn's Brick Block, north of Ormond & Gilmour's George Street, Peterborough. 20

J. GRIFFIN & Co.,
PUMP AND FANNING MILL MAKERS, Wood Turners, &c., &c.
Corner of Simco and Aylmer Streets, Peterborough, C. W. 18-1y

ALEX. McNEIL,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.
OFFICE AND STORE, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.
Nov. 27, 1861. 48

J. B. BISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 20

WM. N. KENNEDY,
PAINTER, PaperHanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 15

Mr. TOOLE.
MANUFACTURER of Sash, Blinds, Door and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 15

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—OFFICE, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

R. PATTERSON & Co.
DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.
Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough

LIVERY STABLES,
WHITE & EASTLAND, Hunter street Peterboro', C. W.

JAMES McLEAN,
INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.
Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 30

BANK OF TORONTO,
GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposit
A. SMITH, Agent. 20

GEORGE READ,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee. 20

THOMAS W. POOLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, Accoucheur, and coroner. Water St., opposite the Market Square, Peterboro', C. W. 20

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Mr. GEORGE EDMISON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c.
Office over the Hardware Store of Messrs George Stetham & Co., George Street, Peterboro.
Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

THOS. G. CHOATE,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Commissioner for taking affidavits, &c., &c.
Warsaw, C. W. 39

JOHN McMILLAN,
TAILOR,
SHOP on Simcoe Street, next door to R. Patterson & Co's Boot and Shoe Store, Peterborough. 44

MRS. HUGH WILSON,
Milliner,
STILL continues business one door East of the Free Church. 45

MR. SIDNEY SMITH
HAS RESUMED HIS PRACTICE AS
BARRISTER, ATTORNEY,
&c., &c., &c.
Office over the Post Office,
PETERBOROUGH, C. W.
April 27, 1863. 18

JOHN O'DONNELL
DENTIST.
OFFICE—Ormond & Gilmour's Block, George st.
PETERBOROUGH.
References—Dr. Leggo Dentist, Brockville. Dr. McCrea, Keene. T White, Jr. Esq., Editor of the Review; H. T. Strickland, Esq., merchant, Peterboro', and over one hundred others.
Teeth extracted for those not able to pay, daily from 9 to 10 a. m., free of charge. 26

W. PHILP,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
Residence, near the Union School.
BEG respectfully to announce to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, that, he is prepared to give Lessons on the Piano and Violin, &c., either in his own house or at the residence of the Pupils.
For Terms apply personally, or at Messrs. Cox & Davidson's Book Store, Simcoe Street, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.
Music for Balls and Evening Parties by Philp's Quadrille Band, on reasonable terms.
Peterboro', Oct. 28th, 1863. 44

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN!
COUNTY AUCTIONEER!!
THE Subscriber is now prepared to attend to all kinds of sales, with promptness and dispatch as Auctioneer. Addres
CORNELIUS WILSON,
Norwood, P. O.,
Asphodel.
Norwood, Sept. 5th, 1864. 36

A LIBERAL OFFER.
A Complete set of Text and Blank Books for the entire Commercial Course, (Cash price, Seven Dollars) will be presented to each Student purchasing a Scholarship in
THE LONDON
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE
BEFORE
The First Day of April Next.
Price of Scholarship for Gents $30 in advance.
Price of Scholarship for Ladies $20 in advance.
Students entering within said time, will be allowed the advantages of our Club Rates, the same as others.
THIS IS THE
OLDEST COMMERCIAL COLLEGE
IN THE PROVINCE!!
And our facilities for imparting practical knowledge, by means of actual transactions are unsurpassed. In addition to the regular Commercial Branches, everything is taught without extra charge, which is requisite for obtaining a First Class Certificate for teaching common school. Drawing and Painting and Telegraphing also taught.
Good board can be obtained in private families for Two Dollars per week.
For circular containing full particulars address post paid,
J. W. JONES,
Principal London Commercial College,
LONDON, C. W.,

REMOVAL.
MRS. TODGHAM,
STRAW MILLINER,
BEGS to inform her Friends and Customers that she has removed from George Street, her late place of business, to Hunter Street, in the house West of the old Union School-house, where all orders will be executed in the best style, and on the same reasonable terms as heretofore.
Felt Hats Cleaned and Altered.
Peterboro, December 1, 1864. 48.

A RARE CHANCE.
FOR SALE, OR TO LET for the Season, an Entire Horse, rising four years old with great bone and action. Apply at this Office.
March 9th, 1865. 10-tf

REMOVAL.

E. POOLE'S
Furniture Ware Rooms
HAVE BEEN REMOVED
TO RYAN'S BLOCK,
Opposite the Market.
WHERE he will keep on hand the most extensive, best selected, cheapest and latest styles of Furniture, which he will sell Cheap for Cash.

UNDERTAKING,
In all its branches attended to with punctuality. COFFINS kept constantly on hand.
Peterborough, Nov. 30th, 1864. 48

STOVES
AND TIN-WARE.
GREAT INDUCEMENTS.
A. STEWART
Is now prepared to supply all kinds of
COOKING, BOX, AND PARLOR STOVES,
At Greatly Reduced Prices.
He keeps constantly on hand the following first class Stoves:—
St. LAWRENCE, square and extended tops.
CANADA, do. do.
QUEEN CITY, do. do.
IRON DUKE, do. do.
PROTECTIONIST.
MAPLE LEAF, &c., &c.
PARLOR STOVES
Too numerous to mention.
Let all cash buyers call and examine his stock and prices, as he is determined to be undersold by none.
A. STEWART.
N. B.—Eave Troughs, Cistern Pumps, Beer Pumps, Bell-hanging, Lumbermen's Furnishings, and Jobbing of every description.
A. S.
Peterborough, Nov. 16, 1864. 46

CARD PICTURES
Two for a Dollar!
FRAMING CHEAP
Likenesses of deceased persons enlarged from Ambrotypes and colored in oil.
Ambrotypes from 50 Cents,
AT THE
Photographic and Fine Art Gallery,
HUNTER STREET.
R. D. EWING.
Peterboro, March 1, 1865. 9

REMOVAL.
J. O'DONNELL, D. S.,
HAS REMOVED his Dental Office to the beautiful Corner Rooms
Over Ormond & Gilmour's Drug Store,
Entrance on Hunter Steeet—same as Mr. Ewing's Photographic Rooms.
Particular attention paid to Facial Neuralgia, diseases of the Antrum, Necrosis and Caries of the Jaw, and all diseases in connection with the anatomy of the mouth.
Teeth Extracted without Pain.
Peterborough, Dec. 14th, 1864. 50

MR. ORDE has removed his office to Chambers' Building, opposite the Commercial Bank.
Money, in sums varying from $300 to $2000, to a large aggregate amount, ready to be advanced on the security of "Improved Farms" and no other, with reference whereunto, to obviate unnecessary correspondence and postal charges, the personal application of intending mortgagors will only be entertained.
Mr. Orde has likewise entered into business arrangements with John C. T. Cochrane, Esq., General Land and Parliamentary Agent, of Quebec (or wherever the Seat of Government may happen to be), a gentleman of eighteen years' experience, and large practice in transactions relating to Patent and other claims in the Crown Lands Department.
Peterborough, Dec. 8, 1864.

COPLAND'S ALE!
A LARGE QUANTITY
OF
COPLAND'S
Celebrated Sparkling Pale Ale,
CONSTANTLY ON HAND BY
LEWIS GLOVER, Sole Agent.
Peterboro, Oct. 25th, 1863. 44

NOTICE.
THE subscriber begs leave to inform his customers that he is now prepared to GRIND GRISTS in a superior manner. He respectfully invites all who wish to patronise him to favor him with a call. All flour, made from good Wheat, warranted.
LEWIS BORLAND.
Deuro, March 1st, 1864. 9

Hopkins & Donnelly
WOULD respectfully call the attention of the public generally to their excellent Stock of Goods, comprising everything found in a first-class Saddlery and Harness Warehouse, and surpassed by none in the Province.
As they have adopted the Ready Pay system, everything will be sold at
GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.
In Peterborough, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe street; in Lakefield, next door to Mr. Sheran's store.
P. S.—Over-due notes and accounts must positively be settled at once, otherwise they will be put in suit for collection.
H. & D.
Peterboro, Feb. 1, 1865. 5

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY
OF CANADA.
From Niagara Falls to Detroit,
AND BRANCHES FROM HAMILTON TO TORONTO.
Passenger Train Time Table.
OCTOBER, 1864.
TORONTO LINE.
HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

STATIONS GOING EAST.	Mixed.	Express.
	A. M.	P. M.
HAMILTON.....depart	7.45	2.45
Burlington Junction	.....	.....
Waterdown	8.00	.....
Wellington Square	8.15	4.10
Bronte	8.37	4.27
Oakville	.....	4.38
Port Credit	.....	.....
Mimico	.....	.....
TORONTO, Union Station, arrive	10.30	6.30

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

STATIONS GOING WEST.	Express.	Mixed
	P. M.	P. M.
TORONTO, Union Station, depart	12.50	5.30
Mimico	.....	6.00
Port Credit	1.5	6.20
Oakville	1.6	6.41
Bronte	1.37	6.57
Wellington Square	2.13	7.16
Waterdown	.....	7.30
Burlington Junction	.....	.....
HAMILTON	2.30	8.00

Hamilton, 1864. 47

MONTREAL
OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.
TICKETS
FOR
Londonderry, Glasgow or Liverpool.
or from any of these ports to any point in Canada, may be procured from the Agent in Peterborough,
GEORGE A. COX,
at the MONTREAL TELEGRAPH OFFICE.
He is also agent for the
BRITISH AND AMERICAN
Express Comp'y
OFFICE, HOPKINS' BLOCK.
Simcoe Street, Peterboro', October 26th, 1863. 44-tf

Norwood and Peterboro'

STAGE.
ACCOMMODATION LINE.
LEAVES NORWOOD
On Tuesday's and Friday's.
AT 7 A. M. RETURNING
LEAVES PETERBORO' THE SAME DAYS,
AT 2.30 P. M.
Orders left at the Huffman House, Peterboro, or the International Hotel, Norwood; will be promptly attended to.
Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates.
J. A. JOHNSON,
Proprietor.
Norwood, August 19, 1863. 34

ROYAL
MAIL STAGE
BETWEEN
KEENE & PETERBORO'.
A DAILY STAGE
Leaves the Victoria House, Keene.. 9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' ..... 12 noon.
Leave Peterboro'... ..... 3 p. m.
Arrive at Keene..... 5.30 p. m.
April 17th, 1863. 17tf.

PORT HOPE & PETERBOROUGH
RAILWAY.
ON and after the 23th of June, the Peterboro Trains will run as follows:—
MAIL.
Leave Port Hope at..... 9.55a.m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at.....12.15 p.m.
Leave Peterboro at.....3.30 p.m
Arrive at Port Hope.....5.55 p.m,
B. R. KIMBALL, Superintendent. F. FERGUSON, Secretary.
Peterboro June. 1864. 28

Poetry.

LIFE.

Life is good, for God did give it—
Good to all who rightly live it.
Sweet affections lend it beauty,
Stirring conflict makes it grand;
Faith triumphant makes it holy,
Leaning on the Father's hand.

Life is hidden in a chamber
Ever hidden to a stranger;
There is life and strong emotion,
Thought and feeling, sacred sorrow,
Teeming like a troubled ocean;
Faith serene, though dark the morrow.

Life is conflict, earnest stern,
Much to conquer, more to learn;
But above there is a helper;
Blessed voices cheer us on;
Heavenly lights forbid to falter,
Angels shout each victory won.

Life is swift. The years go by;
A story told, and then we die.
Still the golden now is ours;
And memory running down the past,
Plucks again its choicest fruits—
Fruits for virtue's crown at last.

Life is good, for God did give it—
Good for all who rightly live it;
Life is hidden in a chamber,
Never open to a stranger.
Life is struggle, earnest, stern;
Much to conquer, more to learn.

Life is swift. The years go by;
A story told, then we die.
Life is glory—all things holy;
Conflict done victory won—
Clad in white—crowned with light—
Angel songs shall tell his story.

Agricultural.

First Prize Essay on Flax Culture.

(From the American Agriculturist.)

The subject of flax culture may be properly considered under three parts: 1st. The preparation of the soil. 2nd, The seed, the growth and culture of the plant and harvesting. 3d, The rotting and dressing for market. The first two parts belong particularly to the soil; while the third is more properly a process of manufacture, and though very distinct from each other, they are frequently performed by the farmer. Flax is grown sometimes for the seed only, and sometimes for both the seed and lint. The seed yields a drying oil of the best quality for painters' purposes, the residue being oil cake, used for feeding stock; and the straw yields lint of two qualities, called flax and tow. Flax is the long, straight fibre, and tow consists of the short and tagled fibre, which separates in dressing the long lint. Sometimes, however, the entire fibre is prepared as tow. The lint that is separated from the long fibre, when the flax is dressed, is called in market, "fine tow"; it is manufactured into tow-cloth or into small ropes and cords. The flax is made into linen thread, and linen cloth. "Coarse tow" consists of the entire fibre of flax, the shives having been simply removed. This is pressed into bales, weighing 300 to 400 pounds each, and is sold in most of our large cities, at 2 to 6 or more cents per pound, according to the locality and the demand, for stuffing the cushions and backs of carriages, and household furniture, for making ropes, coarse cloth, etc. There is always a good demand for flax fibre, whether it is in the long line commonly called "flax," or fine tow, or coarse tow. Consequently, a farmer can always dispose of his crop of lint with a little labor, at low price; or he can bestow much labor in preparing it for market, and receive a proportionately larger compensation. This is one of the excellences of the flax crop; and for this reason there is no other crop that may be raised in our grain growing-regions—where a three, four, or five-years rotation of crops has been adopted—with more profit to the farmer, and more advantage to the soil. If a farmer desires to raise it for seed only and get quick returns, it can be done with a limited amount of labor; but if he desires to have work for his laborers at those seasons of the year when nothing can be done in the field, he will always find it profitable, if he is a good manager, to grow a crop of flax every year, and prepare the fibre for market.

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE PLANT.—Flax has one very important characteristic, an understanding of which is of great practical advantage. When a flax stem is growing alone, it will throw out numerous branches, many of which will be as large as the main stem; and each of these will produce other branches, all of which will yield seed. On the contrary, when the seed is sown thickly, each seed will produce only a straight stem, without any branches, with but little seed. The practical point is, to decide before the seed is sowed, whether the purpose be to raise flax for the seed chiefly, with coarse tow in connection, or principally for the fibre. See paragraph upon thick and thin seeding in another place below.

SOILS.—Flax will flourish well on any soil that will yield good crops of cereal grain, and some soils that do not produce abundant crops of certain kinds of grain, will produce an excellent crop of flax. Flax likes a deep, fertile, and mellow loam, and on such a soil a heavy crop of both lint and seed may be produced, provided there be not an excess of water in the soil. These river bottoms, and uplands where the predominating characteristic of the soil is black muck, if fertile enough to produce heavy grass, will yield a good crop of flax fibre, and a small crop of seed. But, if the soil is in a good state of fertility for yielding potatoes, oats, Indian corn, or rye, the yield of both seed and fibre will be large. Flax will not flourish on wet soils of any kind, and the crop will be light on heavy, slippery clay soils, unless thoroughly underdrained, well pulverized, and enriched with fertilizing materials. A good crop of flax can not be produced on a poor, wet, and half-pulverized soil, any more than a good crop of wheat.

PREPARING THE SOIL.—There is no kind of grain,—wheat not excepted,—for which the soil needs as much preparation as is required for a good crop of flax, and there is no crop that farmers are accustomed to raise, that will pay better for fertilizing and pulverising the soil. Not only will the seed be better, but the fibre also, when the flax is grown on soil that is very fertile, and has been kept clean by thorough cultivation. Weeds and grass will not only be a nuisance when the flax comes to be rotted and dressed, but they will seriously injure its growth. And if the dressed lint, the tow or the flax, have grass, straw or weeds in it, the value will be greatly reduced. My own practice in getting the soil ready for a crop of flax has been, to commence its preparation at least three years before, with especial reference to flax. I have always raised it in rotation, with Indian corn, barley, oats, winter or spring wheat, and red clover. A clover sod, well manured, would be plowed for Indian corn. If the soil were a heavy, slippery clay, or a gravely, calcareous clay, it was plowed in the fall. If there were any wet places in the field, they at least would always be underdrained. The corn was kept clean, and no weeds allowed to go to seed. The next year, a crop of barley was raised, and as soon as the barley was harvested, the soil was well harrowed with a heavy harrow, or cultivated with a wheel cultivator, for the purpose of covering the seeds of all noxious weeds, so that they would vegetate and die before winter. In October, or November, the soil was well plowed; and if deep, we used a double team, and a Michigan double plow. The dead furrows were cleaned out, so as to carry off the surface water. If the soil were light and porous, and not disposed to bake in the summer, we would never plow it in autumn. Where black muck predominates in the soil, or where it is a very porous, sandy, or gravely loam, or a light alluvial deposit, it should not be plowed in late autumn, but rather in August, or September. Then, if any weeds come up before winter use the harrows or the cultivator to destroy them.—In the following spring, as soon as the ground has settled and become sufficiently dry, we plow it, cutting narrow furrow slices, as deep as it has previously been plowed; and always take especial pains not to have any balks or holes between the furrows. After the ground is plowed, we harrow it twice, and then roll previous to sowing the seed.

The great object in harrowing and rolling before sowing the seed, is, to have the surface of the ground as smooth and uniform as it can be made, so that the flax may get an even start, and grow uniformly, and the surface of the ground be better to work on when the flax is pulled. If the seed is sowed in an uneven surface, where there are lumps, sods, and little furrows and holes, much of it will be buried too deep, and consequently, the growth of the straw (and fibre) will be uniform, and the seed will not mature alike. In case there are no lumps the roller should not be used, but the soil should be gone over with a harrow having numerous small teeth. Where the soil has been cultivated as it should be, while a crop of Indian corn, or barley, or potatoes was growing, the surface of it will be smooth as a neatly prepared carrot-bed. On such soils, flax will often grow from three to four feet long; the seed will be of a superior quality, and the lint will be heavy and of great length. Where the soil is well adapted to raising potatoes and other roots, if it be well manured beforehand, and the weeds thoroughly eradicated, the proprietor may be sure of a heavy crop of both lint and seed. Thoroughly rotted manure is quite as essential for flax, as it is for wheat; but, coarse unfermented manure produces a rank growth of straw, not much seed, and the flax is liable to rust.

When there are many stones in the soil, the larger ones should be removed, and the smaller ones may be pressed down with a heavy roller before the seed is sowed, for the purpose of making a smoothe surface to work on at harvest time. In some portions of the country, a black muck soil rests directly on a stratum of rich clayey loam. Now, by the use of a double team and a Michighan sod plow, or any other plow turning a deep furrow well, and by turning up two or three inches in depth of this fertile subsoil in late autumn or winter, so that the rains and frosts will throughly pulverize it before the next spring, then plowing and harrowing as just directed, a very heavy crop of lint and a fair crop of seed may be raised. But it must be kept in mind, that a large crop of seed cannot be raised on an inferior soil, without good manure of some kind. Clean culture, a deep soil throughly pulverized and in a good state of fertility, will always produce a good crop of both lint and seed, if the season is at all favourable for other crops. Flax will do as well as oats, barley, or wheat, when sowed upon sod ground.

ERADICATING SMALL WEEDS BEFORE SEEDING.—After the soil has been prepared for the seed, let it remain about ten days, when nearly all the seeds of noxious weeds will have vegetated. Now, on the day that the seed is to be sowed, give it a thorough harrowing, for the purpose of destroying the little weeds that have appeared in the "seed leaf." In case lumps of earth, or small stones are harrowed up, the surface must be rolled. And while the surface of the soil is fresh, let the seed be put in as speedily as possible, because flax seed, or any other seed will germinate much sooner thus, than if put into soil that has not been disturbed for a number of days.

PROPER SELECTION OF SEED.—Most farmers appear to think that flax seed is all of one quality, so far as productiveness is concerned. There is just as much difference in the productive quality of flax seed as there is in Indian corn; and a large proportion of that which is sold in market is no more fit for seed, and no more productive than Indian corn would be, were all the half-ripe ears shelled with the good ones for seed. No good farmer would ever think of planting such corn, because although it might vegitate, it would not, and could not, produce a good yield of grain. Half-matured flax seed cannot produce a good crop of either lint or seed.

But autum farmers raise their own seed they will be obliged to take up with such as they can find in the market, whether good or poor. My own practice has been to obtain the plumpest and brightest seed to be found. Then run it through the fanning mill twice; and blow out all the light seed by a heavy blast. Then at harvest time, select those stocks of flax that grew on the best ground and that ripened first, and keep them separate from the rest. Thresh off only about half of the seed, and save it for next season. Continue this practice for a few years, and even on the same soil and the same cultivation, both the quality and quantity of seed will be greatly improved; and the length of the fibre very much increased. The seed first matured—which will be the plumpest, fairest and most productive—will be shelled out first. Every intelligent farmer will readily perceive the importance of growing his own seed when it can be done with so little trouble and expence.

THICK AND THIN SEEDING.—Flax may be sowed too thick, as well as too thin. The correct quantity depends upon the object for which the flax is raised. If we wish to obtain the largest yield of lint, we must sow the seed very evenly, and as thinly on the ground as it will throw out branches. If the object is simply to raise seed and coarse tow, it may be sowed very thin—say from half a bushel to one bushel per acre. The old rule is, not enough, because, when it stands so thin on the ground, new branches, and new bolls will continue to grow, and when much of the seed is ripe, many bolls will be only half-ripe. And besides this, the fibre of such large branched flax will not make as good lint as the longer less branched stalks. It may be worked into coarse tow; but it is not so good for dressed lint as the straight stalks. There is also a difference in the lint of the single stalks. If the flax seed be sowed at the rate of three or four bushels to the acre, the stalks will be very small, and the fibre fine and thin, and very soft. But if only one bushel and a-half be sowed per acre—if it be sowed as evenly as it should be—all the stems will be of a uniform quality; the bolls will grow the most part near the very top end of the stalks; and consequently the seed will ripen more evenly, and the crop will be better in every respect than if thicker or thinner. The habit of flax is such that it will accomodate itself to the fertility of the soil better than most other plants, when the quantity of seed is too small. If the soil is in a very good state of fertility, and one bushel of seed be sowed evenly on an acre, almost every stem of flax will throw out only one two or three branches close to the ground. When flax forms branches we have the assurance that the seed ought to have been sowed a little thicker in those places. But when no branches are formed near the roots, it is a sign that as much seed was sowed per acre as could grow profitably; and if the stalks appear small and slender, we need no better evidence that the seed was sowed too thickly. My own practice has been to sow about one bushel and a half to an acre, whether the chief object was seed or lint. I have found this amount of seed would produce a better yield of seed or lint than any other quantity per acre.

TESTING THE SEED.—Many dealers in flax seed will contend that, as flax seed contains so much oil, it will not lose its vitality in many years. But my long experience justifies me in stating that it will sometimes lose its vitality in only a few years. Several years ago, I procured a two bushel sack of Russian flax seed, at a large price, and not a single seed germined, although the soil was well prepared before it was sowed, and the seed was put in when the surface was fresh and mellow, and the seed possessed all the external appearances of the best. It was of a lively, brownish color, very plump, and heavy, but its vitality was gone. To test seed, select a few grains and sprinkle them between two thin pieces of sod laid earth sides together, and put them on a shelf in the kitchen where they must be kept warm and not allowed to dry. In a few days every seed that has not lost its vitality, will germinate. Then by counting them, we readily ascertain about what proportion of them is good.

WHEN TO SOW.—Almost all writers recommend putting in the seed as early in the season as practicable. But my experience and extensive observation warrant me in saying that flax seed is almost always sowed too early. A certain season of the year that would be considered early in one locality, might be very late, one or two hundred miles distant in either direction. Therefore, to fix a definite period for every locality, I would say: Sow when the soil has settled, and is warmed by the influence of the sun, and weeds and grass have begun to spring up, and the leaves of trees begin to unfold. If sowed too early in the season, much of it is liable to be stunted; late frosts are very apt to injure it, more or less; and noxious weeds are sure to get the start of it, unless extra pains have been taken to destroy them. The soil should not be at all adhesive or sticky when the seed is sown. The very best time, with reference to the condition of the soil, is, soon after a shower, when the small lumps will crumble at a very slight touch, and the entire surface is friable and "lively." Then it will germinate in a few days get the start of weeds, and keep the ascendency through the season. By this means a vast amount of weeding will be saved, the fibre will be more abundant, the seed better, and the yield greater.

HOW TO SOW FLAX.—Every practical man knows that flax seed is very slippery grain to sow by hand. Consequently, unless a man take great care, the seed will be sowed very unevenly. As it is so very slippery, it is not practicable to sow it with a grain drill, nor with any kind of broadcast seed sower, that we have ever met with. The details of my own practice, which I have never before put on paper, are as follows: After the soil has been harrowed as directed above, mark out the ground two ways, in lands about 18 feet wide.—This breadth is wide enough to sow at one round, or at two casts. Let the seed be soaked in warm water, about two or three hours, and then rolled in plaster or gypsum. Then count the lands both ways, and make calculation to sow a given quantity of seed on each land, each way. Take so much seed as you can hold conveniently with one thumb and three fingers. If you are liable to take too much seed, hold a small round stone in the hand while sowing. The object of rolling the seed in gypsum is, to render it less slippery. I could always scatter the seed much more evenly by sowing a few rods wide all one way, instead of going directly back and forth. This I did, by going around a land about five or six rods in width, as in ploughing. The best way to mark out flax ground is, to drag a log chain behind you across the field, from one stake to another. It will pay well to carry out all these practical details in full. As flax seed is much more difficult to sow than most other kinds of seed, it is very important that some but an experienced sower, one able to move with a very steady and uniform gait, and to cast every handful with the accuracy of machinery, should be employed to sow flax seed. If the ground be marked out, the sower can always see where his seed falls. But, when he sows by means of stakes, a deviation of only a few inches, to the right or left, will drop the seed too thin in some places, and too thick in others. The sower should always set a small stake where he commences to sow, at both ends of the plot, so that he will be sure that no strip will anywhere be sowed to thick or too thin.

HOW TO COVER THE SEED.—I never would allow a team of any kind to pass over the field, after the seed has been sowed, for the following reasons: If the soil is at all light and porous, a team would, with their feet, bury much of the seed so deeply that it would be several days behind, and would never be able to attain an equal growth with the rest of the field. Another reason is, when the seed is buried so deep, the flax will pull much harder. Flax seed requires but little earth to cover it deep enough to vegetate in a short time, and by depositing it all on a smooth surface, where several seeds will not be gathered into depressions in the soil, it will all vegetate alike, will stand evenly on the ground, and pull easily, may be cut with scythes, cradles, or horse mowers, close to the ground, and the straw and lint will be of a uniform length, and quality. My practice has been to "bush in" the seed by drawing a brush-harrow by hand. With a suitable brush, one man would bush in four or five acres per day, and do the work well. Such a harrow covers a strip about five feet wide, and an active man or a strong boy would cover the seed nearly as fast as he could do it with a team, and much better.

TO MAKE A HAND BRUSH-HARROW.—Procure a piece of hard-wood sweeling, or a round stick, about five feet long, and three by four inches square, for the brush head, and two thills into it; and bore two oblique three-quarter inch holes through it, for receiving the but-ends of brush which are fastened in the holes with nails. Brush about two feet long should be selected, and after the holes are filled with them, another course may be nailed on each side of the brush-head, if necessary. This will be found a most complete implement for covering flax seed. The effectiveness of such a brush-harrow may be increased at pleasure by tacking billets of wood to the upper side of it. The length of it may be greater or less according to the evenness, or the unevenness of the surface of the soil. If it should be somewhat uneven, it would be better to make two such harrows, four feet long, for two men to use, than one harrow, eight feet long, to be drawn by two men, because a short one would adapt itself to the inequalities of the surface of the ground and cover the seed much better than a long one. Such a brush-harrow will always be useful to have at hand for putting in many other small seeds.

When some of the seed is buried too deeply, those plants that spring from such seed as may be covered only half an inch deep, will get the start of the other by several days growth, which will which will produce stalks of various lengths. This ought carefully to be guarded against in putting in the seed. Moreover, when a flax seed germinates, the kernel is carried on the end of the stem to the surface of the ground, where it forms two leaves. When seed vegetates in this manner, it is longer coming up than when only a spear is sent up, like Indian corn, wheat or oats. The difficulty is greater on heavy than on a light soil. And if flax seed is covered deep on a heavy soil, and the weather be somewhat dry, it will be impossible for it to come up, while wheat or oats will come up with no difficulty.

WEEDING FLAX.—If the soil has been prepared, and the seed put at the time and in the manner directed in foregoing paragraphs, very little weeding will be required; but if Canada thistles, dock, wild mustard or other noxious weeds should show their heads, let a careful man, shod with two or three pairs of old woolen socks, remove them when the flax is eight or ten inches high. A lot of boys, or heedless men should never be allowed to go among flax, unless when it is very young; because if it is trodden down after it has grown a foot or more in hight, most of it will never recover its erect position. The object of covering the feet with something soft is, that the plants may be injured as little as possible. Hard boots and shoes will crush the stems so badly that if they should straighten up again, there would be a bad spot in the fibre. The weeds should be cut off close to the surface of the ground, gathered in the arms, and carried to a pile—not thrown down. If pulled up, much of the flax will be rooted up with them. In some parts of the Old World, men women girls and boys do the weeding, then the flax is only a few inches high; they sit flat on the young flax, hitch along, and weed on each side of them as far as they can reach. It is better to destroy the weeds before the seed is sown, and every thing off the young flax.

(To be continued.)

An old negro living in Illinois has fifteen sons in the Federal army.

Those that wish to effect Insurance should call on the undersigned, who devotes the whole of his time to Insurance, and represents some of the best English and Canadian Offices.

J. R. WALTON.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Dissolution of Partnership—Cox & Davidson.
Assignee—George A. Cox.
Court of Revision—J. T. White.
Insolvent Act of 1864—Charles Perry.
Department of Crown Lands—A. Campbell.
Abstract Statement—Dummer, Burleigh & Asphodel.
Auctioneer—
Notice of Dissolution—"Colchester."
Notice—Wm. Clinton.
Wanted—Mrs. F. W. Haultain.
Lost, &c.—J. O'Donnell.
Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.—Geo. A. Cox.
Insurance Notice for 1865—J. Stevenson.
Spring & Summer Goods—Montreal House.
Cox's New Warehouse—J. Erskine.
Notice—William Wood.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Edward Ashpitain.—Mr. W. Clinton announces in to-day's issue, that he is now receiving his stock of Spring and Summer Goods, which will be sold at Moderate Prices.

The Bankrupt Book Store.—As will be seen by a advertisement, the firm of Cox & Davidson has been dissolved, the business will be carried on by the same gentlemen by Mr. Cox. An inspection of the stock is solicited, as it will be found complete in all its branches. Mr. Chisholm Agent for the Canada Steamship Company, whose advertisement will be found in our columns.

Crockery Warehouse.—Mr. Erskine advertises that he has received a fresh supply of Earthenware, Cottons, &c. Also Fancy Dry Goods and a full assortment of general goods, which will be sold very low.—See Advertisement.

Montreal House.—A full assortment of spring goods is being received by Mr. Dumont. They consist of Dress goods, Ribbons, Laces, Bareilettes and Bonnets, and a large assortment of Groceries.—See Advertisement.

Daily Communication with Rochester.—The proprietors of the Steamer "Rochester" have commenced running daily trips to the Port of Charlotte. Considering the increase of trade, which greatly exceeds that of any other previous year, it is hoped that the boat will prove remunerative to the proprietors.—See Advertisement.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, APRIL 13, 1865.

PRESENT IDLE FEARS.

To British Canadians any tendency to drift into democracy causes the greatest alarm, and any apparent or fancied movement towards the customs, mode of Government or manners of our American neighbors causes an unhappy unsettled feeling to pass over our minds. Perhaps nothing else is so much detested as the name of a Democracy where mob law takes the place of order, uneasiness of contentment, and a feeling of insecurity arising from the unsettled state of a government when the voice of the people, which is as changing as the winds, is the ruling power. Here we enjoy perfect peace, Law is duly respected. Our leading men are generally worthy of respect, and would compare favorably with those of any other country both in integrity and statesmanship. Our people feel secure, and with proper precaution and industry they may enjoy equal prosperity with those of any other country. In the late political bustles and the subsequent calm that has followed the lull seems to have the effect of a sudden calm after a dreadful storm, many fearing that it is but the index of either a greater hurricane, or else of a quiet attractive influence towards annexation.

After any period of uneasiness there generally follows such a calm as we now enjoy in our political atmosphere, when people get a little relaxation and time for sober reflection. The present coalition of political antipathies has afforded us a breathing time, and the debate on the confederation scheme no doubt has many bore evident tokens of strong tendencies towards a popular form of Government. The contrary of any tendency to drift into Republicanism as practised in the United States must have shown itself in all the debates and resolutions relating to Confederation. The appointment of a vice-regal representative by the crown; the appointment of the Upper House; the right of referring important measures to the decision of the home government; all contrary to American Democratic institutions, and the willingness of the people to permit these principles to exist in the constitution of the new confederation afford ample proof of their willingness to endure much, rather than separate themselves from Great Britain. At no period in the history of these Provinces were there so strong ties and close attachment to the mother country than at the present period. There is no fear of any annexation tendency in the people until the debt of the Rebellion at any rate is wiped away; a period too remote to cause any alarm to the present generation at any rate. True, we see in the present failure to establish the confederation of the Provinces, the only cause for alarm concerning the maintenance of British connexion. Every people desire to possess a national prestige such as may command respect, around which they may rally and to which they may look with regard and esteem. At present we enjoy no such influence, each nationality looks upon Canada as a temporary resting place, his regards and esteem being the land of his birth. This spirit will be more or less, nay is more or less imparted to the rising generation, and thus they will be as it were without a native land to which they would desire to be related, many looking to the land of their sires rather than their own land. The American people however, use every means of instilling into the minds of their youth their national greatness. Our youth will be drawn into that, were others, according to the communion of the two people, and having no national centre of their own they may drift into the Union. Thus the Confederation of the Provinces would have offered a successful barrier to that by creating that which would have become a nation, and would have at once created a national attractive power to draw out and establish a national affection. For the good of Canada, for the maintenance of British connexion; for the resistance of the progress of Republicanism northward, for the establishment of a British power in North America, ready to aid the empire in council and enterprise and to continue to carry on those free institutions which it has inherited and which we wish to transmit to our children. The Confederation of the Provinces is what we required and desired. But if allowed to remain in its present state it has been nothing better than that we will find ourselves compelled by the fate or necessity, arising out of our present insignificance as well as out of the existing divisions of the people to seek, perhaps, if not forced by arms, that which we now so much dread.

The Canadian Defences—In the British Parliament.

The subject of Canadian defences is occupying the attention of the British Government and Parliament. The American war has revealed the existence of a powerful and warlike state on our borders. The matter of Confederation also, and the discussion concerning it, revealed the manifest desire of the majority of British America to unite themselves, in a Federal union somewhat analagous to the United States. Yet the strongest evidence exists of the strongest attachment to Britain, and a strong desire to remain, even in its proposed Confederate state, under the Government of Great Britain. This we think would be the wisest course for Canada and all British America. Under the liberal policy pursued toward us we enjoy all the privileges we could desire. If we do not prosper we cannot cast any of the blame on the mother country. The strongest proof of attachment to England existing, and an evident desire to maintain British connexion, it arises at once, are there any causes to fear that such connexion may not remain, or even become closer; and if there are reasons for fear, how then may such connexion be maintained.

The only danger arises either from the desire of the people themselves to dissolve the connexion, or from the United States pushing the doctrine of a Continental Empire or Republic too far and thus wresting the British American dependences from the grasp of the Lion. Neither of these appears threatening just now, and it is to be hoped will not, for a long time to come. From the first we apprehend no danger; from the second we anticipate none. British statesmen, however, see necessity for putting the country in a state of defence, and an interesting debate has arisen on the motion for $200,000 for Canadian defences. There appears the utmost unanimity in all political parties that under present circumstances the Empire should do its utmost to defend us. But there is a diversity of opinion concerning the best means of defending us. Some urge the immediate outlay of large sums on fortifications and other things necessary for a successful resistance to any power that might become the assailant. Others urge the impossibility of defending the provinces because of the immense frontier. While some say the best means of defence would be to prepare to carry the war to the cities and seaboards of the United States. Others almost declare the concealed desire to see us taking the cost of defence upon ourselves wholly, which most certainly implies a desire to see us erected into an independent government of our own. The prevailing sentiment, however, is, to defend us to the utmost power of the Empire, and if such be the intention of Britain, her wisdom is to put the place in a proper state of defence, so that there may be places of safety in case of danger or transient repulses. At the same time it would be wise to consider the consequent danger of putting a burden on the colonies they may not, at present, be able to bear.

We do not at present anticipate any aggression on the part of the United States. A wise policy toward us makes us as advantageous to our neighbours as we would be if a part of the Republic, and we do not think they would desire to have us unless we were desirous of such Union ourselves, which to all appearance we never shall be.

The St. Albans Raiders.

The raiders as soon as dismissed at Montreal were re-arrested on a warrant issued by Recorder Duggan of Toronto, and at once removed to that city. They have again been brought before the court, this time on a charge of violating our neutrality laws. Four of them have been acquitted and are now at large, the evidence to convict them utterly failing. Young, however, who was their leader has been committed to stand his trial in a Superior Court. It is expected that he will be admitted to bail. The war being now at an end there can be no good reason for continuing the prosecution, with a settlement of the war there should be a general amnesty to all those in rebellion or supposed acts of rebellion. This we are convinced would do more to bring about harmony between the two parties than hanging or punishment ten thousand rebels. And we are sure that nothing can be more desirable than a return to friendship and friendly intercourse.

PERVERSION.

In our article on the state of the Finances last week, we used eight-tenths as the amount secured, instead of eight-fifteenths, neither of these amounts are perhaps absolutely correct, as interest, discount, &c., would, no doubt, in some degree increase the outlay so that it may be something greater than is generally reckoned; but these figures are near enough to give a very near approximation to the truth. We trust we shall never sink in to so low a state of depravity as to make a statement and hold to it whether made by inadvertence or ignorance, when we have found out that it is wrong. And we further trust that the higher powers will never allow our mental faculties to become so wilfully blinded and perverse as not to be able to distinguish between raising money from all usual sources, and raising it by a direct tax. For nothing but the most corrupt imagination, the most perverted judgment, or the most unhallowed mind, could have twisted our article last week or the week before to say that the $10,000 or thereabout means anything but what would probably be required to be raised by tax or for all time. assertions and items so will not trouble ourselves about.

During the last month our American neighbors have taken from this vicinity 100 horses; at prices averaging $70, but ranging from $60, to $117. The county is over stocked however, we can therefore afford to part with a few. It is a matter of pleasure too to know that they will not be used for the war, but more likely to replenish the farmers who had parted with their horses for the war. We hope that the soldier will change his instruments of war into implements of husbandry, and cultivate the soil they have made rich with blood.

THE AMERICAN CIVIL WAR.

The great civil war that has been carried on with such vehemence and on so gigantic a scale, has at last come to a conclusion. The Public debt must be most enormous, the unbounded thrift over the taking of Richmond could afford the struggle. The Southern Power chose of fighting to the last man, before they would give up their darling project of independence. Lee's army must have been either cut off by sickness or weakened by sending aid South, or the hawick must have been fearful during the last few days fighting else he would not have surrendered so soon. It is well for the sake of the living that this bloody war has come to its termination. It is to be hoped that the North will be able to use this victory with discretion and moderation, and not in any way increase the enmity that has already been engendered. By treating them as members of the great Union and as far as possible overcoming their fears by kindness the two people may yet become one in the fullest sense of the term, and may side by side labour to rebuild what they have destroyed—repair what they in their madness have damaged—and may side by side fight the battles of the Republic. But the least unkindness in word or deed may cause the root of bitterness to sink deeper and become stronger, increasing as time increases only awaiting an opportunity of again striking for independence, when perhaps the North may have important matters to attend to.

This one thing is evident that the North cannot taunt the South or charge the Generals or soldiers with cowardice or want of courage. They fought with a determination and valour becoming a better cause. They exhibited generalship worthy of independence. They baffled the ablest generals of the North so long as they stood on anything like equal terms, and hence on no account can they be accused of cowardice or want of skill. This may tend to keep them in better terms with each other in future, and we trust will prove a lesson of wisdom that may deter them from undertaking or provoking a war with men who have proved themselves so brave even in the worst cause. Every lover of liberty, and friend of afflicted and degraded humanity must feel delighted that that long down trodden race the African will at length breathe the air of freedom, throw aside the yoke of their bondage, and take their place among freemen. Perhaps the dark stain of cruelty and oppression which had cursed the North as well as the South, had become so immovable that nothing less than the blood of thousands of the oppressors could remove it; and that it was necessary to atone for their cruel treatment of the poor negro by the sacrifice of a thousand hecatombs of those greedy mammon loving tyrants who traffed in human creatures for gain. The freedom of the slave has been purchased at a dear rate no doubt, but better to purchase it even as it has been done than to allow the land to remain under the sin and curse. It will require wisdom yet to deliver the Republic out of her present position. Let us pray that wisdom may be imparted that will enable American Statesmen to settle their difficulties, legislate wisely for the slave, and bring the whole nation to study the arts of commerce, peace, and Religion, and cause them to learn war no more.

THE CROPS.

The most satisfactory accounts reach us of the promising appearance of the fall wheat. Several farmers from different Townships around assure us that the prospects at present are better than they have been for several years. The Spring appearal to open up all at once; a little change has taken place, and for a day or two the weather has been colder. A little rain would settle the earth and cause vegetation to commence, we may have it very soon

A favourable season and one full harvest would do much to release the farming community from the most pressing of their difficulties. Let us trust that with peace there will come plenty.

Protection Game Club.—A meeting of the above Club came off at Caisse's Hotel on Tuesday last, when Charles Perry, Esq., was appointed President, and James Benson, Esq., Secretary.. The Secretary was instructed to write to the Clubs of the other localities for a copy of their Rules; as soon as the Rules are received there will be another meeting held, when a committee for carrying out the game laws will be appointed, due notice of such meeting will be given, when it is expected that every sportsman will be present.

Dunkin's Bill.—A meeting was held on Tuesday last, at the Huffman House, by the Tavern keepers and those concerned in the liquor trade, when they formed themselves into a club to test the Dunkin Bill now in force in this County. They have subscribed largely and intend appealing every case, and carrying them through to the highest Courts. It is well to have the Bill tested to the fullest extent.

Apsley is the name of a new Post Office, which has been opened in the Township of Anstruther in this County. C. J. Vizard, Esq., has been appointed Post Master.

The Hon. T. D. McGee leaves by the steamer Nova Scotian on Saturday, the 15th instant for his native land, and to be present at the opening of the Dublin International exhibition.

Bennet H. Young has been admitted to bail himself in $1,000 and his two securities Mr. W. B. Phipps, bankers, and Mr. John Nasmith in $2,000 each; the various witnesses for prosecution were also bound over to appear at the assizes.

The Commercial's special says:—President Lincoln makes no secret of his disposition to waive everything but the Union and Emancipation, for the purpose of restoring tranquility.

The number of men surrendered by Lee is from 20,000 to 22,000. Within the past two weeks about 20,000 prisoners have been sent from City Point.

A Couple of Nuts for the Fenians.

No. 1. At a public meeting in New York, a few days since, an audience of three thousand American ladies and gentlemen rapturously applauded the following remarks, made by one of the speakers:—"Let us urge upon our Government the necessity of giving votes to the free black Americans, in order that their votes may kill, or at least naturalize, the votes of the low Irish scum which come to our shores in every ship, and pollute our fair land."

No. 2. In a western paper is the following compliment to this august body:—"We dislike the nigger, but despise the Irish. Their bravery, of which they and their admirers boast so much, is mere brute force unredeemed by a single sentiment of truth or loyalty; they would fight equally well for the d——l, if only paid for it." About one quarter of a column is filled with such complimentary allusions.—Pick.

EDITOR'S GLEANINGS.

A terrible fire occurred at Constantinople on the 23rd of February, in which 200 lives were lost, and by which the Christian quarter of the city suffered very much. The Public edifices were also much injured, but the most severe taking of Richmond could afford the struggle. The Southern Power chose of fighting to the last man, before they would give up their darling project of independence. Lee's army must have been either cut off by sickness or weakened by sending aid South, or the hawick must have been fearful during the last few days fighting else he would not have surrendered so soon. It is well for the sake of the living that this bloody war has come to its termination. It is to be hoped that the North will be able to use this victory with discretion and moderation, and not in any way increase the enmity that has already been engendered. By treating them as members of the great Union and as far as possible overcoming their fears by kindness the two people may yet become one in the fullest sense of the term, and may side by side labour to rebuild what they have destroyed—repair what they in their madness have damaged—and may side by side fight the battles of the Republic. But the least unkindness in word or deed may cause the root of bitterness to sink deeper and become stronger, increasing as time increases only awaiting an opportunity of again striking for independence, when perhaps the North may have important matters to attend to.

This one thing is evident that the North cannot taunt the South or charge the Generals or soldiers with cowardice or want of courage. They fought with a determination and valour becoming a better cause. They exhibited generalship worthy of independence. They baffled the ablest generals of the North so long as they stood on anything like equal terms, and hence on no account can they be accused of cowardice or want of skill. This may tend to keep them in better terms with each other in future, and we trust will prove a lesson of wisdom that may deter them from undertaking or provoking a war with men who have proved themselves so brave even in the worst cause. Every lover of liberty, and friend of afflicted and degraded humanity must feel delighted that that long down trodden race the African will at length breathe the air of freedom, throw aside the yoke of their bondage, and take their place among freemen. Perhaps the dark stain of cruelty and oppression which had cursed the North as well as the South, had become so immovable that nothing less than the blood of thousands of the oppressors could remove it; and that it was necessary to atone for their cruel treatment of the poor negro by the sacrifice of a thousand hecatombs of those greedy mammon loving tyrants who traffed in human creatures for gain. The freedom of the slave has been purchased at a dear rate no doubt, but better to purchase it even as it has been done than to allow the land to remain under the sin and curse. It will require wisdom yet to deliver the Republic out of her present position. Let us pray that wisdom may be imparted that will enable American Statesmen to settle their difficulties, legislate wisely for the slave, and bring the whole nation to study the arts of commerce, peace, and Religion, and cause them to learn war no more.

Lord Palmerston had a dangerous fall at the House of Commons a short time since. He was going through one of the doorways when some one on the other side pushed open the spring door and knocked the noble lord down. He was, however, quickly assisted up, found to be unhurt, marched into the House, full asleep comfortably, and was not roused until it was time to close the debate. It is most lawful that he escaped so well considering his age, and that he fell on a stone floor.

Game Laws.—A recent Bill passed in Parliament, enacts that no wild swan, goose or duck, of any species, shall be hunted, taken or killed between March and September. Snipe are protected by law between the months of April and September. Wild Turkey, pigeons, or pheasant, cannot be hunted between the months of March and September. Deer of any species are protected between the months of September and August. Quail cannot be hunted between the months of March and September.

Killed.—While John Moore, son of Mr. Richard Moore of Cavan was chopping a tree, he thought the tree would fall on a steer that was feeding near, and went to drive it away, but in running to get out of the way of the falling tree took the wrong direction The tree fell on him, lacerating the scalp, fracturing the right arm and both legs a little above the ancles. He died the same night in great agony.

Over the Falls.—We understand that no doubt is entertained at the Falls that a woman committed suicide there on Monday by precipitating herself over the Cataract. She is spoken of as a woman about 30 years of age, who had resided in a house of ill-fame. She had been heard to threaten the destruction of her own life in the manner indicated.

The Globe's Montreal Correspondent says:—That on Wednesday night, last. The family of A. E. Genereux—seven in number—with two servants, were poisoned by something taken at supper, which consisted of tea, milk, bread and butter. The articles are being analyzed. It is not said whether or not all recovered from the effects.

The following paragraph is from the Dundalk Democrat:—"A great sensation has been created by the retirement to a convent in Leitrim of the two youngest daughters of the late Henry Cruise, Esq. These young ladies by their father's will, forfeit their ample fortune of £20,000."

We learn from the Warder that Mr. Wm. Twamly, while attempting to couple cars at the Omemee Station, got his hand caught and fearfully jammed. One finger has been removed; hopes are entertained that the remainder of the hand will be saved.

The friends of Temperance in Hamilton are discussing the propriety of passing the Prohibitory clause of Dunkins Act. Some urge waiting till it be seen how it will work where already passed—poor half-souled creatures.

Narrow Escape.—A child of Mr. Mc Elmoyle, Emily, fell into a well on Tuesday last, Mr. Wm. Cottingham junr., who was passing at the time, heard the splashing and went to the well just in time to save the child.

Body found.—The body of Robert Jones, who fell through the ice on Pigeon River in the beginning of the winter, was found on Friday last, only a few yards from where he fell in.

Bishop Colenso.—The Privy Council have decided that the removal of Bishop Colenso from his office by the Bishop of Cape Town is null and void. The power to do this resting with the Queen alone.

It is said, and we believe on very good authority, that Chief Justice Drummond and Justices Badgeley and Monk concur in the judgment delivered by Judge Smith in the St. Albans case.

The Delegation to England.—We understand that Mr. John A. Macdonald left Kingston yesterday for England and M. Carter Montreal. Mr. Galt accompanies them. They will sail by the Cunard steamship.

The Guide learns that Captain Howden's Company, of Millbrook, is to go to the frontier. An application made by Captain Fraser on behalf of his Company was too late, the last call having been previously filled.

DUNKIN'S BILL.

(From the Warder.)

Dear Sir,—I send you the following list of Townships that have passed the Prohibitory By-Law as well as the majorities, as far as I could glean up from different sources:—

Hablimand, 100; Cramahe, 133; Asphodel, 29; Otonabee, 142; Dummer; Smith; South Monaghan; North Monaghan; Hope, 228; Cavan, 136; Emily, 52; Verulam, 14; Summerville; Clarke, 203; Manvers, 126; Fenelon, 36; Darlington, 263; Bowmanville, 57; Brock, 51; Pickering, 1; Brooke, 51; Kinloss, 159; Garafraxa, 131; Wawanosh, 10; Montague; Beverly, 90; Front of Young, 80; Chatham, 27; Yarmouth, 92; Thurlow, 17; Township of Kingston, 64; Southwood, 96; Oxford, 72; Ashfield, 12; Merrickaville, 11; Crowland; Saltfleet, 91; Boston; Binbrook; Richmond, 75; Aldborough, 91; Oxford, 73; Thorold, 17; Gosfrich, 80; Lobo; Osborne, 28; Ancaster, 101; Glenford; County of Holton—comprised of the following townships, Milton, Nelson, Esquesing, Trafalgar, Nassagaweya, Oakville, Milton, Georgetown,—210.

The Crops and the Weather.—From all sections of this County we have accounts of the appearance of the fall grain, which are of the most promising character. A much greater breadth of land has been sown to fall crops than for years past, and all the reports say that the grain never looked better. The weather has been favourable for spring operations, and this vicinity several of our farmers have commenced plowing. The accounts from other sections of the Province, are of the same hopeful character. Belleville Intelligencer.

Castillian Balm.—Our former fellow townsman, Mr. John O'Donnell, is now practising Dentistry in Peterborough with great success. We visited his rooms a few days since, and found them a model of neatness; and were much pleased by an article of Mr. O'Donnell's manufacture, called "Castillian Balm." It is of the same class of toilette requisites as the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," but is superior to anything else of the kind in the market we have tried, being fragrant and grateful to the mouth. We understand Mr. O'D. intends going largely into its manufacture in the Spring, when we have no doubt it can be had of our town druggists.—Prescott Messenger.

Accident.—This morning about 9 o'clock as a teamster named George Davidson, was employed in hauling grain to the schooner Oakfallow, his horses took fright at some object or other at the P. H. L. & B. R. R. Station, and started off at break-neck speed. Davidson, who was holding the reins at the time, attempted to restrain the frightened animals, but unfortunately was pulled to the ground, with his right arm between the wheels over which the heavily laden wagon passed, breaking the limb in two places. Dr. Evatt was immediately sent for and did all that lay in his power to alleviate the sufferings of the poor man, who bore the pain with remarkable fortitude. We have not learned whether a amputation will have to be performed or not. The horses stopped a little distance beyond the market.—Guide.

AMERICAN REVOLUTION AT AN END.

Lee has Surrendered.—Conditions of the Capitulation.—The Officers and Men to be Paroled.—The Artillery, Arms and Public Property to be turned over to Grant.—The Officers to retain their Side-arms.—Correspondence Previous to the Surrender.—Thanks to Grant and his Army.

War Department, Washington, April 9, 9 p. m. —To Major General Dix, New York: This Department has received the official report of the surrender this day of General Lee and his army to Lieut.-Gen. Grant, on the terms proposed by Gen. Grant. Details will be given as rapidly as possible.

E. M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

Headquarters Army of Northern Virginia 9th April, 1865.—To Lt.-Gen. U. S. Grant Commanding U. S. Armies.—General,—I have received your letter of this date, containing the terms of surrender of the army of Northern Virginia as proposed by you. As they are substantially the same as those expressed in your letter of the 8th inst., they are accepted. I will proceed to designate the proper officers to carry the stipulations in effect.

Very respectfully your obedient servant,
"R. E. LEE, Gen."

Washington, April 9, 1865—The following is the precious correspondence between Lt. Gen. Grant and Gen. Lee referred to in the foregoing telegram:—

"Clifton House, Va., April 9, 1865. To Hon. E. M Stanton, Sec. of War. The following correspondence has taken place between Gen. Lee and myself. There has been no relaxation in the pursuit during its pendency.

"U. S. GRANT, Lt. Gen."

"April 7, 1865—To Gen. R. E. Lee, Commanding C. S. A.—General,—The result of the last week must convince you of the hopelessness of further resistance on the part of the army of Northern Virginia in this struggle. I feel that it is so, and regard it as my duty to shift from myself the responsibility of any further effusion of blood by asking of you the surrender of that portion of the Confederate States army known as the army of Northern Virginia.

"Very respectfully, your obt. servt.,
"U. S. GRANT,
"Lieut. Gen. Com. Armies of the U. S."

"April 7, 1865—General,—I have received your note of this date. Though not entirely of the opinion you express of the hopelessness of further resistance on the part of the Army of Northern Virginia, I reciprocate your desire to avoid useless effusion of blood, and therefore, before considering your proposition, ask the terms you will offer on condition of its surrender.

[Signed] "R. E. LEE Gen'l."

"To Gen U. S. Grant Commanding the Armies of the U. S."

"April 8, 1865—To Gen. R. E. Lee, Commanding C. S. A.—General,—Your note of last evening in reply to mine of same date asking the conditions on which I will accept the surrender of the army of Virginia, is just received. In reply I would say that peace being my first desire, there is but one condition that I insist upon, viz., that the men surrendered shall be disqualified for taking up arms again against the government of the United States until properly exchanged. I will meet you, or designate officers to meet any officers you may name for the same purpose, at any point agreeable to you, for the purpose of arranging definitely the terms upon which the surrender of the army of Northern Virginia will be received.

"Very respectfully, your obd't servant,
"U. S. GRANT.

"Lt.-Gen. Comd'g Armies of the U. S."

"April 8, 1865.—General,—I received at a late hour your note of to-day, in answer to mine of yesterday. I did not intend to propose the surrender of the army of Northern Virginia, but to ask the terms of your proposition. To be frank, I do not think the emergency has arisen to call for a surrender; but as the restoration of peace should be the sole object of all, I desire to know whether your proposals would tend to that end. I cannot therefore meet you with a view to surrender the army of Northern Virginia; but as far as your proposition may affect the C. S. forces under my command, and tend to the restoration of peace, I should be pleased to meet you at 10 a. m. to-morrow, on the old stage road to Richmond, between the picket line of the two armies.

"Very respy, your ob't servt,
"R. E. LEE, Genl.

"To Lt.-Gen. Grant Commanding Armies of the United States."

"April 9th, 1865.—To Gen. R. E. Lee, Commanding C. S. Army:—General—Your note of yesterday is received. I have no authority to treat on the subject of peace, the meeting proposed for 10 a. m. to-day could lead to no good. I will state, however, General, that I am equally anxious for peace with yourself, and the whole North entertain the same feeling. The terms upon which peace can be had are well understood. By the South laying down their arms they will hasten that most desirable event, save thousands of human lives and hundreds of millions of property not yet destroyed. Sincerely hoping that all our difficulties may be settled without the loss of another life, I subscribe myself

"Very respectfully, your ob't servant,
"U. S. GRANT, Lt.-Gen U. S. A."

War Department, Washington, April 9, 9:30 pm.—To Lt.-Gen. Grant: Thanks be to Almighty God for the great victory with which he has this day crowned you and the gallant armies under your command! The thanks of this department, of the government and of the people of the United States—their reverence and honor have been deserved—will be rendered to you and the brave and gallant officers and soldiers of your army for all time.

EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

War Department,
Washington, April 9, 10 p. m.

Mr. Stanton has issued an order that a salute of 200 guns be fired at the headquarters of every army and department, and at every post and arsenal in the United States, and at the Military Academy at West Point, in commemoration of the surrender of Gen. R. E. Lee and the army of Northern Virginia to Lieut.-General Grant and the army under his command.

Washington, April 8.—Information is received that 5,000 Union prisoners of those held by the rebels in Georgia have arrived at or near Dalton, to be delivered to us.

New York, April 9.—The Herald has Mobile Bay correspondence up to the 31st ult.

It appears that Granger's and Smith's corps took up the line of march from Donley's Mills on the 25th, for Blakely, starting slight opposition only on the first day.

On the 25th ult. the 13th corps charged the Spanish Fort, a strong combination of fortifications, consisting of detached bastioned redoubts, encompassing and defending it on land, and in the evening disengaged and retired on the left of their line.

The 13th corps continued on towards Blakely, encamping at Sibley's Mills, five miles from that town, on the 26th.

On the morning of the 27th our forces advanced on the Spanish fort driving in the rebels, capturing rifle-pits and establishing our batteries within 400 yards of the fort. On the 29th our forces were entrenched within 75 yards of the fort.

Several lines had been laid by torpedoes, which are thickly strewn around. Our loss averages 150 per day. 300 of the enemy had been cut off by a portion of our force, but not captured, owing to their taking refuge in the swamp.

Early on the morning of the 27th the rebels emerged in a sally but were handsomely repulsed with heavy loss.

The rebel fleet of gunboats are on the extreme right within musket range of our troops, and the earthwork in being completed to mount siege guns. Our losses to the 31st were about 800. Five of our monitors and the gunboat Octorora here crossed Blakeley Bar and others were arriving.

On the 31st, the siege guns and mortars having been placed in position, the heaviest cannonading was opened on the Spanish Fort and continued all day, but the result is not known.

Steele's columns left Pensacola on the 19th. He captured two trains of cars at Greenwood. At Pollard, Ala., two rebel cavalry regiments were met charged and routed, and Brig. Gen. Cameron, 12 officers, 400 men and 400 horses captured.

On the 27th, Colonel Sparling, with detachments of the 2nd Maine and 1st Florida cavalry, cut the Mobile and Montgomery Railroad, and captured two waggon trains and 100 prisoners.

Gen. Steele and force have arrived at Blakeley, six miles from Spanish Fort, and would soon unite with Canby.

A naval letter to the Herald states that the monitor Milwaukee was blown up by a torpedo on the 28th, and the Osage on the 29th, both while operating with other monitors against Spanish Forts.

Four sailors were killed on the Osage and six seriously injured.

Only one injured on the Milwaukee.

One of the turrets of the Milwaukee is still out of water and in working order and is used. They will probably be raised.

The rebels are constantly busy in sending down torpedoes and fire-rafts.

The forces on the Spanish Forts is estimated at between six and seven thousand, it having been reinforced from Mobile by water on the night of the 29th.

It is rumored also that Forrest and his whole command had reached Blakeley.

The rebel ram Nashville and the gunboats Tuscaloosa, Morgan and Natchez, are in Blakeley river, evidently intending giving battle to our Monitors.

On the west of the bay our gunboats have had several skirmishes with water batteries, driving the rebels from their guns.

The rebel troops in the Spanish forts are commanded by Maury.

LATEST DESPATCHES

Washington, April 10—The departments are all closed to-day and everybody is keeping holiday.

Secretary Stanton expresses the opinion that there will be no more heavy fighting.

It is expected here that Johnston will surrender.

Special despatches were yesterday sent to Gen. Sherman.

Mr. Lincoln has returned and is closeted with his cabinet.

There is reason to believe that Jeff Davis was at Danville on Saturday night, trying to join Johnston with the scraps of the late Confederate government and a large amount of specie.

Reliable information has been received from a gentleman who left Richmond yesterday, that Gen. Shepley, by order of the President, has given safe conduct to Senator Hunter to come and go from that city. He is supposed to be on his estate in Essex county, 50 miles from Richmond.

The Richmond Whig of Saturday says:—"The statement that there would be a meeting last evening of such members of the Va. legislature as still remained in the city was not strictly correct. There was no meeting of the legislature or others, but simply an informal conference and consultation of private individuals, among whom were members of the legislature. The motive of these gentlemen coming together was to hear from Judge Campbell the terms upon which President Lincoln had expressed himself as willing that Virginia might return to the Union. Messrs. J. R. Anderson, Judge Daniel, Judge Nathaniel Tyler and R. M. Thomas were appointed a committee to inform the legislature and Gov. Smith of President Lincoln's terms, and Judge Campbell was requested to accompany the committee who were to leave the city so soon as passports could be procured. It was said to be probable that they would get off this morning. We prefer not to state our understanding of Mr. Lincoln's terms, as our information on that head is not official."

The only information received in Washington of President Lincoln's proposition is that it was of a very liberal character.

A number of gentlemen returned from a visit to Richmond to-day.

The navy department has received the following:—"Hon G Welles Secretary of the Navy. When the gunboats got in sight of the Harriet Lane Ford, she was in flames. She burned to the water's edge.

Signed, "F. A. PARKER, Com."

The navy department also has a despatch from the commandant of the navy yard at Pensacola, from which it is ascertained that no lives were lost by the sinking of the Milwaukee.

She was sunk by torpedo in Blakely river on the 27th of March. Preparations for raising her had already commenced, and there was but little doubt of their success. It is further learned from the same despatch that on the same day March 27th, the army under Generals Canby Smith and Granger, had a fight with the Confederates and drove them into their works.

New York, April 10.—The Commercial's Washington special says:—"Sufficient time has elapsed for Wilson to reach Selma, Alabama, and military authorities have been expecting to hear of its fall. John C. Breckenridge was known to be with Lee on Friday, and hopes are entertained that he has been captured. Pollard who took advantage of the escape of Mr. Richardson, has been arrested in Richmond and committed to Castle Thunder for treasonable language.

Fort Monroe, April 8.—The Steamer Nevada arrived here to day from Wilmington N. C. Military affairs in that vicinity are perfectly quiet and the city is quietly resuming its former business-like aspect. The stores were being rapidly reopened, and every thing indicates a speedy return to their homes of those who fled at the approach of our troops. Every Steamer that arrives from the South brings always a large number of refugees.

Washington, April 10.—Admiral Porter reports to the Navy Department his recent operations on the James River. On being satisfied that the Confederates were about to evacuate Richmond, he proceeded to remove the obstructions in the River and succeeded in getting a channel through. He then accompanied the President to the city when he found the Confederate rams and gunboats all blown up except an unfinished ram, the "Texas," and a small tug gunboat, the Beaufort. The following vessels were destroyed: Virginia Flag Ship with four guns, iron clad—Richmond, four guns iron clad—Fredericksburg, four guns, iron clad Nansemond, two guns, wooden ship—Roanoke two guns and a wooden Torpedo tender and a school ship. Some of those may be raised. The Texas and Beaufort he has taken for our use. The Tredegar works and Naval ordinance depot were untouched.

New York, April 10.—The Steamer City of Dublin, which was to sail to-morrow for Liverpool was despatched this p. m. at 4 o'clock, ordered to take out the news of Gen. Lee's capitulation. She is in light trim and will undoubtedly make a quick passage.

Washington, April 10.—During the rejoicings here to-day, the President, who returned from Richmond last evening, was called out and said: "I am greatly rejoiced that an occasion has occurred so pleasurable that the people can't restrain themselves. I suppose that arrangements are being made for some sort of formal demonstration, perhaps this evening or to-morrow night. If there should be such a demonstration I, of course, will have to respond to it. (A voice—"Belly for you"), and I will have nothing to say if you dribble it out of me. (Laughter, and cries of "We want to hear you now." "I see you have a band.") Voices—"We have three of them." I propose now closing up by requesting you to play a certain piece of music or a tune. I thought "Dixie" one of the finest I ever heard. The band began to play "Dixie," but soon ceased as the President had not yet concluded. He continued: "I had two pieces of music over the way had attempted to get to it. I insisted that it belonged to us, having captured it. They appreciated the question as the Attorney General had, and he gave his decision that it belonged to us. I ask the band to give up a good turn upon it." The band accordingly played "Dixie," with extraordinary vigor, after which cheers and a tiger were given, followed by the tune of "Yankee Doodle." The President then proposed three rousing cheers for Grant and all under his command, and next three cheers for the navy and all its forces. They were most enthusiastically given. The President retired amid hurrahs, the tune of "Hail Columbia," and the firing of cannon."

The navy department to-day received the following:—

The National Intelligencer of to-day says: We learn from an authentic source that Judge Campbell, of Alabama, formerly of the United States Supreme Court, and one of the Confederate Commissioners of the Confederate government, called upon the President at Richmond and urged him to issue a proclamation of a conciliatory character, expressing his belief that it would have at this time a most salutary effect. The President, however, was not then prepared for this step, and it was quite reasonable to suppose he would decline action upon this subject while Grant was pressing upon Lee's retreating forces. That the President will now adopt this course, the Intelligencer has additional reason for believing.

Before the Great Battle.

THE CONFEDERATE GOVERNMENT REFUSES NO LONGER.

The confederate government has ceased to exist. Mr. Davis has not formally abdicated his functions as President, but he will probably do so at an early day, particularly if the operations of the federal army are pushed on with vigor, and if General Lee fails to gain any military advantage during the next ten days. The authority of Mr. Davis is, however at an end. If he should issue a proclamation convening the rebel congress, to meet at any designated place, the mandate would be disobeyed. There is no place in the South now that is considered safe enough for the rebel congress to meet in. It is the opinion of General Lee, and it was freely given at the last executive council that was held at Richmond previous to the evacuation, that neither Raleigh, nor Danville, nor Lynchburg, could be held permanently against the advancing federal armies. The latter place General Lee thought, might be held for some time, but it, too, he said, must finally be abandoned.

PROPOSED FLIGHT TO TEXAS.

No place was agreed upon before the evacuation of Richmond, for the removal of the confederate capital. It was conceded on all hands that no State in the South was safe from the march of the federal armies. Texas was spoken of. Its distance from the other states, however, and its geographical position, at once precluded the idea of the capitol of the confederacy being situated in it. But another idea was discussed, which, although not yet formerly adopted, may yet possibly be carried into effect. This is, the removal to Texas of the civil officers of the confederate government, and of as great a portion of the confederate army as can be prevailed on to go. This idea was only suggested as a last resort, and when General Lee had expressed his conviction that the army, as a whole, could not be made to go to Texas after the abandonment of Richmond; and that the Southern people would never consent to devote their wh

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING relating to the human system, male and female; the causes and treatment of diseases; the marriage customs of the world; and a thousand things never published before, read the revised and improved edition of "Medical Common sense," a curious book for curious people, and a good book for everyone, 300 pages 100 illustrations. Price $1.50. Contents table sent free to any address. Books may be had at the Book stores, or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price

Address, DR. W. B. FOWTE, M. D.
9-6m 1130 Broadway New York

INFORMATION FREE!

TO NERVOUS SUFFERERS.

A GENTLEMEN, cured of Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it, (free of charge,) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's real experience, and possess a sure and valuable remedy, can do so by addressing him at once at his place of business. The Recipe and full information—of vital importance—will be cheerfully sent by return mail.

Address JOHN B. OGDEN,
No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

P. S.—Nervous sufferers of both sexes will find this information invaluable. 3-3m

BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY IN CANADA.

The following testimony from a well known and highly respected Merchant of Pictou, is corroborative of the general approval given to Dr. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY:

Pictou, C. W., Dec. 8th, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co., Boston.

Gentlemen:—

Being solicited by your Travelling Agent, for an expression of opinion of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. I with pleasure assert that it is, in my belief, the best remedy before the public for coughs and pulmonary complaints.

Having tested the article with myself and family, in cases of severe coughs and colds, for years, with uniform and unexceptionable success, I unhesitatingly recommend it with full confidence to its merits.

Yours truly,
ALFRED HOOKER.

None genuine unless signed, I. Butts, on the wrapper. Prepared by Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston, and for sale by all dealers in medicines.
Peterboro, February 24, 1865. 7-4in

There no more unpleasant and unsafe Medicines.

For unpleasant and dangerous diseases, use

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU,

Which has received the endorsement of the most PROMINENT PHYSICIANS IN THE U.S.

Is now offered to afflicted humanity as a certain cure for the following diseases and abuse of the Urinary or Sexual Organs.

General Debility,
Mental and Physical Depression,
Confused ideas,
Hysteria,
General Irritability.
Restlessness and Sleeplessness at Night.
Absence of Muscular Efficiency,
Loss of Appetite,
Emaciation,
Low Spirits,
Disorganization or Paralysis of the Organs of Generation,
Palpitation of the Heart.

And, in fact, all the unconstitutional or Nervous and Debilitated state of the system.

To insure the genuine, cut this out.

ASK FOR HELMBOLD'S.
TAKE NO OTHER.
CURES GUARANTEED.

See advertisement in another column.
Peterboro, Feb. 24, 1865. 7-3in

A GOOD THING---TRY IT

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER is a medicine for the immediate and permanent removal of all pains from the system.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Rheumatism, Pleurisy, and Pains in the back and side.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER relieves Pains in the head and Sick headache.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Bilious Colic & Cramps in the stomach.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Dysentry, and Bowel Complaint.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Sudden Colds and sore Throat.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Neuralgia, Tic douloureux, & Toothache.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Burns; Scalds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER is also an excellent thing for Strains, Sprains Bounds and Bruises. It takes away all pain the moment it is applied.

No family should be without a Bottle of THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

Price 25 Cents Per Bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas,

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, and A. W. Kempt; by C. Britton Lindsay, and all medicine dealers.

New Advertisements.

NOTICE.

THE FIRST MEETING OF THE

COURT OF REVISON!

For the Township of North Monaghan, will be held at the Town Hall, on MONDAY the 1st day of MAY, 1865, at the hour of ten o'clock, a. m.

WILLIAM WOOD,
Township Clerk.
Monaghan, April 12, 1865. 15-3in

THE COURT OF REVISION

FOR revising and correcting the Assessment Roll of the Township of Dummer, will be held at the

TOWN HALL, DUMMER

On Monday the 1st of May, 1865.

At ten o'clock, forenoon.

Parties interested will please take notice.

J. T. WHITE,
Township Clerk.
Warsaw, April 10th, 1865. 15

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Co-Partnership heretofore existing between, and under the name and style of Cox & Davidson, as Booksellers and Stationers, in the Town of Peterborough, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. The liabilities of the late firm and all debts due to the same will be settled by Mr. Cox, who continues the business on his own account.

Dated at Peterborough, this Sixth day of April, 1865. 15

GEO. A. COX.
J. IRVINE DAVIDSON.

A CARD.

THE subscriber takes this opportunity of tendering his sincere thanks to the numerous friends and customers of the late firm for the very liberal patronage bestowed on them since commencing business, and respectfully solicits a continuance of the same on his own behalf. The stock will be found complete in all its branches. In Stationery, a large assortment of

FOOLSCAP,
Note and Letter Papers,
PLAIN AND RULED.

FOREIGN NOTE ENVELOPES, PENS AND INK.

School and Miscellaneous Books, Bibles, Prayer Books, Church Services, Hymn Books, &c.

Prices will be found low, and strict attention given as heretofore to give his customers every satisfaction.

GEO. A. COX.
Peterborough April 6th, 1865. 15-3in

MONTREAL OCEAN STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

REDUCTION OF FARES

PASSAGE certificates are now issued to persons wishing to bring out their friends from England, Ireland or Scotland, at the following rates:—

Liverpool to Peterboro ..... } $20
Londonderry to Peterboro ..... }
Queenstown to Peterboro ..... } $20
Glasgow to Peterboro ..... }

The first steamer from Liverpool for Quebec, calling at Derry, will leave Liverpool on the 20th day of April, and every week thereafter throughout the season.

The first steamer from Glasgow, calling at Queenstown, will leave Glasgow for Quebec, on or about the 20th day of April. Steamers will be despatched from Glasgow, direct for Quebec, and river ports, every two weeks during the summer months.

THE PERUVIAN

Will be despatched

FROM QUEBEC FOR LIVERPOOL

Calling at Londonderry,

ON SATURDAY, MAY 13th.

THE ST. DAVID,

FOR GLASGOW DIRECT!

On or about

The Twenty-third Day of May,

The steerage fares will then be reduced as follows:—

Peterboro to Liverpool or Londonderry $20.
Peterboro to Glasgow $28

Return tickets, good for 6 months, will be issued at very low rates.

For through tickets and every information, apply to

GEO. A. COX.

At his bookstore, opposite Nicholl's & Ball's. He is also agent for the Canadian Express Company.

Peterborough, April 12, 1865. 15

DAILY COMMUNICATION WITH ROCHESTER.

The Fast-sailing new Steamer

1865. 1865.

ROCHESTER!

CAPT. GREENWOOD,

WILL, until further notice, run as follows:

Leaving Port Hope ..... at 9 30 a. m
Cobourg ..... 10 30 a. m.
Colborne ..... 12 00 m.

Direct for Rochester, arriving there in time to connect with the New York Central Railroad, for New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Syracuse, Buffalo, Chicago, and other points East and West.

Passengers from the West via Grand Trunk Railroad, will take the Steamer at Cobourg; from the East will take the Steamer at Colborne.

For further information, enquire of A. Cochrane, Port Hope; Chas. Elliott, Cobourg or J. Keeler, Colborne.

RETURNING—Will leave Charlotte every night (Sundays excepted) at 10.00, P. M., direct for Port Hope.

G. S. DAINTRY,
Proprietor.
Cobourg, April 4th 1865. 15-tf

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

THE CREDITORS of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of the Hon. Sidney Smith, on Water Street, in the Town of Peterborough, at twelve o'clock noon, on Tuesday, the twenty-fifth day of April, instant, for the purpose of receiving statements of his affairs, and naming an Assignee, to whom he may make an assignment under the above Act.

CHARLES PERRY.
Peterborough, April 10, 1865. 15

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of TEMPLETON BROWN, an Insolvent.

THE Creditors of the Insolvent are notified that he has made an assignment of his estate and effects, under the above Act, to me, the undersigned Assignee, and they are required to furnish me within two months from this date with their claims, specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none stating the fact: the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

Dated at the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, this twelfth day of April, A. D, 1865.

JAS. STEVENSON,
Assignee

T. M. FAIRBAIRN,
Attorney for Insolvent 15-2in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JOSEPH GRAHAM, an Insolvent.

THE creditors of the insolvent are notified that he has made an assignment of his estate and effects under the above Act, to me, the undersigned assignee, and they are required to furnish me, within two months from this date, with their claims specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none stating the fact, the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

RICHARD BOWDEN, Assignee.

Dated at the Village of Millbrook in the County of Durham, this 13th day of February, A. D. 1865. 15

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

Province of Canada, } In the County
COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH, } Court of the County of Peterborough. In the matter of William Armstrong, an Insolvent.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has filed, in the office of this Court, a Petition by his creditors to his discharge, and that on Wednesday, the seventh day of June next, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, or as soon as counsel can be heard, he will apply to the Judge of the said Court for a confirmation of the discharge thereby effected in his favor, under the said Act.

W. ARMSTRONG.

Dated at Peterborough this 28th day of March, A. D., 1865. 13-id

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JAMES W. STOKE AND GILES STOKE, Insolvents.

THE creditors of the insolvents are notified that they have made an assignment of their estate and effects under the above Act to me, the undersigned assignee, and they are required to furnish me, within two months from this date, with their claims, specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none, stating the fact, the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

D. McDONALD, Jr.,
Assignee.
Peterborough, March 28th, 1865. 13-2in

DIVIDEND

OF

Estate of Waters & Co. of Norwood.

The Creditors of the said Estate are hereby required to furnish to the undersigned, on or before the twenty-fifth day of April next, a statement of their respective claims duly attested under oath, in order that a dividend of the funds in hand may then be declared and paid to those who have proved their claims.

SIDNEY SMITH,
Solicitor for Mrs. Foley, Executrix of the Assignee.
Peterborough, 25th March, 1865.

ABSTRACT STATEMENT

Of accounts between the Municipality of DUMMER, BURLEIGH and ANSTRUTHER, and JOHN ROSE, Treasurer, for the year 1864.

DR.	$ cts.	CR.	$ cts.
To balance on hand from 1863	396 49	By Road Expenditure	811 91
Fine from James Finlay	10 00	Salaries and Allowances	414 15
Cash from Jas. Wasson, Collector, $2489 87 Less Municipal Equivalent, 250 00	2239 87	Miscellaneous and Incidental expenses	166 35
James Finlay a Road Allowance	10 04	Postage, Printing and Stationery	23 40
Tavern and Shop Licenses	170 00	Charitable Allowances	47 00
Township's Treasurer's per centage	30 95	Trustees' orders	890 00
Non-Resident Tax	669 75	Surveying	24 00
Land Improvement Fund	152 92	Paid County Treasurer, Road Money	224 00
Fine levied by J. Rose, J. P.	1 00	Balance on hand 31st Dec, 1864	112 53
Clergy Reserve Money	147 84		$3877 57
Fines, Jas Clydale, Pound-Keeper	5 55
Seed Money	93 19
	$3877 57

We, the undersigned Auditors of the Municipality of Dummer, Burleigh, and Anstruther, do hereby certify that we have examined the above abstract of the Treasurer's accounts, for the year 1864, and have found it correct.

Signed,

JOHN SPEER,
JAMES WASSON, } Auditors.

SPRING GOODS!

The subscribers is now receiving a rich Stock of Spring and Summer

FANCY AND STAPLE DRY GOODS,

MILLINERY, MANTLES, SHAWLS, &c.

Which he will offer at very moderate prices, and to which he respectfully invites attention.

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, April 11, 1865. 15

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE!

JOHN ERSKINE

Respectfully intimates that he has now received a fresh supply of

Berlin Wool, Canvas, Floss, Silk, Knitting and Crochet Pins, Tatting Needles, Pearl Beads, Chenille Tassels, Cushion Tassels, Commenced Matts and Slipper Patterns, Traced Edgings, &c.

Prints, Ginghams, White and Grey Cottons, Stripe Shirtings, &c., all of which are considerably lower in price.

Fancy Dress Goods, Hoop Skirts, Hosiery and Gloves, Leather Bags, and a full assortment of Small-wares.

Tweeds, Shirts, Ties, Collars, &c.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

Peterboro, April 12, 1865. 15-2in

NEW SPRING GOODS!

W. G. THOMSON & Co.

Announce the arrival of part of their

New Stock of Spring & Summer Goods

IN

PRINTS, WHITE and GREY COTTONS, DRESS GOODS, SHAWLS, PARASOLS, STRAW HATS, BONNET FRONTS, GLOVES and HOSIERY.

They expect their Stock will be complete in every department in about two weeks.

N. B.—The prices of the New Stock of COTTON GOODS ARE CONSIDERABLY LOWER than formerly.

W. G. THOMSON & Co.,
George Street, Peterborough.

March 30, 1865. (2in)

Splendid Assortment of Spring & Summer Goods

JUST ARRIVING AT THE

MONTREAL HOUSE.

A choice lot of Dress Goods at 7½d per yard.

Dress Goods of every style in Muslins, Barèges, Delaines, Challies, Belzerines, Lustres, Coburgs, &c., &c.

Ladies and Children's Mantles, a great variety, as low as 4s 3d.

New and elegant designs in Shawls at very low prices.

All the new shapes in Straw Hats and Bonnets, (prices commencing at 1s.)

Choice Flowers, Pinnets, Straw and other ornaments.

A large assortment of Ribbons, (Pure Silk Bonnet Ribbons as low as 7½d per yard.)

Parasols, Pagoda and other shapes, in plain and fancy colors, very cheap.

A very large lot of Prints, colors warranted, ranging from 8d per yard upwards.

Ladies Gloves, white, black and colored Kids, Silk, Union, Thread, &c.

Gents Gloves of every description.

A very large assortment of Hosiery.

A few cases of Ladies Collars and Cuffs. Ties, Veils, Hair Nets, (as low as 2½d each.) Handkerchiefs, Frillings, Bonnet fronts at 4d each, Muslins and edgings.

Also, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Braids, Laces, Belts, Buckles, Satchels; and Fancy Goods of every description.

Grey Cottons from 6d per yard, Shirtings, Denims, Tickings, &c., very low.

A large lot of Summer Cloths, as low as 1s 3d, per yard.

Being the first Spring Goods imported by the Montreal House, the entire stock is new.

Best Groceries &c., at low prices always on hand.

JAMES W. DUNNET.

Peterborough, April, 1865. 15

Notice to Farmers.

ANY Farmer wishing to grow FLAX can be supplied with any quantity of Seed by applying to the undersigned, who will be prepared to furnish the seed at cost price, and will buy the produce at prices ranging from 12 to 16 dollars per ton. By the growth of Flax, Farmers can realize from forty to fifty dollars per acre, which will pay far better than Wheat. Farmers wanting seed will have it in their barns as soon as possible, at my office.

HENRY CALCUTT,
Brewer.
Ashburnham, April 1, 1865. 15-tf

WANTED.

A MATRON for the HOME OF THE HOMELESS, about to be established in Peterboro. Applications with testimonials of character and qualifications to be sent to the Secretary,

Mrs. F. W. HAULTAIN.
Peterboro, April 9th, 1865. 15

DEPARTMENT OF CROWN LANDS,
Quebec, 30th March, 1865.

ABOUT 30,000 acres of land in Enniskillen and other Townships in the neighborhood of the Oil Region, in the counties of Lambton and Kent, U. C., will be sold by public Auction, on THURSDAY, the FOURTH of MAY next, at Alexander's Hotel, Sarnia, terms cash in full at the time of sale, without conditions of settlement.

Lists of the lots for sale can be seen at the Registry, and Post Offices in the Counties, or had on application to the Department.

A. CAMPBELL,
Commissioner.
13-eths

DENTISTRY!

MR. O'DONNELL'S office will be closed until WEDNESDAY, the 19th inst. 15

NOTICE.

Dissolution of Copartnership.

THE Copartnership heretofore existing between Melville Millar and John Bertram, under the firm of Millar & Bertram, carrying on business as Hardware Merchants in Peterborough, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent.

The liabilities of the late firm, and all debts due to the same will be settled by Mr. Millar, who continues the business on his own account.

(Signed) MELVILLE MILLAR.
JOHN BERTRAM.

Dated, Peterborough, 1st day of April, 1865. }

N. B.—With reference to the above, Mr. Millar would respectfully request all parties indebted to the late firm, (either by note or book account,) to call at once and arrange the same, as the terms of dissolution necessitate an early settlement.

A CARD.

THE subscriber takes this opportunity of tendering his sincere thanks to the numerous friends and customers of the late firm, for the very liberal patronage bestowed on them for the past three years, and respectfully solicits a continuance of the same on his own behalf.

The large and varied stock of

GENERAL HARDWARE,
IRON AND STEEL,
PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, &c.

Together with every variety of

Carpenters' and Mechanics' Tools,
Shoemaker's Findings, &c. &c. &c.

Will be kept complete as heretofore, with constant additions as required.

Prices will be kept on the lowest possible scale, and strict attention paid as heretofore, to give his customers every satisfaction.

MELVILLE MILLAR,
George Street,
Peterboro, April 1, 1865. 14-3

NOTICE.

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Partnership heretofore existing, under the name of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., in the Town of Peterborough, was dissolved by mutual consent, on the Twenty-third day of February last.

All debts due to the firm are to be paid to John Whyte, who will settle the claims due by the late firm.

JOHN WHYTE,
WILLIAM HAMILTON.
Dated the 7th of March, 1865. 10

A CARD.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

THE Subscribers in returning thanks to their numerous friends in and around Peterborough for the liberal patronage they have received for the past 8 years, beg to say that although they have dissolved partnership the business will still be carried on by them in all its branches, as heretofore, in the same premises. Mr. Whyte carrying on the Agricultural department, and Mr. Hamilton the Machine department.

WILLIAM HAMILTON.
JOHN WHYTE.
Peterborough, March 5 10

NOTICE.

ALL those indebted to the late firm of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., by Note or Book Account, will please call and settle the same forthwith, as all debts not paid before the 30th of April next, will be placed in suit for collection.

JOHN WHYTE.
Peterborough, March 7, 1865. 10

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Common Law Partnership of Messrs. FAIRBAIRN & DUMBLE was this day dissolved.

T. M. FAIRBAIRN.
D. W. DUMBLE.
March 30, 1865.

MR. T. M. FAIRBAIRN,

BARRISTER-AT-LAW

ATTORNEY, &c.

Peterborough, C. W.

COURT OF REVISION.

ASHBURNHAM.

THE Court of Revision for the village of Ashburnham for the current year will be held at the Town Hall of said village, on Monday the 15th day of May, at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon.

All interested parties will please take notice.

JAS. STRATTON,
Clerk
Ashburnham, April 4, 1865. 15

NOTICE.

ALL PERSONS INDEBTED to the Estate of ROBERT TANNER, late of the Town of Peterborough, deceased, are hereby required to make payment thereof forthwith to the undersigned administrators, and all persons claiming to be creditors of the deceased are likewise requested to furnish the particulars thereof to the Administrators in order that the same may be examined and adjusted.

E. CHAMBERLEN, }
Wm. CUMMING. } Executors.
Peterboro, March 27, 1865. 13

NOTICE.

ALL persons are hereby forbid purchasing or having anything to do with three notes of hand made in my favor by one Wm. Jarvis, each bearing date 24th September, 1864, and payable respectively—1st, $20, payable in 12 months after date; 2nd, $20, payable 2 years after date; the 3d, $10, payable 2½ years after date. Said notes having passed into the possession of Andrew Bell, Guil River, as collateral security, and he now refuses to account in any way for the same.

ZACHARIA COLE
Minden, April 4, 1865. 15

Otonabee Mills.

THE above Mills having been very much impeded in their working during the past winter by the unusual quantity of anchor ice in the river, the subscriber is glad to be able to inform his friends and customers that they are now working freely, and that proper attention will, as heretofore, be paid to grinding and custom work; and cash paid for good Spring or Fall Wheat.

R. D. ROGERS.
Ashburnham, March 14th, 1865. 11-3in

REVOLVERS AND CARTRIDGE.

A NEW stock of Colt's, Smith & Wesson's and Marston's Pistols.

Cartridges to suit Colt's Revolvers.

GEORGE STETHEM & CO.
Peterboro, March 16, 1865. 11

SAWS.

ENGLISH Gate, Miley, Butling, Fawing Machine, and Cross-cut Saws, with Speer & Jackson's Files and other furnishings

GEORGE STETHEM & CO.
Peterboro February 1, 1865. 8

PITCH AND OAKUM

RECEIVED.

G. STETHEM & Co.
Peterborough, March 23, 1865. 13-3in

$500 REWARD!

WHEREAS, on the night of the 3rd inst. some evil disposed person or persons did maliciously set fire to the Work-shop of John Britton, the above reward of Five Hundred Dollars will be paid by the Town Council to any one who will give such information as will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the said person or persons.

C. PERRY, Mayor,
Town of Peterborough.
March 7, 1865.

One Hundred Dollars REWARD.

WHEREAS, on the night of the seventh day of December last, the property of Robert Morrison, Esquire, of the Township of Dummer, was wantonly and maliciously damaged and destroyed by some person or persons unknown, the above reward is hereby offered by the Corporation of the County of Peterboro, for such information as shall lead to the conviction of the guilty parties.

By order, R. D. ROGERS,
Warden.
Peterborough, Jan. 30, 1865.

$50 REWARD.

MR. MORRISON has added $50 to the above reward, which will make the whole $150.

Public Notice.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL of the Township of Dummer, intend on MONDAY, the SEVENTEENTH day of APRIL next, to pass a By-Law to close up and dispose of the following Road, viz:—Commencing on the eastern limit of the allowance for Road between the 6th and 7th Concession of said Township at a point bearing south 14 degrees east, and distant 5 chains and 60 links from the north-west angle of Lot No 18 in said 6th Concession, then north 11 degrees 45 minutes, east 3 chains and 46 links; then north 30 minutes, west 3 chains, and 91 links, then north 29 degrees, west 1 chain and 32 links; then north 47 degrees, west 1 chain and 28 links; then north 71 degrees, west one chain and 30 links to the eastern limit of the allowance for Road between the 6th and 7th Concessions, 3 chains and 50 links from the north-west angle of Lot No 17 in said 6th Concession.

GEO. READ,
Township Clerk.
Otonabee, Feb. 25th, 1865. 11

PUBLIC NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Court of Revision for the Municipality of Galway and Cavendish, will be held at the House of Mr. Samuel Wiley, Lot No. 20, Concession A, of said Municipality,

On Monday, the 24th day of April next,

At the hour of TEN o'clock, a. m. Interested persons will please govern themselves accordingly.

WILLIAM LEESON.
Township Clerk.
Galway, March 17th, 1865. 13-4in

REMOVAL.

Tobias Fitzgerald,

HAS REMOVED his Carriage and Waggon Establishment to those COMMODIOUS PREMISES on the

CORNER OF BROCK AND WATER STS,

OPPOSITE THE COURT HOUSE PARK,

Where he will continue to MANUFACTURE

CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, WAGONS, SLEIGHS, CUTTERS, &c.,

Which he will warrant to be made from the best Timber; and any person ordering from him are invited to call and examine the work before it is painted.

Jobbing & Horse Shoeing

Will be punctually attended to.

Peterborough, August, 1864. 33

REMOVAL.

THE subscriber begs to inform the inhabitants of LAKEFIELD and vicinity, that he has removed his

Grocery Store

IN LAKEFIELD,

To Henthorn's old stand, where will be found a

Good assortment of Groceries,

WHICH WILL BE SOLD

CHEAP FOR CASH,

Or Farm Produce.

ROBT. GRAHAM.
Lakefield, March 1st, 1865. 40-9

A Word to Young Men.

THE man who would prefer one dollar to two, would be common consent be voted a lunatic and void of good sense. Yet there are hundreds of young men working for a salary of Two Hundred Dollars, and even less, when they might by devoting a few months to obtaining a Business Education, at a small expense, fit themselves for situations where their services would command twice or thrice that amount. The place where such an education can be obtained at a Cheaper rate than anywhere else in this Province, is

THE LONDON Commercial College

THE SYSTEM OF INSTRUCTION

PURSUED IN

The Actual Business Department

OF THIS COLLEGE

Is practised nowhere else, and by it the student can obtain a throughly Practical Knowledge of every kind of business transactions in one-half the time required by any other means. The Proprietor has determined to extend the special advantages enjoyed by those entering before the 1st of April, to those who enter during that month also. Therefore all persons PURCHASING SCHOLARSHIPS before the FIRST of MAY, will be presented with a Complete set of TEXT and BLANK BOOKS for the ENTIRE COMMERCIAL COURSE, (Cash Price, Seven Dollars) or for $3 additional, a full supply of Books and Stationery. Full instruction in Phonography, Drawing, Painting and Telegraphing is given at a very low rate.

Good Board can be obtained for Two Dollars per week.

Full instruction is given when desired, (without extra charge) in all the branches required to obtain a First Class Certificate for teaching Common School.

Life Scholarship for Gents....$30 in advance
do. do. Ladies....$20 do

☞ To any one sending us post paid, the address of ten persons who would like to receive our circular, we will forward full instructions in one of the most Pleasing and Useful Arts of the present age; one which will be a constant source of enjoyment and profit.

For circular or other information address

J. W. JONES,
Principal of London Commercial College.
LONDON C. W.

Flax Seed.

PERSONS desirous of obtaining Flax Seed are requested to apply to the undersigned forthwith.

JOHN CARNEGIE, Jr.,
Sec. & Treas. P. A. Society.
Peterborough, March 16, 1865. 11-3in

MELODEON AND COTTAGE ORGAN EMPORIUM,

PETERBORO, C. W.

Estey's Perfect Melodeon AND COTTAGE ORGAN.

ESTABLISHED 1864.

FORMERLY ESTEY & GREEN.

The only Manufactory in this Country of the Perfect Melodeon and Cottage Organ with Patent Base Damper, Patent Harmonic Attachment, and Patent Manual Sub-Base.

These inimitable Instruments have won their way to public confidence purely on their merits, and not by force of extensive advertising and purchased recommendations. With our increased facilities for manufacture, we are still unable to meet the extraordinary demand made upon us; but we hope soon to be able to fill all orders promptly.

Some of the points of superiority claimed for our instruments, are these:—

1st.—Smooth, steady and pipe-like quality of tone.

2nd.—Great delicacy of touch and promptness of action; producing, when desired, a low, sweet, lute-like tone, unequalled by any other instrument of the class.

3d.—The Patent Base Damper, which enables the performer to swell the treble without increasing the volume of the bass; or, by drawing the Stop, to swell the notes by the action of the foot.

4th.—The Patent Harmonic Attachment. An ingenious octave coupler, which doubles the power of the instrument without increasing its size or the number of reeds.

5th.—The Patent Manual Sub-Base, which are played with the ordinary keys and controlled by a stop. This new and valuable invention requires no extra room and serves as a substitute for the Pedal Base, and can be used by an ordinary performer.

6th.—The Knee-Stop, in the Cottage Organ, which swells or diminishes the tone by a slight movement of the left knee, without interfering with the action of the feet,—having this advantage over the Automatic Swell that the volume of tone may be readily increased without extraordinary effort, and diminished without waiting for the change in the actions of the bellows.

Our recently constructed Cottage Organ, without the attachments, is unsurpassed by any Reed Organ or Harmonium of the size: but, with the Harmonic Attachment and Manual sub-base, it is pronounced by competent judges to be far superior to any other instrument of the class in the world. Its power, sweetness, and variety of tone, simplicity of construction and ease of management, recommend it to every one as being all that is claimed for it, both for the parlor and the church.

The Harmonic Organ, for Churches and Public Halls, has a fine, powerful Pedal Bass, with independent reeds; and, with the Harmonic Attachment, is believed to be the most powerful Reed Organ made, being nearly equal to a pipe organ of three times its cost.

All our Instruments are made in the most thorough manner, and warranted in every respect

JOS. R. WALTON,
Agent.
Peterborough, Jan. 1865. 4

Rev. A. C. Rose, of Troy, N.Y. says:—These give the value of five Melodeons in one. The ease of touch and promptness of action are unrivalled. It can be played with all the sweetness of the lute or Æolian harp, and changed in an instant to its full power, nearly equal to a twelve stop organ.

All orders addressed to the undersigned will receive prompt attention.

JOSEPH R. WALTON, Peterboro.
Jan 7th, 1865.

TESTIMONIALS.

JAMES BROWN, Esq., M. D.

Peterboro, October 20th, 1864.

I am happy to inform you that after the most persevering and testing trial for some weeks of the Cottage and Parlor Organ, we like it better every day. It is remarkable for variety of tone and power, and several of the best judges here say it is unequalled by any instrument of the kind (with double reed) they have ever heard. You can so control and command all its parts, as to pass easily and rapidly from the softest tones of the Harp, Lute or Piano, to the rich full swell of a large Organ. It is easily played by child or adult, and is already a very great favorite with us. Its compact structure, ingenious combination of power with the new and beautiful Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-base are greatly admired and are highly creditable to the maker, Estey, of Vermont. I think it is peculiarly adapted for Church Music.

EDW. F. CROWLE, A. M. &c.

Sheridan Villa Seminary, Peterboro, Dec. 1864.

We are delighted with the Cottage Organ with Harmonic attachment and Manual Sub-bass. We prefer it to any instrument of the kind we have ever seen; its tone, sweet and harmonious in the parlor, possesses sufficient power for a church.

REV. J. C. SLATER.
Wesleyan Parsonage, Millbrook, Jan. 1865.

I have much pleasure in testifying my entire satisfaction of the Cabinet Organ, purchased from you, as an instrument possessing superior qualities in sweetness, variety and strength, to anything of the kind I have ever seen. Two experienced musicians who have examined it, concur with me in recommending it as a perfect instrument adapted to Church or Parlor.

GEO. A. NORRIS, M. D., Recording Steward of the Wesleyan Church, Omemee.

Omemee, July, 1864.

In reply to your inquiries as to the Harmonic Organ, purchased from you for our church, we have to express our highest satisfaction; in purity and sweetness of tone as well as volume of sound, it is all that can be reasonably expected.

Peterborough, Dec. 20th, 1864.

MR. J. R. WALTON,—Having examined and played upon the Parlor Organs sold by you, and Manufactured by Mr. Estey, I have great pleasure in pronouncing them a first class instrument. The Harmonic attachment and manual Sub-base being a very great improvement and well worthy the patronage of the Musical public. Yours truly,

A. T. HEATHFIELD.
Organist of St. John's Church,
Peterborough.

SEWING MACHINES!

FINKLE & LYON'S

NEW PATENT ROTARY FEED

Sewing Machines.

The following facts demonstrate that these Machines comprise the highest improvements in the Sewing Machine Art, viz:

1. Each Machine is guaranteed to give better satisfaction than any other Sewing Machine in Market, or money refunded.
2. They have taken many of the highest premiums at the most important Exhibitions and fairs ever held in the United States.
3. They make the lock stitch alike on both sides—thus saving more than half the thread and silk used in the overlap-ridge-seams of the loop stitch and single-thread Sewing Machines.
4. They are adapted to the widest range of heavy and light sewing.
5. They have no rattling wires, or delicate attachments to keep in repair.
6. They require no taking apart to clean or oil, and no "Lessons" to set needle, regulate tension, or operate Machine.

Please call and examine, and demonstrate for yourself, or send for Circular, with samples of sewing.

N. B.—Town and Country Agents wanted.

FINKLE & LYON, S. M. Co.,
No. —, Broadway, New York.
March 16, 1865. 11-6.s

BY-LAW No.

A BY-LAW to raise by way of loan the sum of six thousand dollars for the purpose therein mentioned.

WHEREAS the Municipal Council of the County of Peterborough have resolved to expend the sum of $6000 in constructing, making and repairing the roads and bridges within the said County.

And whereas to carry into effect the said recited object it will be necessary for the said Municipal Council to raise by way of loan the sum of $6000 in the manner hereinafter mentioned.

And whereas it will require the sum of $600 to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the said debt or loan and interest, as also hereinafter mentioned.

And whereas the amount of the whole rateable property of the said Municipality, irrespective of any future increase of the same, and also irrespective of any income to be derived from the temporary investment of the sinking fund hereinafter mentioned, or any part thereof, according to the last revised assessment roll of the said Municipality, being for the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three was $3,700,000.

And whereas for paying the interest and creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the said sum of $6000 and interest, as hereinafter mentioned, it will require an equal annual special rate of thirty-one one-hundredths of a mill in the dollar, in addition to all rates to be levied in each year.

Be it therefore enacted by the Municipal Council of the County of Peterborough:

1. That it shall be lawful for the Warden of the said County to raise by way of loan, from any persons or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same, upon the credit of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $6000, and to cause the same to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said County of Peterborough, for the purposes and with the objects above recited.

2. That it shall be lawful for the said Warden to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums of money as may be required not less than $100 each; and that the said debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Municipal Council, and be signed by the said Warden and counter-signed by the Treasurer of said County.

3. That said debentures shall be made payable in 10 years at the farthest from the day hereinafter mentioned for this By-law to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer of the said Municipality, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

4. That the said debentures shall bear interest at and after the rate of six per centum per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly, on the first day of April and the first day of October in each year, at the Office of the Treasurer of the said Municipality.

5. That for the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest at the rate above-mentioned to become due thereon, an equal special rate of thirty-one hundredths of a mill in the dollar shall, in addition to all other rates, be raised, levied and collected in each year upon all the rateable property in the said Municipality during the continuance of the said debentures or any of them.

6. This By-law shall take effect and come into operation upon the 24th day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.

The above is a true copy of a proposed By-law to be taken into consideration by the Municipality of the County of Peterborough, at its Council Chamber in the Court House, in the said County, on Thursday, the 22nd day of June, 1865, at the hour of 12 of the clock, noon, at which time and place the members of the Council are hereby required to attend for the purpose aforesaid.

(Signed) WALTER SHERIDAN,
Clerk.
Peterborough, February 17th, 1865. 8-18in

GOLD PENS

FOR THE MILLION!

PENS TO SUIT THE HAND, AND PRICES TO SUIT THE POCKET.

THE BEST

Gold Pens in the World!

ON receipt of the following sums, we will send, by mail, or as directed, a Gold Pen or Pens, selecting the same according to the description, namely:

GOLD PENS, IN SILVER PLATED EXTENSION CASES, WITH PENCILS.

For $1 No. 2 pen; for $1 25 No. 3 pen; for $1 50 No. 4 pen; for $2 No. 5 pen; for $2 25 No. 6 pen.

These pens are stamped THE IMPERIAL PEN, and are well finished and fine with 4 Gold Pens, with good iridium points, although they are unwarranted, and cannot be exchanged.

Warranted Gold Pens.

Our name (AMERICAN GOLD PEN CO., N. Y.,) is stamped on all our 1st quality Pens, and the points are warranted for six months, each, against accident. Our second quality Pens, are stamped THE NATIONAL PEN, with

The Patriot Visits a Suposted Journalist.

"There is a time when it is the duty of every American citizen to make himself into a committee of safety for the good of the republic, and as he traitors smell the particular thunder of national vengeance. These thoughts came to me yesterday after I had taken the oath six times, and so overpowered me that I again took the oath with a straw in it. Just then it struck me that the "Daily Union," published near Alexandria, ought to be suppressed for its treason; and I immeditately started for the office, with an intention to offer personal violence to the editor. I found himexamining a cigar through the bottom of a tumbler, whilst on the desk beside himlay the "first proof" of—

"THE EDITOR'S WOOING.

"We love thee, Ann Maria Smith;
And in thy con-lescension
We see a future full of joys
Too numerous to mention.

"With joy, we feel the blissful smart,
And, ere our passion ranges,
We freely place thy love upon
The list of our exchanges.

"There's music in thy lowest tone,
And silver in thy laughter:
And truth—but,we will give the full
Particulars hereafter.

"Oh! we could tell thee of our plans
All obstacles to scatter:
But we are full just now, and have
A press of other matter.

"Then let us marry, Queen of Smiths,
Without more hesitation!
The very thought doth give our blood
A larger circulation!

When the editor noticed my presence, he scowled so that his spectacles dropped off. 'Ha, my fine little fellow,' says he hostily; 'I don't want to buy any poetry today.' Don't frat yourself, my venerable cherub,' says I; 'I don t deal in poetry at present. I just came here to tell you that if you don't stop writing treason I'll suppress you in the name of the United States.' 'You are a Mudsil mob,' says he, 'and I don't allow no violent mobs around this office. I am an American citizen, and I won't stand no mobs. What does the constitution my about newspapers? Why, the constitution don't say anything about them; so you've got no constitutional authority for mobbing me.'

'Then take the oath,' says I. He looked at me for a moment, and then passed me a small black bottle. I held it up over my eyes to see if it was perfectly straight, and he remarked that if all Northerners took the oath as freely as I did they must be a waterproof conglomeration of patriots. I believe him, my boy."—

A Legal Boomerang.

A diminutive German—we will call him Mr. Kraut, entered complaint that his wife had beaten him in a manner literaly merciless. He unswathed his head from the bandages surrounding it, exhibiting the marks of a broom handle administered with no feeble unction. Mrs. Kraut was arrested. She stood full six feet high, with breadth of shoulder and length of arm in due proportion. The husband reiterated his affidavit. The woman made no defence and the magistrate fined her for intoxication. As she didn't pay the fine, the officer motioned her to followed him to prison. She obeyed the order.

What are you goin' to do asked Mr. Kraut.

Take that woman to prison.

Certinly.

And who takes care of der baby.

Don't know; suppose you must take care of it yourself.

But I can't. I goes to mine work.

Well, if somebody don't pay the fine she must be looked up.

And must I get knocked into der cellar by mine vife und my head broke, und den turn around and pay for it.

Somebody must.

Mr. Kraut said something that sounded like profanity. He dropped five dollars and ten tears, the former on the desk, a recorded, the latter upon the floor, and departed with his wife, plunged in profound wonder at the curiosities of the law.

As we said before, people indulging in matrimony often learn a great deal by a very short course of study.—Philadelphia North American.

If nobody's noticed you, you must be small;
If nobody's slighted you, you must be tall;
If nobody's bowed to you, you must be low;
If nobody's kissed you, you're ugly we know;
If nobody's envied you, you're a poor elf;
If nobody's flattered you, flatter yourself;
If nobody's cheated you, you are a knave;
If nobody's hated you, you are a slave;
If nobody's called you a fool to your face;
Somebody's wished you far back in its place;
If nobody's called you a "tyrant" or scold;
Somebody thinks you of spotless mould;
If nobody knows of your faults but a friend;
Nobody will miss them at the world's end;
If nobody clings to your purse like a fawn;
Nobody'll run like a hound when its gone;
If nobody's eaten his bread from your store,
Nobody'll call you a "miserly bore;"
If nobody's slandered you—here is your pen
Sign yourself "Nobody," quick as you can.

"Did you take the note, and did you see Mr. Thompson, Jack?" "Ees, sir." "And how was he?" "Why, he looked pretty well, but he's very blind." "Blind! What do you mean?" "Why, while I wur in the room he axed me where my hat wur, and I'm blessed if it wur not on my head all the while."

"Molly," said Joe Kelly's ghost to his wife, "I'm in purgatory at this present," says he. "And what sort of a place is it?" says she. "Fair," said he, "'tis a sort of half-way house between you and heaven; and I stand it mighty aisy after leaving you."

Lady F—— had arrived at so extreme a degree of sensibility that, seeing a man go by with a wheelbarrow, she cried out to her companion, "Do turn aside, it distresses me to see that poor unfortunate wheelbarrow with one leg."

A preacher once said that ladies were very timid; they were afraid to sing when they were asked; afraid of taking cold, afraid of snails or spiders—but he never knew one afraid to get married.

"My brethern," said Swift in a sermon, "there are three kinds of pride, namely, of birth, of riches, of intellect. I should not speak of the latter, none of you being liable to that abominable vice.

Love can be found upon nature only (or the appearance of it) for this reason—however a rebuke may tend to soften the human feature, it can very seldom make amends for the mixture of artifice it discovers.

What is the situation in which woman and woman's love may not be the jewel of our fate? What is the state or condition which she may not beautify, or soften or inspirit?

A French author says: "When I lost my wife, every family in the town offered me another; but when I lost my horse, no one offered to make him good."

GREAT

CLEARING OUT SALE

AT THE

Montreal House!

Whole Stock

SELLING OFF!

AT

GREAT

REDUCTIONS.

☞ Call early and secure a bargain.

☞ See small bills.

Peterboro, Jan. 26, 1864.

Good News! Good News!!

E. MORRIS,

THE FAR-FAMED

HERB DOCTOR,

FROM LONDON, ENGLAND,

Is now in Peterboro' performing his most Astonishing Cures, as usual.

The mercurial Quacks may prate and gabble,
With Latin names for every nostrum;
But Morris' Herbs excels such rabble,
He explains their virtues from his rostrum.

He is well known o'er Canada,
In every City, Town, and Village;
He'll effect a cure for half the pay
Charged by those Quacks who live by pillage.

To those afflicted with RHEUMATISM try Dr. Morris' justly celebrated

Electric Invigorating Fluid,

for dispelling Rheumatic and other pains that may afflict the human system, internal or external.

He doth use such Balms as have no strife,
With nature or the laws of life;
With mercury his name he'll never stain,
Nor poison men for sake of gain.

Our Father whom all goodness fills,
Provides the means to cure all ills;
The simple herbs beneath our feet,
Well used, relieve our pains complete.

The Invigorating Fluid acts upon the system like electricity, giving relief instantly, in almost every case. PRICE PER BOTTLE, according to size, from 25 cents to One Dollar.

If you are afflicted with Rheumatic pairs, Cramps, Colics, and such painful brood, Caused by exposure to cold and rains, Try Morris' Invigorating Fluid.

For COUGHS, COLDS, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, use Dr. Morris'

Cough Drops,

They will be found a never-failing remedy for the above complaints.

If you should take a severe cold,
Returning from the waltz and hops,
Go where the medicine is sold,
Enquire for Morris' Cough Drops.

To those afflicted with Liver and Billious complaints, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sick and Nervous Head-ache, Costiveness, Weak and Disordered Stomach, &c., &c., try

DR. MORRIS' WORLD-RENOWNED

DANDELION PILLS

For Renovating the Blood, Correcting and Strengthening the Liver and Bowels, the Dandelion Pills have no equal.

If you feel nervous, with spirits low,
Disordered system, and other ills,
Take a friend's advice and straight you'll go,
For Morris' Dandelion Pills.

WORMS! WORMS! WORMS!

If you would expel those monsters from your dear children, try a box of Dr. Morris'

WORM DESTROYER.

If you have a son or daughter dear,
And the monstrous worms annoy her,
There's relief at hand, dry off that tear,
Get Morris' Worm destroyer

Dr. Morris can furnish reliable testimonials from some of the most respectable inhabitants of Peterboro' and other Towns and Cities of Canada West. For Testimonials see his Pamphlets The above medicines can be obtained at PROFF. MORRIS' BOTANIC LABORATORY, Simcoe Street, nearly opposite Phelans Hotel, Peterborough.

Dr. Morris invariably treats with success diseases of a secret nature.

CONSULTATION FREE, at his Laboratory, from 9 a. m., to 7 p. m.

Peterboro', Jan. 11, 1865. 3-3m

Great Bargains.

BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.
BUY LAMPS at WILLIAMS'.
BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.
BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.
BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.
BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.
BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.
BUY LAMPS at WILLIAM'S.
BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.
BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.
BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.
BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.

Cash paid for Grain

by A. WILLIAMS.

Peterboro', Jan. 11, 1865. 2

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

PIANO FORTE

MANUFACTURERS,

499 BROADWAY,

New York.

THE attention of the public and the trade is invited to our NEW SCALE

7 OCTAVE Rosewood Piano Fortes,

WHICH FOR

VOLUME AND PURITY OF TONE,

ARE UNRIVALLED

By any hitherto offered in this market. They contain all the modern improvements

French Grand Action,
Harp Pedal,
Iron Frame Over-Strung Brass,
&c., &c.,

And each instrument being made under the personal supervision of Mr. J. H. GROVESTEEN, who has had a practical experience of over 30 years in their manufacture, is fully warranted in every particular.

The "Grovesteen Piano Forte" received the highest award of merit over all others at the Celebrated World's Fair.

Where were exhibited instruments from the best makers of London, Paris, Germany, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and New York; and, also, at the American Institute for five successive years, the

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

from both of which can be seen at our warerooms.

☞ By the introduction of improvements we make a still more perfect Piano Forte, and by manufacturing largely, with a strictly cash system, are enabled to offer these instruments at

A PRICE WHICH WILL

Preclude Competition!

PRICES:

No. 1, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood plain case, $275.

No. 2, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood heavy moulding, $300.

No. 3, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood Louis XIV. style, $345. Terms: Net Cash, in current funds.

Descriptive circulars sent free.

Sept. 13th, 1864. 7-1 yr

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PHOTOGRAPHIC MATERIALS!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,

501 BROADWAY, N.Y.

IN addition to our main business of Photographic Materials, we are Headquarters for the following, viz.:

STEREOSCOPES,

AND

STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS,

Of these we have an immense assortment, including War Scenes, American and Foreign Cities and Landscapes, Groups, Statuary, &c., &c. Also, Revolving Stereoscopes, for public or private exhibition. Our Catalogue will be sent to any address on receipt of stamp.

PHOTOGRAPHIC ALBUMS!

We were the first to introduce these into the United States, and we manufacture immense quantities in great variety, ranging in price from 50 cents to $50 each. Our Albums have the reputation of being superior in beauty and durability to any others. They will be sent by mail, FREE, on receipt of price. Fine Albums made to order.

CARD PHOTOGRAPHS.

Our Catalogue now embraces over Five Thousand different subjects (to which additions are continually being made,) of Portraits of eminent Americans, &c., viz.: about

100 Major-Generals,	550 Statesmen,
200 Brig.-Generals,	130 Divines,
275 Colonels,	125 Authors,
100 Lieut-Colonels,	40 Artists,
250 Other Officers,	125 Stage,
75 Navy Officers,	50 Prom. Women,

150 Prominent Foreign Portraits,
3,000 Copies of works of Art,

Including reproductions of the most celebrated Engravings, Paintings, Statues, &c. Catalogues sent on receipt of stamp. An order for One Dozen Pictures from our Catalogue will be filled on receipt of $1.80, and sent by mail, free.

Photographers and others ordering goods C. O. D. will please remit twenty-five per cent of the amount with their order.

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,
Manufacturers of Photographic Materials,
501 Broadway, New York.

The prices and quality of our Goods cannot fail to satisfy. 46

Wm. N. KENNEDY

HAS

GOOD & CHEAP ROOM PAPER

ON HAND.

J. R. Walton's Column.

J. R. WALTON,

Insurance, House & Land Agent.

ALL business trusted to him will be promptly attended to.

OFFICE OVER G. W. ROBINSON'S STORE, GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

SCOTTISH

Provincial Assurance Co.

ESTABLISHED, 1825.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

CAPITAL, One Million Sterling.

INVESTED IN CANADA, over $450,000.

Sums Ass'd under Current Life Policies	£2,200,000 Stg
Accumulated Fund	462,626 "
Annual Income	197,930 "
Amo'nt proposed for Assurance, 1863, under 1063 applications	457,238 "

CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE,—Place D'Armes, Montreal.

A. DAVIDSON PARKER,
Secretary for Canada.

ATTENTION is directed to the rate of premiums adopted by this Company, which will compare favorably with that of any other institution in Canada. Investments of Company's funds to the large amount of nearly five hundred thousand dollars have been completed in Canada; and as all business transactions are finally disposed of in the Province, the Scottish Provincial offers all the facilities presented by a purely local Company, while it possesses the additional advantage of a large capital, and an influential and responsible body of shareholders in Great Britain.

Policies effected on or before 31st January next will receive a full year's bonus over those effected thereafter.

PETERBOROUGH:

J. R. WALTON, AGENT.

November 25, 1863. 48

PROVINCIAL

INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF CANADA.

Head Office,—Toronto Street, Toronto.

FIRE! MARINE!

DIRECTORS:

Hon. J. Hillyard Cameron, M. P. P., President.
Lewis Moffatt, Esq., Vice-President,
Hon. George Crawford, M. L. C.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq.
Geo. Duggan, jr., Esq.,
John Cameron, Esq.,
A. M. Smith, Esq., M. P. P.,
Chris. Robinson, Esq.,
W. J. McDonell, Esq.,
C. J. Campbell, Esq.,
Manager & Secretary,—James S. Crocker, Esq.,
Assistant Secretary,—Donough O'Brien, Esq.,
Solicitors,—Messrs. Duggan & Burns,
Bankers,—Commercial Bank of Canada.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent for Peterborough.

November, 1863. 49

CANADA WEST FARMERS

Mutual Stock Insurance Co.,

HAMILTON.

J. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

21 BUILDING LOTS

FOR SALE.

KNOWN as Park Lot No. 7, adjoining the property of Wm. Clinton, Esq., near the Little Lake. Terms to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Agent.

Peterboro', Dec. 1, 1863. 49

FOR SALE CHEAP,

AND ON LIBERAL TERMS!

LOT No. 9, 5th con. Township of Douro, 107 Acres of good Land, 70 acres cleared with a good Frame Dwelling, just new, and good office buildings, with three wells of water on the premises. Situate about six miles from Peterborough. For further particulars apply to

JOS. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, May 9th, 1864. 19

For Sale.

COMBINED Reaping and Mowing Machine, no worse than new—Patterson's make, of Belleville. Also, A good second hand Lumber Waggon.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterboro', June 28th, 1864. 26

For Sale.

A BRICK HOUSE and LOT for sale, one and a half stories high, situated on London street, West of George street, Town of Peterborough. For particulars apply to

J. R. WALTON.
House and Insurance Agent.

Peterboro, March 28, 1865. 13.

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on

TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1865,

In the Union School House, at Ten a. m.

"Candidates are not eligible to be admitted to examination until they shall have furnished the Examiners with satisfactory evidence of their strictly temperate habits and good moral character."

☞ Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.

By order,

J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.

Peterborough, Dec. 6th, 1864. 51tf

A HINT

TO THE

WORTHY CITIZENS OF CANADA.

BE WARNED IN TIME.

ALL parties purchasing my Pills and Ointment for their several complaints are respectfully warned against purchasing either Pills or Ointment purporting to be my preparations, that have a United States Stamp around the Boxes and Pots. There is no Treaty between the people of the States and the Home Government, therefore an United States Stamp does not protect my preparations. There are no stamps upon my Canadian style of Pills or Ointment, coming from the United States. I rely only for protection on the water mark in book of directions around each Box or Pot. Before you purchase them, see that there are no U. S. Stamps upon the Box of Pills or Ointment. Purchase none that have United States stamps on.

HOLLOWAY,
Maiden Lane.

46

GO TO

WM. N. KENNEDY'S

FOR YOUR

WINDOW BLINDS.

ELLA LEE.

A SONG OF THE SOUTHERN LAND.

Lay her where the wood-bine clingeth,
To the dark Magnolia tree;
Where the breeze low music bringeth
From the bosom of the sea;
With a sorrowful devotion,
Lay her where sweet violets be—
Where the leaves keep gentle motion
To the breathing of the sea.
There, there lay her,
There, there leave her,
Our young Ella,
Our lost Ella,
Ella Lee!

Ever blooming as the summer,
Ever humming like a bee,
We believ'd her some bright comer
From the land where souls are free.
Oh, she was so sweet and holy,
Mortal ne'er could lovlier be;
And she left us bright and slowly
As the sunset leaves the sea!
Yes, we've lost her, &c.,

Lay her where the long grass sweepeth
On the bark of many a tree.
Where the lonely willow weepeth
Life a mourner by the sea.
She was lovely, she was gentle,
All as gifted spirits be;
Folded in a linen mantle,
Slumb'ring near the sighing sea!
We have left her, &c.,

GARDENING FOR THE PEOPLE.

Speaking of the training of children, he remarked that if taken into the garden and catechised among the flowers, the lessons would be lasting. We bring our children up poor if they do not gather joy in their journey. If a man has a garden, even though small, he has an endless source of comfort. If he is poor, most of it must necessarily be devoted to vegetables, but a few flowers should always find place. If you despise flowers, yet listen to the pleading of wife and sisters. For myself I would give more for one morning glory all bedecked with dew, than an armful of beans and radishes. Still the man who raises even vegetables, eats his lettuce twice—once with his eyes, afterward with his mouth. Yet we want something besides vegetables.

The reason why some people's flowers do so much better than others, is because one loves them more than the other and the flowers are susceptible to this love.

Flowers make it Summer all the year long, and nothing could induce him to give them up. He drew a comparison between putting in the Autumn bulbs for their Winter rest, preparatory to a new life in the Spring, and consigning those other darlings to the earth for a short sleep to rise again more beautiful than ever. He commended the taste displayed by landscape gardeners and thought it commendable for those whom God had given wealth, to dispose of it in such a way that the poor laborer even might enjoy equally with him the beautiful outlines of the trees upon the sky, and the flowers growing along the walks.

An instance was given of a man of taste who moved into a village where a house had not been painted for twenty years, and other things were in keeping. By his example in fixing up, setting out shade trees, &c., a spirit of emulation was created, and in a few years every house was rejuvenated, and fine trees shaded the streets, all owing to the example of that new comer. In passing a fine place well laid out, with trees and shrubbery judiciously disposed to give a good effect in light and shade, with flowers interspersed, the tired laborer returning home at night, pauses to enjoy the scene, and forgets his hunger in admiring the beautiful prospect.—Extracts from a Lecture by H. Ward Beecher.

Plant Currant Bushes this Spring.

Strawberries and raspberries, like all delicate and delicious things, are soon gone and then we fall back on the substantial and ever refreshing currant. This fruit is so generally liked, and so easily raised, that no farmer nor any one who has a garden spot, need be without it as long as the season lasts for it in the fresh state, and an abundance of preserves can be made for the winter. There is no plant more easily grown from cuttings than the currant. The cuttings are best set in autumn, but may be put out now with a prospect that a majority will make plants. Six inches to a foot of the wood of last year's growth makes a cutting. Set them early and leave one eye above ground. Much of the success with cuttings depends upon having the earth closely in contact with them. Open with a spade a shallow trench, deep enough to receive the cuttings, set them six inches apart, and put on a little soil, and then with the edge of a board, or some similar implement, crowd the earth firmly about their lower ends. As to the form of bushes, they are sometimes grown in a tree form, with a single stem; or vase shaped, with several stems arising from the ground. The latter form is preferred by many good cultivators, as there is less difficulty from the breaking down of branches, and if the bush is kept open by pruning, good results may be obtained. The subject of varieties was discussed at a recent Fruit Growers' meeting, and it was the opinion that the Cherry and Versailles were the best for red, and the White Grape the best white variety. The Prince Albert was recommended for its late bearing.

Hints about Health.

THE USE OF ICE.—In health no one ought to drink ice-water, for it has occasioned fatal inflamations of the stomach and bowels, and sometimes sudden death. The temptation to drink it is very strong in summer; to use it at all the person should take but a single swallow at a time, take the glass from the lips for half a minute, and so on. It will be found that in this way it becomes disagreable after a few mouthfuls.

On the other hand ice may be taken as freely as possible, not only without injury, but with the most striking advantage in dangerous forms of disease. If broken in sizes of a pea or bean, and swallowed as freely as practicable, without much chewing or crushing between the teeth, it will often be efficient in checking various kinds of diarrhœa, and has cured violent cases of Asiatic cholera.

A kind of cushion of powdered ice kept to the entire scalp has allayed violent inflamation of the brain, and arrested fearful convulsions induced by too much blood there.

In croup, water, as cold as ice can make it, applied freely to the throat, neck, and chest, with a sponge or cloth, very often affords an almost miraculous relief, and if this be followed by drinking copiously of the same ice-cold element, the wetted parts wiped dry, and the child be wrapped up well in the bedclothes, it falls into a delightful and life-giving slumber.

All inflamations, internal or external, are promptly subdued by the application of ice or ice water, because it is converted into steam, and rapidly conveys away the extra heat, and also diminishes the quantity of blood in the vessels of the part.

A peice of ice laid on the wrist will often arrest violent bleeding of the nose.—Dr. Hall

For Sale, To Let, &c.

TO LET,

THAT COMFORTABLE COTTAGE on Queen Street, opposite St. John's Church, at present occupied by Mr. Nathaniel Shaw. Possession given next June.

W. CLUXTON.

Peterborough, Feb. 1865. 8-tf

TO LET.

THE House and premises lately occupied by J. W. Tate, Esq., on the Court House hill. Also, the Cottage lately occupied Mr. Glover, No. 1 Sheridan Terrace, Peterborough.

Apply to

W. SHERIDAN.

Peterboro, March 29, 1865. 13

To Let.

THAT eligible two story BRICK HOUSE, on George Street, at present occupied by J. C. Hughson, Esq., attached to the premises are good stables and sheds and a large garden. Possession can be given on the First of May.

For particulars apply to Robert Nicholls, Esq., or to the subscriber.

JAMES CLOTWORTHY.

Peterboro', March 20, 1865. 12

FOR SALE.

CHEAP FOR CASH,

OR ,ON LONG APPROVED CREDIT.

ONE very fast grey Mare, 8 years old. One brown Mare, 6 years old. One splendid Brood Mare; all gentle, and fit for any work. One Lumber Waggon, one Sleigh, and one sett of Double Harness.

A good yoke of Oxen or Steers will be taken in exchange.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, Oct. 12, 1864. 41

FOR SALE, OR, TO LET.

THE subscriber wishes either to Sell or to Let those premises at present occupied by Mr. John Ritchie as a tavern,

In the Village of Bobcaygeon.

The Hotel is in a good state of repair, with good stables and other outbuildings.

For terms, &c., apply to

ROBERT HUNTER.

Bobcaygeon, Sept. 10, 1864. 37

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE

IN THE

TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE property of the late WM. LANNIN, on Charlotte Street, opposite the Railway Station is offered for sale on reasonable terms; the lot has been divided into five parts, three of which are situated on Bethune Street, and has a frontage of 45 feet by 114 deep; the other two are situated on Charlotte Street and have a frontage of 57 feet by 89 feet in depth which makes them desirable for building purposes.

The whole will be sold in one lot or to suit purchasers.

For terms and particulars apply to

D. HOPKINS
or THOS. LANNIN.

Peterboro', August 24, 1864. 34

VALUABLE FARM

FOR SALE OR TO LET.

BEING composed of the east halves of Lots Nos. 22 and 23, in the first concession of the Township of Otonabee. There are about 150 acres cleared, and a good Frame Dwelling House, two frame Barns, a first-rate Driving House, Sheds and Stables, a good Well and Orchard on the premises.

Title indisputable, and immediate possession will be given. TERMS MODERATE.

For further particulars apply to G. F. Orde, or to the proprietor,

WM. WEIR,
Norham, Percy, C. W.

5

Farm for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale Lot No. 19, in the 12th Concession of Otonabee. There are 120 acres of good land in the farm, with a little over 100 acres cleared. There are good buildings, and two wells of water on the farm; it is about four miles from the Town of Peterborough.

TERMS.—One-half down, the remainder in 3 annual instalments.

JOSHUA DAWSON.

Otonabee Jan. 30th, 1864. 5

FARM FOR SALE.

LOT No. 27, in the 16th Concession of Smith containing 200 acres; there are 140 acres cleared, and on the premises there are a hewed Log House, Log Barn, good Well, and Orchard The Farm is situated on the main road to Buckhorn, 17 miles form the Town of Peterborough, there is a School House on one corner of it.

For Particulars apply to

ANDREW McKEE,
14th Con. of Smith.

January 12th 1864. 2

For Sale or to Let,

FOR A TERM OF YEARS,

TWO DWELLING HOUSES

In the Village of Lakefield, with 2 Lots, each one-third of an acre.

For particulars, apply to the undersigned at Peterborough,

J. GRIFFIN,
General Builder, Pump-maker, &c., &c.

Peterboro', March 7th, 1864. 10

LANDS FOR SALE.

TWENTY THOUSAND ACRES OF LAND, both wild and improved, and at all prices, for sale in various parts of Canada, principally in the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria and Ontario,) cheap, and on easy terms.

For lists and particulars apply to the proprietor

T. D. LEDYARD, Barrister, &c.
South-west corner King and Yonge Streets,
8 TORONTO.

HOUSE AND FURNITURE.

A COMFORTABLE HOUSE to Let. The Furniture in it can be had at very reasonable terms. Inquire at the office of Messrs. Fairbairn & Dumble, Barristers.

Peterborough, Nov. 9th, 1864. 45

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
Insurance Company.
CAPIT L.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA
ASSURANCE COMP'Y
CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMPANY
CAPITAL, $2,000,000.

Peterborough, Jan. 1st, 1863. 1

PAINTING & GRAINING

DONE BY

W. N. KENNEDY,

HUNTER STREET.

ARE YOU IN AGONY?

A WELL SPRING OF HOPE FOR ALL!

CAN BE FOUND IN

Holloway's Pills.

Be of Good Cheer! The Sinking may be Saved!

BY THE USE OF

Holloway's Ointment.

THE history of these great Remedies is the most wonderful medical revelation that the world has ever known. It establishes the all important fact that WHEREVER, and in WHATEVER, snare internal diseases exists, the disinfecting, searching and healing properties of the Pills are fully equal to its subjection and cure, and that, with the Ointment, they are

The Great Ambassadors of Health to all Mankind.

This is not a history written by one man, or even derived from the experiences of one nation. It consists of a compilation of testimonials from the sick of every country—an unimpeachable record, the like of which has never been adduced in favor of any discovery or invention since time began.

These Mighty Healers, World Known and World Tried are a Boon to the Sick

The want of a sterling medicinal to meet the ills and necessities of the suffering portion of humanity, and one entirely free from mineral and other deleterious particles, was severely felt till this all powerful medicine was ushered into the world; HOLLOWAY'S INVALUABLE PILLS have become the HOUSEHOLD REMEDY of all nations Their attribute is to PREVENT as well as to CURE; they attack the BLOOD at the ROOT of the complaint, and thus, by removing the hidden cause of disease, re-invigorate and restore the drooping energies of the system, assisting nature in her task of VITAL and FUNCTIONARY REFORMATION.

Disorders of the Stomach

Are the sources of the deadliest maladies. Their effect is to vitiate all the fluids of the body, and to send a poisoned stream through all the channels of circulation. Now, what is the operation of the Pills? They cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver, bring the relaxed or irritated stomach into a natural condition, and, acting through the secretive organs UPON THE BLOOD ITSELF, change the state of the system from sickness to health, by exercising a simultaneous and wholesome effect upon all its parts and functions.

Woman in all her Difficulties

Is invited to test the regulating and restorative powers of the harmless but effective preparation. At the two epochs of life in which the female system undergoes the most important and critical changes, the Pills will prove a positive safeguard against evil consequences. They are also confidently recommended as a specific in every disorder to which females are exclusively subject.

Be it Understood,

That the above statements can at all times be verified by the written testimony (extending through a quarter of a century) of tens of thousands of unimpeachable witnesses.

Bilious Maladies, &c., &c.

In whatever form disease attacks the liver, it is repelled and exterminated by this searching, painless, and irresistable curatives. Bilious remittents, bilious purging, and all the ordinary disorders of the organ, indicated by pain in the right side and between the shoulders, yellowness of the whites of the eyes, weakness and debility, &c., are relieved and removed by the remedy, with a celerity which astonishes the sufferer and their friends. Let the sick whom the faculty have abandoned, resort with confidence to this powerful anti-bilious agent, and a restoration to health and activity will be the unvarying result.

Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Weakness, &c. &c.

The terrible bodily and mental pangs which characterise Dyspepsia are at once mitigated by the Pills. Diarrhœa, constipation, headache, physical prostration, nervous tremors, hot flushes, spasms, affections of the kidneys, hemorrhoids or piles, and, in fact, all internal complaints, from whatever cause arising, give way before the salutary influence of this extraordinary remedy. As a specific for dyspepsia, and the disorders connected with it, or growing out of it, the Pills are always to be relied on when every other medicine and mode of treatment has utterly failed.

Holloway's Pills are the best Remedy known for the following diseases:

Asthma,	Headaches,
Bowel Complaints,	Indigestion,
Coughs,	Influenza,
Colds,	Inflamation,
Chest Diseases,	Jaward Weakness,
Costiveness,	Liver Complaints,
Dyspepsia,	Lowness of Spirits,
Diarrhœa,	Piles,
Dropsy,	Stone and Gravel,
Debility,	Secondary Symptoms,
Fever and Ague,	Vernal Affections,
Female Complaints,	Worms of all kinds.

CAUTION.

If the readers of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug store in his place, let him write to me, enclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' make.

None are genuine unless the words "Holloway New York and London," are discernible as a Water Mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same knowing them to be spurious.

 Sold at the manufactory of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and the civilized world, in boxes, at 25 cents, 63 cents, and $1 40 each.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes. 23

STEAMSHIP TICKETS

STOLEN.

WHEREAS, on the night of Tuesday, 30th August, the Express Office at Peterboro' was broken into, and some Tickets of the Montreal Ocean Steamship Company stolen therefrom; the public are hereby cautioned against purchasing Tickets of the above Company numbered 210 to 240 inclusive, as they have been cancelled.

JEG . COX,
Agent.

Peterborough, Sept. 1s 174 5-tf

ROOM PAPER DEPOT.

WM. N. KENNEDY,

HAS REMOVED to the store immediately West of the Stewart House, on Hunter street.

His stock of Room Papers, Borders, Decorations, Window Blinds, Fire Screens, &c., has been largely increased and will be sold cheap.

Painting in all its branches carried on as usual.

Peterboro', Oct. 16, 1864. 42

FOR SALE,

FLOUR IN BARRELS,

ALLANDALE MILLS,

Also,—OATMEAL IN BARRELS.

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro', June 8th, 1864. 23

PETERBORO EXAMINER.

S. PECK, Esq., has kindly consented to act as Agent for the Examiner, for the neighbourhood of Gull River.

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

Peterboro, January, 1865.

REEVES' AMBROSIA

FOR THE

Growth, Beauty and Preservation

OF THE

HAIR.

REEVES' AMBROSIA is prepared from valuable Roots and Herbs, each and all of which have enjoyed a reputation among eminent physicians, for their medical properties. These Roots, &c., are carefully selected and chemically compounded by such a method as to extract and combine their true medical virtues in the most effectual manner.

REEVES' AMBROSIA — Contains Burdock Root. Thoroughly eradicates Dirt, Scurf and Dandruff.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Witch Hazel. —Always allpains in the head; cures sore and diseased Scalps, Salt Rheum, Itching, &c. &c. Removes Dull Headache.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Bay Berries.—Gives vigour and healthy action to the Roots of the hair—is very cooling to the Head.

REEVES' AMBROSIA.—Contains Southern Wood.—Prevents the hair from turning prematurely gray.—Restores grey hair.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains Rosemary Flowers.—Nourishes the roots of the hair and gives impulse to its growth—is a delightful ingredient.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Contains:

L——r Leaves. M——s H——r
R——m B——k. T——n R——t.

The secret discovery which causes the hair to grow beautiful, thick and long.

REEVES' AMBROSIA—Is a genuine and reliable preparation. Buy it, try it, and be convinced.

For sale by all Druggists, at 75 cents per bottle.

Depot, 61 Fulton Street, New York.

December 1, 1864. 6mos.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS.

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen

THIS invaluable medicine is unfailing for the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excesses and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied upon.

TO MARRIED LADIES

It is peculiarly suited; it will, in short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity. Each bottle, price One Dollar, bears the Government stamp of Great Britain, to prevent counterfeits.

CAUTION.—These Pills should not be taken by females during the first three months of Pregnancy, as they are sure to bring on Miscarriage; but at any other time they are safe.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections pain in the back and limbs, fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed: and although a powerful remedy, they doest contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution ☞ Full directions in the pamphlet round each box, which should be carefully preserved.

Sole Agent for the United States and Canadas

JOB MOSES, N. Y.

N. B.—$1 and 6 postage stamps enclosed to any authorised agent, will insure a bottle, containg over 50 pills, by return mail.

NORTHOP & LYMAN, C. W.
General Agents for the Canadas.

Sold in Peterboro by Ormond & Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and W. Coulter; by C. Britton, Lindsay; and all medicine dealers. 15

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS!

The Original Medicine established in 1837, and first article of the kind ever introduced under the name of "Pulmonic Wafers," in this or any other country; all other Pulmonic Wafers are counterfeits. The genuine can be known by the name BRYAN being stamped on each WAFER.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY GRAHAM & STRATTON.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE

Vol. X. PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, APRIL 20, 1865. No. 16

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL, AND FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

BY

GRAHAM & STRATTON.

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars, Handbills, Funeral Cards, Invitations, Bill Headings, Notes Bills, Show Bills, Consent Bills, Programmes, Posters, Blank Bills, Business Cards, Blanks, &c. with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing for Lawyers' blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,
BARRISTER-AT-LAW, George Street, Peterborough. 18

C. A. WELLER,
CLERK of the Peace. Office George Street, Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,
COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office George street. 20

DENNISTOUN & SON,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, &c., Hunter street, Peterboro'.
ROBERT DENNISTOUN. | JAMES F. DENNISTOUN.

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

JOSEPH R. WALTON.
GENERAL Fire and Life Insurance Agent, George Street, Peterboro'. 18

MILLAR & BERTRAM,
HARDWARE Merchants, George' Street, Peterborough. 18

JAMES STEVENSON,
DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ORMOND & GILMOUR,
DRUGGISTS, Chemists and Seedsmen, dealers in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro'. 18

A. W. KEMPT,
DRUGGIST, Dealer in Genuine Drugs and Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Paints, Oils, Colours, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c.—Medical Hall, George street, Peterboro. 20

ROBERT WALTON,
SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 18

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer &c., Benthers's Brick Block, north of Ormond & Gilmour's George Street, Peterborough. 20

J. GRIFFIN & Co.,
PUMP AND PANNING MILL MAKERS, Wood Turners, &c., &c.
Corner of Simco and Aylmer Streets, Peterborough, C. W. 10-1y

ALEX. McNEIL,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.
Orton and Stone, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.
Nov. 27, 1861. 48

J. B. BISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 18

WM. N. KENNEDY,
PAINTER, Paperhanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 18

Mr. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash, Blinds, Door and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 18

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

R. PATTERSON & Co.
DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.
☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

LIVERY STABLES,
WHITE & BASTARD, Hunter Street Peterboro', C. W.

JAMES McLEAN,
INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.
Office, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 20

BANK OF TORONTO.
GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposit
A[illegible] Agent. 20

GEORGE READ,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee. 20

THOMAS W. POOLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, Accoucheur, and oculist. Water St., opposite the Market Square, Peterboro', C. W. 20

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Mr. GEORGE EDMISON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c.
Office over the Hardware Store of Messrs George Stetham & Co., George Street, Peterboro.
Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

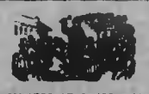
THOS. G. CHOATE,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Commissioner for taking affidavits, &c., &c.
Warsaw, C. W. 20

JOHN McMILLAN,
TAILOR,
SHOP on Simcoe Street, next door to R. Patterson & Co's Boot and Shoe Store, Peterborough. 44

MRS. HUGH WILSON,
Milliner,
STILL continues business one door East of the Free Church. 45

MR. SIDNEY SMITH
HAS RESUMED HIS PRACTICE AS
BARRISTER, ATTORNEY,
&c., &c., &c.
Office over the Post Office,
PETERBOROUGH, C. W.
April 27, 1863. 18

JOHN O'DONNELL
DENTIST.
OFFICE—Ormond & Gilmour's Block, George st.
PETERBOROUGH.
References—Dr. Legge Dentist, Brockville. Dr. McCrae, Keene. T. White, Jr. Esq., Editor of the Review; H. T. Strickland, Esq., merchant, Peterboro', and over one hundred others.
☞ Teeth extracted for those not able to pay, daily from 9 to 10 a. m., free of charge. 26



TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN!
COUNTY AUCTIONEER!!
THE Subscriber is now prepared to attend to all kinds of sales, with promptness and dispatch as Auctioneer. Address
CORNELIUS WILSON,
Norwood, P. O.,
Asphodel.
Norwood, Sept. 5th, 1864. 36

Hopkins & Donnelly
WOULD respectfully call the attention of the public generally to their excellent Stock of Goods, comprising everything found in a first-class Saddlery and Harness Warehouse, and surpassed by none in the Province.
As they have adopted the Ready Pay system, everything will be sold at
GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.
In Peterborough, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe street; in Lakefield, next door to Mr. Sherm's store.
P. S.—Over-due notes and accounts must positively be settled at once, otherwise they will be put in suit for collection.
H. & D.
Peterboro, Feb. 1, 1865. 5

A LIBERAL OFFER.
A Complete set of Text and Blank Books for the entire Commercial Course, (Cash price, Seven Dollars) will be presented to each Student purchasing a Scholarship in
THE LONDON
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE
BEFORE
The First Day of April Next.
Price of Scholarship for Gents $30 in advance.
Price of Scholarship for Ladies $20 in advance.
Students entering within said time, will be allowed the advantages of our Club Rates, the same as others.
THIS IS THE
OLDEST COMMERCIAL COLLEGE
IN THE PROVINCE!!
And our facilities for imparting practical knowledge, by means of actual transactions are unsurpassed. In addition to the regular Commercial Branches, everything is taught without extra charge, which is requisite for obtaining a First Class Certificate for teaching common school. Drawing and Painting and Telegraphing also taught.
Good board can be obtained in private families for Two Dollars per week.
For circular containing full particulars address post paid,
J. W. JONES,
Principal London Commercial College,
LONDON, C. W.

REMOVAL.
MRS. TODGHAM,
STRAW MILLINER,
BEGS to inform her Friends and Customers that she has removed from George Street, her late place of business, to Hunter Street, in the house West of the old Union School-House, where all orders will be executed in the best style, and on the same reasonable terms as heretofore.
Felt Hats Cleaned and Altered.
Peterboro, December 1, 1864. 52

REMOVAL.

E. POOLE'S
Furniture Ware Rooms
HAVE BEEN REMOVED
TO RYAN'S BLOCK,
Opposite the Market.
WHERE he will keep on hand the most extensive, best selected, cheapest and latest styles of Furniture, which he will sell Cheap for Cash.

UNDERTAKING,
In all its branches attended to with punctuality. COFFINS kept constantly on hand.
Peterborough, Nov. 30th, 1864. 48

STOVES
AND TIN-WARE.
GREAT INDUCEMENTS.
A. STEWART
Is now prepared to supply all kinds of
COOKING, BOX, AND PARLOR STOVES,
At Greatly Reduced Prices.
He keeps constantly on hand the following first class Stoves:—
St. LAWRENCE, square and extended tops.
CANADA, do. do.
QUEEN CITY, do. do.
IRON DUKE, do. do.
PROTECTIONIST.
MAPLE LEAF, &c., &c.
PARLOR STOVES
Too numerous to mention.
☞ Let all cash buyers call and examine his stock and prices, as he is determined to be undersold by none.
A. STEWART.
N. B.—Eave Troughs, Cistern Pumps, Bear Pumps, Bell-hanging, Lumbermen's Furnishings, and Jobbing of every description. A. S.
Peterborough, Nov. 16, 1864. 46

CARD PICTURES
Two for a Dollar!
FRAMING CHEAP
Likenesses of deceased persons enlarged from Ambrotypes and colored in oil.
Ambrotypes from 50 Cents,
AT THE
Photographic and Fine Art Gallery,
HUNTER STREET.
R. D. EWING.
Peterboro, March 1, 1865. 9

REMOVAL.
J. O'DONNELL, D. S.,
HAS REMOVED his Dental Office to the beautiful Corner Rooms
Over Ormond & Gilmour's Drug Store,
☞ Entrance on Hunter Street—same as Mr. Ewing's Photographic Rooms.
Particular attention paid to Facial Neuralgia, diseases of the Antrum, Necrosis and Caries of the Jaw, and all diseases in connection with the anatomy of the mouth.
☞ Teeth Extracted without Pain.
Peterborough, Dec. 14th, 1864. 50

MR. ORDE has removed his office to Chambers' Building, opposite the Commercial Bank.
Money, in sums varying from $200 to $2000, in a large aggregate amount, ready to be advanced on the security of "Improved Farms" and no other, with reference whereunto, to obviate unnecessary correspondence and postal charges, the personal inspection of intending mortgagors will only be entertained.
Mr. Orde has likewise entered into business arrangements with John C. T. Cochrane, Esq., General Land and Parliamentary Agent, of Quebec (or wherever the Seat of Government may happen to be), a gentleman of eighteen years' experience, and large practice in transactions relating to Patent and other claims in the Crown Lands Department.
Peterborough, Dec. 8, 1864.

COPLAND'S ALE!
A LARGE QUANTITY
OF
COPLAND'S
Celebrated Sparkling Pale Ale,
CONSTANTLY ON HAND BY
LEWIS GLOVER, Sole Agent.
Peterboro. Oct. 29th, 1862. 44

NOTICE.
THE subscriber begs leave to inform his customers that he is now prepared to GRIND GRISTS in a superior manner. He respectfully invites all who wish to patronize him to favor him with a call. All flour, made from good Wheat, warranted.
LEWIS BORLAND.
Deuro, March 1st, 1864. 9

MONTREAL
OCEAN STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

REDUCTION OF FARES
PASSAGE certificates are now issued to persons wishing to bring out their friends from England, Ireland or Scotland, at the following rates:—
Liverpool to Peterboro.....
Londonderry to Peterboro.....
Queenstown to Peterboro.....
Glasgow to Peterboro.....
The first steamer from Liverpool for Quebec, calling at Derry, will leave Liverpool on the 20th day of April, and every week thereafter throughout the season.
The first steamer from Glasgow, calling at Queenstown, will leave Glasgow for Quebec, on or about the 26th day of April. Steamers will be despatched from Glasgow, direct for Quebec, and vice versa, every two weeks during the summer months.
THE PERUVIAN
Will be despatched
FROM QUEBEC FOR LIVERPOOL
Calling at Londonderry,
ON SATURDAY, MAY 13th.
THE ST. DAVID,
FOR GLASGOW DIRECT!
On or about
The Twenty-third Day of May.
The steerage fares will then be reduced as follows:—
Peterboro to Liverpool or Londonderry $29.
Peterboro to Glasgow..... $28
Return tickets, good for 6 months, will be issued at very low rates.
For through tickets and every information, apply to
GEO. A. COX.
At his bookstore, opposite Nicholls & Hall's. He is also agent for the Canadian Express Company.
Peterborough, April 12, 1865. 15

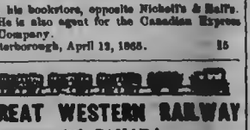
GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY
OF CANADA.
From Niagara Falls to Detroit,
AND BRANCHES FROM HAMILTON TO TORONTO.
Passenger Train Time Table.
OCTOBER, 1864.
TORONTO LINE.
HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

STATIONS GOING EAST.	Mixed.	Express.
HAMILTON.....depart	A. M. 7.45	P. M. 3.45
Burlington Junction	.....	.....
Waterdown	8.09	.....
Wellington Square	8.16	4.10
Bronte	8 37	4.37
Oakville		4.39
Port Credit		.....
Mimico		.....
TORONTO, Union Station, arrive	10.20	5.50

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

STATIONS GOING WEST.	Express.	Mixed
TORONTO, Union Station, depart	P. M. 12.00	P. M. 5.30
Mimico	.....	6.00
Port Credit	1.3	6.30
Oakville	1.4	6.44
Bronte	1.27	6.67
Wellington Square	2.13	7.10
Waterdown	.....	7.39
Burlington Junction	.....	.....
HAMILTON	2.30	8.00
Hamilton, 1864.		47

Norwood and Peterboro'
STAGE.
ACCOMMODATION LINE.
LEAVES NORWOOD
On Tuesday's and Friday's.
AT 7 A. M. RETURNING
LEAVES PETERBORO' THE SAME DAYS,
AT 2.30 P. M.
Orders left at the Huffman House, Peterboro, or the International Hotel, Norwood; will be promptly attended to.
Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates.
J. A. JOHNSON,
Proprietor.
Norwood, August 15, 1863. 34



ROYAL
MAIL STAGE
BETWEEN
KEENE & PETERBORO'.
A DAILY STAGE
Leaves the Victoria House, Keene.. 9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' ..... 12 noon.
Leave Peterboro'..... 3 p. m.
Arrive at Keene..... 5.30 p. m.
April 17th, 1863. 17tf.

PORT HOPE & PETERBOROUGH
RAILWAY.
ON and after the 25th of June, the Peterboro Trains will run as follows:—
MAIL.
Leave Port Hope at..... 9.55a.m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at..... 12.15 p.m.
Leave Peterboro at..... 2.30 p.m
Arrive at Port Hope..... 5.55 p.m.
E. R. KIMBALL, Superintendent. F. FERGUSON, Secretary.
Peterboro June, 1864. 26

Poetry.

Cold Water vs. the Wine Cup.

Air,—"Here's a health, toasts Scotland, &c. &c."

Here's a health to the land of the Shamrock and Rose,
Where Flourish the happy and free;
But the health, with my heart in the toast I propose,
Is, my own loved Scotia, to thee!
The Gael, he may pledge his lov'd land in red wine,
The Standard his home in Champagne,
But in draft purer far than e'er flowed from the vine,
To dear Scotia my goblet I drain.

When Rome swept in triumph her way through the world,
Her warriors drank the pure stream;
When Greece her proud banner in glory unfurl'd
Her sons quenched their thirst from the same;
Before tyrants grew strong, 'twas the drink of the free;
And for freemen yet sparkling remains;
Then down with the wine cup—bright water for me,
The pure liquor that flows from earth's veins.

From the hills of my own loved beautiful land,
It flows in ten thousand bright streams;
As clear as when first from its great Maker's hand
It glanced in the new-made sun's beams.
Earth's despots once taxed with vile imposts thy bread,
And still tether the weak with their chains;
But when God made bright Water, "Roll on, free," he said,
And fresh, sparkling and free it remains.

In thy fields fairest Erin, the Shamrock yet grows
As green as when God gave it birth,
While its roots drink the moisture that still purely flows,
As when first it gushed out from the earth.
May thy sons, like their national emblem, drink health
From God's beautiful, ever pure stream,
Rejecting the dregg'd cup—the robber of wealth,
Of earth's hopes, and of Heaven's bright gleam

Here's a health, then, to the land of Shamrock and Rose,
Where flourish the virtuous and free;
But the health, with my heart in the toast I propose,
Is, my own dear, loved Scotia, to thee!

O. S. DUNBAR.
Otonabee, 7th April, 1865.

Agricultural.

First Prize Essay on Flax Culture.

(From the American Agriculturist.)

WHEN TO PULL (OR CUT).—As the time of ripening approaches, the observing farmer will appreciate more than at any previous period, the importance of the details hereinforth given. When the seed has been harrowed in and buried deep by the feet of teams, the flax will ripen very unevenly; and a portion of it will be very green, while the remainder will appear fully ripe. Under such circumstances it will be necessary to estimate what proportion of the heads are fully ripe, and how large a proportion are still too green to be pulled. When the bolls have assumed a brown color, and the leaves have died for one-fourth the length of the stems at the butt ends, and the stems have changed from a dark green to a light yellowish color, then the flax is fit to pull or to cut. At this stage of growth, it will yield more and better fibre than if cut at any other period. In case it is too green when pulled, there will be a great loss both in quantity and quality. If the seed be put in as directed, almost all the bolls and stems will ripen uniformly; and it will be very easy to decide as to the best time for pulling or cutting without incurring any loss. When a man has a number of acres of flax to be pulled, he should not wait until it is all ready before he commences, lest much of it becomes too ripe. Should the soil be variable in its character, the flax will ripen unevenly, and the ripest portions may be pulled first. When flax is allowed to stand until it is all dead ripe, the seed will be of a superior quality, but the fibre will not be so heavy, strong, or soft, as if cut earlier.

PULLING FLAX.—When flax is pulled by hand, each laborer takes a strip about four feet wide, and either spreads it in a swath behind him, or throws it down in gavels, or binds it himself, as fast as he pulls it. The flax is grasped just below the bolls, with both hands, and pulled up with a sudden jerk. If it be pulled slowly, a much larger quantity of earth will adhere. As soon as one handful is pulled, it is set on the ground close to the standing flax, and held with one hand, while the other gathers as much as can be held conveniently: then both hands grasp the whole and pull. When enough has been pulled to make a gavel as large as the puller can grasp with both hands when will make a bundle about five inches in diameter, it is "butted" once or twice on the ground, to even it. Any scattering stalks, standing or lying on the ground, are gathered for bands, and the gavels are bound at once. This mode is usually adopted in preference to spreading in swaths. If the weather be wet and lowery, it will be better, at any rate, to bind the flax as fast as pulled, and to set the gavels in long stooks. These should always be set up North and South, so that the sun may shine on both sides of the stook in the course of the day. Before the gavel leaves the hands of the puller, he should strike it once or twice on the ground, or on his foot, to knock off the dirt. In case the weather is pleasant, it is always better to spread out each gavel, as it is pulled, about one inch thick, for the purpose of sunning it. After it has lain in the sun from half a day, it ought to be turned over to sun both sides. An expert puller throws every gavel down in such a manner, that they may be readily taken up when cured enough to be bound. As flax will hang together, if in a continuous swath, it is better to leave a space of two or three inches between the spread gavels, and sometimes they are laid alternately heads and butts. This is important, as that they may each be turned over readily, or taken up and bound, without tangling. When it is bound as soon as pulled, and set in stooks, it will require from one to two weeks to cure, before it will be fit to stack or mow. When it is treated as fast as it is pulled, the outside of the flax will all appear sufficiently cured to be stacked, in only a few days, while much of the middle of the bundles will be too green. It is quite an important to cure all the stalks and seed bolls thoroughly, before stacking, as to cure hay, or any kind of grain. The question is frequently asked, why it is not as well to cut flax as to pull it? The fibres of flax diminish in size, tapering from a few inches above the root until they run entirely out at the root of the plant. It will, therefore, run much smoother spun, and will form a stronger and smoother thread than if the fibre is cut in two. If the stalks can be cut within an inch of the root, nearly the entire length of the fibre will be secured, as well as a part of the advantage of this tapering of the fibre. In some parts of our country, dealers made a difference in the price between "reaper-cut" and pulled flax.

PULLING WITH MACHINES.—Several different machines have been invented for pulling flax, which have done tolerably good work, when the ground was smooth, level, and so dry that but little earth adhered to the roots. Most of them injured the fibre more or less, and some could not be adjusted to pull short and long flax equally well, neither would they always deliver it evenly; and when much earth adhered to the roots, it would either obstruct the machinery, or too much hand labor was required to remove the dirt before it became dry. In some instances where the soil was prepared with much care and the seed put in as previously directed, the writer has seen flax pulled in a manner at a rate of three to four acres per day, with two hands and two horses. But, flax-pulling machines have not been introduced except to a very limited extent.

CRADLING AND MOWING FLAX.—When the soil has been prepared, as previously directed, and the surface made very smooth, if the flax stands up well, an expert cradler will cut it very close to the ground and lay it evenly in a swath. But I have always found that I could cut it closer with a scythe than with a cradle, do it with less fatigue, and at the same time lay it in a swath quite as evenly as it could be done with a cradle. The scythe must be placed flat on the ground, and both heel and point kept well down, not only when it is set in, but in pointing out. I was always accustomed to cut a swath about 7½ or 8 feet wide, and to jerk the point of the scythe towards me, when pointing out, as soon as the last stalks were cut off. This motion of the scythe tended to straighten the under side of the swath, and by bringing the heel around just so far every time, and giving the scythe just a certain motion, I could always lay the flax as straight as if it had been pulled, and, if the ground was smooth, could shave it within an inch of the surface. The small amount of fibre that remained in the stubble would not be an equivalent for the greater expense incurred by pulling. When any of the flax has grown so large that it falls down, it can be cut with a scythe much better than with a cradle. If it is very long and heavy, when it is down it will be better to pull such plots, than to mow them. Let the swaths be turned over after they have been sunned sufficiently. In turning use a pole, let it be thrust under the swath, and every time turn only enough to make one bundle, keeping the division distinct. Whether the flax is pulled, cradled, or mowed, it is important to keep the buts as even as practicable before binding the gavels.

ASSORTING FLAX.—When flax of various lengths is bound together, a large portion of the short stalks will be separated from the long fibre, in the dressing, and be wasted in the tow. Furthermore, when the seed is threshed off, if the short stalks be bound up with long ones, many bolls will not be threshed, and all their seed will be lost. For these reasons, it is important that the long flax should not be bound in the same bundle with short flax. If it be pulled by hand, it will be very easy to assort it, when pulling it, by pulling a handful of the long, and then of the short, putting each in separate gavels. When it is mowed, or cradled, by taking a little pains, the short stalks may be laid, the most part, in a swath by themselves, and the long ones in another swath. Long bundles and short ones need not be kept separate. It is only necessary to keep the long stalks and the short ones in separate gavels, in order to dress those of the same length together.

MANNER OF STACKING.—It is not always convenient to put flax in a barn, and it is important to keep it where hay seed, chaff, and straw will not be mingled with it, and where mice and rats will not work. The best way of stacking it is to make a long stack bottom, by placing three poles, stacks of timber, or plank, side by side, from two to three feet apart, according to the length of the bundle, and one foot above the ground; and then lay two courses of sheaves, with the tops together, and with one course above another. As flax bundle will hang together so well, the ends of the stack may be carried up square, without any posts or stakes. In order to give the sheaves a good pitch, the heads of a few of the top courses may be laid on each other. Then cover it with canvas, or with boards. If there room can be had, let all chaff and hay need be swept away before the flax is hauled in.

TANGLED FLAX.—When flax is mowed by hand, or with a mower, and the stalks are not kept straight, it is called tangled flax. My own practice, which coincides with the practice of other farmers who are accustomed to raise flax, was, to cut it as close to the ground as possible, and shave it, rake it, cock it, and stack it, or put it in a mow, just as if it were hay. When it was mowed with scythes, I left it remain about one day in the swath, and then turned it over. As soon as it appeared sufficiently cured, I raked it into bunches with hand or horse rakes. If the weather were favorable, we were always accustomed to let it remain in bunches about as large as a mow could pitch at one forkful. When flax was managed in this way, we were always accustomed to put it in the barn, in preference to stacking it. When it is stacked, however, the top of the stack should be built sloping, instead of pointed, like a roof, and covered with round boards, or with canvas, as a stack of tangled flax will not turn rain so well as hay. When the flax was to be cut with a reaper, and it was desirable to keep the stalks straight, we put on the platform on for reaping grain, forward of the flax in gavels, and let them be cut on the butt-ends. Sometimes the flax is so long and heavy that it will not be practicable to rake, or fork it off, while the reaper is in motion. In such a case, as soon as enough for a gavel has been cut, stop the machine, remove it with the hand, and set it on the butt, and let another hand straighten it up. A little longer time will be required, if the reaper is stopped for every gavel, but the work will be done enough better to compensate for the extra pains to keep the stalks straight, and time will be gained in the end.

TANGLING FLAX.—When flax is treated in small chapens, we used sometimes to take a bundle in both hands and strike the heads on a large stone, or plow turned upside down on the barn floor. Sometimes the seed was trashed off with flails. If the sheaves are not too large, the best way is to whip it out on a large boulder. Strips of canvas, or blankets, should be hung up on three sides, to keep the seed from flying beyond the floor. When the seed is whipped out on a stone, the stalks will not be broken, and a man can thus whip out more seed than he can thresh with a flail. Another way is, to thresh with a common threshing machine. If the cylinder is what is called an "over-shot" cylinder, raise the concaves so that the ends of the spikes in the concaves and in the cylinder will just meet, but not pass between each other; if the concave is beneath the cylinder, and can not be lowered, adjust the feeding table so that a bundle of flax may be thrust directly against the middle of the cylinder. This done, thrust the top of each bundle against the cylinder when it is in motion, and be careful not to let it be snatched out of your hands. The bundles should not be held to the cylinder, after the bolls are removed, as the spikes would lacerate the fibre. Thrust the bundle against the cylinder, and withdraw it, turning it partly over, and give it another thrust, until all the bolls are removed. We never unbind our bundles of flax to thresh them with a machine.

Tangled flax is sometimes thrashed with horses by treading it out, and sometimes it is run through a threshing machine, as oats and wheat are thrashed. But the concave must be raised, or lowered, as the case may be, from the cylinder, so as to make as much space as possible between them, and still thresh clean. When the concave is not adjustable, some threshers take out half or two-thirds of the spikes in the cylinder. As flax seed will thresh very easily, it is not necessary to set the concave as close to the cylinder as to thresh cereal grains; and, furthermore when it is set close to the cylinder the machine will not thresh one half as fast. In case the flax is long and damp, the machine must be fed with care, or it will wind upon the cylinder, and choke the machine, or damage the fibre.

RIPPLING.—Rippling and threshing are frequently used in America, as synonymous terms. In the Old World, the bolls are usually separated by rippling, which is done as soon as practicable after the flax is pulled, and before it has been allowed to cure. The flax is pulled while a portion of the seed is yet in the dough state, and the tops are drawn through a ripple, a coarse hatchel, or comb, with long, sharp-pointed iron teeth, which tear off all the bolls and chaff, whether green or matured, and the flax is hurried away to be rotted as soon as practicable, before it has been allowed to cure. The bolls, seed, and chaff are all spread out on a floor and dried, and mingled with oats or barley, and ground into meal for feed. This constitutes the difference between rippling and treshing. Both green and dry bolls may be separated from the haulm by rippling, but green ones can not be treshed.

ROTTING OR RETTING.—After the seed has been separated the stalks are passed into the hands of the manufacturer, whose business it is to prepare the fibre for market by rotting and dressing it. If the producer desires to perform a portion of this work himself, he should understand what to do and how to do the work. The stalk straw or haulm of flax consists of two parts, the fibre, which is the inner bark, and the shives, which is the woody interior part, and which is also frequently called shoove, shove, boon and hurl. The fibre adheres firmly to the stalk, by means of a glutinous substance, and the object of rotting the stalks is to dissolve and decompose the mucilage which holds the fibre and the woody parts so firmly together; and when the flax is properly rotted, the shives will separate from the fibre as readily as bark will peal from a young willow sprout in early summer. There are two ways of rotting flax, preparitory to dressing it. One is called aerial rotting, and the other water rotting or steeping.

Aerial or Dew Retting—This is accomplished by spreading the flax on a grass plot in long straight swaths, about half an inch thick. A lad goes before the man who spreads the flax and divides the bushels into handfuls throwing them down where the swath is to be made. The spreader either bends his body forward, or squats down with the tops of the stalks toward him; and with a quick motion spreads the handfuls as fast as they can be thrown to him. There are only two things to be observed when spreading flax, which are to keep the buts even, and to spread it of a uniform thickness. Some men spread the swaths so thickly that they touch each other. But I always prefer to leave a space of a few inches between the swaths to prevent the tops of one tangling with another. After it has lain a week or ten days, it should all be turned upside down, by running a long pole, say twenty feet long, beneath the swath, near the top ends of the flax, and let a man and a boy turn over a section of about twenty feet at once. Three men will thus turn the flax of three acres per day. Others have found that two hands would perform this part of the work better than three men could do it with a short pole; because, every time a portion of a swath is raised, unless quite one stands on the swath where the operation is to be made, it will be more or less tangled.

The length of time required for rotting depends entirely on the weather. Unfavorable rains and lowering clouds, with heavy dews, or fogs would prolong the process. The length of time that flax has been found sufficiently rotted can only be learned by experience for determining whether or not it is rotted enough. There are certain rules which all experienced flax growers understand, which will enable a beginner to determine correctly, when it is sufficiently rotted. The most reliable rule is, the stalks when dry if beat with the fingers, will snap like so many of glass, and the fibres separate freely from the fibre. Beginners should weigh the flax and apply the test, lest it be rotted too much, which will cause a great waste of good fibre. When flax is rotted too much the fibre will separate from the shives at the junction of the main stem and branches; and sometimes the fibre of the finer stems will separate from the shives; and specimens of the stems will be seen in the form of an Indian's bow, when adjusted for the arrow. It needs a little experience to determine the point at which flax is sufficiently rotted.

Steeping or Water Retting.—The true way of rotting flax is to steep it in water, because it cannot be well done by dew rotting. If the weather be very poor or unfavorable, a good proportion of it will be rotted too much if it be kept on the ground until all the stalks are rotted enough. But when flax is steeped or water-rotted, there is greater uniformity in the process. In case it is kept in the water long enough, it will all be rotted alike, and it will be done much better than it possibly can be accomplished by dew rotting. Moreover flax can be rotted very much sooner by steeping, than by dew rotting, the object being simply to dissolve the mucilage that holds the fibre and woody parts together, so that they will separate readily as soon as the flax has been dried.

Prepare a pond of water in the same way that a mill pond is constructed, with a waste gate in the dam, to let the water off at pleasure. A suitable place can be prepared on almost every farm at a trifling expense. The bundles are held in an erect position, a few inches from the ground and then the water may go with moderate ease above them. For this purpose a platform may be made of milder boards, and fastened down with stones or stakes, and nail strips of boards from one to the other over the tops of the bundles to keep them from rising out of the water which should be a few inches deep over the flax. Then shut the waste gate and let the pond fill. Sometimes a cribb is made, and launched on a mill-pond and the bundles secured in it, when it is floated into deep water and sunk sufficiently with stones placed on the crate. Soft rain water is superior to spring water for rotting. While it is in the water a partial fermentation commences which must be arrested at the proper time, or the fibre will be damaged in proportion to the degree of fermentation beyond the proper state.

WHEN TO REMOVE FROM THE STEEP.—As the process of fermentation will progress very slowly in cool weather and rapidly in warm, it is impossible to state any definite time for loading it in the water. If the water were of the correct temperature, the process of rotting would be completed in six or seven days. The colder the water is, the longer the flax will be in rotting. After it has been steeping about five days it should be examined carefully every day, for the purpose of ascertaining when it is rotted just enough. Pull a few stalks out of different bundles in several places and break into pieces a few inches long and pull out the shives. If they separate very freely from the fibre, the water should be let off without delay, and the flax spread out on clean grass to dry; and as soon as dry enough, it should be bound in large bundles and housed.

BREAKING.—The hand brake.—The lower part consists of three slats of hard wood, 4 feet long, 3 inches wide, 1½ inches thick, fastened firmly into the post of a building, at one end, and the other ends mortised into a frame. The upper edges of each slat should be dressed to an edge. Two blades of the same form and size are bolted in long mortises in the post, and the outer ends of these slats are fixed in a block. Set the two upper opposite the spaces between the lower slats; and the edges of all, when shut together, should be on the same level. A wooden pin in the head above the blades serves for a handle. The slats in broken of this form are sometimes made to shut between one another, as a knife blade into its handle. This is a wrong construction, because when the edges of the slats pass by each other, they stretch and tear much of the fibre, and break out the shives no better. In using such a brake, grasp a handful of straw between the slats, working the upper part up and down, moving the handful along, and turning it over, until the shives are well broken from end to end. For convenience in holding a handful while breaking it, make two sticks about a foot long, and three-fourths of an inch in diameter, and tie them together, at out 15 inches apart, with a small cord. The cord is passed around the handful of flax, and the two sticks are grasped with one hand. By this means a man can hold the flax firmly and keep it even, which he can not do with his hand alone.

THE HORSE-BRAKE.—It consists of two fluted, or corrugated rollers between which the bunches of flax are passed repeatedly, until the stalks are broken so finely that the shives may be readily separated by shaking and with the scutcher. The rollers are about two feet long, and six inches in diameter. The lower roller is stationary, and the bearings of the upper one play up and down in slots three inches long. This roller is held down to the other by iron rods, or strips of hard iron, which pass over the gudgeons and beneath a stick,

(Continued on fourth page)

THE PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER, THURSDAY, APRIL 20, 1865.

The [illegible] wish to effect Insurances [illegible] call on the undersigned, Who devotes the whole of his time to Insurance, and represents some of the best English and Canadian Offices.

J. R. WALTON.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

"Ogemah."—James Wallis.
Notice—Lewis Glover.
[illegible]—Devargh & Co.
[illegible]—Sutherland.
Notice—G. Reed.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, APRIL 20, 1865.

THE TRAGEDY AT WASHINGTON

Four years of civil war has had its effects on the manners, morals, and dispositions of the American people. The effects, it must be admitted, are not to be admired nor desired.—That in a country professing to people that just liberty of both thought and action, the vile cowardly deed of assassination—should be committed, may appear to such a dark cloud over their boasted freedom—but it is not to be wondered at. Civil war engenders hatred and enmity that no other ever does, and it is safe to be wondered that no few such demons as those of the past week have been created. It will be a matter of puzzling to know, when the perpetrators of the foul deed, have been caught, and will in all probability, prove the reward of their cruel acts. Booth, who is identified as the assassin of the President belongs to the clique, which commenced the civil war with which he joined with France to the Presidency ball, and after committing the fatal act making his escape. He is of English descent but was born in Philadelphia as is said, and hence may be considered as a Southern sympathizer, but whom many consider [illegible] saving the advice and pay of the South, as more front stand prove only a subsidy, as any implication of the South in the affair might materially hinder the peaceable settlement of the present difficulties. It does not appear that the same person committed both the villainous deeds, but rather that there was a plot laid to set off all the principal members of the Washington Government. Grant and Stanton have escaped only because they were not there. No doubt there were other conspirators present waiting for them had they been there.

The miscreant who attempted Mr. Seward's life, appears to have been a desperado of the most determined character. He gained admittance by pretending he had prescriptions from Mr. Seward's physician, and on being a little hesitated in passing the servant aside, struck the coloured man down with a "billy," or weapon, resembling the shell and leaving him senseless—then attacked Major Seward, a disabled man, of the Secretary—Mr. Hansell, Sailor Managhan, and two male servants, disabling them all, and then rushed upon Sec. Seward himself, stabbing him several times in the neck—and his throat would have been cut, but that he rolled out of bed. The assassin then rushed down stairs and got away on horseback. Mr. Hansell is dead. F. Seward is dangerously ill, Major Seward is not so dangerous, and it is hoped that the Secretary will recover. He, however, is an old man, and is and was suffering from injuries received—the effects of having been thrown out of his carriage not long previous. A man named John Surratt of Maryland is supposed to be the criminal. It is supposed the assassins are making their way to Canada. We hardly think it.

Since writing the above, the report of the capture of the murderer and assassin is contradicted. They are therefore still at large, and instead of coming to Canada are believed to have got away to the South. $30,000 reward is offered for their apprehension, and the greatest exertions are being put forth to capture them if possible. Several arrests have been made on suspicion either of being accomplices or of knowing something about the matter. The Leader says:—"We are assured by a gentleman who claims to have positive knowledge on the subject, that Booth is an own cousin of the rebel Captain Beall, who was executed a few weeks since at Governor's Island, N. Y. If this be true it will account for the assassination of the President without implicating the Southern people as a whole. At some past time they might have claimed it; but what good could it do them now, seeing that they are completely subdued?"

WAR NEWS.

The great events of the war are completely lost sight of since the murder of President Lincoln on Good Friday. The people and press are almost wholly taken up with the events relating to the horrible affair. The country for a moment has turned its whole attention to the national affliction they are now called upon to suffer. Scraps of news reach us that Johnston has also surrendered, and that Imboden is applying to be paroled on the same terms as Gen. Lee. Mobile has fallen into the hands of the Federals. The Confederates are losing in every quarter. Jef. Davis, only, appears not cast down. He had issued a proclamation in which he declares he will never submit to the enemy one foot of the soil of any of the States of the confederacy. It will be seen in another column. The effect of the astounding and melancholy fate of President Lincoln on the fate of the South remains yet to be seen. President Johnston will, to all appearances, pursue the same course as his predecessor. We wish he may possess the same moderation and wisdom in dealing with the important questions which will very soon engage his attention. One very remarkable feature in the history of the United States is that both dead Presidents who have been called to withstand imminent perils at such troublesome times, have risen from the ranks to industry and perseverance, and are monuments of what mental talent may effect even without the embellishment of profound learning. It must also be admitted that there must be more than ordinary worthies raise an illiterate man from the plough, axe, or work bench to the Chief Magistrate of twenty millions of people. We may therefore hope for better things than we are inclined to anticipate.

Severe Snow at Hastings.—The Spring Sheps of Horses, for this County, will do held on Saturday the 29th inst., at Peterborough. At the last Show, the Horses were of a very low order, not one first-class horse of any sort being exhibited. The Society should make strenuous efforts to have first-class animals, as in this way only can they hope to improve their stock—and it is no easy to raise a good Horse in a mean pas

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES MURDERED.

The sad intelligence reaches us that Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States was shot by an assassin on Friday night at Ford's Theatre, Washington, whither he had gone with his lady friends to see the play of "Our American Cousin." It would seem that the object of the murderer was to kill both the President and General Grant, as the latter was announced to be present, but was prevented by business from attending. Secretary Seward was also attacked in his own house and severely injured, but not mortally. The assassin, after committing the foul deed, jumped from the President's box, waving a long dagger in his right hand, and exclaiming, "sic semper tyrannis," and immediately leaped from the box which was in the second tier to the stage below, and ran across to the opposite side, making his escape amid the bewilderment of the audience from the rear of the theatre, and mounting a horse fled.

The murder of Mrs. Lincoln was announced the fact to the audience that the President had been shot, when all rose to their feet, rushing towards the stage, many exclaiming, "Hang him, hang him!"

The excitement that of the wildest possible description, and of course there was an abrupt termination of the theatrical performance.

There was a rush towards the President's box when cries were heard of "Stand back and give him air," "has any one stimulants?" and as a hasty examination it was found that the President had been shot through the head above and back of the temporal bone, and that some of the brain was coming out. He was removed to a private house opposite the theatre, and the Surgeon-General of the Army and other surgeons sent for to attend to his condition.

On an examination of the private box blood was discovered on the back of the cushioned rocking-chair on which the President had been sitting; also on the partition and on the floor. A common single-barrelled pocket pistol was found on the carpet.

A military guard was placed in front of the private residence to which the President had been conveyed. An immense crowd was in front of it, all deeply anxious to learn the condition of the President.

It had been previously ascertained that the wound was mortal, but all hoped otherwise.

The shock to the community was terrible.

At midnight the Cabinet, with Messrs. Somner, Bolley and Farnsworth, Judge Cartis, Governor Oglesby, Gen. Keigs, Hay, and a few personal friends, with Surgeon-General Barnes and his immediate assistants were around.

The President was in a state of syncope, totally insensible and breathing slowly.

The blood oozed from the wound at the back of his head.

The surgeons used every possible effort of medical skill, but all hope was gone.

The parting of his family with the dying President is too sad for description.

The President and Mrs. Lincoln did not start for the Theatre until 15 minutes past eight o'clock.

Speaker Colfax was at the White House at the time and the President stated to him that he was going, although Mrs Lincoln had not been well, because the papers had announced that General Grant and they were to be present, and as General Grant had gone North he did not wish the audience to be disappointed.

He was with apparent reluctance, and urged Mr. Colfax to go with him, but that gentleman had made other engagements, and with Mr. Ashman of Mass., bid him good-bye.

When the excitement at the theatre was at its wildest height, reports were circulated that Secretary Seward had also been assassinated.

On reaching that gentleman's residence, a crowd and military guard were found at the door, and on entering it was ascertained that the reports were based on truth.

Everybody there was so excited that scarcely an intelligible word could be gathered, but the facts are substantially as follows:—

About ten o'clock a man rang the bell and it having been answered by a colored servant, he said he had come from Dr. Verdi, Secretary Seward's family physician with a prescription.

(Official.)

WASHINGTON, April 15, 1. 30, A. M.

To Major Gen. Dix:—

This evening the President, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln Mrs. Harris, and Major Rathburn, was shot by an assassin who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the President. The assassin then leaped upon the stage brandishing a large dagger or knife, and made his escape in the rear of the theatre. The pistol ball entered the back of the President's head and penetrated nearly through the head. The wound was mortal.

The President has been insensible ever since it was inflicted and is now dying.

About the same hour an assassin, whether the same or not, entered Mr. Seward's apartments, and, under pretence of having a prescription, was shown to the secretary's sick chamber. The assassin immediately pushed to the bed, and inflicted two or three stabs on the throat, and two on the face of the Secretary. It is hoped that the wounds may not be mortal. My apprehension is that they will prove fatal.

The nurse warned Mr Frederick Seward who was in an adjoining room, and he hastened to the door of his father's room, when he met the assassin, who inflicted upon him one or more dangerous wounds.

The recovery of Frederick Seward is doubtful.

It is not probable that the President will live through the night.

General Grant and his wife were advertised to be at the theatre this evening, but he started to Burlington at six o'clock this evening.

At a cabinet meeting to-day the President was cheerful and spoke kindly of General Lee and others of the Confederacy, and of the Government in Virginia.

All the members of the Cabinet, except Mr. Seward, are now in attendance upon the President.

I have seen Mr. Seward, but he and Frederick were both unconscious.

(Signed) EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

LATER.

DEATH OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN — GUVERNOR SEWARD'S WOUNDS NOT MORTAL.

WASHINGTON, April 15, 4.10 a. m.

To Maj. Gen. Dix.—The President continues insensible, and is sinking. Secretary Seward remains without change. Frederick Seward's skull is fractured in two places, besides a severe cut on the head. The attendant is still alive, but hopeless. Maj. Seward's wounds are not dangerous. It is now ascertained with reasonable certainty that two assassins were engaged in the horrible crime, J. Wilkes Booth being the one that shot the President, and the other a companion of his, whose name is not known, but whose description is so clear that he can hardly escape.

It appears from a letter found in Booth's trunk that the murder was planned before the 4th of March, but fell through then because the accomplice he had set until Richmond could be heard from. Booth and his accomplice were at the livery stable at six o'clock last evening, and left there with their horses about ten o'clock or shortly before that hour. It would seem that they had been for several days stocking their chase, but for some unknown reason it was not carried into effect until last night. One of them has evidently made his way to Baltimore; the other has not yet been traced.

(Signed) E. M. STANTON.

War Department, Washington, April 16, 8 o'clock a.m.—To Major General Dix: Abraham Lincoln died this morning at twenty-two minutes after seven o'clock.

(Signed,) E. M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, April 15, 11 o'clock a. m.—The Star extra says, at 9:30 the President breathed his last, closing his eyes as if falling to sleep and his countenance assuming a expression of perfect serenity. There were no indications of pain and it was not known that he was dead until he gradually descending respiration ceased altogether.

The Rev. Dr. Gurley, of the New York avenue Presbyterian church, immediately on its being ascertained that life was extinct, knelt at the bedside and offered an impressive prayer which was responded to by all present. Dr. Gurley then proceeded to the front parlor, where Mrs. Lincoln, Captain Robert Lincoln, Mr. John Hay, the private Secretary and others were waiting, where he again offered a prayer for the consolation of the family.

WASHINGTON, April 15, 9 a. m.—The assassin of President Lincoln left behind him his hat and a spur. The hat was picked up in the President's box and has been identified by pencilling on which it has been shown as the one belonging to the suspected man, and accurately described as the one belonging to the suspected man by other parties not allowed to see it before, describing it. The spur was dropped upon the stage, and that also has been identified as the one possessed at a stable where the same man hired a horse in the evening.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

On Wednesday last, during the heavy gale of wind, while Mr. Henry Stabler of Smith, was boiling maple sap in the woods a large tree, about two feet through, was uprooted and fell upon him. Fortunately, although the tree was falling fresh, providing by means of the weight of the tree and earth thereby saving Mr. Stabler from instant death. Mr. Hastey was immediately brought, when it was found that the collar bone was broken, his head cut or scraped in two or three places and his back and side severely bruised—the back and side causing greatest pain. We are glad to learn that he is supposed to be free from danger, and to be fast improving.

FRUIT TREES.—We have had the pleasure of inspecting, along with others, the delivery of Fruit Trees, by Mr. Gardner, at the Stewart House, and must admit with the general expressed opinion, that his selection for this spring excels any of his previous deliveries. From our acquaintance with him, and his upright dealings with the public, every confidence may be placed in him, and we are glad to hear from various parties the general satisfaction he has given, and hope that his deliveries may continue to increase. The Peterboro delivery this year amounts to $2000.50, besides $650 for smaller deliveries in other parts of the County. No better or more gratifying evidence of increasing wealth can be looked for. We hope the success which Mr. Gardner is agent for may long continue to have the advantage of his services.

THE POPE GOING TO ENGLAND.—Dame rumour represents the Pope as about to seek a place of repose, for his old days in Protestant England. If so, what strange things are coming to pass. Malta would be more to his mind, however. His Holiness may yet be without a place to lay his head. "From the imperial dome to where the swain raise his low cottage in the silent dale, all feel the assault of Fortune's fickle gale."

FLOODS BELOW MONTREAL.—The most distressing and heart rending accounts reach us of the state of the people at Berthier and Sorel, caused by the great floods at that place. Many lives have been lost, property destroyed, and a great number left without homes or sustenance.

To parties in want of Seed Grain, we would beg to direct their attention to the advertisement of Capt. Sutherland in this day's issue. We are satisfied he has selected his seed grain with great care out of his winter purchases, and that it can be relied upon to grow.

MASONIC.—An Emergency meeting of Peterborough Lodge, F. and A. M., No. 155, will be held in the Masonic Hall, Scott's Buildings, on Friday evening the 21st inst., commencing at 8 o'clock.

The steamer Ogemah has resumed her regular trips on the lakes—commencing last Friday. She will continue to run regularly until further notice. See advertisement in another column.

The Freeholder says last week the body of an Indian was found floating in the River, in the last stage of decomposition. A coroner's inquest was held and the body was decently interred.

To the Editor of the Peterborough Examiner.

Toronto, April 14, 1865.

SIR,—I desire to acknowledge through the columns of the Examiner, the receipt of twenty-five dollars, per D. G. Hattos, Esq., of Peterborough, being the proceeds of a Soiree given by the loyal orangemen of the County of Peterborough, on the 17th day of March, for the benefit of the Protestant Orphans' Home in this city.

I was much pleased on reading an account of the proceedings on the occasion and doubt not that the example set by the brethren of Peterborough will be followed by the Brethren of the several Districts in the good old loyal counties of Victoria, Durham and Northumberland.

While thanking you for the complimentary manner in which you refer to the connection of the Rev. Dr Lett, and myself with the Home, I must at the same time put in a disclaimer to the credit of the management being awarded either to the Dr. or myself.

The act of Incorporation was granted to Ladies, and by Ladies the institution has been managed since the Home was first instituted, and under their judicious management the proportions of the Building has increased from one of small dimensions, capable of accomodating from thirty to thirty-five children, till now one hundred can be comfortably accomodated. They began the good work with but limited means at their disposal, yet they have managed their Finances so successfully that the institution is not one cent in debt. True, these is but little of a surplus to fall back upon. I have, however, no fears that the progress and usefulness of the Home will be retarded for the want of means now that my Brother Orangemen have "put their hand to the plough," knowing that they are not the men to look back, nor allow it to rust in the furrow. It is the voice of the Widow and Orphan that appeals to their sympathy, and such have never appealed in vain to Orangemen.

Much might be written on the claims of this truly charitable and benevolent Institution on the Protestant community, but a fear of trespassing too much on the space of your valuable journal. I will, for the present, conclude by tendering my individual thanks to my brother Orangemen for the lively interest they have taken in the prosperity of the Protestant Orphans' Home.

Your obedient servant,
ANDREW FLEMING.

It is stated that plans of the intended fortifications for the protection of the city of Montreal have arrived from England. These works will extend from a couple of miles below Longeuil to the foot of the Lachine Rapids, taking a curvilinear form, with a radius of two miles from the ditch, and have five bomb proof forts, each containing a small barrack and arsenal. A sixth fort of superior size will subsequently be built on St. Helens Island. The works will be of stone faced with earth, the stone being taken, most probably, from quarries near Isleau Pond.

A horrible murder is reported near Philipsburg, Md. A farmer had received a thousand dollars, and in his absence three persons came to the house, murdered his wife and three daughters, and took his money. On his return, he met a peddler who had a pistol, and discovering the murderers, shot two and killed the other with a spade.

It appears that an attempt was made to set fire to St. Roch's Church some days ago—the session and some other persons having discovered a quantity of combustibles concealed under the stairs leading to the organ-loft, in rear of the grand altar. Efforts are being made to discover the author of the attempt.—Quebec Chronicle.

DEATH OF MR. CORBETT.—The Germania brings news of the death of Mr. Cobden, one of the foremost public men in England.

Frightful Scenes in Washington.

Assassination of President Lincoln, Secretary Seward and Son—The President died—Mr. Sewards Ins[illegible] still supposed to be dying.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—[illegible] Lincoln [illegible] Ford's Theatre for the [illegible] of Our American Cousin. [illegible] of the President [illegible] Grant [illegible] Philadelphia [illegible] Grant [illegible] Grant [illegible] Grant

HOPE IS LEFT FOR THE MISERABLE.

Diseases called victims of Scrofula, Fever Sores, Ulcer Legs, Running Sores, Salt Rheum, Skin Eruptions, Swollen Glands, Mercurial, &c., &c., these pitiful objects of disease, whose infirmities keep them out of society, and keep them in solitude, are assured rapid deliverance from disease by the use of Dr. RADWAY'S GLENAIRE'S SYRUP, called RENOVATING RESOLVENT. A few doses will prove its matchless superiority to all sarsaparillas, and three one to six bottles perfect a cure. This remedy will restore the sufferer to health and society, invest him with a scarf and beauty both, rich and pure blood. Price one dollar per bottle, sold by Druggists everywhere.

I AM CURED.

"I have taken six doses of Radway's Pills, of these pills each in six days; they cured me of Constipation, Indigestion and Dyspepsia. I have taken B——'s and A——'s, and many other pills for years, and could only obtain temporary relief. If I had stopped the use of these pills for a week my old complaint would appear. Six doses of Radway's Pills cured me.

Stevens Hussey,
U. S. C. S."

"I have suffered with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint for seven years—have used all sorts of pills—they would give me temporary relief but was compelled to take them all the time. I have used one box of Dr. Radway's Pills, I am cured; I have not taken a particle of medicine in six months. O. H. Childs.
Roxbury, Mass."

Dr. Radway's Pills always cure, so straining calomel, blue pills to the outer clone', follow these pills—they purge freely and cure rapidly.

Birth.

At Peterborough, on the 18th inst., the wife of Mr. George Hughes, of a son.

Death.

At Ashburnham, on Wednesday 19th inst., Margaret A. Rogers, beloved wife of H. T. Strickland, Esq., and daughter of James G. Rogers, Esq., Grafton; aged 27 years and 10 months.

The Funeral will take place to-morrow at 2 o'clock. Place of interment Little Lake Cemetery.

Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

Peterborough, April 19, 1865.

Flour ₱ bel	$4 50	@	$5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0 85	@	0 90
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0 80	@	0 83
Potatoes	0 35	@	0 40
Barley ₱ bush	0 60	@	0 65
Peas "	0 75	@	0 80
Oats "	0 45	@	0 50
Hay ₱ ton new	10 00	@	12 00
Hides ₱ cwt	3 00	@	3 25
Sheepskins	0 90	@	1 25
Wool ₱ lb	0 25	@	0 00
Beef ₱ cwt	4 00	@	5 50
Eggs, per dozen	0 11	@	0 00
Butter, ₱	0 14	@	0 15
Cordwood	1 50	@	2 00
Fowl, per pair	0 25	@	0 40

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING relating to the human sys tem, male and female; the causes and treatment of diseases; the marriage customs of the world; and a thousand things never published before, read the revised and enlarged edition of "Medical Common sense," a curious book for curious people, and a good book for every one, 400 pages 100 Illustrations. Price $1.50. Contents table sent free to any address. Books may be had at the Book stores, or will be sent by mail, post paid, on reciept of the price Address, Dr. R. B. FOOTE, M. D.,
9-6m 1130 Broadway New York

INFORMATION FREE!

TO NERVOUS SUFFERERS.

A GENTLEMEN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay, and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it, (free of charge,) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's and experience, and possess a sure and valuable remedy, can do so by addressing him at once at his place of business. The Recipe and full information—of vital importance—will be cheerfully sent by return mail.

Address, JOHN B. ODDEN,
No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

P. S.—Nervous sufferers of both sexes will find this information invaluable. 1-3mos

BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY IN CANADA.

The following testimony from a well known and highly respected Merchant of Prescott, is corroborative of the general approval given to Dr. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY:

PRESCOTT, C. W., Dec. 8th, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co., Boston.

Gentlemen:—

Being solicited by your Travelling Agent, for an expression of opinion of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, I with pleasure assert that it is, in my belief, the best remedy before the public for coughs and pulmonary complaints.

Having tested the article with myself and family, in cases of severe coughs and colds, for years, with uniform and unexceptionable success, I unhesitatingly recommend it with full confidence in its merits.

Yours truly,
ALFRED HOOKER.

None genuine unless sign'd, I. Butts's, on the wrapper. Prepared by Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston, and for sale by all dealers in medicines.
Peterboro, February 24, 1865. 7-4in

Take no more unpleasant and unsafe Medicines.

For unpleasant and dangerous diseases, use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU,

Which has received the endorsement of the most PROMINENT PHYSICIANS IN THE U.S.

It is now offered to afflicted humanity as a certain cure for the following diseases and abuse of the Urinary or Sexual Organs.

General Debility,
Mental and Physical Depression,
Confused Ideas,
Hysteria,
General Irritability,
Restlessness and Sleeplessness at Night,
Absence of Muscular Efficiency,
Loss of Appetite,
Emaciation,
Low Spirits,
Disorganization or Paralysis of the Organs of Generation,
Palpitation of the Heart,

And, in fact, all the consultants of a Nervous and Debilitated state of the system.

To insure the genuine, cut this out.

ASK FOR HELMBOLD'S.
TAKE NO OTHER.
CURES GUARANTEED.

For advertisement in another column.
Peterboro, Feb. 24, 1865. 1-3in

A GOOD THING—TRY IT

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER is a medicine for the immediate and permanent removal of all pains from the system.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER, Pleurisy, and Pains in the Side Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Back or Side.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER relieves Pains in the Head and Sick headache.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Bilious Cholic & Dysentery, Diarrhœa.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, and Bowel Complaint.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Sudden Colds and sore Throat.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Rheumatism, Tic douloureux, & Toothache.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER cures Burns, Scalds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER is also an excellent thing for Strains, Sprains, Wounds and Bruises. It takes away the pain the moment it is applied.

No family should be without a Bottle of the CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

Price 25 Cents Per Bottle.

TO THOR & LYMAN, C. W.,
General Agents for the Canadas,

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm Coulter, and A. W. Kempt; by C. Britton Lindsay, and all medicine dealers.

New Advertisements.

TO FARMERS

FOR SALE.

400 Bushels of Seed Peas.
500 do do Barley.
400 do do Oats.

THE above Seed has been carefully selected with great care especially for seed.

Apply to PETER HAND.
Ashburnham, April 19, 1865. 16-3in

NOTICE.

THE COURT OF REVISION
FOR THE
TOWNSHIP OF OTONABEE

Will hold its first sitting

On Monday the fifteenth of May next,

At the Council Room in the village of Keene, at 10 o'clock, a. m.

GEO. READ,
Township Clerk.
Keene, April 18th, 1865. 16-4in.

NOTICE.

THE subscriber begs leave to notify his customers and the public generally that he has REMOVED to the store formerly occupied by Alex. Mallell, one door north of A. Stewart's Store Depot where he will keep on hand a good stock of

FAMILY GROCERIES,

Crockery, Wines and Liquors, Flour and Provisions,

CHEAP FOR CASH.

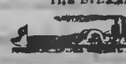
Farm Produce taken in exchange for Goods.

L. GLOVER

N. B.—The subscriber would also remind those indebted to him by Note or Book Account that to save costs they had better make immediate payment. L. G.
Peterboro, April 19, 1865. 16

NOTICE.

THE STEAMER



"OGEMAH"

Will leave Bridgenorth at 10 a. m., on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

FOR LINDSAY.

Returning Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 9 a. m., calling at Bobcaygeon and Pesaleu Falls, until further notice.

The Stage will leave McGregor's Hotel, for Bridgenorth, at 9 a. m., punctually.

Lumber Merchants wishing to have their Rafts towed will please notify at once.

JAMES WALLIS.
Peterboro', April 17, 1865. 16

A FORTUNE!

Employment for Everybody.

Great Sale of Jewelry, Watches, Chains, Diamond Rings, Silver-Ware, German and French Fancy Goods, worth over $800,000—all to be sold without reserve. Every one to have something Valuable.

LIST OF ARTICLES:

Gents' Gold Hunting Case Watches	$65.00 to $150.00
Ladies' Gold Enameled Case Watches	35.00	70.00
Gents' Hunting-Case Silver Watches	35.00	70.00
Gents' Gold Watches, double case	75.00	150.00
Gold Plated Watches in Magic Cases	25.00	50.00
Gold Plated Watches Enameled, for Ladies	25.00	50.00
Diamond Rings	50.00	100.00
Gold Vest and Neck Chains	10.00	20.00
Gold Oval Band Bracelets	4.00	8.00
Chased Gold Bracelets	5.00	10.00
Chatelaine Chains and Guard Chains	5.00	20.00
Solitaire and Gold Brooches	4.00	10.00
Lava and Florentine Brooches	4.00	8.00
Coral, Opal, and Emerald Brooches	4.00	8.00
Mosaic Jet, Lava and Florentine ear drops	4.00	8.00
Coral, Opal and Emerald Ear Drops	4.00	8.00
California Diamond Breast Pins	2.50	10.00
Gold Fob and Vest Watch Keys	3.50	7.00
Pins and Vest Buttons Mixed	2.00	8.00
Solitaire Sleeve Buttons, Studs, etc	3.00	10.00
Gold Thimbles, Pencils, etc	4.00	7.00
Miniature Lockets	4.00	8.00
Miniature Lockets—Music Spring	5.00	10.00
Gold Tooth Picks, Crosses, etc	2.00	12.00
Plain Gold Rings, Carved Gold Rings	4.00	11.00
Stone Set and Signet Rings	5.00	10.00
California Diamond Rings	5.00	10.00
Ladies' Jewelry in sets—Jet and Gold	8.00	15.00
Ladies' Jewelry in sets—Cameo, Fortuny, &c	6.00	12.00
Gold Pens, Silver Extension Holder and Pencil	4.00	10.00
Gold Pens and Gold Mounted Holders	5.00	15.00
Gold Pens and Gold Extension Holders	8.00	15.00
Silver Goblets and Drinking Cups	20.00	50.00
Silver Castors, Fruit and Cake Baskets	35.00	50.00
Silver Tea & Table Spoons & Forks, per doz	25.00	40.00
Silver Plated Tea Pots and Coffee Urns	20.00	50.00
Silver plated ice pitchers & molasses cups	25.00	60.00

See what the most popular and widely circulated periodicals say of our Establishment:

From the "Dispatch" of February 25, 1865.

We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the announcement of Messrs. Devaugh & Co.'s Great Sale of Jewelry, Silver Ware, and Fancy Goods, in our advertising columns. We are personally acquainted with the members of this firm and know them to be gentlemen of sterling worth and integrity. Their stock of goods, for variety and extent, we have scarcely seen paralleled.

From the "Mirror of Fashion," March 1, 1865.

Messrs. Devaugh & Co.'s Great Sale of Jewelry, etc., opened on the 15th ult., and we venture to say that no finer display of goods was ever exhibited by any establishment in this city. The ladies thronged their bazaar almost to suffocation, although the streets were rendered nearly impassable by the melted snow and slush. We predict for them a wonderful success.

From the "Ledger," February 28, 1865.

Our lady friends should visit the extensive establishment of Messrs. Devaugh & Co., No. 15 Maiden Lane, if they wish to indulge themselves with a sight which they will long remember. Such a profusion of elegant Watches, Chains, Rings, Earrings, and, in short, of Jewelry of every name, kind and description, we never before witnessed. Their silver and plated ware is superb and almost casts into the shade the other splendid establishments which have long been the boast of our city. It is estimated that their stock is worth not less than one million of dollars.

How You Can Get a Prize.

Send Twenty-Five Cents to us, and as soon as we receive it we will mail you a Certificate showing what you are entitled to. If the article or articles please you, send back the Certificate and One Dollar and we will forward you the article, no matter how costly it may be. If the article is not what you wish, state when you send the Certificate and dollar, what other article of the same value you prefer and we will send it. If you wish more than one Certificate send us $1 and we will send five; for $2, eleven; for $3, thirty; for $10, sixty; for $15, one hundred.

Agents are wanted in the Army and in every place. We have an immense stock of goods for disposal, and need a large number of Agents. Our terms to Agents are very liberal and some even of our Lady Agents are making from $5 to $10 a day. We give Agents 50 per Cent. on all Certificates they sell, provided they remit not less than $1 for eight.

☞ Write your name and address distinctly, and state only what is necessary.

GERARD W. DEVAUGH & CO.,
15 Maiden Lane New York.
New York, April 15, 1865. 16-7mos.

Otonabee Mills.

THE above Mills having been very much improved in their working during the past winter by the unusual quantity of anuhor ice in the river, the subscriber is glad to be able to inform his friends and customers that they are now running Daily, and that prompt attention will be hereafter, as heretofore, be paid to grinding and custom work; and cash paid for good Spring or Fall Wheat.

R. D. ROGERS.
Ashburnham, March 11th, 1865. 11-3in

NOTICE.

THE FIRST MEETING OF THE

COURT OF REVISON

For the Township of North Monaghan, will be held at the Town Hall, on SUNDAY the 1st day of MAY, 1865, at the hour of one o'clock, p. m.

WILLIAM WOOD,
Township Clerk.
Monaghan, April 12, 1865. 15-3in

THE COURT OF REVISION

FOR revising and correcting the Assessment Roll of the Township of Dummer, will be held at the

TOWN HALL, DUMMER

On Monday the 1st of May, 1865.

At ten o'clock, forenoon.

Parties interested will please take notice.

J. S. WHITE,
Township Clerk.
Warsaw, April 10th, 1865. 15

DAILY COMMUNICATION WITH ROCHESTER.

The Fast-sailing new Steamer

1865.  1865.

ROCHESTER!

CAPT. GREENWOOD,

Will, until further notice, run as follows:

Leaving Port Hope.....at 9 30 a. m
Cobourg ..... 10 30 a. m.
Colborne..... 12 00 m.

Direct for Rochester, arriving there in time to connect with the New York Central Railroad for New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Syracuse, Buffalo, Chicago, and other points East and West.

Passengers from the West via Grand Trunk Railroad, will take the Steamer at Cobourg; those the East will take the Steamer at Colborne.

For further information, enquire of A. Cochrane, Port Hope; Chas. Elliott, Cobourg or J. Keeler, Colborne.

RETURNING—Will leave Charlotte every night (Sundays excepted) at 10.00, P. M., direct for Port Hope.

G. F. DAINTRY,
Proprietor.
Cobourg, April 4th 1865. 13-tf

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

THE CREDITORS of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of the Hon. Sidney Smith, on Water Street, in the Town of Peterborough, at twelve o'clock noon, on Tuesday, the twenty-fifth day of April, instant, for the purpose of receiving statements of his affairs, and naming an Assignee, to whom he may make an assignment under the above Act.

CHARLES PERRY.
Peterborough, April 10, 1865. 15

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of TEMPLETON BROWN, an Insolvent,

THE Creditors of the insolvent are notified that he has made an assignment of his estate and effects, under the above act, to me, the undersigned Assignee, and they are required to furnish me within two months from this date with their claims, specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none stating the fact; the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

Dated at the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, this twelfth day of April, A. D., 1865.

JAS. STEVENSON,
Assignee.

T. M. FAIRBAIRN,
Attorney for Insolvent 15-3in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JOSEPH GRAHAM, an Insolvent.

THE creditors of the insolvent are notified that he has made an assignment of his estate and effects under the above Act, to me, the undersigned assignee, and they are required to furnish me, within two months from this date, with their claims specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none stating the fact, the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

RICHARD HOWDEN, Assignee.

Dated at the Village of Millbrook in the County of Durham, this 13th day of February, A. D. 1865. 15

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

Province of Canada, } In the County
County of Peterborough, } Court of the County of Peterborough. In the matter of William Armstrong, an Insolvent.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has filed, in the office of this Court, a consent by his creditors to his discharge, and that on Wednesday, the seventh day of June next, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, or as soon as counsel can be heard, he will apply to the Judge of the said Court for a confirmation of the discharge thereby effected in his favor, under the said Act.

W. ARMSTRONG.

Dated at Peterborough this 28th day of March, A. D., 1865. 13-1d

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JAMES W. STONE and GILES STONE, Insolvents.

THE creditors of the insolvents are notified that they have made an assignment of their estate and effects under the above Act, to me, the undersigned assignee, and they are required to furnish me, within two months from this date, with their claims, specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none, stating the fact; the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

D. McDONALD, Jr.,
Assignee.
Peterborough, March 28th, 1865. 13-3in

DIVIDEND

OF

Estate of Waters & Co., of Norwood.

The Creditors of the said Estate are hereby required to furnish to the undersigned, on or before the twenty-fifth day of April next, a statement of their respective claims duly attested under oath, in order that a dividend of the funds in hand may then be declared and paid to those who have proved their claims.

SIDNEY SMITH,
Solicitor for Mrs. Foley, Executrix of the Assignee.
Peterborough, 25th March, 1865.

NOTICE.

ALL PERSONS INDEBTED to the Estate of ROBERT TANNER, late of the Town of Peterborough, deceased, are hereby required to make payment thereof forthwith to the undersigned administrators, and all persons claiming to be creditors of the deceased are likewise requested to furnish the particulars thereof to the Administrators in order that the same may be examined and allowed.

E. CH. MORRISEY,
WM. CUMMING, } Executors.
Peterboro, March 27, 1865: 13

NOTICE.

ALL persons are hereby forbid purchasing or having anything to do with three notes of hand made by myself to my own order, each for $100, dated 24th September, 1864, and payable respectively at, $34, payable in 12 months after date; one, $33, payable 2 years after date; the 3d, $16, payable 3 years after date. Said notes having passed into the hands of Andrew Bell, Esq., Solicitor, Peterborough, and he not having consented to in any way for the same.

ZACHARIA COLE.
Minden, April 4, 1865. 15

NOTICE.

THE FIRST SITTING OF THE

COURT OF REVISON

For the Township of North Monaghan, will be held at the Town Hall, on SUNDAY the 1st day of MAY, 1865, at the hour of one o'clock, p. m.

WILLIAM WOOD,
Township Clerk.
Monaghan, April 12, 1865. 15-3in

THE COURT OF REVISION

FOR revising and correcting the Assessment Roll of the Township of Dummer, will be held at the

TOWN HALL, DUMMER

On Monday the 1st of May, 1865.

At ten o'clock, forenoon.

Parties interested will please take notice.

J. S. WHITE,
Township Clerk.
Warsaw, April 10th, 1865. 15

DAILY COMMUNICATION WITH ROCHESTER.

The Fast-sailing new Steamer

1865. 1865.

ROCHESTER!

CAPT. GREENWOOD,

Will, until further notice, run as follows:

Leaving Port Hope.....at 9 30 a. m
Cobourg ..... 10 30 a. m.
Colborne..... 12 00 m.

Direct for Rochester, arriving there in time to connect with the New York Central Railroad for New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Syracuse, Buffalo, Chicago, and other points East and West.

Passengers from the West via Grand Trunk Railroad, will take the Steamer at Cobourg; those the East will take the Steamer at Colborne.

For further information, enquire of A. Cochrane, Port Hope; Chas. Elliott, Cobourg or J. Keeler, Colborne.

RETURNING—Will leave Charlotte every night (Sundays excepted) at 10.00, P. M., direct for Port Hope.

G. F. DAINTRY,
Proprietor.
Cobourg, April 4th 1865. 13-tf

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

THE CREDITORS of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of the Hon. Sidney Smith, on Water Street, in the Town of Peterborough, at twelve o'clock noon, on Tuesday, the twenty-fifth day of April, instant, for the purpose of receiving statements of his affairs, and naming an Assignee, to whom he may make an assignment under the above Act.

CHARLES PERRY.
Peterborough, April 10, 1865. 15

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of TEMPLETON BROWN, an Insolvent,

THE Creditors of the insolvent are notified that he has made an assignment of his estate and effects, under the above act, to me, the undersigned Assignee, and they are required to furnish me within two months from this date with their claims, specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none stating the fact; the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

Dated at the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, this twelfth day of April, A. D., 1865.

JAS. STEVENSON,
Assignee.

T. M. FAIRBAIRN,
Attorney for Insolvent 15-3in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JOSEPH GRAHAM, an Insolvent.

THE creditors of the insolvent are notified that he has made an assignment of his estate and effects under the above Act, to me, the undersigned assignee, and they are required to furnish me, within two months from this date, with their claims specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none stating the fact, the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

RICHARD HOWDEN, Assignee.

Dated at the Village of Millbrook in the County of Durham, this 13th day of February, A. D. 1865. 15

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

Province of Canada, } In the County
County of Peterborough, } Court of the County of Peterborough. In the matter of William Armstrong, an Insolvent.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has filed, in the office of this Court, a consent by his creditors to his discharge, and that on Wednesday, the seventh day of June next, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, or as soon as counsel can be heard, he will apply to the Judge of the said Court for a confirmation of the discharge thereby effected in his favor, under the said Act.

W. ARMSTRONG.

Dated at Peterborough this 28th day of March, A. D., 1865. 13-1d

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864.

In the matter of JAMES W. STONE and GILES STONE, Insolvents.

THE creditors of the insolvents are notified that they have made an assignment of their estate and effects under the above Act, to me, the undersigned assignee, and they are required to furnish me, within two months from this date, with their claims, specifying the security they hold, if any, and the value of it; and if none, stating the fact; the whole attested under oath, with the vouchers in support of such claims.

D. McDONALD, Jr.,
Assignee.
Peterborough, March 28th, 1865. 13-3in

DIVIDEND

OF

Estate of Waters & Co., of Norwood.

The Creditors of the said Estate are hereby required to furnish to the undersigned, on or before the twenty-fifth day of April next, a statement of their respective claims duly attested under oath, in order that a dividend of the funds in hand may then be declared and paid to those who have proved their claims.

SIDNEY SMITH,
Solicitor for Mrs. Foley, Executrix of the Assignee.
Peterborough, 25th March, 1865.

NOTICE.

ALL PERSONS INDEBTED to the Estate of ROBERT TANNER, late of the Town of Peterborough, deceased, are hereby required to make payment thereof forthwith to the undersigned administrators, and all persons claiming to be creditors of the deceased are likewise requested to furnish the particulars thereof to the Administrators in order that the same may be examined and allowed.

E. CH. MORRISEY,
WM. CUMMING, } Executors.
Peterboro, March 27, 1865: 13

NOTICE.

ALL persons are hereby forbid purchasing or having anything to do with three notes of hand made by myself to my own order, each for $100, dated 24th September, 1864, and payable respectively at, $34, payable in 12 months after date; one, $33, payable 2 years after date; the 3d, $16, payable 3 years after date. Said notes having passed into the hands of Andrew Bell, Esq., Solicitor, Peterborough, and he not having consented to in any way for the same.

ZACHARIA COLE.
Minden, April 4, 1865. 15

SPRING GOODS!

The subscriber is now receiving a rich Stock of Spring and Summer

FANCY AND STAPLE DRY GOODS,

MILLINERY, MANTLES, SHAWLS, &c.

Which he will offer at very moderate prices, and to which he respectfully invites attention.

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, April 11, 1865. 15

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE!

JOHN ERSKINE

Respectfully intimates that he has now received a fresh supply of

Berlin Wool, Canvas, Floss, Silk, Knitting and Crochet Pins, Tatting Needles, Pearl Beads, Chenille Tassels, Cushion Tassels, Commenced Matts and Slipper Patterns, Traced Edgings, &c.

Prints, Ginghams, White and Grey Cottons, Stripe Shirtings, &c., all of which are considerably lower in price.

Fancy Dress Goods, Hoop Skirts, Hosiery and Gloves, Leather Bags, and a full assortment of Small-wares.

Tweeds, Shirts, Ties, Collars, &c.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

Peterboro, April 12, 1865. 15-2in

NEW SPRING GOODS!

W. G. THOMSON & Co.

Announce the arrival of part of their

New Stock of Spring & Summer Goods

IN

PRINTS, WHITE and GREY COTTONS, DRESS GOODS, SHAWLS, PARASOLS, STRAW HATS, BONNET FRONTS, GLOVES and HOSIERY.

They expect their Stock will be complete in every department in about two weeks.

☞ The prices of the New Stock of COTTON GOODS ARE CONSIDERABLY LOWER than formerly.

W. G. THOMSON & Co.,
George Street, Peterborough.

March 30, 1865. (2in)

Splendid Assortment of Spring & Summer Goods

JUST ARRIVING AT THE

MONTREAL HOUSE.

A choice lot of Dress Goods at 7½d per yard.

Dress Goods of every style in Muslins, Barèges, Delaines, Challies, Balzarines, Lustres, Coburgs, &c., &c.

Ladies and Children's Mantles, a great variety, as low as 4s 3d.

New and elegant designs in Shawls at very low prices.

All the new shapes in Straw Hats and Bonnets, (prices commencing at 1s.)

Choice Flowers, Plumes, Straw and other ornaments.

A large assortment of Ribbons, (Pure Silk Bonnet Ribbons as low as 7½d per yard.)

Parasols, Pagoda and other shapes, in plain and fancy colors, very cheap.

A very large lot of Prints, colors warranted, ranging from 6d per yard upwards.

Ladies Gloves, white, black and colored Kids, Silk, Union, Thread, &c.

Gents Gloves of every description.

A very large assortment of Hosiery.

A few cases of Ladies Collars and Cuffs. Ties, Veils, Hair Nets, (as low as 2½d each,) Handkerchiefs, Frillings, Bonnet fronts at 4d each, Muslins and edgings.

Also, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Braids, Laces, Belts, Buckles, Satchels and Fancy Goods of every description.

Grey Cottons from 6d per yard, Shirtings, Denims, Tickings, &c., very low.

A large lot of Summer Cloths, as low as 1s 3d, per yard.

Being the first Spring Goods imported by the Montreal House, the entire stock is new.

Best Groceries &c., at low prices always on hand.

JAMES W. DUNNET.

Peterborough, April, 1865. 15

One Hundred Dollars REWARD.

WHEREAS, on the night of the seventh day of December last, the property of Robert Morrison, Esquire, of the Township of Dummer, was wantonly and maliciously damaged and destroyed by some person or persons unknown, the above reward is hereby offered by the Corporation of the County of Peterboro, for such information as shall lead to the conviction of the guilty parties.

By order, R. D. ROGERS,
Warden.
Peterborough, Jan. 30, 1865.

$50 REWARD.

MR. MORRISON has added $50 to the above reward, which will make the whole $150.

Public Notice.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL of the Township of Otonabee, intend on MONDAY, the SEVENTEENTH day of APRIL next, to pass a By-Law to close up and dispose of the following Road, viz:—Commencing on the eastern limit of the allowance for Road between the 6th and 7th Concession of said Township at a point bearing south 14 degrees east, and distant 8 chains and 66 links from the north-west angle of Lot No. 16 in said 6th Concession, then north 11 degrees 45 minutes, east 3 chains and 48 links; then north 30 minutes, west 3 chains, and 91 links, then north 29 degrees, west 1 chain and 37 links; then north 47 degrees, west 1 chain and 30 links; then north 71 degrees, west one chain and 30 links to the eastern limit of the allowance for Road between the 6th and 7th Concessions, 3 chains and 50 links from the north-west angle of Lot No 17 in said 6th Concession.

GEO. READ,
Township Clerk.
Otonabee, Feb. 23th, 1865. 12

WANTED.

A MATRON for the HOME OF THE HOMELESS about to be established in Peterboro. Applications with testimonials of character and qualifications to be sent to the Secretary, and addressed to BOULTBEE.

Peterboro, April 9th, 1865. 15

PUBLIC NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Court of Revision for the Municipality of Galway and Cavendish, will be held at the House of Mr. Samuel Witey, Lot No. 20, Concession A, of said Municipality,

On Monday, the 24th day of April next,

At the hour of TEN o'clock, A. m. for the purposes will please govern themselves accordingly.

WILLIAM LEESON,
Township Clerk.
Galway, March 17th, 1865. 12-4in

REMOVAL.

THE subscriber begs to inform the inhabitants of LAKEFIELD and vicinity, that he has removed his

Grocery Store

IN LAKEFIELD,

To Hen'born's old stand, where will be found a

Good assortment of Groceries,

WHICH WILL BE SOLD

CHEAP FOR CASH,

Or From Produce.

ROBT. GRAHAM.
Lakefield, March 1st, 1865. 49-9

$500 REWARD!

WHEREAS, on the night of the 3rd inst. some evil-disposed person or persons did maliciously set fire to the Workshop of John Brixton, the above reward of Five Hundred Dollars will be paid by the Town Council to any one who will give such information as will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the said person or persons.

C. PERRY, Mayor,
Town of Peterborough.
March 7, 1865.

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Co-Partnership heretofore existing between [illegible] under the firm of [illegible] is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The indebtedness of the late firm will be settled by Mr. [illegible] at the old stand. The liabilities of the late firm will be settled by Mr. [illegible] at the old stand.

GEO. A. COX.
J. LEWIS DAVIDSON.

A CARD.

THE subscriber takes this opportunity of tendering his sincere thanks to the numerous friends and customers of the late firm for the very liberal patronage bestowed on them since commencing business, and respectfully solicits a continuance of the same on his own behalf. The stock still on hand complete in all its branches. In Stationery, a large assortment of

FOOLSCAP,
Note and Letter Papers,

PLAIN AND RULED.

FOREIGN NOTE ENVELOPES,
PENS AND INK.

School and Miscellaneous Books, Bibles, Prayer Books, Church Services, Hymn Books, &c.

Prices will be found low, and strict attention given to belonging to give his customers every satisfaction.

GEO. A. COX.
Peterborough April 5th, 1865. 14-6in

NOTICE.

Dissolution of Copartnership.

THE Copartnership heretofore existing between Melville Millar and John Bertram, under the firm of Millar & Bertram, carrying on business as Hardware Merchants in Peterborough, was this day [illegible] by mutual consent.

The liabilities of the late firm, and all debts due to the same will be settled by Mr. Millar, who continues the business on his own account.

(Signed) MELVILLE MILLAR.
JOHN BERTRAM.

Dated, Peterborough,
1st day of April, 1865.

N. B.—With reference to the above, Mr. Millar would respectfully request all parties indebted to the late firm, (either by note or book account) to call at once and arrange the same, as the terms of dissolution should be an early settlement.

A CARD.

THE subscriber takes this opportunity of tendering his sincere thanks to the numerous friends and customers of the late firm, for the very liberal patronage bestowed on them for the past three years, and respectfully solicits a continuance of the same.

The large and varied stock of

GENERAL HARDWARE,
IRON AND STEEL,
PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, &c.

Together with every variety of

Carpenters' and Mechanics' Tools,

Shoemaker's Findings, &c. &c. &c.

Will be kept complete as heretofore, with constant additions as required.

Prices will be kept on the lowest possible scale, and strict attention paid as heretofore, to give his customers every satisfaction.

MELVILLE MILLAR,
George Street,
Peterboro, April 1, 1865. 14-3

NOTICE.

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Partnership heretofore existing, under the name of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., in the Town of Peterborough, was dissolved by mutual consent, on the [illegible] day of February last.

All debts due to the firm are to be paid to John Whyte, who will settle the claims due by the late firm.

JOHN WHYTE,
WILLIAM HAMILTON.
Dated the 7th of March, 1865. 10

A CARD.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

THE Subscribers are returning thanks to their numerous friends in and around Peterborough, for the liberal patronage they have received for the past 3 years, beg to say that although they have dissolved partnership the business will still be carried on by them in all its branches, as heretofore, in the same premises. Mr. Whyte carrying on the Agricultural department, and Mr. Hamilton the Machine department.

WILLIAM HAMILTON.
JOHN WHYTE.
Peterborough, March 5 10

NOTICE.

ALL those indebted to the late firm of Whyte, Hamilton & Co., by Note or Book Account, will please call and settle the same forthwith, as all debts not paid before the 30th of April next, will be placed in suit for collection.

JOHN WHYTE.
Peterborough, March 7, 1865. 10

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Common Law Partnership of Messrs. FAIRBAIRN & DUMBLE was this day dissolved.

T. M. FAIRBAIRN.
D. W. DUMBLE.

March 30, 1865.

MR. T. M. FAIRBAIRN,
BARRISTER-AT-LAW
ATTORNEY, &c.
Peterborough, C. W.

COURT OF REVISION.

ASHBURNHAM.

THE Court of Revision for the Village of Ashburnham for the current year will be held at the Town Hall of said village, on Monday the 15th day of May, at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon.

All interested parties will please take notice.

JAS. STRATTON,
Clerk
Ashburnham, April 4, 1865. 15

Notice to Farmers.

ANY Farmer wishing to grow FLAX can be supplied with any quantity of Seed by applying to the undersigned, who will be prepared to furnish the seed at cost price, and will buy the produce at prices ranging from 12 to 16 dollars per ton. By the growth of Flax, Farmers can realize from forty to fifty dollars per acre, which will pay far better than Wheat. Farmers wanting seed will hand in their names as soon as possible, at my office,

HENRY CALCUTT,
Brewery,
Peterboro, April 6, 1865. 15-6

OLD EYES MADE NEW.

A PAMPHLET directing how to speedily restore sight and give up spectacles, without aid of doctor or medicine—sent by mail, free, on receipt of 10 cents. Address,

S. B. FOSTER, M. D.,
1130 Broadway New York.
9-3m

MELODEON AND COTTAGE ORGAN EMPORIUM,

PETERBORO, C. W.

Estey's Perfect Melodeon AND COTTAGE ORGAN.

ESTABLISHED 1864.

FORMERLY ESTEY & GREEN.

The only Manufactory in this Country of the Perfect Melodeon and Cottage Organ with Patent Bass Dampers, Patent Harmonic Attachment, and Patent Manual Sub-Bass.

These justifiably instruments have won their way to public favor and deservedly rank among the best in use; and not by force of extensive advertising and puffed recommendations. With our personal facilities for manufacture, we are still unable to meet the extraordinary demand made upon us; but we hope soon to be able to fill all orders promptly.

Some of the points of superiority claimed for our instruments, are these:—

1st.—Smooth, steady and pipe-like quality of tone.

2nd.—Great delicacy of touch and promptness of action; producing, when desired, a low, sweet, bird-like tone, unequalled by any other instrument of the class.

3d.—The Patent Bass

(Continued from first page.)

which holds a tablet of stone. The weight MACHINE. A [illegible] driving belt on the [illegible] roller, gives them a velocity of about two hundred revolutions per minute. The rollers may be made of cast iron, or of wood covered with iron ridges, screwed firmly to its surface. A handful of flax is placed on the spiked feeding table, and it soon catches it as the rollers bring it through toward him. He then places it again on the hatchling table, and continues to run it through until it is thoroughly broken. After the tow is broken, the loose shives are broken out, and the remainder are scutched out.

SCUTCHING.—Hand scutcher or swingling knife.—It is of hard wood, 2 feet long, with two edges. The hand scutching board is about 2 feet long, and one foot wide, with a notch, and fastened securely to a heavy block. The length of the scutching board is regulated by the stature of the man who uses it. A handful of flax is held by the operator in one hand in the notch of the scutching board, with the butts in strands on it as if it were to be cut off as a line with the surface of the board. The handfuls are spread over, and both ends are scutched until the shives are removed. These latter have but one edge; and they must revolve as true as a mill-stone. The shaft should make from one hundred and fifty to two hundred revolutions per minute; it may be of any desirable length, with scutching knives every four feet. The knives revolve close to a scutching board. After the branches have been well scutched, they are hatcheled. The teeth of a flax hatchel are about six inches long, one eighth of an inch in diameter at the large end, and taper to a sharp point. About 50 of these are set about one fourth of an inch apart, in a hard board, and the fibre is drawn through them until it is sufficiently lacerated and combed. The handfuls are then twisted a little, and packed in a clean box for market. In some markets, however, hatcheled fibre will command no larger price than the unhatcheled, because the process of hatcheling in the business of the spinner, and requires skilled labor to do it properly. An inexperienced hatcheler will waste a large per centage of good fibre. For this reason, the grower should aim simply to remove the shives or "boon," and leave the fibre as whole and long as possible, and let the spinner perform the finishing, unless dealers make a great difference in the price between the hatcheled and unhatcheled fibre.

An Irish Petition.

Dennis McCarthy, of the County of Kerry, his petition to the Lords Chief Justices, on being turned out of his holding, in said County:—

Most worthy gentlemen, I Dennis McCarthy, a poor, indigent, miserable, deplorable, needy, distressed, friendless, unimportant, misfortunate student and scholar, learner and disciple, follower, lover and admirer of the tuneful, fine and melodious Choir, do supplicate, invoke, ejaculate, beg, pray and beseech your Worships, Lordships and Magestrate Powers, grandeurs, highnesses and excellencies, to commiserate, pity and take compassion and be-moan and be touched with the state and condition of me, Mr. McCarthy, who am extracted, descended, derived and sprung from the most noble, most civil, most witty, most accomplished, most splendid, most magnanimous, most courageous, most warlike, most brave, most renowned, most heroic race, stock, family lineage, genealogy, and geneology, and generation, of the princely, loyal, royal, martial and grand McCarthy of the County of Kerry, whose noble actions and exploits, achievements, pork rencounters, transactions, labors and works will never be forgotten, defamed, discannulled, annihilated, antiquated, obliterated by tradition, time, antiquity, or even entirely left out in history, ennobled, aggrandized, eternized, advanced, extolled, promoted, elevated, by the following and coming after posterity and children, recorded, commemorated, dictated, rehearsed in annals, registries, compendiums, and labels of glory and fame, character and reputation, who was son and heir and proprietor, and poor dear child of the strong, bold daring, terrible, and formidable Timothy, Thady McTiegue, McKron, McFlorence, McCharles, McDaniels, McCarthy, Lord Muskerry, formerly and recently, living, dwelling, cohabiting and inhabiting the County of Kerry, who then and at that time, there and at that place, had held and kept a most copious, hospitable dwelling and abode for all sorts and sizes of people, young and old, man and women, boys and girls, gentle and simple, proper and common, generous and rustic, that came east and west, north and south, this way and that way, and every way, for many and several years and months; who was ruler and rector, governor and procter and chief head magistrate and Justice of the Peace and quorum, and used to wear broadcloth and fine linen ruffles, a silver hilted sword, and a three legged wig; was provost of a town, city and corporation, out of which he was with the strongest violence, comparison, expulsion forced, annihilated, transferred, removed or made over from me of my benefits and emoluments, unto the hands, lands, tenure and possession of William French, Esq. and one of his Majesties Justices of the Peace and quorum—may it therefore please your honors, qualities, qualifications, ordinances and dignities to help relieve, assist and succour your poor, contributors petitioner, I, McCarthy, to make one upon me something or nothing, somewhere or anywhere, or nowhere, to bring beer, bread or brandy, coal, wainscot or boneshoy to circumstance, circumambulate, to furnish and protect my disordered and disfigured, soiled felt, health skin, hide, that hops and wag, and will be tanned, tattooed, scorched, burned by the present, ardent, burning penetrating, sultry heat of the present and future weather; and your petitioner will be forever bound to pray for the well disposed donor, giver or bestower in contribution, now and then, and for evermore asserted, assured, verified and truly demonstrated to be true, by me, myself.

DENNIS McCARTHY.

We have the authority of a very respectable journal for the following incident in life of a noted revivalist preacher. He was holding forth in Rochester, and in walking the canal one day, he came by a boatman who was swearing furiously. The preacher stopped, and abruptly demanded of him.

Sir do you know where you are going.

The boatman very innocently answered he was going on board the Emerald.

No, sir, you are not, said the preacher, you are going to hell faster than the Emerald or Ann Seizure either can carry you.

The confounded boatman looked at him and then recovering himself returned the question.

And do you know where you're going?

I trust I'm going to the kingdom of heaven.

No you a'int a bit of it; you are going right into the canal, and suiting the action to the word, he shoved him in and left him to flounder ashore.

GOLD PENS

FOR THE MILLION!

PENS TO SUIT THE HAND, AND PRICES TO SUIT THE POCKET.

THE BEST

Gold Pens in the World!

On receipt of the following sums, we will send, by mail, or as directed, a Gold Pen of Pearl Holder, with name engraving to the description, namely:

GOLD PENS, IN SILVER PLATED EXTENSION CASES, WITH PENCILS.

For $1 No. 2 pen; for $1 25 No. 3 pen; for $1 50 No. 4 pen; for $2 No. 5 pen; for $2 25 No. 6 pen.

These pens are stamped THE IMPERIAL PEN, and are well finished and fine writing Gold Pens, with good sirdium points, although they are unwarranted, and cannot be exchanged

Warranted Gold Pens.

Our name (ANDERSON GOLD PEN Co., N. Y.,) is stamped on all our 1st quality Pens, and the points are warranted for six months, except against accident. Our second quality Pens, are stamped THE NATIONAL PEN, with the initials of our firm (A. G. P. Co.,) and are carefully made, having the same points as our first quality Pens, the only great difference being in the quality of the Gold.

GOLD PENS, 1st AND 2nd QUALITY IN SOLID SILVER EXTENSION CASES, WITH PENCILS.

For $2 00 a No. 1 pen 1st quality, or a No. 2 pen 2nd quality.

For $2 25 a No. 2 pen 1st quality, or a No. 3 pen 2nd quality.

For $2 75 a No. 3 pen 1st quality, or a No. 4 pen 2nd quality.

For $3 50 a No. 4 pen 1st quality, or a No. 5 pen 2nd quality.

For $4 00 a No. 5 pen 1st quality, or a No. 6 pen 2nd quality.

For $6 50 a No. 6 pen 1st quality.

THE SAME GOLD PENS, IN SOLID SILVER OR GOLD-PLATED EBONY DESK HOLDERS and MOROCCO CASES.

For $2 25 a No. 2 pen 1st quality, or a No. 4 pen 2nd quality.

For $2 50 a No. 3 pen 1st quality, or a No. 5 pen 2nd quality.

For $3 50 a No. 4 pen 1st quality, or a No. 6 pen 2nd quality.

For $4 00 a No. 5 pen 1st quality

For $5 50 a No. 7 pen. For $6 75 a No. 8 pen. For $12 00 a No. 12 pen; all first quality.

Our pens rank throughout the country as equal if not superior to any gold pens manufactured. Not only for their writing qualities but durability and elegant finish. The greatest care is used in their manufacture, and none are sold with the slightest imperfection which skill can detect.

Parties in ordering must specify the name, number and quality in all instances and whether stiff or limber, coarse or fine.

TO CLUBS.

A discount of 12 per cent. will be allowed on sums of $15, if sent to one address, at one time; 15 per cent. on $25; 20 per cent. on $40.

All remittances by mail, Registered, are at our risk. To all who enclose 20 cents extra for registering, we guarantee the safe delivery of the goods.

Circulars of all our new styles, with engravings of exact sizes, and prices, sent upon receipt of stamp, if desired. Pens repointed for 50 cents by mail.

Stationers and Jewelers are requested to correspond with us as we can offer them GREAT INDUCEMENTS.

Address,

AMERICAN GOLD PEN CO.
4-3mos. No. 200 Broadway, N.Y.

Flax Seed.

PERSONS desirous of obtaining Flax Seed are requested to apply to the undersigned forthwith.

JOHN CARNEGIE, Jr.,
Sec. & Treas. P. A. Society.
Peterborough, March 16, 1865. 11-3in

Good News! Good News!!

E. MORRIS,

THE FAR-FAMED

HERB DOCTOR,

FROM LONDON, ENGLAND,

Is now in Peterboro' performing his most Astonishing Cures, as usual.

The mercurial Quacks may prate and gabble,
With Latin names for every nostrum;
But Morris' Herbs excels such rabble,
He explains their virtues from his rostrum.

He is well known o'er Canada,
In every City, Town, and Village;
He'll effect a cure for half the pay
Charged by those Quacks who live by pillage.

To those afflicted with RHEUMATISM try Dr. Morris' justly celebrated

Electric Invigorating Fluid,

for dispelling Rheumatic and other pains that may afflict the human system, internal or external.

He doth use such Balms as have no strife,
With nature or the laws of life:
With mercury his name he'll never stain,
Nor poison men for sake of gain.

Our Father whom all-goodness fills,
Provides the means to cure all ills;
The simple herbs beneath our feet,
Well used, relieve our pains complete.

The Invigorating Fluid acts upon the system like electricity, giving relief instantly, in almost every case. PRICE PER BOTTLE, according to size, from 25 cents to One Dollar.

If you are afflicted with Rheumatic pains, Cramps, Colics, and such painful brood, Caused by exposure to cold and rains, Try Morris' Invigorating Fluid.

For COUGHS, COLDS, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, use Dr. Morris'

Cough Drops,

They will be found a never-failing remedy for the above complaints.

If you should take a severe cold,
Returning from the walks and hops,
Go where the medicine is sold,
Enquire for Morris' Cough Drops.

To those afflicted with Liver and Bilious complaints, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sick and Nervous Head-ache, Costiveness, Weak and Disordered Stomach, &c., &c., try

DR. MORRIS' WORLD-RENOWNED

DANDELION PILLS

For Renovating the Blood, Correcting and Strengthening the Liver and Bowels, the Dandelion Pills have no equal.

If you feel nervous, with spirits low,
Disordered system, and other ills,
Take a friend's advice and straight you'll go,
For Morris' Dandelion Pills.

WORMS! WORMS! WORMS!

If you would expel those monsters from your dear children, try a box of Dr. Morris'

WORM DESTROYER.

If you have a son or daughter dear,
And the monstrous worms annoy her,
There's relief at hand, dry off that tear,
Get Morris' Worm destroyer.

Dr. Morris can furnish reliable testimonials from some of the most respectable inhabitants of Peterboro' and other Towns and Cities of Canada West. For Testimonials see his Pamphlet. The above medicines can be obtained at PROFF. MORRIS' BOTANIC LABORATORY, Simcoe Street, nearly opposite Phelans Hotel, Peterborough.

Dr. Morris invariably treats with success diseases of a secret nature.

CONSULTATION FREE, at his Laboratory, from 9 a. m., to 7 p. m.

Peterboro', Jan. 17, 1865. 3-3m

Great Bargains.

BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.
BUY LAMPS at WILLIAMS'.
BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.
BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.
BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.
BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.
BUY YOUR GROCERIES at WILLIAMS'.
BUY LAMPS at WILLIAM'S.
BUY CROCKERY at WILLIAMS'.
BUY COAL OIL at WILLIAMS'.
BUY PORK & FLOUR at WILLIAMS'.
BUY FISH at WILLIAMS'.

Cash paid for Grain

by A. WILLIAMS.
Peterboro', Jan. 11, 1865. 2

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

PIANO FORTE

MANUFACTURERS,

499 BROADWAY,

New York.

THE attention of the public and the trade is invited to our NEW SCALE

7 OCTAVE Rosewood Piano Fortes,

WHICH FOR

VOLUME AND PURITY OF TONE,

ARE UNRIVALLED

By any hitherto offered in this market. They contain all the modern improvements

French Grand Action,
Harp Pedal,
Iron Frame Over-Strung Brass,
&c., &c.,

And each instrument being made under the personal supervision of Mr. J. H. GROVESTEEN, who has had a practical experience of over 30 years in their manufacture, is fully warranted in every particular.

The "Grovesteen Piano Forte" received the highest award of merit over all others at the Celebrated World's Fair.

Where were exhibited instruments from the best makers of London, Paris, Germany, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and New York; and, also, at the American Institute for five successive years, the

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

from both of which can be seen at our warerooms.

☞ By the introduction of improvements we make a still more perfect Piano Forte, and by manufacturing largely, with a strictly cash system, are enabled to offer these instruments at

A PRICE WHICH WILL

Preclude Competition!

PRICES:

No. 1, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood plain case, $375.

No. 2, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood heavy moulding, $300.

No. 3, Seven Octave, round corners, Rosewood Louis XIV. style, $325. Terms: Net Cash, in current funds.

Descriptive circulars sent free.

Sept. 13th, 1864. 7-1 yr

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PHOTOGRAPHIC MATERIALS!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,

501 BROADWAY, N.Y.

IN addition to our main business of Photographic Materials, we are Headquarters for the following, viz.:

STEREOSCOPES,

AND

STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS,

Of these we have an immense assortment, including War Scenes, American and Foreign Cities and Landscapes, Groups, Statuary, &c., &c. Also, Revolving Stereoscopes, for public or private exhibitions. Our Catalogue will be sent to any address on receipt of stamp.

PHOTOGRAPHIC ALBUMS!

We were the first to introduce these into the United States, and we manufacture immense quantities in great variety, ranging in price from 50 cents to $50 each. Our Albums have the reputation of being superior in beauty and durability to any others. They will be sent by mail, FREE, on receipt of price. Fine Albums made to order.

CARD PHOTOGRAPHS.

Our Catalogue now embraces over FIVE THOUSAND different subjects (to which additions are continually being made,) of Portraits of eminent Americans, &c., viz.: about

100 Major-Generals,	550 Statesmen,
200 Brig.-Generals,	130 Divines,
275 Colonels,	125 Authors,
100 Lieut-Colonels,	40 Artists,
200 Other Officers,	125 Stage,
75 Navy Officers,	50 Prom. Women,

150 Prominent Foreign Portraits,
3,000 Copies of works of Art,

Including reproductions of the most celebrated Engravings, Paintings, Statues, &c. Catalogues sent on receipt of stamp. An order for One Dozen Pictures from our Catalogue will be filled on receipt of $1.50, and sent by mail, free.

Photographers and others ordering goods C. O. D. will please remit twenty-five per cent of the amount with their order.

E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO.,
Manufacturers of Photographic Materials,
501 Broadway, New York.

The prices and quality of our Goods cannot fail to satisfy. 46

Wm. N. KENNEDY

HAS

GOOD & CHEAP ROOM PAPER

ON HAND.

J. R. Walton's Column.

J. R. WALTON,

Insurance, House & Land Agent.

A LL business entrusted to him will be promptly attended to.

OFFICE OVER G. W. ROBINSON'S STORE, GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'.

Dec. 1st, 1863. 49

SCOTTISH

Provincial Assurance Co.

ESTABLISHED, 1825.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

CAPITAL, One Million Sterling.

INVESTED IN CANADA, over $450,000.

Sums Ass'd under Current Life Policies	£2,300,000 Stg
Accumulated Fund	403,630 "
Annual Income	107,920 "
Amo'nt proposed for Assurance, 1862, under 1068 applications	457,235 "

CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE,—Place D'Armes, Montreal.

A. DAVIDSON PARKER,
Secretary for Canada.

ATTENTION is directed to the rate of premiums adopted by this Company, which will compare favorably with that of any other institution in Canada. Investments of Company's funds to the large amount of nearly five hundred thousand dollars have been completed in Canada; and as all business transactions are finally disposed of in the Province, the Scottish Provincial offers all the facilities presented by a purely local Company, while it possesses the additional advantage of a large capital, and an influential and responsible body of shareholders in Great Britain.

Policies effected on or before 31st January next will receive a full year's bonus over those effected thereafter.

PETERBOROUGH:

J. R. WALTON, AGENT.
November 25, 1863. 48

PROVINCIAL

INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF CANADA.

Head Office,—Toronto Street, Toronto.

FIRE! MARINE!

DIRECTORS:

Hon. J. Hillyard Cameron, M. P. P., President.
Lewis Moffatt, Esq., Vice-President,
Hon. George Crawford, M. L. C.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq.,
Geo. Duggan, jr., Esq.,
John Cameron, Esq.,
A. M. Smith, Esq., M. P. P.,
Chris. Robinson, Esq.,
W. J. McDonell, Esq.,
C. J. Campbell, Esq.,
Manager & Secretary,—James B. Crocker, Esq.,
Assistant Secretary,—Donough O'Brien, Esq.,
Solicitors,—Messrs. Duggan & Burns,
Bankers,—Commercial Bank of Canada.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent for Peterborough.
November, 1863. 45

21 BUILDING LOTS

FOR SALE.

KNOWN as Park Lot No. 7, adjoining the property of Wm. Cluxton, Esq., near the Little Lake. Terms to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Agent.
Peterboro', Dec. 1, 1863. 49

FOR SALE CHEAP,

AND ON LIBERAL TERMS!

LOT No. 9, 5th con. Township of Dummer, 197 Acres of good Land, 70 acres cleared with a good Frame Dwelling, just new, and good office buildings, with three wells of water on the premises. Situate about six miles from Peterborough. For further particulars apply to

JOS. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.
Peterborough, May 9th, 1864. 19

For Sale.

A BRICK HOUSE and LOT for sale, one and a half stories high, situated on London street West of George street, Town of Peterborough. For particulars apply to

J. R. WALTON.
House and Insurance Agent.
Peterboro, March 28, 1865. 13.

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on

TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1865,

In the Union School House, at Ten a. m.

"Candidates are not eligible to be admitted to examination until they shall have furnished the Examiners with satisfactory evidences of their strictly temperate habits and good moral character."

☞ Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.

By order,

J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterborough, Dec. 6th, 1864. 51tf

A HINT

TO THE

WORTHY CITIZENS OF CANADA.

BE WARNED IN TIME.

ALL parties purchasing my Pills and Ointment for their several complaints are respectfully warned against purchasing either Pills or Ointment purporting to be my preparations, that have a United States Stamp around the Boxes and Pots. There is no Treaty between the people of the States and the House Government, therefore an United States Stamp does not protect my preparations. There are no stamps upon my Canadian style of Pills or Ointment, coming from the United States. I rely only for protection on the water mark in book of directions around each Box or Pot. Before you purchase them, see that there are no U. S. Stamps upon the Box of Pills or Ointment. Purchase none that have United States stamps on.

HOLLOWAY,
46 Maiden Lane.

GO TO

WM. N. KENNEDY'S

FOR YOUR

WINDOW BLINDS.

DEPARTMENT OF CROWN LANDS,
Quebec, 20th March, 1865.

A BOUT 20,000 acres of land in Bentinck and other Townships, in the neighborhood of the Oil Region, in the Counties of Lambton and Kent, U. C., will be sold by public Auction, on THURSDAY, the FOURTH of MAY next, at Alexander's Hotel, Sarnia, terms cash in full at the time of sale, without conditions of settlement.

Lists of the lots for sale can be seen at the Registry, and Post Offices in the Counties, or had on application to the Department.

15-6in WM. McDONELL,
Commissioner.

High Culture and Wholesale Market Gardening.

Very few persons have any idea of the height to which cultivation may be carried under circumstances in which there is plenty of manure on the one hand, and ready sale for produce on the other. Perhaps this is no where so thoroughly exemplified as in the market gardening operations that are carried on in the vicinity of the British metropolis. Eighty tons of dung per acre are said to be not an unfrequent dressing in the course of a year. The land is thoroughly and well worked to a depth of 12 inches at least. It is allowed no rest, except during the brief period of winter. The produce obtained is almost past belief. Thirty, fifty, and even seventy tons of cabbages and greens in two or three successive crops within the year, twelve or twenty tons of carrots, eight or a dozen tons of potatoes, followed by twelve or fourteen tons of onions and these again succeeded by greens and cabbages, are yielded per acre. As soon as one crop is off, another is put in, so that the land is being perpetually robbed. Nevertheless, it annually increases in fertility, so thoroughly is it manured and worked. The market gardening in the neighborhood of London, is in fact the most extensive and successful agriculture in Britain, and perhaps in the world.

We find in a recent number of the Gardener's Chronicle very full details respecting one of the largest of these market gardens, the substance of which is as follows: "Mr. W. Adams, of Pinnicot Hall, between Pinnicot and East Ham, on the east side of London, has for many years been the tenant of 800 acres in that neighborhood. The magnitude of the business will be gathered from some of his annual items of expenditure. His annual labor bill exceeds £6000; 70 horses are employed on his farm; his rent, rates, tithes, and taxes amount to upwards of £5000; his payment to Covent Garden and other salesmen for commission on the disposal of his produce amount to £1500 a year; his contracts for manure extend over many of the largest stables, breweries, and cow-houses in London; his total payments amount to close on £20,000 a year.

Perhaps the most striking illustration that his experience furnishes of the unusual style of agriculture which is here pursued, occurs in the adoption of an occasional crop of wheat or oats (of which about 100 acres are annually grown) as a "rest." That which is the "scourging" crop in ordinary agriculture, is here adopted as a relief from the severity of the general cropping.

Cabbages taken year after year from the same land are found to be attacked by the root disease called clubbing, which shows itself very shortly after transplanting from the seed bed; and in order to escape this risk and "sweeten" the land generally for other green crops, it is necessary both to retain some portion of land for the seed-beds which shall be always altogether new to the cabbage plant, and also occasionally to take a grain crop, during which the land shall have a chance of hardening and acquiring that condition of both texture and composition which perpetual yield or abundant fallow crop destroys.

The principal crop grown upon the farm is cabbages. The East Ham cabbage is planted at all seasons of the year. Planted at intervals of 11 inches by 20 or 24 in autumn, it yields a crop of greens all through the winter and early spring months. Ploughed up as soon as possible in spring, the land is again covered with plants dibbled in at once about 16 inches by 24, and in 10 weeks another crop is ready; and a third is generally taken in autumn, the plants being dibbled in, and if necessary, watered individually from a water pot, as they are planted in August, and they yield an autumn crop. The first crop of greens, perhaps after peas or other grain crop, may have been heavily manured; in that case, the second probably was not manured at all, but the third would again be heavily dressed. The land on the removal of this crop is deeply ploughed and left till March or April, when carrots perhaps are sown without manure. These are pulled in summer, washed and bunched for market—the work being undertaken by a man digging, women and boys and a man washing and tying, at the rate of 7s. per 20 dozen bunches; and as 60 dozen bunches a day may be accomplished thus constituted, large wages are earned. After carrots possibly there may be time for a crop of greens before the next spring's potatoe planting. Here, again, a heavy manuring is applied; and after the potatoe harvest the land is deeply cultivated for onions.

But the rule which is thus described is not invariable. Whenever occasion offers a crop of cabbages is taken, and to this end seed-beds are continually being provided for use at any time of the year. On the occasion of the first potato failure, which ruined many growers around London, Mr. Adams promptly sold off his crop, being early convinced that it was to be a general loss, and he got but £10 an acre for it; but his land was no sooner bare than he had it manured and ploughed, and in 10 weeks' time a cabbage crop for sale was ready, worth £30 an acre. This crop is sent into market almost daily throughout the year in waggon loads of 260 to 300 dozens, and these are disposed of by salesmen, who charge 8s. a load for their commission. Potatoes in like manner are sold on a commission of 5s. a ton. The waggons bring back loads of dung of about 4 tons apiece, which the waggoners take to the field.

Besides the principal crops which have been named, mangold wurzels are occasionally grown for sale to the extent of thirty or forty acres annually, some ten acres of rhubarb are cultivated, an occasional crop of peas is taken, and as already said, about 100 acres of corn are grown. The chief crops, however, are cabbages and carrots, potatoes and onions, and of these, taken in succession, six to eight crops may be grown in the four years, and at least three of them are heavily dressed with manure from stable and stables; probably 120 tons of dung per acre may be thus applied, or 30 tons per acre per annum, and the land will have had at least eight deep through ploughings.

Rent, and labour, and manure during these four years have annually cost from £20 to £30 an acre, and the produce of course has been proportionately large.—Over some portion of the farm there will follow, after, perhaps, a crop of peas another four years of pretty much the same style of management. Over a considerable remainder the second four years will include wheat and vetches, and other crops less intensely cultivated, and more in accordance with the rules of ordinary farming. And over some portions cabbages are never taken, in order that seedbeds may be provided perfectly fresh to the crop, yielding plants, therefore, with the least possible liability to disease.

TO KEEP SWILL.—To keep swill from freezing in winter, and a bad smell away in summer, take a good [illegible] and dig a hole in it [illegible] ground (in a convenient place [illegible] two-thirds the height of the barrel, place it in a hole, and pack the dirt around it to near the top of the barrel, and keep on a good tight cover.

For Sale, To Let, &c.

TO LEET,

THAT COMFORTABLE COTTAGE on Queen Street, opposite St. John's Church, at present occupied by Mr. Nathaniel Shaw. Possession given next June.

W. CLUXTON.
Peterborough, Feb. 1865. 6-tf

TO LET.

THE House and premises lately occupied by J. W. Tate, Esq., on the Court House hill. Also, the Cottage lately occupied Mr. Glover, No. 2 Sheridan Terrace, Peterborough.

Apply to

W. SHERIDAN.
Peterboro, March 20, 1865. 13

To Let.

THAT eligible two story BRICK HOUSE, on George Street, at present occupied by J. U. Hughson, Esq., attached to the premises are good stables and sheds and a large garden. Possession can be given on the First of May.

For particulars apply to Robert Nicholls, Esq., or to the subscriber.

JAMES CLOTWORTHY.
Peterboro', March 20, 1865. 13

FOR SALE.

CHEAP FOR CASH,

Or ON LONG APPROVED CREDIT.

ONE very fast grey Mare, 8 years old. One brown Mare, 6 years old. One splendid Breed Mare; all gentle, and fit for any work. One Lumber Waggon, one Sleigh, and one sett of Double Harness.

A good yoke of Oxen or Steers will be taken in exchange.

Apply to

J. R. WALTON,
Insurance Agent.
Peterborough, Oct. 12, 1864. 41

FOR SALE,

OR, TO LET.

THE subscriber wishes either to Sell or to Let those premises at present occupied by Mr. John Ritchie as a tavern,

In the Village of Bobcaygeon.

The Hotel is in a good state of repair, with good stables and other outbuildings.

For terms, &c., apply to

ROBERT HUNTER.
Bobcaygeon, Sept. 10, 1864. 37

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE

IN THE

TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE property of the late WM. LANNIN, on Charlotte Street, opposite the Railway Station is offered for sale on reasonable terms; the lot has been divided into five parts, three of which are situated on Bethune Street, and has a frontage of 45 feet by 114 deep; the other two are situated on Charlotte Street and have a frontage of 57 feet by 99 feet in depth which makes them desirable for building purposes.

The whole will be sold in one lot or to suit purchasers.

For terms and particulars apply to

D. HOPKINS
or THOS. LANNIN.
Peterboro', August 24, 1864. 34

VALUABLE FARM

FOR SALE OR TO LET.

BEING composed of the east halves of Lots No. 22 and 23, in the first concession of the Township of Otonabee. There are about 150 acres cleared, and a good Frame Dwelling House, two frame Barns, a first-rate Driving House, Sheds and Stables, a good Well and Orchard on the premises.

Title indisputable, and immediate possession will be given. TERMS MODERATE.

For further particulars apply to G. F. Orde, or to the proprietor,

WM. WEIR,
5 Norham, Percy, C. W.

Farm for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale Lot No. 12, in the 12th Concession of Otonabee. There are 120 acres of good land in the farm, with a little over 100 acres cleared. There are good buildings, and two wells of water on the farm; it is about four miles from the Town of Peterborough.

TERMS.—One-half down, the remainder in 3 annual instalments.

JOSHUA DAWSON.
Otonabee Jan. 20th, 1864. 5

FARM FOR SALE.

LOT No. 21, in the 16th Concession of Smith containing 200 acres; there are 120 acres cleared, and on the premises there are a hewed Log House, Log Barn, good Well, and Orchard. The Farm is situated on the main road to Buckhorn, 17 miles from the Town of Peterborough, there is a School House on one corner of it.

For Particulars apply to

ANDREW McKEE,
14th Con. of Smith.
January 13th 1864. 2

For Sale or to Let,

FOR A TERM OF YEARS,

TWO DWELLING HOUSES

In the Village of Lakefield, with 2 Lots, each one-third of an acre.

For particulars, apply to the undersigned at Peterborough,

J. GRIFFIN,
General Builder, Pump-maker, &c., &c.
Peterboro', March 7th, 1864. 10

LANDS FOR SALE.

TWENTY THOUSAND ACRES OF LAND, both wild and improved, and at all prices, for sale in various parts of Canada, principally in the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria and Ontario,) cheap, and on easy terms.

For lists and particulars apply to the proprietor

T. D. LEDYARD, Barrister, &c:
South-west corner King and Yonge Streets,
8 TORONTO.

HOUSE AND FURNITURE.

A COMFORTABLE HOUSE to Let. The Furniture in it can be had at very reasonable terms. Inquire at the office of Messrs. Fairbairn & Dumble, Barristers.

Peterborough, Nov. 9th, 1864. 45

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
Insurance Company.
CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA
ASSURANCE COMP'Y.
CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMPANY
CAPITAL $[illegible]
Peterborough, [illegible] 1st, 1863. 1

PRINTING & GRAINING

DONE BY

W. N. KENNEDY,

HUNTER STREET.

ARE YOU IN AGONY?

A WELL SPRING OF HOPE FOR ALL!

CAN BE FOUND IN

Holloway's Pills.

Be of Good Cheer! The Sinking may be Saved!

BY THE USE OF

Holloway's Ointment.

THE history of these great Remedies is the most wonderful medical revelation that the world has ever known. It establishes the all important fact that WHENEVER, and in WHATEVER GRAVE internal disease exists, the disinfecting, searching and healing properties of the Pills are fully equal to its subjection and cure, and that, with the Ointment, they are

The Great Ambassadors of Health to all Mankind.

This is not a history written by one man, or even derived from the experiences of one nation. It consists of a compilation of testimonials from the sick of every country—an unimpeachable record, the like of which has never been adduced in favor of any discovery or invention since time began.

These Mighty Healers, World Known and World Tried are a Boon to the Sick

The want of a sterling medicine! to meet the ills and necessities of the suffering portion of humanity, and one entirely free from mineral and other deleterious particles, was fervently felt till this all powerful medicine was ushered into the world; HOLLOWAY'S INVALUABLE PILLS have become the HOUSEHOLD REMEDY of all nations. Their attributes is to PREVENT as well as to CURE; they attack the DISEASE on news of the complaint, and then, by removing the hidden cause of disease, re-invigorate and restore the drooping energies of the system, assisting nature in her task of VITAL and FUNCTIONARY REGENERATION.

Disorders of the Stomach

Are the sources of the deadliest maladies. Their effect is to vitiate all the fluids of the body, and to send a poisoned stream through all the channels of circulation. Now, what is the operation of the Pills? They cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver, bring the relaxed or irritated stomach into a natural condition, and, acting through the secretive organs upon THE BLOOD ITSELF, change the state of the system from sickness to health, by conveying a cheerfulness and wholesome effect upon all its parts and functions.

Woman in all her Difficulties

is invited to test the regulating and restorative powers of this harmless but effective preparation. At the two epochs of life in which the female system undergoes the most important and critical changes, the Pills will prove a positive safeguard against evil consequences. They are also especially recommended as a specific in every disorder to which females are exclusively subject.

Be it Understood,

That the above statements can at all times be verified by the written testimony (extending through a quarter of a century) of tens of thousands of unimpeachable witnesses.

Bilious Maladies, &c., &c.

In whatever form disease attacks the liver, it is repelled and exterminated by this searching, painless, and irresistible curative. Bilious remittents, bilious purging, and all the ordinary disorders of the organ, indicated by pains in the right side and between the shoulders, yellowness of the whites of the eyes, weakness and debility, &c., are relieved and removed by the remedy, with a celerity which astonishes the sufferers and their friends. Let the sick whom the faculty have abandoned, resort with confidence to this powerful anti-bilious agent, and a restoration to health and activity will be the unvarying result.

Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Weakness, &c. &c.

The terrible bodily and mental pangs which characterize Dyspepsia are at once mitigated by the Pills. Diarrhœa, constipation, headache, physical prostration, nervous tremors, bad flushes, spasms, affections of the kidneys, hemorrhoids or piles, and, in fact, all internal complaints, from whatever cause arising, give way before the salutary influence of this extraordinary remedy. As a specific for dyspepsia, and the disorders connected with it, or growing out of it, the Pills are always to be relied on when every other medicine and mode of treatment has utterly failed.

Holloway's Pills are the best Remedy known for the following diseases:

Asthma,	Headaches,
Bowel Complaints,	Indigestion,
Coughs,	Influenza,
Colds,	Inflamation,
Chest Diseases,	Inward Weakness,
Costiveness,	Liver Complaints,
Dyspepsia,	Low-ness of Spirits,
Diarrhœa,	Piles,
Dropsy,	Stone and Gravel,
Debility,	Secondary Symptoms,
Fever and Ague,	Venral Affections,
Female Complaints,	Worms of all kinds.

CAUTION.

If the readers of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug store in his place, let him write to me, enclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' make.

None are genuine unless the words "Holloway New York and London," are discernible as a Water Mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same knowing them to be spurious.

☞ Sold at the manufactory of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and the civilized world, in boxes, at 25 cents, 63 cents, and $1.40 each.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes. 33

STEAMSHIP TICKETS

STOLEN.

WHEREAS, on the night of Tuesday, 30th August, the Express Office at Peterboro' was broken into, and some Tickets of the Montreal Ocean Steamship Company stolen therefrom; the public are hereby cautioned against purchasing Tickets of the above Company numbered 219 to 240 inclusive, as they have been cancelled.

[illegible] COX,
Agent.
Peterborough, Sept. 1s [illegible] 5-tf

ROOM PAPER DEPOT.

WM. N. KENNEDY,

HAS REMOVED to the store immediately West of the Stewart House, on Hunter street.

His stock of Room Papers, Borders, Decorations, Window Blinds, Fire Screens, &c., has been largely increased and will be sold cheap.

Papering in all its branches carried on as usual.

Peterboro', Oct. 16, 1864. 42

FOR SALE,

FLOUR IN BARRELS,

ALLANDALE MILLS,

Also,—OATMEAL IN BARRELS.

W. CLUX